That the Emperors Answer so long promised, is still delayed; the meaning whereof is this; the Imperial Court want to know what our King will do for them. For, vnles they may haue help from His Majesty, in this their extreme necessity, they will restore nothing. They will aske (& nothing abate) to have presently 10000 men given to the Prince Elector Palatin; & His Majesty bound by a Treaty to mainteine them, in conjunction with the Emperor & Emperre, vntill the generall Peace can be obtained, and against whom they shall be employed. Without this they will doe nothing; and this for the Lower Palatinate only; we being left to make our composition with Bavare, as well as we can. Wherefore, the Scale hangs thus, Whether it will be les Dishonour or Inconvenience to breake off vpon their Delays, or vpon a Confession of our own Impotency? Sir Thomas gives diuers particulars relating to the Courts of Vienna, Madrid, &c. which I here omit.

20. To Mr. Secretary Nicholas. 13 April 1642. 11.

That the Cause of the Emperors Answer being still delayed, is the Liberty of the Prels in England, and freedom for all manner of advertisements to pass our Ports. For Relations & Journals of our Affaires being brought thither, are instantly translated & published to the infinite disadvantage of our State. Infomuch, as he findeth a settled Opinion there, that His Majesty is not able to comply with their desyres of present Ayde. And, therefore, howsoever they will in their Answer make some specious Offers vpon Conditions; yet that is only done to make a fayre shewe to the World, in assurance they shall not be put to the Tryall of Performance; and so they will spinne vs out, as long as they can, and in the end lay the fayling vpon vs. That the Emperor will remove within 5 Weekes; yet there is no Invitement either to Him, or to the Mediatours, to follow the Court, as was seriously done at Ratisbon. So that it appears they are content he should take an occasion to separate; and then he shall be forced, before that remove, to begin his Returne, lest it should be too apparent, that he is left behind as vnconsiderable. Yet this he cannot do, vnles he be supplied with Money; for which he renues his pressing Instances.

Num. 1901.

21. To Sir Arthur Hopton. 16 April 1642. 11. b.

That the Emperors Answer cannot yet be obtained, the difficulty resting betweene Him & the Duke of Bavare, to accomodate the Dukes Satisfaction betweene themselves. In which, if they can agree, He shall do all his worke at once; if not, we shall only receive an answer for the Lower Palatinate; and be left to treat with Bauare apart, which will prue very knotty. Sir Thomas heares that the Answer will be reasonably free, in the matter of Restitution, but very high the demands of Ayds & Confederacyes on our part. Which Demands if they shall be exorbitant, the meaning will be, to make a fayre Showe, as if they would have restored for the Loue of Peace, but that the fayling should rest vpon us, as (in this vnhappy conjuncture of home troubles (vnwilling or vnable to comply with their necessities & desyres).

22. To Mr. Secretary Nicholas. 20 April 1642. 12.

In this as in former Letters, concerning the confused state of the German Affaires, which I pass over, hastening to what more nearly concerneth us, viz. that He had sollicitated the Emperors Answer to the last Hour before his removal to Vienna, and then was told by the Ambassador of Mentz, that the Declaration of the Emperor touching the Lower Palatinate was ready, for as much as concerned Him; but that he had given order it should not be exhibited, vntill the Duke of Bauare & the Elector of Mentz should, at the same tyme, deliuer their Resolution & Conditions. This being contrary to the Forme agreed vpon; contrary to the Imperial constant Promises; & a direct opposition to the Duke of Bauares Protestation, is the sure way anew to embroyle the proceeding. That to pacifie him, the Ambassador of Mentz had sent to excuse this delay, vpon the vnreasonable demands of the Duke of Bauare; and that the Emperour had sent to the Duke for more equal conditions. That the Elector of Saxe hath commanded his Ambassador to return, if a very speedy course be not taken to expedite the Treaty, one way or other. That the Ambassadors of Mentz have no Commission nor Instructions to declare any thing for the Bergstraet, which is remitted to the Chapter to resolve, which may be done in 2 or 3 Months, according as the French proceede or retyre from their Borders. That vnles the Elector of Mentz doe declare a Restitution, Bavare will not descend to any particular offer. Sir Thomas is resolved, hereupon, to send a preparatiue of Farewell to the Mediators; and to resent the Abuse by Letter to Count Trautmansdorf. That he will govern himself according to what such an Intimation may draw from them; and if they will be content thus to let him goe, he will retyre to Nurenberg and there attend His Majesties Orders. Lastly, that he enterteine the offered seperate Treaty with the Duke of Bavare, and thereby make a full tryall of his Intentions.

23. To Count Trautmansdorff, in Italian, 21 April 1642. 12. b.

The occasion of this, is intimated in the Abstract of the last.

24 Sir Thomas's Latin Letter to the Mediators; complaining of the ill usage they all had received by the Delay of the Emperors Answer so often promised; thanking them for their good Offices; and partly taking leave of them. But in the Margin, he hath written these words, "This deferred to be sent vpon arrivall of an Expreß from England; & new Promise of the whole answer."

25. To the King 26 April, 1642. 13. b.

In Answer to one he had received from His Majesty, wherein He had shewn His gracious acceptance of Sir Thomas's Services.

26. To Mr. Secretary Nicholas. 26 April 1642. 14.

That Count Trautmansdorff had sent him an Answer to His Letter, wherein he promised a pre'ent Resolution from

Num. 1901.

from the Emperor to the whole Restitution. He afterwards enters into a long deliberation upon the purport of some Letters received by the Prince Palatine Ministers from their Master; whereby it was gessed that his Majesties pleasure was that that Prince should accept of the Lower Palatinate; with a Salvo jure to the Upper Palatinate; & observe a Neutralitie in the present War in the Empire. Sir Thomas sheweth the Reasons of his dislike to such a Motion; and that it is better, in the present conjuncture, to wait the Emperors freshly-promised Resolution; to gain time by staying for Issue of the approaching Campaign; or to break off the Treatie in expectation of a more favorable Opportunity.

27. To the Prince Elector 27 April 1642. 15.

Referring Him to Mr. Secretary Nicholas for His Opinion of the Motion abovementioned. That His Highnesses Ministers & himself had agreed to prosecute the Treaty for the whole Lands, and an immediate alternative: and then if the answer to the generall shall be such as his private information whispereth, he shall not be able to beare it, but with just Indignation will breake-off, & venture His Majesties displeasure in coming away without order: for by so doing, he shall leaue His Highnesses Cause entyre for a better occasion; & be justified by the Iniquity of their Conditions.

28. Relation of a Conference betweene the Ambassadors Mediator & Sir Thomas, vpon their presentation of the long expected Declarations. 15. b. ^(29 April 9 May) 1642.)

It sheweth that then the Ambassadors of Denmarke & Mentz, as Directors of the Mediation, came to Him, & presented him with foure Papers, being the severall answers & declarations of the Interessed & Possessors of the two Palatinats. The first in the name of the Emperor, for himselfe; the King of Spayne; the Duke of Bavare; and the Archduchess of Inspruch, as Tutres to the Heyres of Leopold. The Second from the Electour of Mentz, concerning the Bergstraet. The third from the Bishop of Worms. The Fourth from the Landgrave of Darmstat.

29. Sir Thomas's Answer to the Mediators thereupon; in Latin. 30 April, 1642. 16.

The Exordium, and divers of the Expressions are taken from that abovementioned at no. 24. but what our King did resolutely insist upon, may be seen by the words following. "Placebit itaq; Excell^{ma}. & Ill^{ma}. Dom^{bus}. vestris ceritè scire, nullam aliam Palatinatus Inferioris restitutionem, nisi integram, cum omnibus Juribus, Membris & Privilegijs, tam Politicis quam Ecclesiasticis, in eo Statu. ac Conditione, uti a Principibus Electoribus Palatinis antiquitus, et specialiter anno 1618. possidebantur, absque ulla Limitatione, aut Diminutione, vel Jurisdictionis, vel Possessionis, sicut omnes alij Electores & Principes, vel vi Legum, et Constitutionum Imperialium, vel Jure proprio in ditionibus suis, ipsdem gaudent et possident, a Nobis acceptam iri. Quod ad Dignitatem Electoralem, & Palatinatum Superiorem attinet, Excell^{ma}. & Ill^{ma}. Dom^{bus}. vestris, et universo Orbi Christiano declaro, Seren^{iss}. Regem meum de accommodatione æquâ et honesta tractare, in animo habuisse: sed vel Terras emere, vel de alia alternativa, nisi immediatâ & integrâ, quicquam audire nolle." This Sir Thomas opposed as an answer to the four Papers brought by them, which being obscurely or craftily worded, & so as to beget many inconveniences, he would no farther medle with.

30. To Mr. Secretary Nicholas. 3 May 1642. 16. b.

That He cannot thinke of the Papers aforesaid, nor mention them, without Indignation, and breaking out into Passion: For never was any thing proposed so vnjust, so insolent, & so dishonourable. Nor can he make any other Judgment, but that by longer Stay, he shall multiply the Occasion of more Scorne & Abuse. And he is the more amafed, because their Condition was never so low, allmost desperate. He giveth the Sum of a Conference he lately had with Mr. Bidenback the Danes Ambassador, in the presence of the Prince Elector Palatines Ministers, and the Answer he gave to the Questions asked by that Mediator. His Judgement (i. e. Sr. Thomas's) is, that nothing will be offered or asked, that shall be, in any proportion, equall, or just, or possible. So that he resolveth to take his Leave of the Emperor in fayre tearmes, without breach of the Treaty absolutely, but to suspend it to another tyme & place, and to a better Conjuncture; such as shal be agreed on betweene their Majesties, it both shall like of it.

31. To the Prince Elector. 3 May 1642. 17. b.

That there is a necessity for him to come off, upon the Iniquity of the Declarations so long expected; & rather to preserve His Highnesses Rights & Title entyre, then to weaken them by offering to accept that which shall not, vpon any termes of honor be obtained. Yet he purpofeth not to breake the Treaty (wherein some of the Mediators are our Opposites, and not only mock, but betray us) but to part vpon fayre tearmes, and to suspend it to some other place, & a fitter Conjuncture.

32. To the Queene of Bohemia. 4 May, 1642. 18.

That after ten Moneths attendance, expectation, & promises; the Declarations of the Emperor & the others interessed, were delivered; being so absurd, vnjust, dishonourable, & impossible, that they deserved none answer. That he will preserve, in integrity the justice of the Prince Electors cause, & leaue it no worfe than he found it; but so much better, in that he hath drawn from them a Confession, that he is restorable; and that it is fitt to doe him Justice; & that they have declared a will to treat euen for the whole; but that the only hinderance hath bene, not in the Equity of the Cause, but in the Iniquity & Covetousnes of their Offers & Demands.

33. To Sir Will'am Boswell. 4 May, 1642. ibid.

Touching the Declarations he had received; of which he thought those of Mentz, Wormes, & Darmstadt worthy of no Reply. For the Ambassadors of Mentz nothing, in theirs, but they had no formall Order from their Prince, but that they did collect out of some Circumstances, that he would be content to pay the money for which the Bergstraet had bene engaged. The pretension of the Bishop of Wormes is but a quarrell pickt, to embroyle the Cause with the Church, that Conscience might be pretended, to countenance Injury. The Deputie of Darmstats long Narration was but Rayling, Scandall, & Folly; yet the Conclusion though sweeter, was ridiculous, vizt, that he would, for Love of Peace surrender de facto; upon condition, that he might haue Security to receiue back the same Lands in Feudo. He knoweth not what the Duke of Bavare will doe, the Emperor having the point of answering for him; so that he is not likely to abate to vs, nor treat vpon lower tearmes, than he hath agreed to the Emperor. The cause of this Change is supposed, this, that he hath secured his feares by some secret accord with the French: into which, it is suspected, he doth endeavour to draw his brother of Cullen, & the Elector of Mentz, now in this their assembly. In summe the whole Offer, & every part thereof is so unworthy, vnjust, insolent, & dishonourable, that he is resolved not to treat farther vpon it. That the Mediators hope to procure more moderate or tollerable Conditions to be proposed, which he will be ready to receiue, to the last hower of his stay: but he will doe no more; supposing he can neuer come-off with more shewe of Honour, then vpon the Iniquity of their most vnequall & impossible Offers & Demands.

34. To the Prince Elector. 10 May, 1642. 18. b.

That the Design of the Imperial Court was that England should both enter into a League with them for their Assistance, that is for our King to raise & maintain, at the least, 10,000 Men for them (which he was then unable to do) and that the Parliament should be Security for the Kings performing his Covenant; and further, that his Majesty should pay a great Sum of Money, at the

Num. 1901.

the least, 2 or 300,000. to the Duke of Bauare. He thinks therefore, rather than confesse our weaknes, & take the Breach upon our selves, it would be best to hold them to a declaration of a full Restitution, which they will never yield to, and then to separate upon the Iniquity & Bafeness of their Offers & Demands.

35. To Mr. Secretary Nicholas. 11 May, 1642. 19.

That the Mediators haue summoned the Ambassadors of the Prince Elector Palatine, to draw them either to a particular Treaty, vpon every Article of the Emperors Declaration; or else by them to engage himself to some promise of a Summe of money, to helpe toward the Satisfaction of the Duke of Bavarie, which is what the Imperial Court most wanteth. The Sum pitched upon, as he is secretly enformed, is 900,000 pounds; and, less than 300,000 will not be accepted. But he will hold them down to that, which they will not do; that is, to make a Declaration of a full & entyre Restitution, at least of the Lower Palatinate; this being the only way left, to preferue the publicque honour, & the justice of the Prince Electors cause entire. That that Court & the Mediators play with him, & thinke they can hold him by a twyne thred, as long as they please, they having intelligence from England, that he would not, nor durst depart. That he is secretly assured, that he shall neuer haue better answere, vntil he shall begin to take Leau; and then, if they haue any reall purpose, they must, & will vnvayle it. That, absolutely, they will not restore the Lower Palatinate without a League, to joyne the Army vnder the Prince Elector with them, & some Conueniencies for Spayne; nor the Vpper, without a great Summe of Money to Bavarie; nor the Dignity, but vpon such an Alternatiue, as would weaken the whole frame of the Reformed Religion in the Empyre. He thinks therefore that it is better by removing, to avoyd the necessity of refusing to do somewhat on our part, then to lose his advantage; and had rather fall to his owne Master, and trust in his benignity, than into a publicque Shame.

36. To the Count of Guebriant, Generall of the Armyes of the French King within the Empyre. 12 May, 1642, in French. 19. b.

Thanking him, in a very complimental manner, for setting Colonell Henderson at liberty, upon his Request.

37. To Sir Arthur Hopton. 14 May, 1642. 20.

That he esteemeth the Treaty irrecoverably sick; yet the Mediators will not give it over, but haue consulted to procure a Moderation in some of the Articles. That the Imperial Court will not restore the Lower Palatinate, without some very advantageous League, both for the Emperor & King of Spayne, which will cost His Majesty more then that Province is now worth. Nor will the Duke of Bavarie surrender the Upper Palatinate, without a great Summe of Money; nor the Dignity, but vpon such an alternatiue, as will destroy the Protestant Interest. He is confident that the Emperor sincerely desireth to settle this busines; but his present necessity causeth his Ministers to aske rather according to the Exigent & Proportion of their own wants, than any thing within compass of Reason or Equitie; indeed, things wholly impossible. But in the Duke of Bavarie appeareth playne & vnmasked Covetousnes & Selfe-Loue, that will abate nothing for the Publicque. Moreover, the Church is become engaged, and Conscience pretended, to countenance oppression: and this also hath two strong Pillars, the Popes Nuncie, & the Jesuites. He therefore thinketh it more counsellable to remit the Cause to Gods tyme, & to preferue the Prince Electors Title entyre, to a better Coniunction; which hath yet by this negotiation gotten this advantage, that it is now held to be reconcilable, which was a point that formerly would in no wise be granted.

38. To Sir William Boswell. 14 May, 1642. 20. b.

That the Mediators endeavor to moderate some of the Articles, but he believes it will be in vaine; because the Emperor, &c. will doe nothing but for a price about the valew.

Num. 1901.

39. To the Princess Elizabeth. 15 May, 1642. ibid.

Excusing himself, that as he had done little, so he had omitted nothing; but however, he had drawne out a Confession that the cause in it selfe was treatable; and therefore not subject to the Condemnation vnder which it suffered; and better tymes might make advantage of this preservation of the roote sound & entyre. That this mayne Repulse had disabled him from serving my Lady Levingston; for he could not descend to aske a fauor, where he is denyed justice: and to attempt any thing against the Landgrave of Hesse-Darmstat, who is the Usurper & as hard as Flint, would have been in vayne.

40. Sir Thomas Roe's relation of a Conference he had with Monfr. Bidenbach. 13 May, 1642. 21.

That the Emperor would require a League Offensive, & Defensive against all the Enemys of the House of Austria, at least within the Empyre. That Count Trautmansdorffe had declared, that if England is not disposed to satisfie the Emperor by a League, & the Duke of Bavarie by a good Summe of Money, they would not giue away Principalities for nothing. That the Surrender made by the King of Spayne of his part of the Lower Palatinate to the Emperor, was vpon Conditions of Aydes, or Commodities, for them. That the Duke of Bavarie, for His Possessions there, had obliged the Emperor to pay vnto him 3000 pounds Sterling yearly, for 8 years; so that that Duke had parted with nothing without money; and therefore the Imperial Ministers would not buy him & others out of their pretensions, without being reimbursed by the Palatins, or by England. That, at last, Sir Thomas had drawn this Mediator to undertake to make the Motion, that, the busines of the Dignity & the Upper Palatinate being suspended vntil a fitter tyme (because they would never come without money) the Lower should be restored de facto, intyrely both in Possessions & Jurisdiction, with a Salvo Jure to all other rights suspended; vpon such reasonable Conditions as might not relate to any League, but only to newtrall & conuenient Acts of Friendship, on the behalf of our King, & due observance to the Emperor & Empyre on the part of the Prince-Elector.

41. Minutes of a Conference which Sir Thomas had with Dr. Richel Chancellor of the Duke of Bavarie, 16 May 1642. 21. b.

By these, it should appear, that the Duke of Bavarie thirsted after our Money exceedingly, and would do any thing to gett it. But Sir Thomas is of opinion, that when the matter should come to a Conclusion, Bavarie will not part with Chamb; nor agree the alternative immediate; nor accept of less than 300,000 pounds: nor, that the Emperor will restore the Lower Palatinate only for his Satisfaction.

42. To Mr. Secretary Nicholas. 18 May. 1642. 22. b.

That he had visited the Arch-Duke Leopold, who is a gallant Prince; expressed much respect for our King; & promised to interpose his power, that he might not depart without satisfaction. That Wolfenstein was sent from the Emperor to the meeting at Mentz, tanquam explorator, and to awe their Resolutions; & hath so well taken his measures, that he hath diverted the mayne Intention of Neutrality. That some discontent hath arisen betweene the Emperor & the Spanish Ambassador, who hath Bills or Monyes there to haue rayfed men for his Master. Which being not able to effect, for the Scarcity & dearnes of Levyes, the Emperor would haue made use of it; promising, that as soone as the Suedes should be expelled Silesia, to employ the whole Army in the Spanish Service: but that not serving the turne, he would haue borrowed it; but could obtaine nothing nothing. Sir Thomas was told that a principal Counsellour sayd to a Englishman, a Priest there, thus, The English Ambassador in his answere offers nothing, for his King can doe nothing: he threatens us that he will be gone; and none here doth hold or forbid him.

Num. 1901.

43. Negotiation from the 18th to the 24th May, 1642. and Conference vpon it, betweene the English, Danes, & Palatin Ambassadors. 23.

This sheweth, how Sir Thomas was, at length, drawn by the Ambassador of Denmark, (rather than suffer the Treaty to be broken off, through the mere want of an Offer, on our side) although he had no power absolutly to offer mony, which was neuer supposed would haue bene demanded, yet seeing That was the Condition so much insisted vpon for the satisfaction of the Duke of Bavare & ease of the Emperor: He was content to offer an assistance of 600,000 Dollers, to be payd in reasonable tyme. Sr. Thomas thought this is the best bargain that can, or euer could be expected; being made only, for Honor, & not like to be accepted. That being made without our Kings Order, he made it exprefly ad ratificandum. That if Security for the Money should be required, it should be proposed, that the Upper Palatinate should remayne in the possession of the Duke of Bavare quoad usu fructum, as a pledge, vntill the mony agreed vpon should be payd. So that His Majesty shall not be obliged to the Imperialls, nor Bavare; nor further then he pleaseth to assist toward the payment; and yet the Upper Palatinate to be restored quod Dominium & de Jure, the profits only remaining as a pawne, to be redeemed when the Prince Elector shall be able.

44. To Mr. Secretary Nicholas. 25 May, 1642. 24. b.

That He had a late Conference with Count Trautmanndorff, the Summe of whose Resolution was, (though given in fayre & hopefull Expressions) that we must satisfy the Duke of Bavare with mony, or no Treaty. Yet Sir Thomas is constant to his opinion, that He shall doe nothing; and that though all the discourse & present Intention is, vpon mony to content the Duke of Bavare; yet if they can once engage vs by an agreement upon that; then they will propose new matter for the satisfaction of the Emperor, Spayne, & others, without which all will fall. For he believeth not, that ever the Emperor & others will quitt all their owne Interests & Commodities only for that Dukes advantage, though they never more needed him then now; and are forced to vse all meanes, not only to keepe him a freind; but to hold him vp right, that he fall not to the Enemye. For, it is reported, that He with the Electors of Mentz & Collen, & the Bishop of Wirtzburg, have sent part of their Resolutions to the Emperor; That if His Imperial Majesty will not separate himselfe from the Spanish Counsellors & Interests, and seeke the Peace of the Empyre without forreyne relations; they are resolved to take another course: which, at the best, must be a Neutralitie & Separation from the Interests of the House of Austria. This doth more trouble the Court & Spanish Ministers, then the Suedes prosperity.

45. Relation of a Conference betweene Sir Thomas, the Danes, & the Ments Ambassador. 27 May. 25. b.

Here, the Danish & Mentz Ambassadors, being (as Mediators) to hold an equality between all the parties; pressed Him to offer more money than he had before done; but he gave them such Answers as they deserved.

46. To Mr. Browne. 31 May, 1642. 27.

That the late Assembly at Mentz haue meditated a Neutrality with France; & pressed the Emperor to separate himselfe from the Counsellors & Interests of Spayne; or else they must provide for themselves; but that France had refused them the Neutrality, and offered them only Protection upon their Submission. That the Suedes in Silesia haue defeated Duke Fra. Alberts Army, & taken himself prisoner being wounded in three places; who being a Lutheran, suspected & rayled at, hath scarce gotten pity after this full Testimony of his Fidelity & Courage.

CAT. HARL. VOL. II.

Num. 1901.

47. To my Lord of Falckland Secretary of State: 31 May, 1642. ibid.

That the Declaration of Restitution which he hath received, is limited to such Conditions as are both dishonorable & impossible; occasioned by our own distempers at home, which hath layd our reputation flat, as being neyther fitt to be friends nor foes; nor able to doe good, or harme. Yet the Emperor's Condition is not such, as that he may neglect Friends, especially now after Duke Francis Alberts defeat. That the Emperor is a sweete, ingenious, & noble Prince; and would, if he were not bound to Bavare & Spayne, and had the juncture bene generally propitious, have done much for his Majesties Satisfaction, & the Peace of his Countrey.

48. To Mr. Secretary Nicholas. 1 June, 1642. 27. b.

That the Mediators will still hope beyond hope, vpon moderation of conditions: so that thereby a Summe of Money to ballance all, for the Satisfaction of the Duke of Bavare may be obtained. Sir Thomas relates the result of the late Assembly at Mentz; & the Confusion of the Emperors Affairs as in former Letters. With this addition, that Piccolomini who, ten days since, resigned his Commission of Generalitie, & had resolved to retyre, & never more to serue the House of Austria, with much ado, is gayned to take vpon him his old Charge.

49. To the Earle of Holland. 3 June, 1642. 28. b.

How he had heard that the French Ambassador, by his Lordship's Mediation, had preferred a Complaint against him in the House of Peers, that he had offered to the King of Hungary, a League offensive & defensive, against all men; vpon Condition of Restitution of the Prince Elector Palatine to His Lands and Dignities. Which being in Contravention of the League betweene His Majesty, the French King, & the United States, was offensively taken. Which whole accusation, Sir Thomas replieth, in forme & matter, in substance & circumstances, is vnjust; in the first Inuenter false; & against Innocency, Truth, & faithfull Service, scandalous. For, he never received any such power nor Instructions from his Majesty; nor had the boldness, infidelity, or indiscretion, to do it of himselfe: but so far the contrary, that he had often openly, authentically, & seriously protested against any motion or ouerture of any confederation, directly or consequently, against the Crownes of France, & Suede, & the United Provinces, his Majesties Friends & Allyes, as is registered in many public Acts. He being a good & true English man, neyther French, Spanish, Austrian, nor Dutch; nor for any respect shall ever be. He hath principally directed all his Scope to the Honor of his Majesty the Safety & Advantage of his Kingdome, and the preservation of true religion in those places, where it hath pleased God both to plant and purge it by his Chastisements. This he beseecheth his Lordship to present to the House of Peeres, that they may be pleased to register & publish his Protestation, for the Vindication of his Honesty & Reputation.

50. To Mr. Edward Waller. 3 June, 1642. 29.

Upon the same occasion, and to the same effect; with desire that the house of Commons, of which he is an humble member, would judge better of him.

51. To Mr. Edward Waller. 6 June, 1642. 29. b.

Accompanying a copy of what he wrote to the Earle of Holland; which he may use according to his discretion, as he shall find that His Lordship hath published or concealed the attestation of his Innocency. For, as he would not offend His Lordship by Jealousie; so he would not omit his owne Justification by too much Indulgence to be a supposed friend.

52. To Sir William Boswell. 6 June, 1642. ibid.

That his Business is desperate; and so much the more, because of the Complaint abovementioned, which hath made a great Clamour & Noyse, from whence the Court of Vienna (which is better enformed of all things, than himself) hath drawne a Conclusion, that there is nothing

Num. 1901.

nothing to be expected of us, in Correspondence with them; nor any other ayde for the House of Palatin. He sendeth to Sir William Coppys of what he wrote to both Houses of Parliament, which he desires may be published to the States, & such others as he shall think fit. If this will not cleare his Innocency he will print such a Defence, as shall make the Accusers, if they have any shame, ashamed. For it was not him alone that they aymed at, but another designe which he well discovereth, and will in tyme make apparent to the world.

53. To Mr. Secretary Nicholas. June 8, 1642. 30.

That the Mediators do but trifle, & serve the old Turne to keep vp an opinion, & to gayne tyme. The Ministers of Bavare haue answered to the Motion of Moderation, that they aske nothing of vs; & despise the proposition of Monsr. Bidenback; nor will abate of their demand of 13 millions from the Emperor, being a secured debt; saying they have nothing to do with the King of England. That Mentz will not restore the Bergstraet; so that there is no hope to obtaine any thing. This Matter is the more inflamed, by the French Ambassadors complaint against himself in Parliament, which hath been largely related at Vienna, & commented vpon, as having occasioned some discourse in one of the Houses, that they have no desyre to oblige, or be obliged to the House of Austria; nor by that way, if by any, to assist the Prince Elector Palatin: so that being sure they shall haue nothing, they will do nothing. He conceiveth the French Ambassadors bolt not to be shot at him alone; but at the busyness; and perhaps with a worse Intention, which he doubteth not but His Majesties Wisdom will penetrate. The French grounded their Complaint vpon some words in a Declaration of the Emperors, against which he had expected & protested, as crept in captiously & insidiously, to cast us into the Jealousie of our Friends. That the Mediators made this fault by the levitye of Monsr. Bidenback; which when he resented to Count Trautmansdorff, he answered, that it was not their Error, but a mistake of the Mediators; who, in hope to do a good office, had exceeded their Commission. But he will not so wholly cleare neyther the one nor the other, but that there might be an Art feminandi discordiam, and it purposely done; which he then suspected, and is now come to pass. Sir Thomas much wonders, that the Imperial Court will not see their neede of Friends, in this extreame danger of the Enemye; and not much less of the Resolutions of the Princes assembled lately at Mentz, and prorogued to the first of August at Francfort. Where, they will eyther draw the Emperor to governe according to the antient Constitutions; or, without question, separate from him and institute a new forme & way, to recover the peace of the Empyre. Which may be an occasion to let in the Prince Elector Palatin, vpon better Conditions than he is like euer to obtaine of the particulers interested.

54. To Sir Arthur Hopton. 13 June, 1642. 31.

That vpon receipt of the answeere of the Emperor for himselfe & for the others interested, & the whole manner of their delatory proceeding, His Majesty hath sent him a revocation. That he knows the Ends of all the parties, Mediators & others; and, particularly, that they would cast the Scandall upon vs. Which, if He cannot avoyde, He will defend, & as stoutly retort vpon them, by publishing that, which otherwise, discretion & temper would conceale. For, the difficultyes haue not proceeded from the Emperor, who is a most benigne and sweete Prince, but only as he is bound vp by others, & cannot satisfie the Duke of Bavare, who is the great remora or rock whereon the Peace doth shiprack. Nor dothe he now complaine of Spayne: though he doubteth not, but there doth lye hid vnder their conveniencias, somewhat; which being discovered would be rocky enough. For now, the Terminus when they will surrender is changed, to When it shall conduce to the Peace of Germany. However, he will endeavour rather to suspend the Treaty to a Coniuncture more propitious, than to breake it. He therefore prepareth for his departure within 14 dayes; which he is willing yet to give them, if at the last they will propose any thing that may induce him to stay longer.

55. To the Queene of England. 14 June, 1642. 32.

That he cannot get himselfe at Liberty, by coming away, vnder 14 dayes; partly for Ceremonies, and partly because the Mediators, who haue trifled 12 Months, would now rayse new hopes, against their Conscience & Experience, only to stay him for their greater Confusion. Which if he should refuse, and thereby give them a little scope, they would cast the Scandall of an abrupt breath upon him; which, for honour, he must avoyde.

56. To the Queene of Bohemia. 15 June, 1642. ibid.

That having intimated the Order he had received to returne, to the Mediators; they put on graue & busye faces, pretending that they despayred not. That, if I would breake, they could not oppose it; but the fault should not rest on them. That he answered, that they had not advanced one Step in Six Weekes, since the last Declaration; and he could not expect they would do more in a few dayes, then they had done in 12 Monthes. That he could not depart in 14 dayes; tyme enough seeing all the interested knew what they would doe; if yet they would propose any thing honorable and acceptable. For the Imputation of the Breach, whensoever they would begin to charge it vpon him, he would publish all the proceedings to the world; which yet, he thought were better on both sydes to be concealed; and to part in a condition of friendship. Afterwards they proposed to procure a Consent of Restitution of the Lower Palatinate entyre, from all the Interested, which they would present, with their judgement & Exhortation to the Emperor: which would be a great strengthening to the Prince Electors cause, although it would be denyed to be ratefied. This he accepted under the three Conditions formerly by me specified; and they undertook to answer him in 7 or 8 dayes. However, for his present satisfaction, and to induce some beliefe in him, he desired that the Ambassadors of Mentz would clearly declare, that their Master would restore the Bergstraet: but they flatly refused it; and offered the money for the pretended mortgage: which he as plainly refusing, in great choler, they said, the busyness then must be recommended to God. Yet the other Mediators desyred their tyme to trye; and so he is yet in expectation, but not in hope.

57. To Mr. Secretary Nicholas. 15 June, 1642. 33.

That Count Trautmansdorff seems to pretend that there is yet hope, at least a desyre to end the busyness now; but not without a great Summe of money to the Duke of Bavare, and some helpe to the Emperor to advance the Peace. To which he replied, that he would yet accept of any reasonable & honorable proposition, though for the Lower Palatinate alone; suspending the vpper & the Dignity, salvo Jure, to tyme & occasion. And it is likely he may get, if not the Restitution, yet some Declaration, that may advantage the Cause in the future; if but, that the Prince is restorable in Justice. That he hath diligently penetrated into the Intentions of the Duke of Bavare, and doth find, that he doth really desyre an accomodation during his Life; but for mony, that is, for 3 or 400,000l to be paid in tyme: for which, he is confident, we may compose with him for the vpper Palatinate and the Dignity; the possession of the Lands resting in him for Security till the Payment be made.

58. Relation of a Conference betweene me & the Mediators, the 13th of June, 1642. 33. b.

The Sum of it is already specified in the Abstracts of preceding Letters.

59. To the Prince Elector. 21 June, 1642. 34. b.

That the Emperor doth sincerely desyre an end of this Treaty, and hath laboured it; but will neuer yield to purchase it at his owne cost. That all the Ministers & Mediators make a fayre show and pretension, upon the Close of the busines. First, to satisfie the world by apparencies and semblances, that they would haue done much, if the Treaty had continued, so to saue their owne reputation, and to cast the scandal of a breach vpon us. Secondly if thereby they can engage him to stay, they belieue his Hignes Condition is so desperate by the troubles of England, that he will at last accept of any thing, and be forced to quitt all clayme to the vpper Palitinate & Dignity. Which is the plott of the Duke of Bavare, that he being Septuagenarius and living by art, may see the quarrell settled in his Life, & leaue his H. yres secure in the possession. This is the maine cause why he presseth the Emperor to a present conclusion; because he, thinks His Highnesses feares to alike press Him to any accommodation. That His Highnesses affairs were neuer before in so good a State as now, there being much gayned in this negotiation. First, many declarations both of the Emperor & Princes of the Emperyre, that it is requisite and necessary, for the publique Peace, that His Cause should be accommodated. Secondly, that the whole is treatable; and therefore some justice on his part. For a Treaty supposeth a right; whereas when there is no right, men vse to proceede by Supplication. Thirdly, the Duke of Bavare hath consented to treat both for the vpper Palitinate & Dignity, vpon conditions: so that it will appeare in the future, that the want of effect of this Treaty, rested not vpon the merits of the Cause, but vpon the exorbitant conditions demanded by the Duke of Bavare, & meerly vpon a matter of mony. This neyther the Emperor nor Emperyre will endure when that Duke shall be deceased. For then the Emperor will be free & sui Juris; and the Administrator will not haue that Authority which Bavare hath; and, in fewe yeares the Emperors obligations to him will be voyd. So that if the general good inclination be dexterously preferred, there is no doubt of better tearmes then He can now expect, or ever obtaine by such partial Mediators.

Num. 1901.

60. To Mr Secretary Nicholas. 22 June, 1642. 36.

That the Emperor desireth an accommodation, in order to be cleare of Bavare, but dare not force him nor press him to any discontent. Bavare presseth an end now; not so much in hope of Money, which he forsees will not be had to his Satisfaction: but designing to settle the vpper Palatinate, & Dignity secure vpon his Posterity, he hopes the Prince Elector Palatin will be content to renounce all his claymes in those, to haue Restitution of the other. And therefore he hath newly declared that he will not surrender Heidelberg & the Dependencies, vnless he may now haue a finall end. Nor will he treat with us, nor with any whomsoever, for his mony, but with the Emperor. Nor will Mentz yeild the Bergstraet. And howsoever this new Decree (as they tearme it) of the Emperor, would seem to encourage the Mediators to proceede, as if there were yet hope: it is observable, that it doth not declare what the Emperor will doe for his owne part, & Germensheim; which had been necessary first, for an example to others. But it is most certayne nothing can be done; & they all know it, for the difficulty & obstruction of Bavare; which being removed, there is no doubt, upon the foundation layd, we make a good end of a bad busines.

64. To the Ministers assembled at the Congress at Francfort, 23 July, 1642. in Latin. 38.

Herein Sir Thomas throweth the Odium of his not succeeding in his Negotiations, upon the Avarice & exorbitant Demands of the Duke of Bavaria; more especially since the Emperor had promised to do all that in him lies for the Restitution of the Palatinate Family, when the others interessed should do what might reasonably be expected of them. He exhorts them therefore to make such effectual Application to the Bavarian, as that the Treaty may be reassumed, & with the desired Restoration a blessed Peace & Tranquility be established in Germany.

65. Instructions to Mr. Curtius, for the deliuey of a relation, left by me, to the Ambassadors of the Electors & Princes at the Assembly at Francfort. 23 July 1642. 39.

Besides which, Mr. Curtius is directed to assure the Lady Landgravine of Cassell, of our Kings constant affection to her Cause; and that although there was no opportunity to mention the Comprehension of her, & her Sonnes estates: yet to faithfully promise her, that if the Treaty be reassumed, She shall be taken into such due Consideration, by particular Articles, as her Constancy & Magnanimity hath merited.

66. To Mr. Secretary Nicholas. 23 July 1642. 40.

That he as left the Treaty in a Suspension, much for the Advantage of the Cause, and necessary in consideration of our owne Condition in England. He hopeth that he came off with honour, & the general content, notwithstanding a desigine, by art, to cast the breach of Separation vpon him. But he escaped their Nets, & forced the Mediators to a Stand, & a cleare Confession, that they could doe no more. The Emperor is so pleased with the opinion & reputation of continuance or reassumption of the Treaty, that he hath sent an Invitory Decree to the Mediators, to reassemble the 10th of January. Sir Thomas well knoweth the meaning hereof, and will make another vse of it, to the Assembly at Frankfurt, by inviting those Princes to remove the Impediments. That the worthy Bishop of Wurtzburg dyed suddenly at the Table; whom, the day before, he had left in perfect health.

67. To Mr. Curtius. 31 July, 1642. ibid.

Requiring him to remonstrate to the Elector of Mentz, & to the Count de Rebollo Commande of the Spanish Forces, how unjust their design of persecuting the Protestants in the Lower Palatinate is. That such proceeding will cause vs to dispayre, as to the Treaty. It being a strange Zeale, now to begin that alteration (when they haue professed to restore) which they haue forborne so many yeares; from whence also he must conclude, that there is no purpose in them, but to excite vs to other wayes; of which they have no neede.

68. To the Provost, Deane, Prelates, & Chanoyns of the Church of Wurtzburg. 31 July 1642. in French. 40. b.

Condoling with them, upon the sad occasion of the Decease of their good Bishop & Prince.

69. To Mr. Secretary Nicholas. 18 August 1642. 41.

That in the Conference with the Elector Mentz, he promised, that though he had not declared for the Bergstraet, seeing Bavare held back; yet the Breach should not rest vpon Him, when the Accommodation should be ripe. But that the Tytle by him claymed, being for the Church, he must proceede lento pede, and with such Circumstances, as might agree with his Reputation. That in the poynt of the new Edict published and ready for Execution: he obtained a cleare promise of suspension. That the Elector of Collen engaged his word more clearly in the poynt of accommodation with his brother of Bavaria; confessing that the Peace could not be made, or not securely, without the Composure of the Palatin cause.

And

Num. 1901.

And therefore, he promised (though in a matter of mony his Brother be very vntractable; & that he who needed, and vsed him in that kind could worst interpose) yet he would vse all the power he had, to procure such a Moderation, as might be possible to be accepted, & occasion a new meeting to accommodate the whole Cause à l'amiable: which, if the Princes at the Assembly, shall vnder-take, according to their Promise & Interest; it may proue of much more efficacye, then the Offices of Strangers, or Negotiation of Ambassadors. For if they there shall find it fit for the preparation of the Peace of the Em-pyre, to declare that they ought not, nor will not suffer the whole to perish for the ambition or avarice of Bavare; and that he ought to comply with the publicque, or proue the Enemy of Peace: such a Declaration will both plane the way to accommodation, & fortify the Cause in ali events. That the loss of the Bishop of Wurtzburg is vniverfally deplorable; particularly by the Prince Elector. For he protested, that as he would prefs the poynt at the designed meeting: so he would contribute one Million of Florens toward the satisfaction of Bavare. His successor hath good Affections; but being new, can haue no mony, nor settled authority. That he hath related the procefs of his Negotiation & State of the Treaty, to the States-Generall; from whom he received a cold answer, as if they were not dispossessed of some Jealousie, or impressions they had taken. That he preffeth an answer to his Propositions, and the Com-playnts & Grievances of our Merchants injured in contravention of the Treaties of Commerce; and hath a promise to receiue some satisfaction.

70. To the Earle of Arundell. 20 August, 1642. 42.

In the former part of this long (but very distinct Letter) there is little fresh matter; but the Conclusion is thus. The advantages gotten to the Cause Palatin by this negotiation, are these. First, the Emperor hath made a very fayre declaration for Himselfe, and for what is in his power as Emperor. Secondly, Sir Thomas hath gotten, by publicque acts, a judgement that the whole Cause is treatable, & consequently not so condemned, as not to be capable, in right, of a review. Thirdly, that the Duke of Bavare hath consented to restore all, and the Vpper Palatinate, vpon Conditions; to which formerly he would never be induced; and to treat in the poynt of the dignity. Fourthly, in the Treaty, the accommodation doth not depend vpon the meritts of the Cause, but vpon Conditions; and those of a Summe of money; which is base in the refuser of peace. Lastly, that the Scandall of Breach is cast vpon one only, vizt. the Duke of Bavaria: the Emperor hauing invited by a decree, after his departure, all the interested to renew the Treaty, which may provoke him to a better temper, or rayse against him an envy dangerous & vn-supportable. Hereby Sir Thomas supposeth the Cause is in better condition then he found it; or, then it hath bene since the unjust decrees of the assembly at Mulhusen.

71. Recapitulation of the last acts of the Treaty of the Palatin Cause: for what reasons it was suspended; and in what estate it was left, at the separation of the Mediators. 30 June, 1642. 43.

Herein, Sir Thomas relateth the last Conferences he had with the Emperor and Count Curtz his Minister; and how in order to keep the Treaty yet alive, they agreed that a Correspondence should be kept between some of the Ministers of His Imperial Majesty, England, & Denmarke.

72. To Count Lesley. 30 August, 1642. 46.

Desiring that it will please the Emperor to be content in his declaration, to receiue the Prince Elector-Palatin & his Family into his favour by an Amnestie; whensoever, with the other interested an accommodation shall succede. And that he will not release the power of restoring the Lands possessed by the King of Spayne, in the Lower Palatinate. That he will remember the two Conditions of reassumption of the Treaty; that is, that the Summe of mony demanded by the Duke for the restitution of the Vpper Palatinate, be reduced to a certainty & reasonable proportion. And that the Duke doe declare that he will treat for the Succession after him of the Dignity, vpon Conditions possible to take effect, & such as may conduce to the Satisfaction of all those that are interested, and the secure peace of the Em-pyre. For vntil his Majesty our King may have some assurance in these poynts, there is little hope either to renew the Treaty, or to perfect it.

Num. 1901.

73. To the Bishop of Wurtzburg. 30 August 1642. 46. b.

Congratulating His Highness vpon his Election; and recommending the Palatin Cause to his favor & furtherance, at the approaching Assembly.

74. To Mr. Curtius. 30 August, 1642. 47. b.

That the Elector of Mentz but coldly performing his promise for the Suspension of his cruel Edict against those of our Religion; Mr. Curtius is required to prefs him, & not to let goe his engagement; which if he performe not, we must interpret an opposition to the reassumption of the Treaty. That Sir Thomas hath bene invited by the new Bishop of Wurtzburg, to succeed to the friendship of his predecessor: he professing his desyre to contribute all in his power & means to the publicque peace. That if Mr. Curtius can procure from the Princes at the intended Assembly, a Declaration or Judgement in the Cause, it will be of very great advantage in the future. That if this meeting should not hold (as he suspecteth from a little flattering prosperity of the Emperor) Mr. Curtius is to send Coppies of the Paper left with him, to all the Princes, and particularly to the Bishop of Wurtzburg, and to the 3 Cityies, that they may be without excuse of ignorance of our Intentions; and that no disadvantage arise to the Cause by a seeming contumacy & refusal of the Emperors invitation to returne to the Treaty vpon the 10 of January.

Now cometh the Third Part of this Volume, which Sir Thomas Roe hath thus Entitled,

"Letters written after my coming home; being commanded by His Majesty to continew the Negotiation of the Cause-Palatin, & to correspond with his Ministers beyond Seas. 1642. 1643. 1644."

75. To the Prince Elector. 20 September, 1642. 48.

He doubteth still, the King is not pleased with his Highness; and findeth the Parliament infinitely distastd against the Queene of Bohemia & His Highness, but especially against Prince Rupert, who as is reported hath done some outrages, & threatned firing, plundering, & forcing contribution, according to the War in Germany: insomuch as nothing is so cryed out against, as his actions, which reflect a very ill odor vpon the whole Palatin Famelye & Cause. He wishes therefore that His Highness & the Queene would write to Him.

76. To the Prince Elector. 18 October, 1642. 48. b.

Complaining, as in former Letters, of the public Calamities; that here is no mediator from abroad, nor none that seeketh peace at home, no not one. That both sides require obedience; no neutrality is admitted, for those who are not with them, are against them; & thus men liue in feare & danger. The voluntary Contributions dayly encrease; & who will not contribute, are as Come betweene two Millstones. Such a condition for private men, Germany hath not tryed: for there were some Cityies of Refuge; here none; all being one way, or other, engaged. That the Actions of Prince Rupert & Prince Maurice were not so flagrant as was reported; nor can be blamed by those who know the liberty of War. That he hath heard the Cause of His Majesty's Coldness toward His Highness; which he must reserve, vntil he can advise it by a trusty Messenger. That he purposeth to continew the resolued Correspondence & Negotiation with Count Trautmansdorffe & the Imperiall Ministers; and to put vpon it the best face our condition can assume.

Num. 1901.

77. To the Queene of Bohemia. 19 October, 1642. 49.

Mostly vpon our public Calamities; concerning which he is yet perswaded, that if any fitt Mediators were interposed, who might open the way to a Treaty, and who might speake & propose to both, that which no Subject may to His King, nor no Member dare to the Parliament, it may not be impossible to reconcile these destruictiue differences, where either part is about to fight for that, which both may haue better cheape.

78. To the Queene of Bohemia. 21 December, 1642. 49. b.

That there being a necessity to take Care of the publicque honour abroad; he had once more written to Sir Edward Nicholas for fresh orders.

79. To the Princess Elizabeth, Daughter to the Queen of Bohemia. (21 December, 1642.) 50.

That both sides prepare for war, & are very strong; & both dayly encrease, and are mighty to their owne destruction. That he himself hath no commerce with the Court; such being His Majesties pleasure; and no other notice is taken of him by the Parliament, who are content to connive at his retrement. He wondereth that the Hollanders, whom we haue tendered in their Cradle, & nursed with our Bloud, should not bend one thought to interpose in this our unnaturall quarrell, which may vndoe them, and involve them into ruine. He left them in another sense, and would sayne know the hinderer; or the policie of State, that defers such an office.

80. To the Prince Elector; 21 December, 1642. 50. b.

That since His Majesty had not found it fitt, that he should give up the account of his Negotiation, he had putt Mr. Secretary Nicholas in mind, that it is most necessary not to seeme to sinke under our burthen.

81. To Mr. Secretary Nicholas. 21 December, 1642. 51.

He desires to see & kiss His Majesties Hands, & give some account of the Estate & Condition, wherein he left the Treaty; especially since there is an expectation of some returne from him: which being omitted, the assembly at Franckfort will be fruitless for us. That he had left a declaration that may produce the greatest effect, because their owne Interest is mingled with the Cause Palatin. That he hath received some letters both from Vienna, & the Bishop of Wirtzburg, which confirm their expectation of his return. For, at the close, he left the business in a better Condition then ever it was; or perhaps, then His Majesty did conceiue it: which is also much bettered by the late Victorye of the Suedes, & humiliation of the Emperor and Duke of Bavare, who now pleads publicquely, that he was not, nor will not be the hinderance of the publicque peace. That the two mayne impediments of the generall peace betweene France & the house of Austria are removed, by the loss of the Imperiall Army, & feare of the Duke of Bavare, on the one part; and the death of the Cardinall Richelieu on the other. That now, doubtless, all Art will be vsed to advance it, the Plenipotences from Spayne being arrived, in forme.

82. To Sir William Boswell. 22 December, 1642. 51. b.

Describing the sad face of our public affairs, at that time; and wondering that he can hear of no resolution of the States to seeke our peace, who haue payd so deare for their Security, by war.

83. To Mr. Curtis, Agent at Franckfort. 8 February, 1642-3. 52.

That having been with the King at Oxford, His Majesty had given him the Care of the Correspondencies of Germany; with direction to prosecute the Treaty suspended, both with his owne, and the Imperial Ministers, and other interested Princes of Germany. That Mr. Curtius will receive a Congratulatory and Credentiall Letter to the Bishop of Wirtzburg, & another to the Ambassadors of the Assembly; which, he hopes, will fully introduce him to hold up our Interest in the publique. Sir Thomas also directeth him, First, that what treatye soever shall be settled, whether for the peace of Germany, betweene the Emperre, France, Suede, & Spayne; or particuler, by the Princes, or some of those to prefs-in the interest of the Palatin Cause, as an ingredient necessary and essentiall to the Peace: without which (however fabulous rumor may decrye us) there never can, nor shall be any Peace or agreement, which may not be reviewed. We being as like to disburthen our selves vpon the Enemyes of a just peace, as before we had this vnhappy distraction that hath armed us. Secondly, that we lose not the ground we haue gotten on the Emperor; who hath declared for himself, whensoever it may be agreed by the others Interested, principally, with the Duke of Bavare. Nor, that it was conceived generally at the last Treaty, that the imperfection of the reconciliation did not depend vpon the merits of the Cause, but vpon a Summe of money, & particuler satisfactions; which are great advantages, and in effect confessed by the Duke of Bavares remonstrance. Now, for those satisfactions; if the Duke of Bavare will descend to possibilities, the conclusion will be easie, & His Majestie will doe his part. But if he will not abate to what may be possible, the Princes must conclude it is still He that will not haue peace. Yet this must be so dexterously insinuated, that we do not make him more Enemye then he is. As for Mentz & Darmstat; the generall resolution will over-bear them. As to the Bavarian printed Apologie, the general scope is, only to disburthen the envye vpon the house of Austria; & by insisting vpon a spetious pretence of a just debt, impossible for them to pay, to keepe what he possesseth by Armes, at the cost of the whole Emperre. Which if the Emperor & all the States of Germany will not see or not resent; their case is as desperate as the Palatins: all must suffer & perish, to sett vp a new Imperiall Famelye in Bavare; which doubtless is, next his owne, the French designe.

84. Sir Thomas Roes Instructions to Mr. Curtius. 8 February 1642-3. 53.

Directing him how to introduce the Business into the Assembly, & how to carry it on: as also how to answer to the main matters contained in the Bavarian Apologie; & to make a proper advantage from the falsity of some of them, & the perverseness of others. That he must keepe a watchful Eye vpon the progress of the generall Treatyes so far advanced at Munster and Osnabrug. For, if this Assembly should be transferred thither, His Majesty will remove His & the Electors claymes thither also, as essentiall to the Peace of Germany. For, if any thing be any where concluded, with omission or exclusion of that Cause, there will be no way left but Armes. That he should keepe good correspondence with the Ministers of the Dukes of Brunswick and Lunenburg; & the Landgravine of Hessen; & all the Protestant States: assuring them, that His Majesty will never desert his Nephewes, nor his Allies, nor the common Liberty & Protestant Religion.

85. To Count Lesley. 9 February, 1642-3. 54. b.

That he hath now begun the Correspondence with Count Trautmansdorff, which may grow to the renewing of the Treatyes, if the Duke of Bavare do not hope that all Germany will be content with his printed Apologies, which doe cast back vpon the Emperor the whole burthen of not accommodating the Cause Palatin by his pretence of debt; and that for his private lucre of mony, that the whole Emperre will patiently endure the continuance of a consuming war. That there being

Num. 1901.

now an appearance of Peace in England, His Majesty & the Kingdome being fully armed, will be in a condition both to ayde his friends, and to oppose the obstinacy of the Enemys of a just peace in Germany.

86. To Count Trautmanndorffe, 10 February, 1642-3. (in Italian) 55.

Reaffuming the intermitted Correspondence; with divers particulars relating to this Cause, which being taken notice of before, I here omitt.

87. To the Bishop of Wirtzburg. 10 February, 1642-3. in French. 55. b.

Pushing him forward to exert himself in the assembly at Francfort, in order to the so much desired restitution of the Palatin Family, and the Tranquility of Germany. Of which, if there may appear any good prospect; his Majestie will shew his good Intentions to the whole World by his Royal Contribution.

88. To Mr. Curtius. 16 February, 1642-3. 56. That in no Case any Treaty is to be admitted, or hearkened vnto from the Elector of Mentz, to repay or redeeme his pretensions upon the Bergstraet: but that he must stand vpon this poynt, That it was vsurp'd by force, & rendred to him by an enemye; that Justice doth require, vt ante omnia spoliatus restitatur; and then let them pursue their title at Spires. That he must endeavour, not to let loose the busines to any particuler treaty, at Prague, or elsewhere: but to weaue it into the generall consultations and interests of the Empyre; engaging the Ministers of the Princes & States Protestant, & of the Cityes, who desyre the peace, to hold it fast as essentiall to the publicque tranquillity & interest of Germany. That it would much perplex the Duke of Bavare, if the Princes should be brought to aske a reason of his high demands, & call him to accompt: yet this must be so tenderly handled, as not to cast him into despayre. That the Emperor doth not much relish that this cause should be handled by the Assembly at Frankfort, nor embraced as a publicque interest; but rather to be transacted alone with Him, or concluded in a privat treaty. That the King of Denmark being the great Mediator, would haue the honour of the reconciliation, as his worke, & not let goe his owne interest in any treaty. That the best expedient would be, for the Prince Elector to procure the King of Denmarke to send his ambassadors to Francfort, there to joyne with all the Assembly, and to reassume the Treaty; and to that end to get a Safe-Conduct for the personal prefence of the Elector, which would be of high advantage to his Cause.

89. To Mr. Secretary Nicholas. 16 February, 1642-3 57.

That the occasion of the Emperor's Agents coming to Oxford, is to pers His Majesty, to declare what & how much he will contribute toward the satisfaction of the Duke of Bavare, in case of a full restitution of all the Palatin lands by him possessed; that the Emperor, as Mediator, may know how to driue the bargain: which being expressed, the Agent hath order to declare somewhat concerning the Dignity Electorall. That these Propositions although very specious, may yet be made at this tyme for discoverye, and to draw the busines eyther to a particuler treaty, & sole dependance vpon the Emperor, and so to sever the Cause from the engagement of the Princes now assembled; which will be dangerous: or in case of a cold Answer, to dispayre the said Princes, & induce them to be less hearty in embracing this Cause, to which, the Elector is not able, nor his friends willing to contribute much. He adviseth therefore, would kindly embrace the proposition; because the Emperor is the right port, & safe way for the Prince Elector to re-enter: but not to declare any summe, till it be declared what will content Bavare. For the best way will be to keepe to generall tearmes; as that His Majesty will contribute in such a proportion, as both the Emperor & all Germany shall confesse both His Zeale & Bounty to promote the peace of the Empyre. But if he shall yet be pressed to name a Summe, to mention 800,000 Dollars: for Bavare will never take less, then more then thrice that money, which must be raised jointly, by the Emperor, the Empyre, & by the Palatin allies.

90. To the Prince Elector. 17 February, 1642-3. 57. b.

That His Majesty is well satisfied with the state wherein the Palatin-busines was left, and the Treaty also; and had commanded him to continew & keepe it aliae, by correspondence, at his owne discretion. Sir Thomas adviseth His Highness to procure the King of Denmark to send to Frankfort; and that both the Mediators & the rest of the Deputyes might vnitedly undertake the composition; as the right course, both to remove the obstacles, and to strengthen, and to settle the treaty to a happy issue. That vpon the returne of the Emperors Agent from Oxford, he shall be better able to make some judgement, and to worke according to occasion. For, in the condition wherein both his Majesties & his Highnesses affairs are, all that can be done, is dexterously to governe the present, and to gett tyme, and to keepe the Treatyes aliae, without despayring any side. To this end, Sir Thomas will omitt no paynes, though this burthen be both too heavye & vnpleasent, to be vsed only as anothers Clarke. For he expecteth nothing but the inward reward; to employ himselfe for loue to the cause; and, if possible, to doe good for goodnes sake. This is his portion; and he is contented to dye in it.

91. To the Princess Elizabeth. 17 February, 1642-3. 58. b.

Upon our domestic affairs: with this Observation, touching the practicableness of a Peace between the King and the Parliament,—Not that I foresee not great rocks & difficultyes; but if our other Star would be pleased to afford & contribute the influence of her gracious beames for peace, and were now here: I should be confident. Now is the crysis, the true season, If the Queene would vse some meanes, send some Angell or Doue before Her, to assure the whole Kingdomes, that She would come, Crowned and Crowning, with the Oliue-branch: I know, She would not only be received with publicque joy, but a more Royall fleet sent to conduct her, than that of her happy marriage. She may now take the honour to her selfe, secure the Kingdomes, and her Princely children, and oblige the whole State to acknowledge her the Mother, as well of their felicity, as of their Kings. This is the opinion of many of her most devoted Servants: particularly of some great Lords; one now present, the Earl of Pembroke: who doth now contribute all his power to peace.

92. To Mr. Secretary Nicholas. 8 March, 1642-3. 59.

That Monfr. Lyfola the Emperors Resident hath bene very pressue for some Declaration; whom he would not dispayre, because he hath many reasons to believe that these motions are sincere: yet he conceiveth that the Emperor eyther desyres to loosen the Prince Electors Cause from the judgment of the Princes now assembled, and the publicque interest: or, that He may have discovered the ouvertures of the Duke of Bavare, made by a Minister of the Bishop of Wirtzburg, who pretends to offer a private accommodation of the Cause, if He may haue assistance from his Majesty to revenge himselfe, and to recover his first pawne from the house of Austria. Sr. Thomas sends the answers he gave to Lyfola, the drift of which were only to gain time; and desires Orders, if he be further pressed, to declare, that His Majesty will contribute, in convenient tyme a Million of Rix Dollars; which amount not to 250,000l. Sterling. Which, if it should be accepted, would be a very good bargain, in respect of his Majesties continuall increasing pensions: and the noyse of such a Summe would stop all mouths, and have a mighty operation vpon the assembly of Princes; and, nd, perhaps, discover the secret intentions both of the Emperor & Duke of Bavare, and shew vs which way to choose, in this variety.

Num. 1901.

93. To Mr. Curtius. 10 March, 1642-3. 60.

That his Majesty having wholly referred Monfr. yfola the Emperors Agent to confer with him; he like young negotiant, hath pressed that a precise & cleare declaration be made vnto him, in confidence, what Summe His Majesty will contribute toward the Satisfaction of the Duke of Bavare: without any intimation of a certaine batement of the great demand; and what temperament His Majesty would accept for the Electoral Dignity. Two high poynts to be squeezed out at once; and vpon which, so many Ambassages & Negotiations haue shipwrackt. Notwithstanding which, he hath given such answers, as may giue full satisfaction to those who proceede with incertainty towards His Majesty. As to the ouvertures of the Duke of Bavare, made by the Deputy of Wirtzburg; he gives his opinion; and thinketh it a matter of high consequence, and to be carefully penetrated into. Moreover, he adviseth him to adhere as close as he can to the Assembly of Princes; and to impress into them their common interest: which, if they will heartily embrace, His Majesty will contribute both his Authority & Meanes to cooperate with them by the satisfaction of Bavare; or in such other wayes, as may by their joynt advise, procure & settle the so much desired peace of the Empyre. Sir Thomas concludeth thus, that he hath well observed the preface to the Bavarian Declaration; & is tempted to make some short reply. He desireth that it be intimated to the Bavarian Deputies, that such aspersions cast vpon those who really haue endeavoured peace, & an equall satisfaction to their Prince, are not the right wayes to procure any confidence of their sincerity, or desyre of peace. For, as there is neyther truth nor civility in their Prologue: so, if he shall be forced to discover their proceedings, he will make it appeare to the world, that the whole hath bene a Farse on their part, to abuse those who are so easily abused.

94. To Mr. Secretary Nicholas. 11 March, 1642-3. 61.

Upon such matters as require no particular abstract.

95. To Sir William Boswell. 17 March, 1642-3. ibid.

Giving reasons for his opinion, why the Cause Palatin should be brought before the Assembly at Frankfurt; which was designed to debate the meanes of a general peace. In which, if it had bene wholly left out, as vnclear or vnnecessary to it, such a silence would haue bene interpreted to the extreme prejudice thereof. That his purpose was; first, not to neglect the Princes, nor to seeme to separate the Cause from the publique interest; but rather to draw a declaration from them, that this reconciliation was necessary therevnto. Secondly, to include them as Mediators, for a temper with the Duke of Bavare; vpon which only, it was possible to renew the Treaty. And lastly, by this occasion, to move them to contribute some proportion of his Satisfaction. But never to make them Judges to giue any Sentence or Decision in the Cause. Nor could it be any trayne layd by others: or both the Emperor & Bavare haue vsed all arts there to silence it; and the designe proceeded from himselfe, not from the Princes. This appeared so cleare, that the Ministers of Bavare doe threaten to dissolve that Assembly (though it treat of Peace) if it meddle with the busines: which will clearly worke one of his ends, by throwing the whole Impediment vpon Bavare. That Mentz, Collen & Saxe are interested against us: Collen for his brother of Bavare; Mentz for the Bergstraet; Saxe for his sonne in law Darmstat, & his treaty of Prague; and now to be expected more partiall for the Emperor then ever, for his succour of Friberg: but many of the Papist Princes haue no other interest, but the generall peace. His judgment then is, that we shall never come to a happy issue, but by the generall Treaty of the Peace of the Empyre; if by all arts we shall be able to make our Cause appeare of absolute necessity thereunto.

Num. 1901.

96. To the Prince Elector. 17 March 1642-3. 62.

Together with enclosed papers, whereby his Highnes might see how far he had proceeded; and that he had no purpose to forsake the Treaty of Mediation; or to engage the Cause to be decided; but only to be deliberated by the Assembly, concerning the Moderation, & Meanes. Being still of opinion, that if the King of Denmarke & the other Mediators would haue sent their Ambassadors thither, both the place and the conjuncture would haue bene proper & propitious. For if they shall debate vpon the Meanes of a Generall peace within the Empyre, how can this busines be left out? Sir Thomas will not presume to make any judgment how his Highnes standeth in the Kings opinion; in whom, nevertheless, he found no declination, if his condition were any way correspondent to his wildome or affection.

97. To the Lord of Falckland, Secretary of State. 19 March 1642-3. 62. b.

That the Summe of all the negotiations for the Cause Palatin are resolved into an emulation, if it be sincere, whether the Emperor or Bavare shall oblige His Majesty in the restitution; both offering vpon conditions of mony, and engaging Him on their partye. For the jealousyes or hatred betweene them, are ready to breake out; et hinc sperare possumus. That when he shall know how the Declaration will be embraced by the Assembly at Frankfurt; his Majesty may haue some light, which way to choose: and in the meane tyme, we must entertaine every thing.

98. To Mr. Curtius. 24 March 1642-3. 63.

Shewing his gladness to finde that in many of the Deputies there is an opinion, that the Palatin Cause ought to be embraced by the States of the Empyre; and that some of them think fitt to contribute toward the satisfaction of the Emperor, or Bavare. And advising him to procure such a declaration of their Judgment, that the Cause concerns the publique peace, and ought to be embraced therein; and that the impediment doth rest vpon mony, and the private avarice of one man. In which, if they will undertake to mediate, that the treaty may be reassumed with any probability; his Majesty will, by a Royal Contribution, give them an Example for their owne good. For it would be of great consequence in the future to the meritts of the Cause, to haue obteyned the judgment & declaration of such an Assembly, the subject of whose meeting was the true meanes of a generall Peace. Sir Thomas agrees that the House Palatin must be restored eyther by agreement with the Emperour, or Bauare; though it may resolve into a generall Treaty. Which way of these to choose, is the knot. He belieues, by the Emperor is both the righter way & the easier; and therefore to be first pursued. For certainly, he hath less Interest in the Restitution than Bauare; who must surrender both a principality & a beloved Dignity. And, perhaps, it may be the interest of the Emperor, rather to wish Bauare lessened, then the Palatins extinguished. For, if ever the House of Austria receive an affront in Germany, they haue cause to feare it only from that lyne. This, he wisheth, may be inculcated, as deep as may be to the Imperialls; and a necessity of ballancing the Electorall Colledge to the Protestant Princes. But seeing all wayes must be tryed; Sir Thomas desireth him to penetrate: what the Bavarian will expect from His Majesty & the House-Palatin, in case they shall treat with & adhere to him; that thereby, we may conjecture which will be the cheaper bargayne. For, if the demands of Bauare may be more moderate then those expected from the Emperor; they may be embraced, in respect of France, & Suede, & other allyes, with less opposition, then by any conjunction with the house of Austria.

99. To the Lord of Falckland. 6 April 1643. 64.

Observing, that the rest of the world, who may be our

Num. 1901.

our enemies, hasten to a Peace among themselves; and those who should be our friends, make a silent war upon the advantage of our troubles; as may be found by the resolutions of the Austrians, French, & Hollanders, to settle their generall Treaties: and by the Edicts of the States, to prohibit our Commerce, contrary to the Treaties, & the long possession & practise of our Merchant-Adventurers in Holland.

100. To Mr. Secretary Nicholas. 6 April, 1643. 64. b.

That his own Declaration, and the Prince-Elector's Cause have bene eagerly embraced by the Assembly at Francfort. Nevertheless, he his afraid it will fall, without some support. He shall keepe as much Life in it as words & intimations will mainteine; if possible, to carry it along, among the necessities of the German peace, to the Generall Treaties, which are now almost settled: but there, if there be no Procurator, no Advocate; it will not be much considered. That the Emperors Agent preffeth him to answer, whether, & what His Majesty will contribute? That we now should wyn tyme, and not dispayre the Emperor. Therefore if His Majesty will consent that he may name the summe formerly mentioned, as it will not be obligatory, so it will not be accepted so hastily, but that many other difficultyes will giue tyme enough to ratifye it. Yet it will both stop those mouthes who desyre to crye out, that His Majesty will doe nothing, and make a great impressiō in those, who will thinke, that in such an offer, His Majesty hath done more then could be expected from Him.

101. To Mr. Curtius. 7 April 1643. 65.

Testifying his Joy for the Suffrages of the Assembly at Frankfort, gathered out of the Protocol, being more than he expected from many of them. But especially, that the Directorium hath apprehended & confessed, that the affayre Palatin is judged, by plurality of voyces, to be one of the impediments of Peace, and that they would deliberate further vpon it. That therefore, he should pursue the poynt, encourage them to constancy, and to follow the Vote of Wurtzburg, to write to all, both Mediators & Interested, to reassume the Treaty in this propitious disposition and conjuncture. For, notwithstanding the Prince Elector's different Opinion, the way to bring this great affair to a good conclusion, is not by a private treaty with Bavaria, or the Emperor & him at Vienna where the Counsellors of the Emperor will be at ease; and may weary those that are far from home; and may spin out the business with fayre hopes, vntill the Generall Treaties settle with an exclusion of that Cause, as left to a private Treaty, where in conclusion it may be desperate. That, in view of the generall Treaty, the Protestation of the Duke of Bavare against the deliberation of the meanes of Reconciliation before the Assembly at Frankfort doth not affright him. For, in such case, it will appeare publique to the world, that he declineth the judgment of the Princes, feares the Justice of his Cause, and cannot endure the motions of Peace, which he only opposeth. But the truth is, he is armed & mōnyed, et nec Superos, nec Inferos timet.

102. To the Queene of Bohemia. 7 April 1643. 66.

That he had made vse of her Letter, to the Lords of Holard & Pembroke (who are very well enclined to serue Her) that Her business might have moved from the vpper House; and had consulted with Sir Henry Vane and diuers others of the House of Commons, to have prepared the way of a fayre acceptance. But that they have resolved, that it must moue immediately from herselfe, by Letters to the Speakers of both Houses, or by some immediate Message; otherwise, they are of opinion it will be foyled. That he knows her Majesties wisdom to be such, that if she shall write, she will so endeavour to giue the Parliament Satisfaction, as not to offend the King. That there had been an Order to send back her Letter to the Commons, with the Sense of the House

Num. 1901.

vpon it; principally, because of some wish in it, that the Prince Elector had bene as well counselled as Prince Rupert. Sir Thomas, having in former Letters, complained of the exorbitantly-cruell Taxes levied of him by the Parliamentarian Faction, now writes that he is utterly vndone; having neyther Rent, nor meanes to liue.

103. To the Prince Elector. 7 April 1643. 66. b.

That his Cause hath gayned much advantage; the Votes of the Assembly hauing concurred with his Scope & Sense, which had these ends. First, to enterteyne tyme; else the business had layne dead asleepe: and the feare that it might be embraced by the Princes in a publicque Assembly, hath begott the warmth & motions made by the Emperors Agent here, & will discover the Duke of Bavare & nourish a Jealousy between the Emperor & him. Secondly, to gain the generall declaration & judgment from such an Assembly, that the Exclusion of the Palatin Family was one of the principal impediments of the interne peace: which is somewhat, though it should proue but an induction to leade it on to the general Treaty. Lastly, that the Treaty of Mediation should be reassumed; not at Vienna, but in the Assembly; who were likely to be better Moderators, then the interested. Therefore he wished that the King of Denmarke would haue sent thither, where already the Ambassadors of all the Mediators are present. And that His Highnes should speedily apply all his endeavours to bring his business againe into agitation; and, at the worst, it would be an easy remoue, both of the Persons & Cause, to the generall Treaties in Westphalia.

104. To Sir William Boswell. 7 April, 1643. 67. b.

He is sorry the States should be no wiser then to shew vs how they would vse us, if we were in their power. Which hath gotten him a Stomack, as a private man, to write to Monsieur de Meuse, and to debate with him their proceedings; for which he hath leaue of His Majesty.

105. To Mr. Secretary Nicholas. 10 April, 1643. 67. b.

That his endeavours haue raysed a great noyse, and putt new life to the Cause of the Prince Palatin: which, by vote, is embraced at the assembly of Princes, notwithstanding the open opposition of Bavare, and the vnderhand declination of the Imperiall Ministers. That in this Negotiation hitherto, he hath obtained all his designes; and knoweth not what further to doe, but to leaue it to tyme, and the deliberation of those, who may acknowledge themselves concerned in it. And to that end, to pursue the poynt, he hath further instructed Mr. Curtius in every particular. Whether they will undertake to mediate an abatement of the 13 Millions demanded by the Duke of Bavare, he doubted: because that Prince is almost omnipotent, and few dare offend him. But he conceiueth, that the Emperor will endeavour somewhat in it, as being wholly desirous to end the Cause by a Treaty with himselfe, rather then by a judgment of the Emperre. So that it must worke in both Spheres, that we may take our choice when we shall see what effects their severall ends shall produce. Though his Judgment is, that both the Treaty by the Mediators, and the Co-operation of the Princes, as Moderators, may be joynd at Francfort, as most convenient for all parties. For so, if that Assembly and all the matters handled therein, shall be removed to the generall Treaties, which the Emperor endeavours, as being loth to be curbed by the authority of this Assembly: yet in that case, at the worst, the Prince Electors Cause will be carryed along, as a principall subiect of the Treaty, & Interest of the Emperre. Being so commanded by his Majestie, Sir Thomas delivereth his opinion concerning the Generall Treaties; and of the consequences & relations, that an agreement betweene the House of Austria & France, and their mutuall Allies, may worke vpon His Majesties Interests, at home & abroad. Concluding, that the settlement of his Majesties

Num. 1901.

Majesties Peace & Authority at home, is only able to glue life & countenance to his Negotiations abroad. Next to that, the well-managing of the States of Holland, by reducing them to vnderstand the ground of their owne safety, by a strict vnion with the Crowne of Englande; from which, they seeme most vngratefully & ruynously to swerue: is the surest & most probable way to ballance the Events of any other Treatyes, or Combinations.

106. To the Prince Elector. 14 April, 1643. 71.

Herein, is little fresh matter. Only, therewith, Sir Thomas sent a Coppy of His Majesties last Letter to him; whereby, his Highness might see His care, & constant affection to His cause.

107. To Sir William Boswell. 14 April, 1643. ibid.

Upon the Calamities impending on the Nation, for want of Agreement.

108. To Mr. Secretary Nicholas. 22 April, 1643.

69. b.

That all industry is used by the Imperials, & Bavare, to dissolue the Assembly at Frankfort; under pretence of remitting all business to the generall Treatyes: not without some oblique respect, that the Palatin Cause may receive no countenance from the judgment or mediation of the Princes. And probably, that they intend to exclude the Cause from the publicque in the Treatye, as they did from the debate of the Dyet, & Amnestye at Ratibon. For to keep it confined to a private mediation will be dangerous. Sir Thomas hath therefore advised Mr. Curtius to procure an Act of Declaration in that Assembly, conformable to their Voyces, that the Restitution of the Palatin famelye to their Rights is essentiall to the publicque Peace: there being little hope that Bavare will hearken to any mitigation of his Demands. That Bavare hath reconciled himself with the Emperor; and they have joyned their Interests, to his advantage. For it is conceived that he shall obtaine in full satisfaction of all his pretences, the land first pawned to him vpon the Ens; and that the possession of the Palatinats shall be returned to the Emperors disposing. This will much better the Condition of a Treaty, and facilitate the Restitution; because He cannot so safely keepe them as to be an apparant hinderance to the peace. That Count Lesley writes, that the Inclination in the Emperor to giue his Majesty satisfaction, was never so great as at this present; but the point of the Electorat will be the difficulty. Sir Thomas will therefore keepe vp the busines in a generall way, as the publicque interest; and if possible, to carry it along, to the Treatyes of Munster & Osnabrug, where only the Cause can be well settled, & where His Majesty shall haue the best bargayne. For the major part of the Princes & States do insist & resolute, to separate in that Treatye the Interests of the Strangers; and to establish the internall peace of the Empire, which includes the Cause Palatin. Therefore it will be necessary that His Majesty & the Prince Elector doe send to that Meeting. That upon the decease of Cardinal Richelieu, & the likelihood of the French Kings death, the face of affairs in that Kingdom is much changed. He belieueth that the French Regency will hasten the peace with the house of Austria, and will find friends to do their business with advantage. He wisheth that such an agreement may be stopped, vntill our kingdome may be in a better condition; and that we would strengthen our selues by making stricter Leagues with our Freinds the Northerne Crownes, & helping to recover the wits of the Hollanders.

109. To the Earle of Northumberland. 3 May, 1643. Upon the then present Troubles. 71. b.

110. To Mr. Secretary Nicholas. 4 May, 1643. 72.

That having fallen into the jealousy of the House of Commons, he hath been advised to retyre. That the Emperor & Bavare haue accorded; and, though at the Assembly at Frankfort, the Princes do continue their desire to accommodate the Cause Palatin; yet so superior is the power of the other two, that the best that can be expected, will be, that the particuler treaty be either reassumed there, if that meeting shall so long continew; or that it shall be carryed over amongst the necessary ingredients of Peace, to the Generall Treatyes of Munster & Osnabrug; where, he belieueth, the accommodation must be made by agreement with the Emperor & Bauare. That it is requisite for his Majesty to take to his Consideration, whether He will send & interese himself in the approaching Treaty, or not; without which, Sir Thomas conceiue both loss of reputation, & extreame danger to the Cause of the Prince Elector. That nothing is more wished in the Emphyre, than the death of the Duke of Bavaria; he having both overwayed the Princes by his Armes, & overwitted them in the last Conventions; where he promised to protect the publicque Liberty. In which he had no other designe, but to shew to the House of Austria, how necessary he was vnto them; and thereby to joyne their powers in prejudice of the Princes & States of the Emphyre. That if the Duke of Bavaria be dead, according to a late rumor, it will be in the Emperors power to make a better bargain for himself.

Declaring his Opinion, that if Bavare hath obteyned his ends, & gotten the consent of the Emperor to haue the lands vpon the Ens in satisfaction of all his pretences; the Emperor may be persuaded to accept of such a Summe as can possibly be had, rather than by retyning the lands remitted by Bavare in his hands, to hinder the generall peace, & take vpon him the Envy which Bavare hath so wisely cast off. Instructing him therefore, to assure the Imperiall Ministers, that if they will reassume the Treaty, in an equall & convenient place, his Majesty will largely contribute toward the Emperors satisfaction. Provided, we may haue nothing to doe with Bavare, nor Spayne; and that the Composition for the Electorall Dignity may be such, as may content the Palatin Famelye; & the Protestants of the Emphyre. But if the Duke of Bavare be dead, he must press the Princes to enterpose, before any thing be settled by investiture, or admittance of an administrator (for the Minor) in the Electorall Dignity, that nothing be done in prejudice of the particuler, or generall Treatyes. Then it will be in the Emperors power to make a better conclusion, either with the Administrator, or Minor; both for himselfe, vs, and the generall Peace.

112. To the Lord of Falkland. 5 May, 1643. 74.

Upon our intestine divisions; and giving his judgement as to the method to be used, in order to the composing the same.

113. To Mr. Browne. 9 May, 1643.

About the Meeting intended to be held at Munster & Osnabrug, and the Duke of Bavarias endeavors to exclude the Palatin Cause from being debated therein. He giue the present State of that business, for the advancement of which, he instructeth Mr. Browne to negotiate in his Majesties Name, with the Ministers of State in his Residence; that they give expresse Order to protect this Cause in the generall Treatyes, as one of the principall impediments of the Peace, and not suffer it to be excluded for the advantage of the Duke of Bavare, who hath now joyned his interests closely with the House of Austria, and used France only as a stalking horse to his privat designes. This, in honour, France cannot suffer: nor abandon a Cause, & the protection of a Prince & antient Ally, nor violate the professions made particularly to His Majesty, & publickly to the world, that she took vp Armes for resetting the Liberty of the Emphyre vpon the antient foundations.

fortune to the Eastland Company, and to himself the K. of Denmark's displeasure; to whom he had transmitted an Apology for his Conduct. He desires to know how it was accepted by that Prince; in whom if any inclination may be found to settle this business right, our King will give his Uncle such content, as may confirme the mutuall Love & Confidence necessary to them both, & to their Kingdomes.

115. To Mr. Curtius. 10 May, 1643. 77.

That he is not concerned because of the Duke of Bavaria being moved at his late Declaration. He hath as much cause, and all the Ministers also, to resent His Manifest & the added Preface. He cannot hope, in respect of the opposition of Bavaria, and of the short life of the Francfort Assembly, that the Treaty of Mediation can be brought thither. That if he (Mr. Curtius) can procure by the Interposition of the Princes, that the Treaty may be transacted at the generall Meeting, he shall have very great hope of a good end; if we breake not concerning the Electorat, which, he fears, will prove the insuperable rock. Sir Thomas also directeth Mr. Curtius, speedily to informe Mr. Browne at Paris, and Mr. Avery at Hamburg, what he findeth will be done or resolved by the Assembly in the Palatin Cause, that they may timely negotiate fitt Instructions, concurrent to our ends, for the Ambassadors which shall be sent to Munster and Osnabrug, from the Crownes of France, Denmarke, and Suede.

116. To Mr. Secretary Nicholas. 10 May, 1643. 77. b.

Acquainting him with his latest proceedings about the Palatin Cause; which, although it was all he is able to doe: is not all that is necessary, both for His Majesties Honour, & Interest, & Reason of State. For howsoever His Majesty is streightned at home; it should not be professed abroad, by omitting to send to Munster, upon such an occasion; where, the whole Estate & Affaires of Europe will be brought upon the Stage, and the severall designs of all Princes discovered. Neyther was there any Prince brought so lowe, but he could send an Ambassage. For it is not the Cause Palatin alone, (which is, in comparison, a private business) but the reputation of the Protestant partye, in their relation to vs, and the honour of His Majesty & the Kingdome, that will suffer, if we seeme to abandon both our selves & those allies which will be as necessary to our safety, as their owne. That the Earl of Arundell is already abroad, and spends as much in the Course he is in, as he would by removing to Munster, or Osnabrug. That others may be found in England, glad of that protection from ruine at home; and that the Parliament cannot oppose it. That Sir William Boswell were very fitt, if his health would permitt. That a less quality than an Ambassador will have no lustre nor authority: for which reason he cannot approve of Curtius, although well versed in public affairs. But if this cannot be done; his opinion is, that His Majesty must suddenly send his Letters to the French, Danes, & Swedish Crownes, to recommend the Cause wholly to them, to be negotiated & protected by their Ambassadors; and so wholly to depend upon them.

117. To Sir Dudley Carleton. 11 May, 1643. 78. b.

Wishing that the Prince Elector may not be deceived, in the setting of his Pension upon a ground that cannot hold; was once held a grievance; and to which, some of his good friends have a title. He would be glad the States would doe any thing that might make vs thinke they desire our peace; and that the common error did not blind them. That they ought to consider, that a change in France, may change the Counsells & Government there: and if England be reduced to that condition that it be not able to assist them; or by their demerit, unwilling to doe it: the French will serve them to what termes they please. Therefore, now is the tyme, that they may shew wisdom, love, & gratitude:

and if they have none of these qualities, they must expect retribution of the same measure.

118. To Mr. Secretary Nicholas. 11 May 1643. ibid.

That the Emperor will make no peace with France, but comprising and composing the controversies with Spayne. For he hath assured the Duke of Bavaria to him; who, like a ratt, hath quitted the house, he foresaw would fall, when Richelieu the great Pillar was removed. So that the difficulties in the generall treaty may be increased, by the heightening of the Spirits & Demands of the Austrians, unless the French will yield up more than will sort with their honour, & late flood of prosperity. That we ought not to neglect the French, if they may be induced to embrace the Palatin affaires in their treaty, which may be, to them, an advantage of honour. For, peace will not be made, unless France make large surrenders: and they have been so successfull, that they have nothing to remand, except Nauare, & the restitution of their allies; thereby to mainteyne their reputation, that they give not all for nothing. That Mr. Curtius hath written, that the Assembly will adhere to their votes. But it is discovered, that the Emperor & Bavaria would exclude the Palatin Cause, as well from the Generall Treaties, as they have endeavoured to silence it at Francfort. Therefore, we must ply & press the three Crownes of France, Denmarke, & Suede, that they will insist upon it, that the business doth concerne the General peace, at least the interne tranquillity of the Empire.

119. To the Prince Elector. 12 May, 1643. 79. b.

Besides what hath been before rehearsed, that he can foresee no good success if his Highness be left alone, to the mercy of the interested, in a particular & private treaty. Which makes him wonder at the opinion of those of his Highnesses Counsell, that the Mediation should be reassumed in the presence of the Assembly at Francfort. And is therefore very sorry that HE had so much enclined to them, as coldly to accept what was endeavoured; which had kept the Cause alive, and made it publique; and which, without that communication, had never bene accepted in the general Treaty; but understood, as the Imperials & Bauarians style it, a private affaire betweene the Emperor & his Highness, no way concerning the Emperre nor publique peace: that His Majesties offer would have been refused at Vienna, and so stated; whereas at the generall Treaty, it will make a great noise, and the opportunity will be faire, if the death of the French King rayse not the Austrians too high; or that the Counsells in France warpe not toward the Spaniard.

120. To the Princeesse Elizabeth. 12 May 1643. 80.

Upon our own Confusions; the folly or madness of the Dutch, who interpose not themselves in order to procure a peace between our King & his People; wherein themselves are so much concerned, especially now upon the death of the French King, which may be attended by alterations much to their prejudice. That the Palatin Cause is now in the Crysis; and, if the decision be not more publique, than some doe counsell, it is desperate. Sir Thomas wisheth therefore, that her Brother the Prince-Elector be not deceived in the wayes wherein he now seemeth to trust, both here & abroad.

121. To Mr. Secretary Nicholas. 19 May, 1643. ibid.

Concerning the state of the Palatin cause; about which, here is little fresh matter. That he suspecteth the K. of Denmark may have made some private Treaty with Bavaria, which may bring some prejudice to this Cause; and that this Duke, being not heartily affected to the Emperor, may incline more to the French side. That the French Parliament hath enlarged the Queens Authority as Regent, and settled their National Affairs, especially the power of the Princes & Great Officers in a state of Peace & Tranquillity. Moreover, Sir Thomas heareth

Num. 1901.

heareth from thence, that the Queene Regent & the whole Counsell do resent the pressures of our Parliament against his Majestie as an effect of the mistaken doctrine of the reformed religion; which is like to make that partie suffer in France, at least to be kept very low, for feare of the Example. And, that they encline very zealously to assist & protect the declining Royaltie: and to that end, they purpose speedily to send hither, to expostulate with the Parliament concerning the Cappuchins; and vpon that occasion to make some other ouvertures.

122. To Mr. Burlemachy. 23 May, 1643. 81.

In answer to a letter, wherein Sir Thomas was asked, whether a mediation from the States Generall were seasonable, & likely to take any good effect for our peace? He giveth his opinion, at large, in the affirmative, & that it would be both honourable & advantagious to that State to offer such a Mediation, & would shew their wisdom & gratitude by prosecuting the same. And though it might seeme very late, yet it might still be seasonable, if they should dexterously manage the occasion of the first Entrance. In this last respect Sir Thomas giveth his advice.

123. To Mr. Curtius. 25 May, 1643. 81. b.

Concerning the Palatin-cause, which must, by all meanes, be brought into the public Treatie, & not be left to private Charetye. Advising what he should intimate to the Princes, concerning the Electoral Dignity; and giving his opinion touching the restitution of the lands taken from the Duke of Bavaria's Ancestor, by the Emperor Maximilian the first.

124. To Mr. Curtius. 26 May, 1643. 82. b.

That our opposites intend a Laberinth, out of which we shall neuer gett, but at their pleasure. That the Imperialls & Bauarians haue craftely obteyned their ends. Therefore he must, if it be not too late, awaken the Princes from the slumber into which the charmes of Bavare hath cast them. That they have forsaken their honour, their interest, & their votes. Yet, if they will add a judgement or Declaration, that the Cause doth concerne the publicque so much, that it is necessary to be decided among the impediments of the interne peace; it will be some amends. If they dare not do it, there is no more trust, no courage in them: but we must fly to the Strangers the Three Crownes; to force them to see their own fayntnes & impotencye.

125. To the Prince Elector. 26 May, 1643. 83.

That the Emperor & Duke of Bavare haue endeavoured nothing more sedulously, then to separate his highness cause from the publicque: which, if they can doe (and they have done much more than was expected) they will have the game sure in their owne hands. For that reason, he desired to weave it into the publicque consultations of the meanes of peace; not in hope to see at Francfort a final decision, but to putt life in the busines, which otherwise had layne silenced in expectation of re-assumption of a private Treatye; vpon which, the Emperor would neuer haue called, if he had not bene awakened by that alarme. That the offers he hath made to Isola, are only to keepe the Emperor in a good disposition, & continue the Treatye in the way resolved at Vienna: least, if we should say nothing, it might be objected that wee had broken it, or discontinued it on our part. That he hath received somewhat from Count Trautmansdorffe, Which, he thinks, doth say, that this busines is now wholly in his masters power; and that he will speedily putt an end vnto it, either before or at the generall Treatyes from this expression, sperandum illud die ac tempore ipso ad suam maturitatem breui perueniturum. That therefore His Highness must endeavour, by all his friends, to bring his cause to the publicque treaties, and to strengthen it there by the three Crownes; and vse all the power he hath in England to procure His Majestie to send his Ambassador to assist. Else the world will judge that we haue deserted ourselves & our Allies; and the Ministers will be cold enough, should none be present to watch ouer them, and hold them fast to their professions.

126. To Mr. Secretary Nicholas. 30 May, 1643. 83. b.

Shewing by many forcible reasons, how necessary it was, that his Majestie should send an Ambassador to the approaching Treaties: which yet, if his Necessities would in no case permit, the expectation thereof ought, nevertheless, to be kept up; and Negotiations ought to be had with the three Crowns of France, Denmark, & Sweden, that the busines might be brought to good effect by their Authority. That Monfr. Isola the Emperors Resident here, in his propositions given to His Majestie at Oxford, in February last, hath gone far beyond his Instructions & Commission; and is like to be disavowed. For the Duke of Bavare hath gotten a Coppie of them, and written a sharp Letter to the Emperor, resenting the injurye, and protesting against the performance, on his part. Hereof Sir Thomas hopes to make a very good use; the drift being to disengage us from seeking to bring the Palatinat-cause to the cognition of the Assembly at Francfort, or to the generall Treaties; which, if effected, the game would be in their own power.

127. The Heads & Substance of what is conceiued requisite to be negotiated with the Crownes of France, Denmarke, & Suede, in preparation to the generall Treaties designed; particularly in the cause Palatin; partly by Letters Credentive, partly by the Negotiation of the Ministers of His Majestie, with them resident. 31 May, 1643. 84. b.

128. To Mr. Auery. June 1. 1643. 86.

That the Imperialls & Bauarians haue so far preuayled by their Arts, as to silence the further prosecution of the Palatine-busines at Frankfurt; and to exclude it from the Generall Treatyes (if they can) as a particular difference betweene the Emperor & the House Palatin, no waye concerning the Publicque. Sr Thomas hopes that the 3 Crownes, who will be the great Actors in the General Treatye, will resent this cunning, which hath awakened our King; who hath sent fresh Orders to oppose this designe, by engaging Denmarke & Sweden to insist upon the Comprehension of this Cause, as essential to the Peace of the Empire.

129. To Mr. Browne. June 1. 1643. ibid.

Much to the same purpose; with Orders to prepare the French to make the same Motions.

130. To Mr. Secretary Nicholas. 2. June, 1643. 86. b.

Reciting various Opinions as to what would be fit for our King to do at this juncture. His own is, that His Majestie should write to the 3 Crownes, the Elector of Brandenburg, the Dukes of Lunenburgh, & Landgrave, of Hessen, and also to some choyce Ministers, to take the busines into their manage, and make a good end thereof at the generall pacification.

131. To the Queene of Bohemia. 7 June 1643. 87.

Shewing, in the main, his affection to Her Majesties Service, though unable to advance in any great degree. Talks, as if somewhat might be expected from the Parliament; especially for her Subsistance. But laments our public differences.

132. To the Prince Elector. 7 June, 1643. 87. b.

Relating what hath been lately done in his busines; with his own opinion, which he submits to the Electors Will.

133. To Princess Elizabeth, the Elector-Palatin's sister. 7 June, 1643. ibid.

Giving his Sense upon the partial Conduct of the Dutch, who would make an advantage by our Troubles of which he believeth, that, sooner or later, they will repent: since too much Caution, and open Covetousness, are but Follies. That her Brother hath accepted of a weak foundation of Subsistance, viz. 12000l. per annum upon upon the Brass Farthings; which Pension is now in great Arrear. That, at the best, the Thing was not worth to the Undertakers 3000l. yearly; and then it was a græuance to the Kingdome; and will be greater, if enlarged.

134. to Mr. Curtius. 8 June, 1643. 88.

Instructing him how to proceed in the management of the Palatin-affair; which our King will never desert. He justifies His own late Declaration, which none think injurious to the Colledge Ellectorall, but One Doctor. That He communicated the Substance thereof to the Electors of Mentz & Collen, the one a Friend, the other a Brother to the Duke of Bauare, who took no Exceptions, but (being convinced) rather approved it. Adding, that as the Greatest Clerkes, are not the Wisest Men: So, He has observed, that all the Treatyes & Resolutions of the Princes of Germany, (which should be managed by generous Spiritts, sensible of Honour) are ouer-seasoned with that too-learned ingredient of Doctors, like good Broth ouer-salted. Thus, he leaves & despises their Censures.

135. To Sir William Boswell. 6 June, 1643. 88.

That the Assembly at Frankfort hath done some Good, in discouraging the Emperor Duke of Bauare (who is very angry) that the Votes will remayne vpon the Register, and ought to be a great Inducement to the Crownes to embrace the Cause, by Judgment of the Princes, declared essentiall to the interne Peace. He wonders at the Conduct of the States; who act not as they are obliged by the antient Treatyes, or at least by the Equitie of them: whereby they ought not to enter-tayne a Conference of Peace with Spayne, without acquainting our King.

136. To Mr. Secretary Nicholas. 12 June, 1643. 89.

That the Deputies of the Princes assembled at Francfort, will insist upon their Votes. That Mr. Curtius hath there presented a Memorialis, to require an Answer to His Credence; which will engage them to some Declaration more publique. That the Duke of Bauare & His Ministers are much discomposed, finding that this great affaire will not be remitted in a Corner, to be treated at Vienna, or in any priuate Colloquye, but in the face of the Emphyre; and before those, who will not so much regard his 13 Millions, as the publique Safetie, & Peace. That they now wish, they had rather consented to have had it ended there, where there was some appearance of Contribution; then by the generall Treaties, where He can expect nothing but the Honor to have sacrificed his privat Pretensions to the publique: or to be left to the Lawes, to recouer of the Emperour. He conceiveth that the Letter of that Duke to the Emperour hath made all the Princes see, that there is no purpose in him to agree with the Elector Palatin; but to separate him from the protection of the publique Interest, vnder the colour of a priuat Treaty. So that there is nothing to be trusted unto, of Monfr. Pissola's ouuertures made to His Majestie at Oxford, which by Bauare are required to be reuoked.

137. To Mr. Browne. 14 June, 1643. 89. b.

Directing him to solicit the French Court for Instructions to their Ambassadors; and to procure (if possible) a Letter, or some equal Signification from that Crowne, to the King of Denmarke as the Great Mediator, for Comprehension of the Elector-Palatin & his Famelye as an Allye; that His Cause may be decided at the General Treaties as essentiall to the Peace. With a present conjecture at the Danes behaviour then, & the reason thereof.

138. To Mr. Curtius. 15. June, 1643. 90.

Approving his proceedings. That He (Sir Thomas) has endeavoured to prepare the King of Denmarke to remove his Mediation to the Generall Treaties; when he may have Concurrence & Help, so as not to be over-swayed by pluralitie of interested Voyces. To which end also, he hath endeavoured to procure Letters from France & Suede.

Num. 1901.

He likewise gives further Directions, how to act with regard to the Emperor, in this affair.

139. To Mr. Auery. 19 June, 1643. 90. b.

Touching the private Views of the King of Denmarke, & of the Duke of Bauare; hoping, that His Danish Majesty will not be made the Instrument of betraying that Cause, he so generously undertook to protect. Which Cause is of too high a Nature as to become a precedent for all Causes (as some pretend) & consequently an obstruction to the general Peace. This being the Case of Confiscation of the first (temporal) Prince of the Empire; and the Transfation of an Elektorall Dignitye; which is the Interest of the King of Denmarke, as well as of all other Protestant Princes to prevent, and in it self, not triable at the Imperial Chamber. That the general Opinion is, that the Peace cannot be concluded, or at least secured, without the Restitution or Extinction of the Palatin-Family. And that France & Sueden, especially, are of this Judgment, understanding the Elector-Palatin as an Allye of their Crownes; in which Qualitie they have procured Safe Conduct for his coming or deputing, to the general Treaties: not being willing that a Cause of this high concernment, should be remitted, or hazarded in a privat meeting, wherein they shall have neither Interest, nor Communication. That the Imperial Ministers at Francfort, have privately confessed that their Master doth now desire that the business may now be ended, by the Authority of the States of the Empire; in hopes of bridling the Demands of the Duke of Bavare, which he can not expect by any private Mediation; but that the Debt, or a Quarrell, must wholly rest upon him, & his House. Sir Thomas also sets forth the present good Disposition of the Electors of Saxony & Brandenburg, & of the Imperiall Townes, to this good & great Work. That the King of Denmarke & his Sonnes, will be better secured by obliging & assuring the Protestant Partye to Him, than by all the hopes he can have of the Austrians; & may make himselfe General of the two Circles, being most Protestants, sooner by his owne Meritt & Authority, then by the Suffrage of those who cannot take pleasure in any access of Reputation to Him. Sr. Thomas desires him to open a way for rectifying the mistakeings which have happened between our King & the Dane. That His Majestie will doe all things on his part, if the King of Denmarke will settle the Tolls according to the Dutch Agreement, according as He is bound by Treaty. If he will not; we may be, for a tyme, oppressed; but the Nation, or Traders, will not beare it.

140. To the Prince-Elector. 30 June 1643. 92.

Giving His Highness an Account of what had lately been done in his Business, especially with relation to the King of Denmark. And advising him to induce our King to send an Ambassador to the Public Treaty, in Order to countenance & promote His Cause.

141. To Mr. Browne. 1 July 1643. 92.

Desiring him to induce the Queen Regent, & Ministers of the Court of France, to signifie to the King of Denmarke their Resolution, to have the Palatin-business comprehended in the General Treaties. That in Order to this, He may assure them, that such a Resolution will be acceptable to that King, who hath lately written to the Emperor & Duke of Bavare, that this Cause could not be accommodated, but by the Generall Treaty. And that the Queene of Suede hath given the Prince-Elector assurance, that she will use all her Power, in the Assembly, to settle him in his Rights. And that she hath, to that purpose, commanded her Ambassador to negotiate the Cooperation of the Crowne of France with Her. That, it is probable that the Duke of Orleans will strenuously endeavor at the Restitution of the House of Lorreyne; whereby the French Crown may gain much Honor, by setting against it, the Restitution of the House

Num. 1901.

House Palatine. That the Causes and Qualities of those Princes being equally, the French may be thereby invited to oblige two Friends by one Worke. For, without both be restored, there can be no Peace.

142. To Mr. Secretary Nicholas, 3 July 1643. 94.

Proposing that our King should send an Ambassador to the General Treatie; as also earnestly to recommend the Exchange (i. e. the Restitution of the House of Lorraine on the one side, for that of the Palatin-Family on the other) as the most probable way to move the Crowne of France to give that Peace to Europe; which they do publickly pretend; and without which, there can be no constant Peace. For, such an Exchange may be favored both by the Spaniards and the Duke Bauare, because of the House of Lorreyne, whose Reestablishment they will jointly insist vpon in the Treatye, both for reason of State, and for Alliance in Blood. He gives reasons for his Opinion and the probability of it; and desires that His Majestie would write Letters (recommending the Palatin-Cause) to the Emperor; the three Crownes, the States General the Electors; and especially to those of Saxe & Brandenburg, to the Landgravine of Hessen, & Dukes of Lunenburgh & Brunfwicke.

143. To Mr. Curtius. 4 July 1643. 94. b.

That the 3 Crownes have assured us, that they will embrace the Palatin-cause as publicque; and that Denmarke hath written to the Emperor, that it cannot any where be accommodated, but in the generall Treatye. Wherefore, Sir Thomas doth not weigh the opinion of the Ambassadors of Collen, who speake as they desire, in compliance with the Duke of Bauare. That Monfr. l'Isola the Emperors Minister, is gone to Oxford with some new Bayts: but since it is found by the Duke of Bauares Letter to the Emperor, that he will restore nothing, but modo suo; and that the Emperor cannot performe without him; all Communication vpon his Overtures, & offers on his Majesties part, are fallen; and the Cause must stick only to the Judgement of the great Tribunal.

144 To Mr. Auery. 5 July 1643. 95.

Setting forth the Steps that have been taken by the 3 Crownes, in order to accommodate this great Affair at the General Treatye. That the Queene of Suede hath written a very hearty Letter to the Prince Elector, signifying that she hath given Commission to the Plenipotentiaries, and moved the French Resident in her court, and also written effectually to Monfr. Grotius to negotiate & agree with the Crowne of France, for its Concurrence and Cooperation. Professing, that she will mainteyne the Honour & Justice of her Father in undertaking a War for the Reliefe of his oppressed Friends. And, that if others, particularly the Princes of Germany, will closely adhere; She will endeavour a generall Reduction of all the States, to the state of the year 1618. Further, Sir Thomas desires to know if he hath moved any thing to Monfr. Rauentclaw the Danish Minister, concerning the Accommodation of the Treatye of Commerce, & the Ease of the Merchants, who suffer on all fydes.

145. To Mr. Secretary Nicholas. 17th July 1643. 95. b.

That the Prince Electors Cause is in a fayre way toward Munster, whither he is resolved to send His Deputyes; with desire that some may be employed by His Majestie to assist there. That a Letter will come, from the Electors to our King, desiring him to send his Ambassador to resume the Private Treatye; touching an Answer to which, Sir Thomas gives his Judgment. That new Credential Letters will be necessary for introducing Mr. Avery into this Negotiation; wherein, it will be requisite to give him both Grace and Authority. For he hath complained, that being employed to the King of Denmarke for the Eastland-Company: his last Credentials were altered in the Style & Titles; & so restrained & limited, that at first he was refused Audience as a publick.

CAT. HARL. VOL. II.

licque Minister, & slighted by those appointed to hear him and sent away re infecta: under which disgrace, he yet suffereth in that Court. That the Duke of Orleans & His Party will returne, not only into Reconciliation; but to prime Authority in the manage of State-Affayres in France; being united (by the Wisdome of the Duke of Guise) to secure their future Condition. That their full Reestablishment will be strongly favoured by the House of Austria; and consequently, they will be the fittest Instruments for working the Protection of the Palatin Cause; the Satisfaction of the Duke of Bauare; and the Consent of the Emperor & King of Spain. That they are most like of any to keep good Correspondence with our King; and (though it appeare a Paradox) not to disfavoure the Protestant Partye, whose depression they haue found to have been the Opportunity of that absolute Power exercised in the late Government.

146. To Mr. Browne. 18 July 1643. 96. b.

That if the two Crownes (i. e. France & Sueden) can settle & agree their owne Interests; the right way to end the Quarrels of Germany will be in the lump. Not to dispute this & that Pretension apart, and to weigh the Merits of euery Circumstance; but to insist vpon the restoring of the Condition & Libertye of the Empire, & of euery oppressed Prince & State, to what it was, & what they justly possessed in the year 1618. before the War begun. He is desired therefore to insinuate this Doctrine, & the Consequences thereof into the French Ministers; that by their apprehending or rejecting it, a judgement may be made as to what may be hoped from them.

147. To the Prince Elector. 19 July 1643. 97.

That he hath sent all His Highnesses Letters to our King, as also the Contents of them; but hath received no Direction thereupon; which Sir Thomas imputed to the nearness & daily action of both Armies.

148. To the Queene of Bohemia. 19 July 1643. ibid.

Is glad that our Parliament hath given Her a little Money; wherewith the King will be content, since he could not do it himself. As for his own Circumstances, Sir Thomas writes thus, I never yet felt want, which now I suddenly feare. For my Rents are either taken vp, or vpon pretences not paid; and from the King no Reliefe; nor can I expect it, vntill God haue mercy vpon the whole Kingdome, whose State I tremble to consider.

149. To Princes Elizabeth. 19 July 1643. 97. b. Complimental.

150. To Sir William Boswell. 19 July 1643. ibid.

Comforting him in his present Affliction; and shewing this Satisfaction at the good Disposition the French seem to be in, for advancing the Palatin Interest.

151. To Mr. Curtius. 20 July 1643. 98.

Blaming the Conduct of certain German Ministers in this Affair. Desiring him to send the Names, Titles, & Qualities of our Friends Ambassadors & Plenipotentiaries which shall assist in the Generall Treatye; because there may be occasion for His Majestie to write unto them. Is glad that the Duke of Bauare vnmaskes himselfe with Bravado's toward the Protestant Princes; pressing their Contribution to ruine themselves. That the Truth is, the Princes haue vsurped vpon the Libertye of the Free-Townes; and therefore, as justly the Electors haue taken away the Libertye of the Princes. They ought therefore to take heed they giue not vp the libertye of all Germany, to one who will trample vpon it.

152. To Monsieur l'Isola, Resident here for the Emperor; in French. 22 July 1643. ibid.

Giving him a Touch (as he expresseth it in the next Letter) that He might not think he walked invisibly; or that His Majestie would depend vpon any Priuat Treatye, against the Hopes whereof the Duke of Bauare had protested.

153. To Mr. Secretary Nicholas. 22 July 1643. 98. b.

4 R

Concerning

Num. 1901.

Concerning the Motion for a Marriage between Prince Rupert & Mademoiselle de Rohan. Also, of another, for the Spaniards obliging His Majesty, by giving up what they hold in the Lower Palatinate; now that the French are about to take Theonville; which hath hastened a resolution in the Emperor to restore the Duke of Simmeren.

154. To Mr. Auery. 26 July 1643. 99.

That what he hath done with the French and Swedish Ministers, will be acceptable to His Majesty: and therefore directs him to prosecute his beginnings, to bring the cause to publique Cognition, & to run along with the fortune of the Generall Peace. That it will be the Interest of the French to maynteyne the Partye of the Religion in Germany; since they cannot balance the Power & Growth of the Austrians, but by the Protestant Partye.

155. To Mr. Browne. 27 July 1643. 99. b.

That Duke Charles of Lorrain is in a faire way to make his owne Peace with France. Which he would have so letted & obstructed, by remitting the final Conclusion thereof to the General Treatie, as that the Interest of the Palatin Cause may be promoted thereby. That this Game hath often bene playd secretly betweene France & Spayne, with the Old Duke of Savoy, and may now be of great advantage to Us. That the Emperor having resolved to restore the Duke of Simmerin & Electrice-Dowager, upon the feare of Theonville: He hopeth they may do as much for the Prince Elector, if pressed; at least to quitt Bacherach, Franchendall, & Oppenheim: this being the time for fishing in their troubled Waters.

157. To Mr. Curtius. 1 August, 1643. 100.

Sir Thomas belieueth that the Bauarian Libel was not read in that Duke's Chancery, though dictated in the Assembly: But that if it be authorized and acknowledged, He shall not fayle to unravell it, and to lett them also tast of his Inke. That the French Order for terminating the Prince Elector Palatins Interest at the General Assembly, is very positive; not only concerning the Restitution of his Countrey, but of the Electorall Dignitye, as being the more important Poynt, for the advantage of that Crown. That this Comfort is to be infused into the Protestant Princes & States; who adhering stoutly & constantly, the Balance (whose inequalitye will vndoe them all) may be brought right. That it will not be long before they who now despise Vs, & take the boldness to professe it, may both need & feare us: and that whatsoever the Emperor cannott, or Bauare will not doe; if the Crownes hold their Words, Necessitye will enable & enforce.

158. To Mr. Auery. 2 August, 1643. 100. b.

Is sorry that the Suedes Instructions are not so express, to embrace the Palatin-Cause, as an Essentiall to the Peace. But his Opinion is, that those of France should deeply engage the Cooperation both of the Suede, and of the King of Denmarke. That notwithstanding the Emperors endeavors to remove Matters to Vienna, and Invitation of the Electors thither, where the Old Treatye may be reassumed at his Court: our King is resolved to runne the fortune of the Generall Peace.

159. To the Prince-Elector. 9 August, 1643. 101.

That Monsr. Ifola had sent him Word, that his Journey to the Court at Oxford, was only to giue Advertisment to His Majesty, that the Emperor his Master had condescended, that the Palatin-Cause should be treated at the Generall Assembly. That this contradicts what Mr. Curtius had advised, vizt. that his Commission was to signifye the adjournment of the Priuat Treatye to the end of August, at his owne Court. That Mr. Browne hath solicited a Letter from the French Court to the King of Denmarke; to signifye their Resolution to have the said Cause brought to the Publicque Decision; but that he cannot obteyne a direct Answer; which looks asquint vpon their other professions. That he hath done the Office to the Duke of Orleans, which hath bene well enterteyned, and may work some good effect; especially if seconded by a Letter from himself.

160. To Mr. Browne. 9 August, 1643. 101. b.

That Monsr. Ifola hath informed him that his Journey to Oxford was only to enforme His Majesty how the Emperor his Master had condescended that the Palatin cause should be treated at Munster; which is a great poynt; and of which, he may make extraordinarie use. Sir Thomas congratulates His happines & dexterous Negotiation, in procuring so fayre & positive Instructions in this great busines. To which, if He can add the Fauour & Assistance of the Duke of Orleans, and the partisans of the house of Lorreyne, the Worke is halfe done: but that a Letter to the King of Denmarke, would be a publicque engaging of the Crowne of France.

161. To Mr. Curtius. 9 August, 1643. ibid.

That the Bavarian Libel being in Print, & somewhat more publicquely authorized, They who haue said what they should not, may heare what they would not. That the Opinion of Monsr. Langerbec & others, who say that the Action of the Duke of Bauare est fondé en Droit, &c. may be true in relation to the Emperor; but in relation to the Prince-Elector-Palatin, it is false; his owne publicque acts disclayming any. And if he haue bought or accepted any thing of the Emperor, which He could neither giue nor sell, by the fundamentall Lawes of the Empire: such Purchase can giue him no Right; nor he be ignorant of the rule Cauter Emptor. Sir Thomas replies to those who pretend that he acquiesces to the reassumption of the particular Treatie vpon Conditions; that those Conditions haue bene refused by the Duke of Bauare; so that he is not bound. Nor can the Act of Invitation of the Emperor oblige him, being made & published after his Departure.

162. To Mr. Auery. 17 August, 1643. 102.

That the Emperor hath condescended that the Palatin-Cause shall be treated & decided at the General Assembly at Munster & Osnabrug. That as to the Duke of Bauare, &c. he pretends the pursuing the particular Mediation; and to Us, the Generall Treatye: which last seemeth truest, because he hath sent the Elector-Palatin another Safe-Conduct, dated in July. That this is the most probable way for him to discharge & free himselfe from the extravagant Demands & Entanglements with Bauare, whose pressures & menaces are insupportable, as well to him, as to all other the free States & Princes of the Empire.

163. To Mr. Secretary Nicholas. 21 August, 1643. 102. b.

Concerning Letters to be written to the King & Princes interested in the generall Treaties. recommending the Palatin cause. That the House of Lorreyne do treat their owne peace in France; which may engage many Friends unto the said Cause. He thinks that in the Letters to France & the King of Denmarke, Credences to Mr. Browne & Mr. Auery should be desired, mentioning only the general subject: because it would giue a larger scope to speake, & urge many things not proper for the Letter of a King; and he himself can more fully instruct them. That Mr. Curtius presseth to haue a particular Credentiall to the Elector of Mentz, as Director of the Colledge, to resent some vnseemly proceeding of the Duke of Bauare at Francfort. That the same Duke not hauing spared himself in a publicque writing; Sir Thomas desireth the Kings leaue to giue a Replye of good Inke, without Gall: believing, that, in a point of Honour, His Majesty cannott be too sensible; least the Example preuayled to exclude any of His Ministers, or their Negotiations, vpon any of the affaires of the Empire; which the King of Suede apprehended as an Injvrye, & motiue of his his Reuenge. That a Letter to his Majestie from the King of Poland, is left with him, but without a Coppie. But seeing that there is some Distast between them; He desires to know His Majesties pleasure, whether it should be sent unto Him, or returned.

164. To Mr. Secretary Nicholas. 26 August, 1643. 103.

Touching the Letters to the Kings & Princes treating the General Peace; which he had drawn up, in obedience to His Majesties Commands. That he shall not need to advertise the Comminge of the Count de Harcourt from France in Ambassage; nor what he heareth Grotius hath aduised of his Message: If it be true, it is of very great consequence, and His Majestie will take it to deepe & serious Consultation.

165. To the Prince's Elizabeth. 31 August, 1643. 103. b.

That while England languished, he sees fayre beames shine vpon her Brothers Cause; which will be embraced by those who will haue Power to protect it.

166. To Mr. Browne. 5 September, 1643. ibid.

Is glad that there is hope of obteyning a Letter from France to the King of Denmarke, upon account of both the Vse & the Season. For Monsr. Isola retracts the Confession of his Masters Consent to treat the Palatin-busines at the Generall Assembly: having had new Enformation, that the Emperor hath signed the Invitation to reassume the private Treaty at his owne Court in October next, wherefoever that will be. That this Change is an effect of the Bauarian predominacy over him. That he (the Bauarian) procured the Electors that sent to Frankfort, to write to the Emperor, for such a Déclaration; and that their Letters of Intimation to his Majestie are dayly expected: being already written & signed. That His Majestie is prepared for answer; and will not change His Resolution to trust the Cause with his Friends & the Publicque only. That the King of Denmarke will be firme; especially if He may haue such a ground, that it is the desyre of the Crowne of France: as to whose Instructions in that Poynt, Mr. Grotius writes but faintly, viz. That they will mediate; but not insisting vpon it as necessary to the Peace; without some new Conditions, of a high Nature, to be proposed by the Count of Harcourt. Thus, if the French suffer the Duke of Bauare to gourmandize the Emphyre, as he doth awe the Emperor; the Peace which they pretend as a benefitt to their friends, will be more hurtful to their Liberty, then the War; for in this, they may dye Free Men.

167. To the Prince-Elector. 6 September, 1643. 104.

Advising His Highness to looke about him, and endeavour to fixe the King of Denmarke; all other Planets seeming to be in Conjunction with Mercury. That the Count de Harcourt at his coming hither will make some Propositions, which will be, in this Coniuncture, of hard digestion. And that vnless they be accepted, neyther France nor Suede will insist vpon His Restitution, as such an Impediment to Peace as, sine quâ, non: but that they will mediate some kind of accommodation. That His busines is in the Crysis, and must be every way watched. That there is no Danger so great to him as to haue none of Authority from His Majestie at the Treaties: and this cannot be, vnless some delay or Interruption of the Meeting, gayne vs Time.

168. To Mr. Curtius. 6 September, 1643. 104. b.

Belieues that the Emperors compliance with the Duke of Bauare, in signing the Intimation for His owne Court, was to auoid clashing with Him, who is the Winde, Sayles, & Sterne of the tottering Ship of Germany. That the Free Citties have just Cause to resent the rejection of their Votes in all Assemblies, as deliberative only, and Opinions not to be weighed. For recovery whereof, if they appeale to the Crownes in the general, nothing can be more prevalent, nothing so readily embraced. That the benefit of any other Peace, will but augment the Gius & Manacles which now enthrall them; and will be as little honorable to their great Vindicators, as profitable to themselves. Sir Thomas approves his Translation of his Censure vpon the Bavarian Libell; to which he will also prepare a full Answer; and make them wish they had not stirred that which was quiet. That now they must endure their owne Savour; and heare that which they had wiselier kept in silence. That he hath desired a Credence for him to the Elector of Mentz, both to resent & to prevent the barbarous incivility futurely. That they may remember, it was not the least of the King of Suedes pretences of Revenge, to haue bene refused in a Treaty concerning the peace of the Emphyre. Finally, that if he can get any Declaration of the Dyet, conformable to their Votes, it will much advantage the Remove of the Cause. That Mr. Browne hath obteyned of the French King, a Letter to the King of Denmarke, to bring the Palatin Cause to the generall Treaties. That it is very effectual, and will animate that King. That it is a publicque Engagement of the French, an Example to the Suede, and a great Encouragement to all the Protestant Princes; as also a great Helpe to him, in balancing all the Tricks of Bauare, and all the Inuitations to a privat Treaty.

169. To Sir William Boswell. 7 September, 1643. 105. b.

That very good Vse will be made of the French Kings Letter to the Dane, in respect of the Wauering, or rather Compliance, of the Emperor to the Machinations of Bauare, and all their Plotts to tie the Cause vp to a privat Treaty.

170. To Mr. Aveye. 7 September, 1643. ibid.

That the French Kings Letter ought to encourage all the Protestant Princes & States to vnite closely, to redëem their Liberty, vtterly lost, if the inequality of the Voyces in the Electorall Colledge shall be settled, to decide all Controversies to the advantage of the Roman Church & Partye. That they haue now a fayre Sanctuary open; and may take an Example from the French Protestants; who (though absolute subjects) would not make Peace without an Equality of Assessors & Judges in their Parliaments: which is granted to them in all the Edicts of Pacification. Sir Thomas is of the same opinion with him, that the French & Suedes haue not yet absolutely instructed their Ambassadors, so far to insist vpon the entyre Restitution, as to breake the Treaty vpon the Refusal: and yet, that it may be so managed as never to come to that extremitye; it being probable, that there will be other occasions of making a Rupture, before the Cause Palatin can be the subject. That the right way of avoiding that Rock, is not to treat the busines fingle & apart, but mingled & woven into the Generall of the necessary Peace of the Emphyre. Which if the Crownes do not settle securely, they will reape as little honour, as their Client benefitt.

171. To the Prince Elector. 19 September, 1643. 106.

That he hath direction from Mr. Secretary Nicholas at Oxford, to correspond with the Lord Goring his Ambassador in France, where Mazarini & Chaugny gouerne in matters of State; and the House of Guise adhering to them, are like to recouer Authoritye, & may be the fittest Instruments of promoting His Cause with their owne (as branches of Lorreyne) at the Generall Treaties. That he feareth both the Affections & Instructions, from Rome, of a Cardinall, in relation to the Recouery of the Electoral Dignitye. That the Duke of Bauare is so omnipotent, that he threatens to breake the General Treaty, by his Power, Armes, or Arts, if they shall looke backe to such an Amnestye as shall comprehend His entyre Restitution. That, at last, the States are likely to send Ambassadors for England, in corresponddence with France: but Sir Thomas hopes they will not dance only to their Tune: and intimateth, that somewhat may be proposed, that will not suite with their Conjunction.

172. To the Queene of Bohemia. 19 September, 1643. 106. b.

Directing Her how to procure an Assignment on Public Funds, for the Arreare of her Pension: being perswaded, that if the Parliament were rightly informed of her Wants, they would tender Her Honour & Necessities. But herein he adviseth her to acquaint the King who doubtles would consent, & otherwise might take it as a Neglect of Him, & a whole Dependance vpon their Favour.

173. To Sir William Boswell. 20 September, 1643. 107.

That (with relation to the Palatin Cause) he liketh not the Game, which is, & still must be played vnder a Red Hatt (i. e. Mazarini). That he hath observed from Historye & Experience, that no Gouernment is so rigid, as in the predominancye of an Ecclesiastical Statesman. The cause is, because they are misplaced; not as vnterly vsitt for temporall Affayres; but that they are vsed as a Weight to cast the Balance, whereas they should only hold the Beame, & assist the Temper & Equality of Measures. He goes on to apply this to the Bishops of the Church of England.

174. To Mr. Secretary Nicholas. 21 September, 1643. 107. b.

Advising, that when the Count of Harcourt shall be with His Majestie, it will be necessarie to press the Palatin Affaire, and to procure a clear Declaration, how far France will valew, and to what Issue they will driue the accommodation. That in defect of Resolution, the Lord Goring do sollicite such Powers & Orders, as that the Cause may be taken into the mayne; and not only precario mediated vpon by the by, & apart, for so it will haue a cold end. That nothing being more desired by the house of Austria, then the resettling the Duke of Lorreyne in his Possessions; nothing but the Palatin-Cause can balance it with Honour. But then, His Majesty must counter-negotiate the One against the Other; in Spayne, or at Bruxells. At Brussells Sir Thomas can engage Sir Henry de Vic, if authorised, & Sr. Henry be commanded to correspond with Him. That now is the tyme; for the Plenepotentiaries & Ambassadors moue from all parts, toward the Cittyes designed for Treatye.

175. To Mr. Secretary Sir Edw. Nicholas. 23 September, 1643. 108.

That the Duke of Bauare hath written a long Letter to the King of Denmarke, to perswade him to prevaile with the Elector-Palatin to waue the Generall, and to be content with the Priuat Treaty; and to induce our King to send his Ambassadors to assist therein: being resolved rather to breake all, then to endure the test of the Empire. To this end, he hath wrought the Emperor to continue the Assembly at Francfort, against the Judgement of most of the Princes, so to separate the matter from the Publicque, and from the Interest & Cognisance of the Crownes of France & Suede. That the King of Denmarke hath written to the Emperor & Electors, vrging the Necessitye of deciding the Cause at the Generall Treatye, as the principall Impediment of the Peace; without which, France & Sueden will not enter into any Conference. That the Bavarian's Myltery is Mony; which he hopes to get in a priuat Composition, & which will not be considered in the balance of the Publicque Peace.

176. To Mr. Browne. 26 September, 1643. 108. b.

That Four Electors having jointly written to our King, inviting him to reassume the Private Mediation: His Majesty is constant, and will answer (by a Ciuill Refusal) to all other motions; as resolved to trust the Cause to his Friends, to Publicque Justice, and to the fortune of the Generall Peace. Sir Thomas also gives him further lights, how to negotiate the Palatin-Interest at the French Court.

177. To Mr. Curtius. 27 September, 1643. 109.

Directing him to be constant in affirming, that His Majestie cannot decline the Societie & Interest of the Crownes of France & Sueden; who haue resolved that the Cause-Palatin is necessarie to the Publicque Pacification: and is engaged with them, to relye vpon the Generall Treaties. That seeing the Duke of Bauare opposed all mention of that Cause, in the Assembly at Francfort (in which, nothing was intended by a fayre Mediation) it hath caused His Majestie to despayre of any Treatye under-hand: so that the Change of Counsells in that poynt, hath beene his owne Fault, & Violence. That the Free Cittyes haue it now in their power (if they know how to vse it) to cast the Balance, & to settle the Peace. This to be effected, by jointly pressing (on all sides) the Amnestye, & the Resettlement of the Empire in the State, as before the War.

178. To Mr. Auery. 28 September, 1643. 110.

Affirming that if the Free Cittyes would joyne in constantly requiring an entyre Amnestye, & general Restitution & Resettlement of Possessions & Lawes, in the same State as before the War: the Crownes will not refuse their Patronage, but be glad of the Occasion. Moreover, if the Treatye moue vpon particular Accommodations, the Debates will be infinite, & such Difficulties be discovered, that many Yeares will not suffice. And whatsoeuer shall be settled or agreed separatly, will neither be durable nor safe.

179. To a Friend. 4 October, 1643. 110. b.

About a Method of beginning a Treatye of Peace between the King & Parliament: which he thinks to be a very nice & difficult matter to effect.

180. To Mr. Browne. 4 October, 1643. 110. b.

That, the Count of Harcourt being arrived at London, Mr. Ifola the Emperors Agent is resolved to go to Oxford, and to oppose him. That he pretends that the French will not conclude a Peace. And if they should they will not embrace the Cause-Palatin, as sine qua non: and in that Case, we shall lose the Emperor by adhering to, & taking Protection of his Enemies, & shall be left betweene two Stooles. Sir Thomas himself is of opinion, that if the French shall leave vs in the halfe way, the Cause is vtterly lost: for when we have forsaken the Emperor & the Mediation, it will be too late to beg a fauour. It will be requisite therefore that the Lord Goring & he should get a clear Declaration & Obligation, how far they will insitt vpon the entyre Restitution of Lands & Dignitye. That this is a poynt deeply considerable; seeing Mazarini (who is not to be trusted by us) governs the Counsells in France. That it is not probable that the French will scandalize the Romish party, by wresting backe the Electorall Dignitie, when so much concerns them. The Lands only will touch the Duke of Bauare; but the casting voice in the Electorall College will be friended by the Pope, & all the Catholique faction. And, in the mean time, the Ministers of the Duke of Bauare, doe boast of their Secrett good Intelligence, & assurance of France. That the Bavarian Deputies have intimated, that they may now be content to admitt the Palatin Cause to a Mediation of all the Princes at the Assembly at Francfort (which is decreed to continue purposely to depriue the generall Treatye of the Obgnizance of some select Causes) that it may there be prepared; or goe on, pari passu, with the Generall Treatye: although before, neither the Emperor nor Bauare, would heare of the mixture of the Princes & States. That Monfr. Ifola hath complained that he (Mr. Browne) hath negotiated in France, directly against the House of Austria & to oblige the Elector-Palatin as an Ally with that Crowne; which cannot confit with the fayth of a Prince of the Empire. That herein, his Majestie hath disobliged the

Num. 1901.

the Emperor, and giuen him iust Cause to withdraw his good Intentions to that Family. That Isola hath gotten a Coppie of the Remonstrance given the Ministers; which he must haue from them or their Servants.

181. To a Friend. 13 October, 1643. 111. b.

Concerning a Request made by certaine English Families formerly retired into Holland; who now desire leave to returne, & be permitted a Church & Minister of their owne. These were Independants, whose principles Sir Thomas could not approve of.

182. To Mr. Browne. 25 October 1643. ibid.

Concerning the Letters which our King had written to the French King, Queene Regent, & the Duke of Orleans, and that the Elector hath desired others to the Prince of Condé & Mazarini; which may be postponed untill he shall be apprised of the Count de Harcourts Negotiations, & our Kings Resolutions vpon them.

183. To the Prince Elector. 25 October 1643.

That whereas His Highness had desired that he would attend at Oxford, during the Negotiations of the Count de Harcourt, to which end a free Pass would be procured from the Parliament: He had received no Commands from his Majesty, without which he held it unfit to intrude into His Counsellors. That the Emperors Agent is gone after the Count, to counter-work for the Private Treaty.

184. To Mr. Curtius. 26 October 1643.

Hoping that the Count de Harcourt, at Oxford, may prepare the wayes of our owne Accommodation; and with it, conclude vpon the meanes of settling the Palatin Cause by Treaty. That Monfr. Isola doth profess, that his Master will be disobliged, & free from any Promises or Declarations, made on his part, if the Prince-Elector soly adhere to his Enemies, & refuse the Mediation in his presence, as distrusting his sincere Intentions. That this is a ticklish point & will require a dexterity of manage, not to lose the Emperor, and not to lose Favour & Opportunity of the Collegued Crownes, & of the Generall Treaty. That the Judgment will rest vpon this, how far the French will embrace the Cause, and not leave it out in the conclusion? For, out of doubt, Bauare will rather breake all Treaties, and continue the War, then restore by Compulsion, only for publicque Peace. As to the Medium proposed, of a paralel Treaty at Francfort; Sr. Thomas thinks it must not be for that Cause alone; but with the Consent of France & Suede; that if Agreement cannot be made, it may retire & be received into the Generall Treaty. So that this privat Mediation should not be vnderstood as conclusive there, and exclusiue of the Generall; but preparatory, for ease of Dispatch of Busines. That after all, the Duke of Bauare may write & plott what he pleases, but must be content to doe, or suffer, as we shall conclude with the French; which may give him worke enough.

185. To Sir William Boswell. 26 October 1643. 112. b.

That it is reported, the Count de Harcourt hath proposed such ways of Accommodation, as are like to take some effect. That the Ambassadors of the States will come late enough. For the busines will either be entred vpon, with little Grace to them; or Depayred of, before they arrive.

186. To Princess Elizabeth. 26 October 1643. ibid.

That, the French neuer think vs enough Vn-Espaniolised; which they feare not in others who are the Antipodes to Monarchy. And yet, while they kill a Basilisk, they may nourish a Snake.

187. To Mr. Secretary Nicholas. 26 October, 1643. 113.

Complaining of the ill usage & Ingratitude of some about the King, whom he had obliged. That the Dexterity of negotiating with Count Harcourt, will lie in this poynt. First, not to accept the continuance of the privat Mediation; and yet not, by the Refusal, to loose

CAT. HARL. VOL. II.

the Emperor, by seeming to mistrust him, & depending only vpon his Enemies; which would ustrate his declaration of receiuing the Prince-Elector into Grace, &c. vpon Condition of no Practise with his Enemies, vntill the busines were concluded. Sir Thomas apprehends, that the French & Suedes will doe no more than may make a fayre Show; their own Aduantages ouerwaying all other Respects. That it is necessary to know of the French, whether they will embrace the Cause as Essentiall to the Peace; or only as Mediators, which is worth little: and of the Emperor, how far he will vse his absolute Authority, if the Duke of Bauare shall continue obstinate?

188. To the Prince-Elector. 2 Nouember, 1643. 113. b.

He believes that the House of Guise will not much fauour His Highness; but that they may do much for their owne Chiefe, the Duke of Lorraine. That therefore, they may be induced, with the Duke of Orleans as Mediator, &c. to perss the Duke of Bauare (who is Vnkle to Duke Charles) to yield as the only meanes to re-establish his Nephewes & Neighbours, & to settle a Peace, Sir Thomas will aduise to Oxford the Contents of the Duke of Bauares Letter to the Electors; the case being playne, If he will abate no mony, or not more than the halfe; he can haue no Satisfaction, & so no restitution. That the Emperor cannott pay it; so it is to no purpose to treat vpon Impossibilities.

189. To Mr. Secretary Nicholas. 11 Nouember, 1643. 114.

Reminding him of some things necessary in the Palatin-busines, which had lain too long neglected. And tendering his Service to his Majesty, in Order to procure an Accommodation of the plus quam Civile, & Vnnaturall War.

190. To the Prince-Elector. 13 Nouember, 1643. ibid.

Advising him to procure some Friend of Power, at Court, to sollicite the Dispatch of the Kings Letters written in His behalf, That the King of Spaine being greatly affected to Cardinall Richelieu, & auerse from France, must be more laboured, & the more neerly looked into.

191. To Mr. Browne. 15 Nouember, 1643. 114. b.

That much Labour & Art hath been vsed euery where, to procure His Majestie to waue the Generall Treaties, by reassuming the priuat Mediation: in which, Monfr. Isola hath receiued at Oxford a ciuill Denyall, in answer to his Memoriall exhibited to His Majestie. That the Imperials & Bauarians haue made a very odd sort of Interpretation of the Safe-Conducts for the Elector-Palatin, or His Deputyes, to come to the Generall Treaties, procured by France & Suede; vizt. that they are for their Persons, as Spectators; not for their Cause, as Actors, or interessed.

192. To Mr. Auery. 21. Nouember, 1643. ibid.

That the Count of Harcourt hath begun some Ouerture of a Treaty, by interposing as a Mediator, of accommodation of our miserable Distractions. That Monfr. Isola is much discontent with the Answer he receiued to his Memorial. He conceives that His Majestie will give the like to the late Letter of the Electors; being resolved to trust the Cause only with the Crownes his Friends, & the Publicque. Sir Thomas is sorry for the Comportment of the King of Denmarke, toward Mr. Avery: and though he knows the malicious Pride & Insolence of some of his German Ministers; yet fears it proceeds from an ill naturall Roote. Adding, that at least, in the Condition we are, we can expect nothing but Contempt & Injury.

193. To Mr. Pooley. 21 Nouember, 1643. 115.

Desiring him to discouer how he stands in the Grace or Displeasure of the King of Denmark; with regard to whom, he clears his own Conduct. He recommends (as he did in that to Mr. Avery) his friend Mr. Barker employed by the Eastland-Company, to petition the King of Denmarke, in the Obstructions of their Trade.

194. To Mr. Browne. 21 Nouember, 1613. 115. b.

That the Elector-Palatin seemeth to doubt that too earnest a pressure, how far the Crowne of France will declare in his Cause, may offend; or draw on some other reciprocal Question from our Court. Therefore he rather desireth to proceed in good Confidence, then to search out that which he would not know. That other Jealousies are infused into that Prince, by his Counsellors, of the affection or power of the House of Lorreyne and the Guises. But that there is no other way, nor balance of this busines, which the Tryall at Munster shall justefye. For, to that Tribunall the Cause is resolutely referred on our part, and as obstinately refused on the other. Lastly, that Monfr. Isola inculcateth, that all the French fayre weather toward vs, is only to fright the Duke of Bauare, to a Revolt from the House of Austria.

195. To Mr. Curtius. 22 Nouember, 1643. 116.

Concerning the Practices of the Bauarians to possess the World with their Pretensions; & to avoid the General Treaties by specious Abuses, of enclining to an Accommodation by the Priuat mediation. That Monfr. Isola is not well content, that he cannott cosen us. That we appeale from their pretended & partiall Dyett of Mulhausen; and deny any prejudiciall Decree at Ratisbon; and protest against the Clandestine Treatye of Prague; and know no judge competent, but the justice & fundamentall Lawes of the Empire. Nor can they more grossly abuse the Saxe-Ambassador then to make him beleue, that Bauare will yeld up both Palatinats, for Lands out of the Emperors power & possession. That he (Mr. Curtius) hath touched a right String, in adhering to the Citytes, who haue voted an unlimited Amnestye at Ratisbon. And if the Suedes can procure their Appearance as Assistants, and Interested at the generall Treatye; their Power, if they know how to use it, will cast the ballance. That the Count de Harcourt hath offered to the Lords his Enterposition, in the Name of the French King & Queen Regent, (already accepted by his Majestie) and that the Consideration thereof now rests in the House of Commons.

196. To Prince Rupert. 14 December, 1643. 116. b.

Desiring to know in what Condition he stands with His Majestie; finding all Opportunities preuented; euery man preferred or graced; and himself only (that hath serued faythfully) neglected, if not ruined. That the World will judge of his Seruices by the Reward & Estimation putt on them, or Himselfe, by his Majestie. He further desires that the King would vouchsafe to lett him know his faults, or saylings: wherein he hath demerited; wherein he hath bene defectiue, in his Duty, Allegiance, in a possible Obedience, or Success in His Commands: and if he may vnderstand his Sinnes, he will punish himselfe: nor shall there be need of silent or implicite Disgrace.

197. To Mr. Secretary Nicholas. 14 December 1643. ibid.

That he hath receiued a Coppie of His Majesties Answere to Monfr. Isola, which ought to satisfye his vnreasonable importunitie. That the defeat of the French in Germanye will prove very disadvantageous to the Cause Palatin, & to the whole State of the Affayres & Treaties in the Empire. That the Suedes will suddenly feele the effects of it; and may perhaps be enforced to Treat, at least a Truce apart. That the Imperials & Bauarians already braue all their Allyes & Friends, shewing how they would vse a totall Conquest. That Consultations haue been since held betwene the French Plenipotentiaries & the Commissioners of the States Generall about prosecuting the Treatyes of Munster. Further Sir Thomas advises that the Lord Goringe should exasperate the French against the Duke of Bauare, whom they haue favoured & fostered, and who hath requited them with this Disgrace.

198. To Mr. Secretary Nicholas. 19 December, 1643. 117.

That the Defeate of the French may not dissolve the Meeting at Munster; but will certainly alter the State of Affaires, and make the end of the Treaty difficult: particularly, it will weaken the hopes of the Elector Palatin. That the Austrians, after this blast, will swell beyond measure, & will giue the Law in Germany. That Mr. Secretary will find both the House of Hessen & Brunswicke faynting, if not changing, & providing only for their owne Safetie. Further, Sr. Thomas still continues to prefs for His Majesties Commands, Whether he shall send or burne the King of Polands Letter, which hath lien in his Hands above Six Months.

199. To the Prince Elector. 21 December, 1643. 117. b.

That he hath received Advice from Mr. Secretarie, that now upon the French Defeate, the Treaties of Munster and Osnabrug will not hold. That the Imperials & Bauarians are so high vpon their Victory, that they openly profess little Care, whether his Cause be brought thither; or treated (as they desired) by the priuat Mediation, or not: for in all Cases, they thinke themselves Masters of the Conclusion. Sir Thomas excuses an error of Sir Arthur Hopton, proceeding from a want of Correspondence & Information, usually in our Ministry & States-men. That His Majestie our King is constant, not to send to the private Treaty; and thinketh His Highness shall best excuse himselfe to the Emperor, that without His Majesties Counsell & Assistance, He cannot accept to renew a Treaty begun by him, without Him. For, in all Euent, the Emperor should not be vtterly discomposed & disobliged by apparent diffidence: since without Him, nothing will be done in Germany.

200. To Mr. Secretary Nicholas. 17 January, 1643-4. 118.

Is sorry he cannot obey His Majesties Commands in repairing to Oxford; God having pleased to lay many Afflictions vpon him, both of body and mind; and his Weakness lately so increased, that his Bed hath bene all his Consolation. If God shall enable him, he shall faithfully serue His Majestie; if too late, he shall dye enjoying the Peace of a loyall Heart. That the Cause Palatin, by the Changes in Denmarke, may be layd vp in Hope; a weake Remedy, for an old & strong Disease.

201. To Mr. Aurey, 17 January, 1643-4. ibid.

That he knoweth not what is become of the Credentials promised; fearing it is too late; and that by the miraculous changes in Holstein, & the reuolutions in Germany, God hath some great worke to finish, which it is in vayne for Man to trouble; and consequently, that the deplorable Cause Palatin may be hanged vp vpon the Hookes of Hope, vntill God will be reuealed.

202. To Mr. Browne. 17 January, 1643-4. ibid.

That the Changes of the Reputation of the French in Germany, and the Revolution in Holstein & Denmarke haue so dejected the Hopes of the Cause Palatin, that he can giue no Aduice, but to continue & goe along with the Publicque Interest & Generall Treatyes; if in them there succeed no Interruption, the Austrians being a-new eleuated beyond hope of Compassion or Justice.

203. To Mr. Curtius. 17 January, 1643-4. ibid.

To the same effect as before. Councelling him to beare vp, & not to sinke in Spirit; to unite & keepe close to the Publicque Interest of the Protestant Princes, & the Fate of the Generall Peace, or Ruine.

204. To Sir William Boswell. 17 January, 1643-4. 118. b.

Concerning the Nature of his greivous Indisposition; withall desiring that Dr. Cneuffelius may be sent over to help him; or else induced to tarry in Holland, untill Sir Thomas may be carried over.

205. To Sir William Boswell. 20 February, 1643-4. 118. b.

Upon the same Matter; as also about some Aspersions cast upon Him; perhaps, with regard to his Conduct in menaging the Palatin-affair. He writes that he knows that his Innocency will justifie him before God, and Justice preferue him among Men.

206. To the Queene of Bohemia. 20 February, 1643-4. 119.

Concerning Her Majesties late Indisposition, & His own. That the Count de Harcourt is gone, without any Effect; being only feasted in London, by young Griffin, to the Tune of 400l. A Summe, that would now keepe Sir Thomas (that hath been feasted of many Kings) all his Life: his Rents and Meanes being taken from him, he knows not why.

207. To the Prince-Elector. 20 Februarye, 1643-4. ibid.

That he hath received no Direction nor Intelligence from Oxford, since the Change of State-Officers; and therefore his Correspondence abroad is become useles. He cannot conceiue how the Treatyes can proceed, some of the Wheeles being taken off. And he foresees that if they should, new Matter & new Embroylments will fill his Unkles hands full of the Care of Himselfe. For he is now embarqued in the War; & the settling of his owne Estate must be a part of the Vniuersal Peace. That the States & all other Princes interested in the Necessitie or Use of the Trade through the Sound shall look about them & be well aduised. For, the Suedes, if they shall engross all in the North, will sett their owne Prices, & giue Lawes, such as flow from their great Maxime of State, Non conuenit rationi Statûs nostri. Adviſes his Highnes to apply to France, vpon this opportunitye & Ground (which they haue experienced at a deare price) that the French Armes & Designes in Germany can neuer prosper. vnles they be commanded & conducted by a German Prince: the chiefeſt of their Force conſiſting of that Nation, who will not constantly obey a Stranger. That this will add some Lustre to the Justice of their War within the Empire; which now appears a forreyne Inuaſion. That it seemeth not improbable, but that His Highnes may now gett the Command of the Remay of those Forces; the French designing Moneyes into Germany to recruit them; & preparing some Leauies in France, who vnwillingly paſs the Rhyne: whereas He, supported with the French Money, can with much less expence rayſe Men in Germany, then transport them thither. That the Duke of Lorraine hath made himselfe considerable by small Troopes: and the Landgrauine of Hesse & Duke of Brunſwicke haue made, & can make their owne Peace, because they are armed. Sir Thomas adds, that when at Vienna he objected their War with the Emperor, equall to any Offence of the Palatin-Family: it was sayd, They had a right Interest in the Peace, because they were part of the War.

208. To the Prince-Elector. 8 May, 1644. 119. b.

That Sir Arthur Hepton's Error from Spayne was meere Ignorance or Inanimadversion; at least, had no ground from any Aversion either to His Highnes Person, Cause, or Rights, from England. He feares a priuate Treaty, betwene France & Spayne; which may be as dangerous to England, as exclusiue to His Highnes; especially seeing the King of Denmarke needs Mediators for himselfe. And prays that the Suedes, from whom much hath beene expected, for the Common Good (who haue no ends but their owne, not one Publicque Thought) do not verifie the Proverb, Omne malum ab Aquilone.

209. To the Queene of Bohemia. 8 May, 1644. 120.

Mostly upon his own matters. Believes that the States Ambassadors are wearie of Labour in Wayne: and that they will confels, there was more Truth then Manners, in that Word (peremptorily & unseasonably spoken to them in Holland; That some vnderstood the State of England better then they: which, since, is made good.

210. To Princess Elizabeth. 9 May 1644. ibid.

Complaining of the Mischiefs & Miseries of this World; which he seems not unwilling to leave. And Prophesying, that while Religion, of all sydes, is made the Stalking Horse, and not the Bird: there shall be no Peace vpon the Earth.

211. To Mr. Hollis. 16 May 1643. 120. b.

That, Two Errors in State do now prevayle in the Parliaments Consultations; first, in discontenting the Ambassadors of the United Provinces, by not Answering; or not accepting them as Mediators of Peace: secondly, in inclining to make some Conjunction with the Suedes; such as may prejudice the King of Denmarke; with reference to both which, he giueſh his Reasons at length.

212. To Mr. Secretary Nicholas. 2 June, 1644. 121. b.

Geſſeth, that the French are far aduanced, or reſolued to huddle vp a Truce (which will vndoe all the Protestants) if they cannot agree vpon a Peace. That the Invitation of the Elector Palatin, is very feruent; & doth oblige the French farther than any other publick Act of theirs. He therefore thinks it agreeable with His Majesties intentions, that that Prince either goe or send thither, reſolued to stand or fall with the Publicque. If it shall be Peace; they cannot with Honour, leave Him out, for their owne expreſſed Reasons & Interest. If the Treaty shall breake; he shall rest unreconciled, with good Company: where any privat Decision would ſhutt him up for euer.

213. To the Prince-Elector. 11 June, 1644. 122.

Eſteeming, the French Invitation of His Highnes Assistance at the Generall Treaties, a very great Obligation on their Part; and ſuch, as may worke great Effects for Him. But that a Truce is to be avoided as a Rock upon which His Cause will Splitt; and hopes that the States of Holland will look to the Danger of it.

214. To Mr. Auerly. 20 June, 1644. ibid.

Belieuing not that the French intend a Peace, when they multiplie their Charge in new Sieges, of ſuch Importance as Grauelin; nor, that they will euer giue it up, if they gett it; or the States of Holland conſent. Nor yet, that the Spaniards will rest content with the Loſs, & ordinarie Conditions of a Truce, que poſſident, poſſideant: ſo he fears not their sudden Agreement, but our owne Condition to ſee our Seas hemmed in by a potent & growing Neighbour. That formerly, England would not haue ſuffered the French ſo to ſwell, as to be able to braue vs in the Mouth of Thames. Theſe are the Firſt Fruits of our more then Vn-ciuill War; which few conſider, or underſtand; and the Preſage of worſe. Wee now know, & the King of Denmarke doth ſeele, how great an Error it is to ſtretch a Prerogatiue; or awaken ſome pretended Rights, which were ſafer aſleepe then practiſed.

215. To the Queene of Bohemia. 20 June, 1644. 122. b.

Concerning his Diſeaſe, which ſo encreaſeth; that only to be lame, were an Happineſs. Wiſeth that they who haue neglected his Seruice, may neuer need it; nor, too late, know, that thoſe Counſells are ſaſeſt, or more honeſt wherein is no Selfe-Interſeſt, which He hath alway neglected & deſpiſed. That, the King of Denmarke may emerge out of his preſent Danger, that thereby the State of the North may be balanced, & not fall into the Iron-hands of the Suedes. That no Friendſhip in State is ſecure againſt Ambition backed by too great a Power, nor can any wiſely truſt ſo great a Jewel at the Baltic-trade to the Curteſie of one Nation. That while things are almoſt every where in Confuſion, and we in an Vn-ciuill War; the French will become Maſters of the Flanders-coaſt; which we ought not to ſuffer, and the Hollanders Hollanders will repent. But since all things tend to Ruine, he shall desire with Castruccio, to be buried with his Face downwards; not to see, or Comply in the Graue, with the Vniuersal Disorder.

Vindicating himself, both as to the Integrity & Dexterity of his Negotiations in Germany; which had been questioned in Parliament, upon an Accusation which Sir Thomas avers to be absolutely false, both in Matter & Forme; Substance & Circumstances. Adding, that it is easy to scandalize any Man, but to repayre him, & leaue no marke behind, Accusers know is difficult: and therefore, True or False, they haue their ends, to defame. Hereupon, Sir Thomas desires Mr. Burlamach to retract His Aduice to Mr. Pym, & to let him see the whole & cleare Truth: professing that He (Himself) is neyther French, Spanish, nor Dutch, but a true Englishman (This letter hath no Subscription; but seemeth to be of Sr. Thomas's own hand; and is fastened into the Book)

1. A Table to the Pedegrees following.

2. Another Collection of the Descents of many antient Families inhabiting Flynt-shire, Denbigh-shire & other parts of North-Wales; like the last, begun by Mr. Thomas Chaloner, with many Continuations and Additions, (even down to the Year 1705:) with a sprinkling of Original Letters, Grants of Armes and Crests, and other Notes.

3. A Table referring to the Names of Places mentioned in this Collection.

An Heraldical Book in folio; begun and carried on by Mr. Thomas Chaloner of Chester, & Jacob Chaloner his Son; and afterward, much encreased by the Additions & Continuations of the two last Randle Holme's, Armes Painters of Chester, &c. In it, I observe,

1. The Names of the Hundredes, Townes, and Parishes in Mountgomeryshire; A^o. 1592.

2. Table to the Pedegrees entred into this Book.

3. List of the Justices of Peace in Com. Mungomery, A. D. 1620.

4. Armes, in Trick, found in the Parishes Church of the Welche Poole in Com. Mountgomery, 1594.

5. A large Collection of the Descents of noble & Gentle Families holding Lands in Mountgomeryshire and Powys, with many continuations, even unto late years. But here are not so many particular Papers inserted into this, as are in the two preceding Volumes. In this, the most remarkable Paper is that attesting the Antiquity & Splendor of the Noble Family of Herbert Earl of Pembroke, inserted after 112.

6. Table of the Cheifes of Families mentioned in this Book. fol. penult.

An Heraldical Book in small folio, (now consisting of two Books bound up in the same Cover:) being begun, carried on, and enlarged by the Chaloners & Holmes above-mentioned, down to years very much within memory. Herein, (having noted the number of Leaves with my Pencil, afresh) I find,

1. An Alphabetical Table to the Anglesey-Pedegrees entred into this book.

2. Table of the Names of Persons or Families in Anglesey, whose Armes are tricked in the former Part of this Book.

3. Names of Places for this end of the Book: i. e. relating to the Families of the Isle of Anglesey.

4. Division of the County of Anglesey into Cantreds, Commotes, Parishes, &c. seeming to be dated as A. D. 1296.

5. Table of the Names of remarkable persons mentioned in the Anglesey Descents, or of others, which have laterly been added to them.

6. Another Table of the like kind.

7. Another Table containing the Names of Persons whose Armes are tricked on this side the Book; made by Randle Holme the second. A. D. 1632.

8. Nomina Vicecomitum Comitatus Anglef. viz. ab anno 32 Hen. viii. usque ad ann. 43 R. Eliz. 19. &c.

Num. 1974, 1975.

9. Rate of an old Taxation of the principal Inhabitants of the Isle of Anglesey.

10. List of the Justices of Peace in Anglesey, A. D. 1620.

11. List of the Justices of the Peace for that County, (with their Armes tricked) as they were putt down, A. D. 1601. Imperfect.

12. Descents of the British Kings & Princes; and more particularly of the antient Families of the Island or County of Anglesey: with some few additions by Hands different from those abovementioned.

Among these, I observe,

13. An original Letter of John Williams of Rhodogaidio, relating to his own Descent; wherein he cites the booke of Extent or Survey of Northwales, taken before Sir John de Delves in the 26th Year of Edw. iii.

This same book is also cited fol. 148. as the grand extent of Northwales: I remember also, that it is quoted in the Monasticon Anglicanum, as penes Auditorem Walliæ or Northwalliæ. In process of time, it came into the possession of the late most learned and diligent searcher after old Books, Bishop Stillingfleet, of immortal Memory; and was bought with his other Manuscripts, by my noble Lord the present Earl of Oxford many Years ago, being inscribed 59 C. 1. in this great Repository.

After the said Tract relating to the Gentry of Anglesey; I find another like to it, treating of Carnarvonshire, in the Order following; viz.

14. Table to the Carnarvonshire-Pedegrees, soon to be mentioned.

15. Coats of Armes for Carnarvon: i. e. of those Persons or Families whose Descents are entred into this following Treatise, or Collection.

16. Names of Places mentioned in Carnarvonshire-Pedegrees.

17. Another Table to the following Descents of Carnarvonshire.

18. Armes of particular Persons or Families, mentioned in the said Descents.

19. Justiciarij Comitatus Carnarvon, A^o 1641; with some of their Armes tricked.

20. Justices of Peace in Com. Carnarvon, A^o 1620.

21. The Collection of Carnarvonshire-Descents, so often above-mentioned.

N. B. Some of these Descents are continued down unto late Years; one of them to A. D. 1696.

22. Original Letter of Owen Smyth of Caernarvon, exhibiting a Copie of a Confirmation of Armes granted to Gruffith John Bangore, by Guyan Kyng of Armes, ann. 35 Hen. vi.

1975.

An Heraldical Book in folio, written by the Chaloners, so often mentioned, about the year 1620, and to which so many Additions and Continuations have been made by the two last Randle Holmes, long afterwards. It contains,

1. Descents of many of the Nobility & Gentry who have resided or possessed Lands in Pembrokshire, Caermardenshire, Glamorganshire, Brecknockshire, Radnorshire, Cardiganshire, Munmothshire, Herefordshire, &c. and otherwise, on the outside, entituled South-Wales Pedegrees, &c. with Tricks and Blazons of many of the Armes and Crests.

2. After folio 111, comes a Sort of Auftarium of Pedegrees & Armes belonging to Families resident in the same Counties.

3. A Table to the Descents and Armes contained in the Second part of the Book.

4. A Table referring to the Armes exhibited in the former part of the Book.

5. A Table pointing to the Names of the several Families & principal Persons mentioned in the same former part.

6. At

Num. 1975, 1976.

6. At fol. 41. I observe a Copy of a Roll relating to the Manor of Driffeld in Com. Gloucest. being formerly parcel of the Possessions appertaining to the Abbey of Cirencester.

1976.

An Heraldical Book in small folio, begun and carried on about A. D. 1594. by a Person of whose Hand-writing I have seen much, both in this Library & elsewhere; but whose Name I could never yet certainly recover. It hath also divers Additions and continuations from the Hands of others. On the Outside it is thus entitled, South Wales with Salop and Staffordshire Pedegrees; with those also of diverse other Countyes. The Book begins from both ends; for what is entered therein is done in manner promiscuous, and without any Order: And so far as the Pageing thereof begins from what may be called the later or wrong End, I shall endeavour briefly to describe what it containeth, in the manner following.

1. The Names of the Signs of the Zodiac; the Names of the twelve Months in Welsh; and in Latin, with their several Numbers of Days enumerated: seeming to have been copied by the third Randle Holme from some old Calendar written by a Welsh Hand.

2. Pedegree of Sir Christopher Hatton (as it was made up from Him, and) confirmed by Robert Cooke als. Clarendulx, A. D. 1574. said to have been copied from the Originall of Ja. Cha. (i. e. James Chaloner) 1.

If this be to be understood of the individual Hand which entered this and the following Descents, my Doubt might be solved: but this Note being written not by this same Hand, but by another, I am not satisfied but that this Copie might be taken from that which James Chaloner made from the Roll, perhaps in loose single paper.

3. Then follows the promiscuous Collection of Pedegrees abovementioned, being of English and Welsh Families, the Writer whereof seems to have been versed in the English, Welsh, Latin & French Tongues. 3.

Herein, besides the Armes & Crests of sundry ancient Families, I further observe,

4. The aforementioned names of the Months in Welsh; with certain Letters, Monograms, and Words, seeming to have been copied from the old Book or Calendar hinted at before, at §. 1. 23.

5. Some few Church-Notes illustrating the Descent of the ancient Family of Basset of Blore. 36. b.

6. Some Welsh Notes relating to their Descents, &c. 45. b. 52. b.

Now beginning at the other (or first) end of the Book, I find

7. A Table of the Defents of this Booke, & other things therein; made by the second Randle Holme of Chester.

8. An Alphabet of the Cotes, Crests, or Quarterings in this booke; made by the said Randle Holme, 1632.

9. Armes, in Blazon, of divers Persons and Families; both Welsh and English, 141.

10. Alphabetical Table of the several Counties of Wales & England, wherein the principal Persons & Families, whose Descents are entered into this Book, held their Residence; whose Names, with references to their said Descents, do follow those of their respective Counties. 139.

11. Some other of the Pedegrees above-mentioned. 138. b.

12. Les Noms del Baronage d'Angleterre; ouesque le Blasonne de leur Armes. 134.

Note, that divers Descents of Families, are intermingled herein; as are also the Armes in Blazon, of many ancient & worshipful English Families, at 131. b.

13. Two Church-Notes relating to the Nedeams. 122. b.

Num. 1976, 1977.

14. List of the Irish Nobility; with Pedegrees intermixed, as before. 117.

15. Of Degrees of Persons vnder the King: of Wm. Fletewood recordator London. 107.

16. A Collection of Descents from the Reign of K. Stephen down to that of K. Henry vi. (both inclusive :) shewing how severall Baronies came to be inherited by those who enjoyed them, by right of Descent from Females. 105.

If I mistake not, Mr. Robert Glover drew up somewhat in this kind; or perhaps this is part of that work.

17. More Welsh Notes, relating to their Tribes, Families, & Descents; transcribed from ancient Books, and extant in many places. 91.

18. Arma; ex veteri libro Cambrico: i. e. Armes of several particular persons of the Welsh Nation, in Blazon. 85. b.

An Heraldical Book in fol. which seems to have been begun about A. D. 1611, by the Chaloners, and to have been carried on & continued by the two last Randle Holme's, even down to the year 1703. In it I find,

1. The last Randle Holme's List of the Things of Note contained in the beginning of this Book, before the Pedegrees, according to my Numeration of the Leaves, with Black Lead. 1. b.

2. Table to the Pedegrees soon to be mentioned. 2.

3. Verses in praise of the Leek, being the British Badge. 9.

4. Relation of Prince Henries Sickness & Death. 10.

5. The Coate & the Cognifance of our Lord & Savior Jesus Christ. (very foolish & ridiculous.) 11.

6. Another; devised by the first Four Fathers of the Church. (as idle as the former.) 11. b.

7. Armes, in Trick, of British Princes, Families, & Persons 12.

8. Another Collection of British or Welsh Armes: by the same Hand: by the Chaloners, &c, 20.

9. Insignia Anglorum inhabitantium Comitatus Flynt, Denbigh, &c. in Wallia. 24.

10. Table referring to the Coats & Crests entered into this Book. 27.

11. Armes of the Welsh Bishopricks; of the Lords Presidents of Wales; and of the Chiefe Justices of Wales & Chester, mostly tricked with Black Lead, and therefore vanishing off the Paper. 33.

12. Armes (done with Black Lead) of the Four Princes of Wales; i. e. of North-Wales, South-Wales, Powis, & Glamorgan. 33. b.

13. Names of the Fifteen Peeres, or Tribes, of North-Wales. ibid.

14. Names of the old Earls of Chester from Hugh Lupus; of his Four Barons; of the Six Counties of North-Wales; and of the Welsh Knights inhabiting therein. 33. b.

15. Table referring to many of the Principals or Ancestors of Welsh Families, whose Descendants are taken notice of in this Book. 34.

16. A very large & numerous Collection of Welsh Pedegrees, including also some English Families who have had their Residence in Wales; whereunto many Continuations have been made. 35.

This Collection is here & there adorned & improved by Copies of, or Extracts from Records, or Private Deeds; by some Church Notes; & Original Papers.

17. Names of Places mentioned in the Descents of this Book. 260.

18. A Table of these Descents following, (that is, being registred in this book.) 266.

19. Part of another like Table. 68. b.

20. Part of a Descent of a Family of Jones. 269.

A Book

Num. 1978, 1979.

1978.

A Book in folio, done by several Hands, and seeming to have been collected from divers others. In it are contained the following Heraldical matters.

1. The Armes (in Colours) of Welsh Houses & Families, together with those of some English, who have resided in Wales. Some of these Armes are likewise blazoned.

2. Among the said Armes I find some scattered Pedegrees of Welsh Families.

Then follows an older Tract, or Collection; being dated A. D. 1614. wherein are entered,

3. The Armes of Kendrick Evell, between the quarterings of Lloyd of Yale & Moston of Moston.

4. Armes of the Bishopricks of St. David & St. Asaph, in Colors.

5. Armes of Gruffith ap Jankyn, & of Herle; both in Colors & in Blazon.

16. A Collection of Descents of Welsh Families.

17. Other Descents of Welsh Families, mostly crossed out; as, perhaps, being entred more fairly into some other book.

18. Notes of the times, when divers Welsh Gentlemen deceased.

19. The last Randle Holme's Account of Things of most note in this said Book.

20. His Table of all the Pedegrees & Coats in this Booke.

An Heraldical Book in fol. begun by the Chaloners; and carried on by the two last Randle Holme's not without the Addition of a great number of Leaves and Fragments, which (in process of time) have been fastened thereto, in such places as were thought proper. It is, on the outside, thus entituled,

1. Pedegrees and Coates of several Shires, both in England & Wales.

Besides the said Pedegrees, I observe, in turning the book over.

2. A triple List of Gentlemen residing in most of our

Num. 1979, 1980.

1980.

A thin Book in small folio, wherein are contained,

1. A Discourse, or Relation of the auncient & moderne Estate of the Principallity of Wales, by Judge Doderidge.

2. The same learned Judges Discourse of the Dutchy of Cornewalle.

3. His Discourse concerning the County Palatine of Chest

Num. 1980, 1981.

At the beginning, the last Randle Holme hath inserted his short Account of the Things of most Note in this Book; of which I shall take no further Notice, because the Book itself is in Print.

1981.

A Book in folio, compiled by the command of the most noble Thomas Howard Earl of Arundel & Surrey, Anno Domini 1635, by John Davies of Middleton: and relates wholly to the Town and Barony of Oswestrie in Shropshire: describing the antient & modern State thereof, in the Order following;

1. Of the Antient & Moderne Names of the Towne & Borrough of Oswestry. 1.

2. Certaine Observations of Things & Places remarkable in or neere the same. 5.

3. Of the Baronie & Honour of Oswestrie, and the Barons thereof since the Conquest of England. 8.

Next follows a Collection of Charters and other writings, relating to the Barony of Oswestrie, or to the Barons thereof; being thus entituled,

4. Catalogus Maneriorum quæ a Dominis Fitz-Alanis & Arundeliæ Comitibus in Com. Salopiæ & alibi infra Marchia Walliæ tenentur; quotquot unquam mihi occurrebant. 18.

5. Extracta sunt hæc quæ sequuntur, a quodam dum Escheatoris officium gessit, in Comitatu Salop. de Rotulis Curiæ Dñi Regis in Scacario. 2. b.

This Tract specifies many Lands, Manors, &c. held antiently of the said Noble Family.

6. Sharta-gutter; or Charta brevis Willelmi Dni. Fitz-alan Burgensibus suis de Blanc-mouster concessa. 24.

7. Charta Edmundi Comitis Arundell. Burgensibus suis de Ofwaldestre. ibid.

8. Kinge Henry xvth's Pardon to the Earl of Arundell's Tenants in Wales, & the Marches thereof. anno Regni sexto. 24. b.

9. Thomas Earl of Arundell his Pardon to his Tenants of Bromfield, Oswestrie, & Chick: anno 7 R. Henr. iv. 25.

10. A Release of 100 lib. from Thomas Earl of Arundell to the Burgeses of Oswestrie: an. 8 Hen. iv. 26.

Records: the Coppies whereof, together with such Notes and Observations of his owne (concerning the antient & moderne Names of Oswestrie; and of some Places & Things remarkeable in, & neare the same; together with a short Discourse of the Baronie & all the Barons thereof, since the Conquest:) as the scantnesse of the Times & Helpes could afford, all which he humbly presenteth vnto his good Lordship. This Letter is dated from his poore Houe at Midlton neare Oswestrie, the 15th of December, 1635.

An Heraldical Book in fol. written by many Hands, and relating to the Descents and Armes of antient Shropshire-Families. It exhibits,

1. Alphabetical Table directing to the Cotes Crests, or Quarterings contained in this book, made (as it seems) about the 10 December 1632. by the second Randle Holme.

2. His Alphabetical Table of the Names of Shropshire-Persons and Families, whose Descents are specified in this book.

3. Salope-Visitation, 1623. or, as it is noted on the outside, Shropshire Pedegrees & Coates, &c. begun to be copied by Mr. Thomas Chaloner; with very many Additions & Continuations by the Hands of the two last Randle Holmes, Mr. Richard Mundy and several others. 1.

Herein I find interspersed,

4. Some Extracts from, or Transcripts of old Family-Deeds. as at fol. 17. 51. b. 55. b. 56. d. 62. 78. c.

5. Armes of Shrophire-Gentry, in Blason. 43. b.

6. Armes of divers Staffordshire Gentlemen in Blason, (& of Stafford-(Shrop?)shire Knights in Trick) 44. b. 56. 78. d.

7. Original Letter of Richard Mundy above-mentioned; as it seems, to Randle Holme of Chester: dated 22 June 1638. before 78.

8. Armes of many antient Families, chiefly of those of Shrophire, both in Trick & in Blason. 103.

9. Pedegrees of Welsh Families; perhaps of such as have resided in or near Shrophire. 124.

This is of Chaloner's Hand, and seems to be a Tract distinct to itself. This is followed by

10. An imperfect Tract, by the first Hand, entituled The Visitation of Shrophire; under which, the second Randle Holme hath written thus, 'taken 33 Q. Eliz.' of which Visitation I knew not, before I saw this Remainder. The Descents are, for the most part, dashed through with a Pen; and sometimes hath the Heraldical Note of Entries made into some other Book, as may be seen at the bottom of fol. 73. 74. b. fol. 75. b. 76. b. &c. for which Reason I believe they are the Originals, so far as they go. It is needles to repeat the Hand of the second Randle Holme doth farther appear among these Descents. 'Tis pity there is no more of this valuable Tract, which now begins with folio 72.

An Heraldical Book in folio, which seems to have been contrived, laid out, or disposed by some Armes-painter, and (as to the greatest part of it) performed by his Apprentice. It contains,

1. A large Collection of the Pedegrees of Shrophire-Families, with the Armes painted, together with some Church Notes, & Extracts from Family-Deeds; seeming to have been taken from one of the old Visitation-books of that Countie that is older than the Visitation of A. D. 1623.

This Collection hath met with great Improvements, not only by Continuation of those Descents, but by the Addition of many fresh Pedegrees, by the Hands of Mr. Richard Mundy, or Thomas Knight Chester-Herald, Randle Holme III. and several others.

5 A

A

Num. 1983—1985.

- At the End I find,
 2. The said Randle Holme's Table to the Coates & Crests given in this Volume; and
 3. Another of the Pedegrees, wherein are many superfluous Names.

An Heraldical Book in folio, on the back entituled by the last Randle Holme, 'Surrey Pedegrees & Shropshire:' but I, in turning over the same, find what follows,
 1. His Table, directing to the Coates & Crests exhibited in this Booke.

2. A small Alphabet of the Armes in Blafon of many of our old English Gentry of most Counties. fol. 150. At the top of the Letter A, or first Page of this Alphabet, somebody hath written 'Surrey Com.' which perhaps may have given occasion to the particular mention of that County on the back, as is above observed.

Intermingled, in divers Places, with the said Alphabet, is,

3. A large Collection of the Descents of our English Nobility, made in the times of Queen Elizabeth & K. James the First, with many Continuations & Additions by Thomas Knight Chester-Herald, as it seems; & several others.

Without doubt, some of the Persons mentioned in these Descents did actually reside in Surrey; but whether this whole Collection ought therefore to be called Surrey-Pedegrees, I leave to others.

4. A larger Collection of the Descents of the Shropshire Gentry, Registered by the Hands of Sir Henry St. George perhaps then but Richmond-Herald, Mr. Thomas Knight (Chester-Herald, & other Officers of Armes, as it seems.

I have heard that there was a Visitation of this County by Thomas Chaloner, A. D. 1593: and that there was another taken by Robert Treswell Somerset, & Augustine Vincent Rouge Croix, about A. D. 1623. but suppose not these Descents to have been registred at either of those Times. Nevertheless, these Papers seem to be Originals, & Thomas Knights Letter C upon most of them, shew that they have been copied from hence, & entred into some other Book. The others may have been added since.

5 In this Tract (as well as in the last) appear some few Church-Notes and Extracts from old Deeds; as also the Names of the Knights made by my Lord of Essex, & my Lord Admirall in the Viage to Spayne, A. D. 1596.

6. Armes of British Kings: and of the Saxon Kings during the Heptarchy; said to be taken owte of a Pedegree of Mr. Stowe's, made in Henry the 7 tyme.

7. Armes of British Kings to Cadwaleder; and from Egbert to Harold: said to be taken oute of the Role of the Kings of England, as they are set oute by the Heralds.

8. Here are also some more Descents of our Nobility & Gentry, of different Counties, at 9. Order of the Buriall of the Lord Hundesdon Lord Chamberleyne; who was buried at Westminster the 12th of August, 1596.

10. Alphabetical List of the Names of Gentlemen residing in Suffolk, Norfolk, or Essex.

11. Randle Holme's Table to the Pedegrees found in this Booke.

1985.

An Heraldical Book in fol. begun by the Holmes of Chester, and carried on by many others; on the outside entituled 'Deeds of Shropshire and Staffordshire,' but imperfectly, as will soon hereafter appear. In it I find,

1. Randle Holme's Account of the things of most Note herein.

A thin book in fol. written, perhaps, by the second Randle Holme, and thus entitled, "A Breviat of the Bishops of England, out of the Workes of Francis Godwyn Bishop of Landaff; called the Catalogue of Bishops: printed, 1615."

This Breviat doth not run through the whole Work; comprehending only the Arch-bishops of Canterbury; with the Bishops of London, Winchester, Ely, Lincoln, Coventre & Lichfield with Chester, Sherborn & Salisbury.

An Heraldical Book in fol. on the outside entitled thus, "Lancashire-Pedegrees;" and may contain, for ought I know, the greatest part of the Visitation-book of that County, compiled by William Flower Norroy A. D. 1567. to which very many fresh Pedegrees have been added, and numerous Continuations made by the two last Randle Holmes (besides other Notes & Entrances) even down to A. D. 1704. Besides all which, I observe,

1. An Alphabetical Table to the Coates & Crests tricked in this Book.

2. Another Table directing to the Pedegrees. Both these at the beginning: and in the Work itself.

3. A printed Leaf, seeming to be a Specimen of a

Num. 1987, 1988.

Book intituled "The County Palatine of Lancaster illustrated:" and here giving the Descent & Armes of Trafford.

1. b.

4. The Lyne or Pedegree of the Talebeis, afterwards furnished Lancaster: signed by Percivall Reaghley A. D. 1694. loose, between fol. 17 and 18.

5. The Genealogie of the right worshipfull Familie of the Talbots of Basball in the County Palatine of Lancaster; lineally extracted out of antient Records, and Testimonies of vndoubted veritie by R(oger) D(odsworth) A^o 1656. Engraven in a Plate, and enlarged with numerous additions, by the second Randle Holme, 46.

6. Descent & Armes of Winstanly, by Mr. Rich. Munday of London Haral. Painter, A. D. 1639. 54.

7. A long Descent of Bradshaw; branded by this following Note: This Descent was given to Jo. Bradshaw Seriant at Law & Justice of Chester; but it is most base & false, and hath never a true Descent in it. RH. 59. b. & d.

8. Pedegree of Lathom; collected by William Travers (under said) a lover of Armes, 2 July 1630. 68. b.

9. Original Certificates of James Chetam, & of Thomas Chetam of Nuthurst, touching the Descent of certain others of their Name & Family. 80.

10. Original Letter of John Taylor, dated 5 July, 1647; giving Mr. Holmes the Descent & Armes of Sankey. 116.

11. Armes of the Lancashire-Gentry, tricked in the Way of Alphabet. 120.

A paper Book in fol. consisting of divers particular Papers bound up together; or written by several Hands; on the out-side entitled "Cateralls Book of the Antiquity & Gentry of Cheshier;" by which an intire Transcript of that book is not to be understood; but only an Extract from Him, with some other Collections joyned together. The several matters which I shall take Notice of, are these that follow,

1. A List of severall things of Note contained in this Booke.

A Book in folio, written by several Hands, and treating (as is noted on the back) upon the subject of the Antiquities of Chester, from several Authors, and Books of good note & use, in the manner following :

1. Randle Holme's Account of the Things of most Note in this Booke ; made A. D. 1668.

2. A Collection of the Maiors who have gouerned this City of Chester, and the tyme when they gouerned : said by the second Randle Holme to have been written by Mr. William Higginson Sheriffe of Chester.

370.

This Tract is not finished ; as giving only a short account of the Scituation & Antiquitie of the City, & somewhat of a Description, in generall, of the County ; and a brief Narration of its Earls.

3. The same Randle Holme's Notes out of Mr. Bostock's Manuscript made per Henricum Archidiaconum Huntingdoniensem, ad Alexandrum Lincolniensem Episcopum, anno 1145, and after continued by John Mathensis a Monke of Deulacres to Hen. III's time.

376. b.

These Notes are very incorrectly copied ; and come down to K. Henry the 1vth's time ; even to the Battel of Shrewsbury. (See more about this MS. of Mr. Bostock's fol. 403.)

4. His List of Coroners of the City of Chester.

383. b.

5. Treasurars of Chester, as I haue mett with them in record.

384.

6. Articles touching a Constables Office ; out of Mr. Knights bookes. To be given euery Constable at takinge his Oath, in writing.

385.

7. Large Extracts made by Randle Holme out of the Black Booke of Chester ; containing many material passages of that Cities busines, from 10 July, ann. 33 Hen. viii. to 18 June A. D. 1624.

385.

8. An idle Account of the several Citties & Towns throughout England, whose Names end with Cester, Chester, or Caster ; as if they were all Daughters, forsooth, of this our Mother-City of Chester.

396. b.

9. A Tract concerning the Description & History of the City of Chester, wherein is much of that of Mr. Higginson abovementioned, recited verbatim ; and may perhaps be part of some other Draught of his Book.

397.

Herein, (viz. fol. 397. b.) the Author cites the Polichronicon of Roger of Chester, as also the Polichronicon of Ranulph Monke of Chester, thereby owning them to have been different men and different books ; about which, I have before given my poor opinion, in a former part of this Catalogue.

10. The Succession of the Erles of Chester, collected out of sundrie Authors, by Mr. Robert Rogers sometyme Archdeacon of Chester, and others.

407. b.

11. Of those worthie Persons to whom the Erles committed the Government of this Citie (viz. the Constables) untill a Major was appointed to be Cheefe Governor thereof. As also, of the Steward, & Justices of Chester, down to the Year 1482.

425.

12. A Survey of the River of Dee, which runneth vnder the Citie of Chester.

427. b.

13. The Toll payable at Dee-bridge, for sundry Commodities, according to a Presentment of greate Antiquitie.

430.

CAT. HARL. VOL. II.

Num. 1989—1991.

14. Of all the Wards, Streetes & Lanes within the Citie of Chester ; as they were named in the Dayes of Kinge Edward the Third.

431.

15. Of the Foundation, & first Buildinge of some of the Chester-Churches.

434.

16. Of the Hospital of St. John Baptist, without the North gate of Chester.

436.

17. Succession of the Bishops of Chester.

442.

18. Of the Ereccion of a Monasterie in the Citie of Chester.

450.

19. The Succession of the Abbots of St. Werburg's Monastery in Chester.

452. b.

To this is annexed the Award made Anno 1 Henrici viii. between the then Abbat & Monks on the one partie, & the Mayor of Chester & his Brethren on the other ; upon the several matters of Discord which had arisen between them.

20. Of the Dissolution of Abbeys, and of conuertinge this into a Cathedrall Church ; placing there a Dean & Chapter, &c. instead of the Abbot & Covent.

21. The Succession of the Deanes of Chester, since the Dissolution of the Monasterie.

458. b.

N. B. All these later Articles seem to me but parts of the same work ; whose beginning I take to be at N^o 9. above.

22. The Names of the Maiors & Sheriffes of the Citie of Chester, since anno 24 Hen. III ; together with relation of sundry Matters, both forraigne & domesticall, which happened since the same tyme.

This comes down no lower than ann. 32 R. Edwardi I.

1990.

A paper Book in fol. written by divers hands ; wherein I find,

1. Index alphabeticus Locorum, hoc in Codice memoratorium.

2. A View of Staffordshire, containing the Antiquities of the same Countie ; written by Sampson Erdeswicke of Sandon near Stafford, in the same Countie Esq; begun about the yeare 1593 ; and continued to his Death, which happened in April A. D. 1603.

This Copy is enlarged by the Addition of the Names of Persons & Places mentioned in each Page of the Work, all along in the Margins ; by order of the second Randle Holme, as it seems.

3. The beginning of the same Mr. Erdeswick's Description of Cheshire ; being but three Pages ; with the like marginal Notations of Persons and Places.

107.

4. Index Virorum : or rather, an Alphabetical Table of Persons Names (of both Sexes) mentioned in the preceding Treatises.

1991.

A paper Book in folio, written by different Hands, as consisting of single Copies of Cheshire Wills & Inquisitions, long since bound up together. At the beginning, I find,

1. The last Randle Holme's Table directing to the said Inquisitions & Wills ; which are these that follow,

2. Inquisitio capta 6 die Augusti, anno 28 R. Elizabethæ, post mortem Johannis Bostocke de Churton. Gen.

At the end, it appears to be 'Copia vere examinata.'

3. Inquisitio capta die Jovis proxima ante festum Nativitatis S. Johannis Baptiste, anno 8 R. Henrici vi. post mortem Willelmi de Eggerton de Bulkley.

At the end, is 'Concordat cum Recordis,' &c.

4. Inquisitio capta die Sabbati proxime post festum Conversionis S. Pauli, anno 34 R. Henrici viii. post mortem Johannis Bothe Clerici.

5. Inquisitio capta 17 die Aprilis, anno 41 R. Elizabethæ, zabethæ,

5 B

Num. 1991.

zabethæ; post mortem Johannis Manley de Pulton Armigeri.

This Inquisition seems to be but the rough Draught; yet, at the end it is signed by Hugh Maffy, & others.

6. Inquisicio capta die Lune proxima ante festum S. Johannis Baptiste, anno 20 R. Henrici VIII. post mortem Thome Bothe Armigeri.

In the margin is written, 'Examinatur per Copiam que capta fuit extra Rotulos apud Cestriam,' &c.

7. Inquisicio capta 17 die Aprilis, anno 41 R. Elizabethæ, post mortem Johannis Manley de Pulton Armigeri. (vid. supra, § 5.)

8. Inquisicio capta 19 die Aprilis, anno 12 Regis Jacobi, post mortem Johannis Poole senioris, de Poole, Armigeri.

At the end of this long Office, is, 'Concordat cum Recordis,' &c.

9. Finalis Concordia facta 30 die Julij anno 18. R. Elizabethæ, inter Willelmum, Comitem Wigornie, Edwardum, Comitem Rutland, Robertum Comitem Leycestrie, Xpoferum Wraye Militem, Egidium Alington Militem, Hugonem Cholmondeley Militem, Johannem Talbot Armigerum, et Georgium Carye Armigerum, Querentes: et Johannem Savage Militem, et Johannem Savage Armigerum, Deforcientes.

On the outside, this large Fine is, thus entituled, 'Copie of the Fyne acknowledged by Sir John Sauvage Kt. for the vse of his Sone Mr. John Savage, at the tyme he was married to the Earles Nice.'

10. Inquisicio capta 29 die Januarij, anno 4 R. Elizabethæ, post mortem Jacobi Merburie Armigeri.

This is but a short Extract.

11. Inquisicio capta 11 die Octobris, anno 35 R. Elizabethæ post mortem Willelmi Marburye de Marbury Armigeri. At the end, is 'Examinatur per me Johannem Yeardley.'

12. Inquisicio capta 27 die Septembris, anno A. R. Caroli, post mortem Henrici Brereton.

This is an imperfect rough draught.

13. Inquisicio capta die Mercurij proxime post festum S. Trinitatis, anno 29 R. Henrici VIII. post mortem Johannis Aldersey de Cestria.

14. Inquisicio capta 14 die Septembris anno 44 R. Elizabethæ, post mortem Agnetis Mordaunt vidue.

This Copie was examined in the Court of Wards, and attested accordingly.

15. The Will of Thomas Gamull Recorder of the Cittie of Chester; dated 2 August 1613.

16. The Will of Sir John Davenport of Davenport, Knight; dated 21 July 1625.

17. The Will of Edmund Gamull, of the City of Chester, Alderman; dated 10 November 1615.

This seems to be the first Draught of that Will.

18. Translation of a Deed of Richard Coly a Kinsman to Robert Coly th'elder Citizen of Chester, touching the Sale of an house there, by the said Richard, in pursuance of the said Robert's Will.

19. The Will of Thomas Liveall, of the City of Chester, Alderman. dated 10 October, 1603.

A thin paper-Book in large folio; consisting of loose papers & fragments, being Cheshire Pedegrees for the most part; or otherwise in the Heraldical way, and needing little more to be said of them. However, before

Num. 1992, 1993.

before I quit it, I shall observe these few particulars that follow,

1. The last Randle Holme's Table directing to the Armes of Families to be found in the book.
2. His Table of the Pedegrees.
3. His List of Things of Note found here.
4. His Table directing to the Names of Places mentioned in Pedegrees and Deeds in this Booke.
5. Divers old Descents written upon oblong Leaves of Paper colored Red, in order to the keeping of Leaf Gold therein. At the end of this Note, "Thus fare out of Liber BB, Dni. Dodsworth. pag. 1." (but see more §. 7.)
6. List of the Justices of Chester, with Proofs; and their Armes in Blason. 13. A.
This comes down to the 4th of K. Charles I.
7. Randle Holme's Note, shewing that the Descents abovementioned at §. 5. were extracted from the Deeds extant in the book then inscribed G.G.G. which now, in this Library is marked 97. A. 16.
8. Several Papers relating to the Descent of Maynwaring pag. 24 see also, pag. 59, 95, 138.
9. Part of a Copie of Wynnyngton's Pedegree, as laboured & judically sett downe by Mr. Jo. Bouths of Twemlowe, and approved by Sir Rich. St. George Norroy. pag. 36. (see the other part at pag. 54.)
10. The Pedegree of Bostoke, as descended from Dutton & Holland; traveled & sett forth by William Harvey alias Clarenceulx King of Armes A. D. 1561. pag. 40 (et vid. pag. 153)
On the backside, this Pedegree is noted to be much mistaken.
11. Some British or Welsh Descents; at pagg. 50, 61, 161, A. 171.
12. Answers to some of the Interrogatories putt, concerning certain Lande formerly belonging to the Monastery of Deulacres. 60, 69.

15. Papers of the Descent or Genealogy of the antient Family of Arderne. 121.
16. Descents of Vernon, with Extracts, or Proofs from their Deeds. 140.
17. Descent of Legh de Adlinton; subscribed by moy Wyllm. Flower Esquire alias Norroy Roy D'armes. 164.

1993.

An Heraldical Book in fol. collected or made by several persons; which I shall describe in the manner following:

1. The Valuation of the Bishopricks in the Queen's Bookes, A. D. 1600. with the Fees for them, paid to the Pope.
This is written on the wast Leaf lining the Cover, as it may seem, by one Thomas Barnetson; whose Name is upon fol. 1. & 3.
 2. The Armes of Queen Elizabeth, or of England rudely depicted; as all the rest are that follow. 1.
 3. The Armes of England (that is, with only the Norman and Andegavian Lions or Leopards;) again with that of Guienne; and the Armes of Ireland: all with the modern Crown of England over them. 2.
 4. Armes, perhaps, intended for the Princes of Wales: being included within the Garter, & under a Label of three points. The Supporters are two Stags; and above all, is the same modern Crown of England. 3.
 5. Armes of the University of Oxford; the Words within the Book being these, "In principio erat Verbum, et Verbum erat apud Deum," &c. 4.
- These are followed by the Armes of such Colleges as were in being within that University A. D. 1600. with the Names of their respective Founders. Among which,

Num. 1993, 1994.

those of Brazen-nose, University, Baliol, Merton, Exeter, Oriel, Queenes, Lincoln, New, Trinity, & St. John's Colleges, are attended by other Armes of particular Persons, Families, or Benefactors, which may have been found in them painted in the Glasse, or cutt in Stone or Wood.

6. Armes of the University & Colleges of Cambridge; but without such Attendance. 20.
7. Armes of the Empires Occidental and Oriental, with those of the King of the Romans, France, England, and many other Kingdoms & Countreys. 22.
Among these some are set forth in false Colors; and others seem to be fancied only. Here are also divers Notes touching the Armes of Kings, Princes, & Countreys, taken out of Dr. Heylyn, Mr. Guillim, &c. by the abovementioned Thomas Barnetson.
8. A Copie of Clarenceux Cookes Baronage; as continued to the Lord Gervase Clifton. 30.
The Armes were begun, perhaps, by him who painted at the beginning of the Book, who proceeded no further than fol. 34. from which, I find no other Colors expressed than Yellow, Green & Black, unto fol. 45. b. where I perceive some Red, but then it is gone with common Raddle. After fol. 54. a. there are but few of the Armes given; and those are, for the most part, only traced with Black Lead. The Writing part of this Treatise seemeth to be of the Hand of Thomas Barnetson.
9. A Table (defective) to the Names of the Nobility mentioned in the preceding Work. 73.
10. Descendants from Rees Merchan of Cliud, or Pedegree of John Davids. 75.
11. Names of those who decyded a Strife betwixt Maffye of Pudington, & Maffye of Tatton about their Coate of Armes. ibid.

A Book in folio, consisting of many single or particular Paper & Parchment-Writings; for the most part bound together long since, and on the out-side entituled Church-matters, & other things concerning Abbies, Nunneryes, & Religious Houses; a pretty distinct Account whereof, here followeth.

1. Randle Holme's List of matters of most Note in this Book at the beginning.
2. Concerning the yearly Distribution of the late Revivall of 150 pounds by the year, in the Cathedrall Church of Chester, Anno 1582. according to an Order made by the Lord of Burghley, Lord High Threasurer, & others her Majesties Commissioners. 261.
3. Placita Com. Cest. coram Thoma Duce Gloucestr. Justiciario Cestrie, die Martis proxime ante festum Conceptionis beate Marie Virginis, anno 16 R. Richardi II. 262.

This (quoth the elder Randle Holme) I copied out of an old Roll lent me by Dr. Bridgman Deane of Chester, in Febr. A. D. 1661. It relates a Trial between the King & Henry de Sutone Abbat of Chester, for the right of Presentation to all the Churches appropriated to the Abbey; upon a supposition that Thomas de Newporte a late Abbat (with the consent of the whole Convent) had alienated them all, to John de Delves & others, without the consent of the Earl of Chester the Founder. But at length, after much Trouble, the Cause went for the Defendant; and the King, who had seized on the said Churches, restored the same to the Monastery.

4. This followinge is on the back of the forsaide Rolle. 264. b. & 265. b.

That is, Doquets of Bulls, Charters, & other Instruments relating to the said Monastery, with directions how or where to find the Originals.

5. Iste sunt Decime dominice que vocantur le Bordland, de parochia de Kirkby, ad opus fabricæ Ecclesiæ Sancte Werburge Cestrie pertinentes. 265.
6. Fines facti Domino Abbati Cestrie per Tenentes suos in in Villis subscriptis, 28 die Augusti, ac diversis diebus postea; anno regni Regis Henrici Octavi, sexto-decimo. 267.

Num. 1994.

This seems to be the Original List, or Book.

7. Redditus, & Receptiones Decimarum Garbarum, &c. Abb. Sce. Werburge Cestr. cum enumeratione Feodorum, Vadiorum, Donorum, et Expensarum necessariorum ab Abbate solvendorum. 285.

This Randle Holme copied from one of his own old Parchment Rolls.

8. Rentale Terrarum et Tenementorum que pertinent Custod. Operis Monasterij Sce. Werburge Cestr. à festo Sci. Michaelis anno Regni Regis Henrici Sexti post Conquestum, vicesimo nono: usque idem festum proxime sequens, per unum annum integrum. 287.

This is the Original written on Parchment.

9. Compotus Johannis Ley Prioris Monasterij Sande Werburge Cestr. ac Custodis Fabrice & Operis ejusdem Monasterij, a festo Sci. Michaelis. Archangeli, anno R.R. Henrici vii. post conquestum Anglie vicesimo quarto; usque ad idem festum ex tunc proxime sequens, anno primo R.R. Henrici viii. videlicet, per unum annum integrum. 291.

This likewise is the Original, written upon Parchment.

10. Notes taken by the second Randle Holme from the Church-wardens Book, of the Church of St. Mary on the Hill in Chester; which was begun to be written by Richard Leche Barbur, at A. D. 1531. being at that tyme Clarke thereof. 296.

11. Abstractes taken out of the Register-booke of St. Maryes, . . . Nov. 1639. per me Ranum. Holme. 197.

This Book was written by the same Person, and in the same Year with the former; and perhaps, may be the same. And among these Abstracts, or Notes, some are remarkable.

12. Imperfect Draught of an Inquisition concerning Stanlowe-Grange, and divers other Abbey-lands purchased by George Cotton, & sold again. 311.

13. Concerning the Service Book of the Church of England; some Notes, by an Hand not the most legible, 325.

14. Draught of the Foundation of the Bishoprick of Chester, and Erection of St. Werburg's Church into a Cathedral by K. Henry viii. with the Endowment of the same: bearing Teste 4 Augusti, anno Regni 33. 327.

15. A Draught or Copie (now in four pieces) of an Indenture of Lease, whereby the right worshipping William Clyffe Deane of the Cathedrall Church of Chester, and the Chapter of the same place; for diverse Consideracons them moving; and especiallie in Consideracons, of the Kings Graces severall Letters of Requests & Contemplacons, by th'assent of his most honorable privy Councell to them in that behalfe directed: do dymyse, graunte, sett, lett, & to ferme betake vnto John Caulueley Esquior the Kings Graces Servant at Armes, for & during the Terme of Fiftie Yeares, many Lands, Tenements, &c. mentioned in former Leases, after the Expiration of the same Leases; with others then unlett; all at the old Rents dated 3 August, ann. 5 Edward vi. 349. b.

This Lease is now in four pieces of Parchment, and loofe.

16. Queries arising upon certain Letters from the Crown, whereby the King did disafforest totam Terram et Feodum Johannis at Stile de Dale, and freed the same a potura Servientium. 353.

17. Exemplificatio Recordorum super Placito de Quo Warranto Robertus de Swinnerton clamavit habere & tenere totam Terram suam & Feodum suum de Barew defaforestat. et quietanciam Putare; &c. anno 27 Regni Regis Edwardi iii. 354.

Herein, is also the Charter of Ranulph Earl of Chester (granting those Privileges to the Lands of Barrow) mentioned and produced at the Trial aforesaid.

Num. 1994.

18. A Copie of the Indenture whereby Mr. Richard Walker Deane of the Cathedrall Church of Chester, & the Chapter of the same (after divers Leases of their Lands, Tenements, &c. within their Balywicke of Chester & Upton. to Richard Dutton, of the Cittie of Chester, Gentleman, made) do grant unto him the Office of Bailly of their said Bailywicke. dat. the 8th of October, anno 3 Regine Elizabethæ. (N. B. The Rents then amounted to the annual Sum of £71 : 11 : 8.) 358.

19. A Copie of the Lease, whereby Mr. William Cliff Doctor of Lawe, Deane of the Cathedrall Church of Chester, & the Chapter of the same place, did lett vnto Richard Dutton, all their Mesluages, Lands, &c. sett, lying & being in the City of Chester, and the Townefields, Precincts and Cercuits of the same; for Threescore Yeers, paying the yearly Rent of £49 : 5 : 5. dat. 1 December, anno 5 R. Edwardi vi. (vid. infra, § 32.) 363.

20. Original Petition of Mr. Heyward Vicar of Frodsham & others of that Parish; to the Commissioners for pious Uses: shewing, that several Legacies had been bequeathed to the said Parish, for charitable Uses, amounting to Fourescore Poundes & vpwades; but that the money could not be employed accordingly, because those in whose Handes the same is, will pay neither Stocke nor Interest. 368.

In the margins, is a List of the said Legacies, with the Names of those who bequeathed them.

21. Copie of the Inquisition taken upon the above-mentioned Petition, before the Bishop of Chester & other Commissioners for pious Uses, 31 March 1640. 369.

22. Original Citation of John Bridgeman Bishop of Chester, for many of the Inhabitants of Bunbury Parish, within divers Townships, whose Names are expressed in the same, or in the Schedule annexed thereunto: to appear before him or his Commissaries in the Church of Acton, on the 25th of November 1629. 372.

23. Copie of the Inquisition taken before the said Bishop of Chester, & others the Kings Commissioners for pious Uses, 31 March 1640. touching charitable Legacies bequeathed to the Minister, Chapell, or Inhabitants of Church-Holme in Cheshire. 374.

24. Original Depositions of Richard Grimesdich & John Rycrofte, taken before the same Bishop of Chester, at Wigan, 23 May, A. D. 1628 (touching Lands bequeathed by Thomas Johnson to the Poor of Appleton.) 376.

Noted thus at the bottom acknowledged at Grapenhall before the Com. ad pios usus, 25 Julij 1628.

25. An attested Copie of the Deed which Ralphe Johnson of Crofte in the Countie of Lancaster Gent. signed in the presence of the said Bishop of Chester & others; whereby he confirmed the bequest which his Uncle Thomas Johnson made of his Houle and Land in Appleton, to the use of the Poor of the Parish of Grapnall & Town of Appleton. Provided that he & his Heirs (if they pleased) should possess the said Houle and Lands, paying yearly therefore the annual Rent of £14. dated 17 October 1627. 377.

26. Draught of an Order of the Commissioners ad pios Ufus, for settling the aforesaid Charity given by Thomas Johnson Yeoman, to the Poore of the Parish of Groppenhalle & Towneship of Appleton. dated 24 die Julij A. D. 1628. 378.

The Houle and Land abovementioned were estimated to be worth ꝑ ann. £18. yet willed by the deceased to be sett after the Rate of £14. ꝑ ann. to th'end the Tenaunt might bee the better able to pay the said Rent.

27. Draught of the Inquisition taken 24 July 1628, before the same Bishop of Chester & others the Kings Commissioners ad pios Ufus; wherein the Will of the said Thomas Johnson is recited. 381.

28. Rough Draught of the Will last above-mentioned. 385. b.

31. A Deed of Gift, whereby Richard Dutton of the Cittie of Chester Alderman, gave, granted & assigned his Estate real & personall to Edward Dutton his youngest Son, and of the same putt him in present Possession, by the deliury of one goulde Ringe. Provided, that if the Donor should assure unto his said Son an Annuity of Five Shyllyngs, issueinge out of his Lands, &c. within the said Cittie of Chester, during his Life: then this Gift to be void. dat. . . . June, anno 15 R. Eliz. 397.

32. A Copie of a Lease, whereby Mr Wylliam Cliffe Doctor of Lawe, Deane of the Cathedrall Church of Chester, and the Chapter of the same place, grant and lett to ferme unto Richard Dutton of the Cittie of Chester Draper, all their Messuages, Lands, Tenements, &c. within the Cittie aforesaid, or ells whcare, as menconed in a Scedule thereunto annexed, for the Terme of Threescore Yeares. Yeldinge & payinge therefore yerelie £49:5:5. dated 1 December. anno 5 R. Edwardi vi. (vid. supra, § 19.) 399.

N. B. In the annexed Schedule the Sum total of the severall Premisses amounteth to but £48:10:5.

33. Instruitions for a Byll in the Star-Chamber against Hugh Calvely of Lea, and Richard Maddocke of Lea Newbold his Servaunt, at the Suit of Edward Russell of Chester, Gent. 402.

This Paper sets forth divers great Abuses & Injuries done by the said Hugh (then one of the Deputyes Lief-tenants for the County of Chester) unto Mr. Russell, and others; upon occasion of his procuring an Assignement of a Lease of a Messuage with certain Grounds in Churcheneath, wherein certain Years remained, as then unexpired, which were lett by the Deane and Chapter of the Cathedrall Church of Christ & our blessed Lady Mary the Virgin, at the yearly Rent of £3:6:8.

34. Original Articles of Agreement, betweene William Smith of Carre in the Parish of Audley in the County of Stafford, Schoolemaister; and Arthure Babington of Audley aforesaid, Husbandman. dated 10 Aprill, ann. 19 R. Jacobi i. 404.

These express the Covenants made between both parties, upon Babington's taking part of Smiths house (called the Carre-house) with the Crofts, Orchards, &c. thereunto belonging, for one year, at Fourty Shillings Rent.

35. Original Bond of Hugh Salusbury of Eccleston in the County of Chester, Gent. and of George Salusbury of Arebitoke in the County of Flint Gent. made to William Wryght Clerk, Parson of Warton, in the Sum of £400. for performance of Covenants, touching the Tythes, Glebe-landes, Landes Spirituall & Temporall &c. belonging to the Churches of Kirke-christe in the Ayre, and Kirke-marron, both in the Lande of Manne, in the Illes; which Henry Stanley Earle of Darbye had to Farm letten unto Robert Salusbury of Denbich Gent. to hold the same, during the Lives of divers of the Handmeres (or Hanmers?) dat. 16 die Martij, anno 29 R. Num. 1994.

lusbury & William Wright, for indemnifying the said Hughe & George his Brother, who were bound for the said William, to Mr. Thomas Lymell of Chester for the payment of the Some of £192. dat. 17 Marche, anno 27. Elizabethæ. 406.

37. Articles of Agreement between Richard Burches Clarke. Rector of Thurstaston in the Countie of Chester, and George Stubbes of the same place, Yeoman: where by the Rector mortgaged his Tythe-Corne for one whole year to the said Stubbes for £26. dat. 20 Marche, A. D. 1629. 407.

38. Draught of the Instrument made upon the Consecration of the Chapell or Oratory of the Holy Trinity in Great-Lever in the County of Lancaster, by John Bridgman Bishop of Chester; who had erected the same in his Mansion-House there, which was distant Seven Miles, at the least, from the Mother Church. dat. 24 Maji A. D. 1634. 408.

This is written upon Parchment.

39. Order of the Court of Exchequer of Chester, upon the Suit between Thomas Glover Clerke Parson of Kirkby alias West-Kirkby in the County of Chester, Plaintiffe; and Sir William Massey, Kt. &c. Defendants; touching the Rectorye & Church aforesayde, & Tythes of the same, which Sir William & those vnder whom he claymed, had enjoyed by the Space of 80 years & upwards, by virtue of a Lease of the Premisses granted by Richard Walker Clerke then Parson of the sayde Church, and confirmed by the then Bishopp of Chester, & by the Deane & Chapter, Patrons of the said Church. The Court adjudging the Cause for the Defendant, 28 Octobris anno 9 Regis Caroli i. 409.

40. Extract from a Lease granted by William Cliffe Dean of Chester, & the Chapter thereof, to Rowland Stanley of Hooton in the County of Chester, Esq; all their Tythes of Corne, Hey, Hempe & Flax, called Bordland-Tythes in the Townships of Little Caldey, Greate Caldey, Newton with the Wings, Laverton, Newbold, Great Meoles & Grevelby within the Parish of West-Kirby; and also the Bordland Tythes of Irby within the Parish of Thurstanton, & Woodchurch, &c. for the Terme of 51 yeares, at the annual Rent of four Pounds; in Consideration of a Surrender made by the said Rowland of a Lease or Covert-Seale granted vnto one Thomas Byrkenhead by the late Abbat & Covert of Chester, anno 30 Henrici viii. of a Mease or Cell call'd the House of Hilton, and of divers Tieths within the Parish of West Kirkby, in the Townshipp of Irby, in the Parish of Woodchurch & Thurstanton, in Wyrall, &c. for 61 Yeares, dated, 13 March, anno 6 R. Edwardi vi. 409. b.

This is followed by a Scedule giving a particular of the Tieths, &c. granted to the said Mr. Stanley.

41. Draught of an Instrument, whereby Anne Ireland of Chester, Widowe, (in consideration of the Some of £46:13:4.) grants unto Hughe Dod of Chester Gent. her Interest in the Remainder of a Lease for 61 yeares, of a Mansion-house adjoyninge to the Church-yard of the College-Churche of Saynt John in Chester, granted by Dr. David Pole late Prebendarye of the said College, and confirmed by the Dean & Chapter thereof, anno 37 R. Henrici viii. at the annual Rent of 20 Shillings. dat. 3 December, A. D. 1598. 414.

42. Another Draught of certain Articles of Agreement between the said Ireland & Dod, for her Assigning the Lease of that House unto him. 415.

43. Supplication to Queen Elizabeth, made by Raphe Jenins of Chester Draper; representing that he was lawfully possessed of certain Tenements built in the Butter-shoppes of Chester upon the voyd ground formerly belonging to St. John Baptists Hospital there, by virtue of two Leases of the same granted by Thomas Crewe Scholler, & Robert Jones Gentleman late Masters or Keepers of the said Hospitall: and that about the 24th day of February in the 31st yeare of Highnes Raigne, one Roger Hanmer,

5 C

Hanmer,

Num. 1994.

Hammer, Margerye his wife, with about 20 other persons, riotously, forceably, and in warlike manner assembled themselves and broke into his House; where they beate downe and evell intreated Him & others, carried away certayne parcells of Goods, & committed other Acts of Violence. 418.

44. The Replicacon of Sir Walter Pye Kt. his Majesties Attorney of his Courte of Wardes & Liveries, by the Relacon of St. William Brereton Barronet, Plaintiffe; to the joynte & seuerall Awnswearers of Thomas Walfh, & Edward Roberts Defendants. dat. 30 Maij 1627. 428.

This seems to be the Original & relates the Privileges enjoyed by the Nuns of Chester at the time of the Dissolution of their Monastery. That with their Lands, the said Privileges came to King Henry VIII. who granted the same (with the Scite of the said Monastery) to the Relators Ancestors, & which He & They had enjoyed ever since. And therefore, that the Relator was not liable to pay Murage, toward the reparation of the Walls of Chester, according to the Assesment lately made by the Mayor & Citizens there, nor had they lawfull Power to enter therefore into the Premises, and to distrein.

45. A Note of such Houses & Land (with the Fishing in Dee) and the Names of such Persons as are now in possession thereof; which are leased by the Deane & Chapter of Chester, to Sir Nicholas Byron Kt. Governor of Chester, anno 31 Caroli I. for 21 yeares. 445.

This seems to be copied by the second Randle Holme, & doth not specify the severall Rents paid.

46. A Rental of the Deane & Chapters Tennants in Chester. 451.

It contains, for the most part, only their naked Names.

47. Interrogatories to be ministred to Witnesses produced to be examined on the part & behalfe of Thomas Welsh & Edward Roberts Defendants; to the Information of Walter Pye Kt. his Majesties Attorney of his Highnes Court of Wardes & Liveries, on the part & behalfe & by the Relacon of William Brereton Esq; now Baronet. 453.

This relates to § 44, above, and shews that the Nuns did hold a Garden & Lands in Chester, of the Mayor & Citizens, in Gable-Rent. Randle Holme adds on the back, this further concerning Sir William Brereton, "he hath since incroched much more wrongfully from the City, in tyme of the Siege at Chester."

48. Privileges of the Nuns of Chester & their Fermors & Tenants, by virtue of divers Graunts from the Kings of England; & Confirmations thereof from the Kings, Princes of Wales, & Earles of Chester: the Scite of whose Monastery was graunted by K. Henry the Eighth, 9 March anno regni 33, to Sir Vrian Brereton, to hold the same as Free, and as freely discharged of Murage, Tolls, &c. as ever the said Covent of Nunnes held the same. 455.

On the back it is thus entituled, "A Case delivered to Mr. Morgan of Chester, by Mr. Brereton; concerninge Tolles of the Markett (for his Tenants Come to be free.)" The last Words are added by the said Randle Holme, who subjoyns, 'Much Stirr there was about it; never perfected.'

49. Information of the abovementioned St. Walter Pye exhibited to Sir Robert Naunton Kt. Master of the Court of Wardes & Liveries; by the Relation, & on the behalfe of William Brereton of Hanford in the County of Chester Esq; touching the aforesaid demand of Murage, and his Tenants being distrain'd. And forasmuch as the Relator cannot have an equall Triall in Chester, before the Mayor & other Officers, who are themselves chargeable with Murage, he supplicates for Procefs of Privey Seale to be directed to Thomas Welsh & Edward Roberts, commaunding them to appeare in the said Court by a certain day, &c. 456.

50. Extracts from the Graunts abovementioned in § 48. touching the Privileges of these Nuns of Chester, their Tenants & Fermors. 459. b. &c. backwards.

Num. 1994.

These Extracts Randle Holme writes, were made by Edward Whitbie Recorder of Chelter; whose remarkably bad Hand appears often in this Book; particularly, at fol. 325.

56. Another Surrender, to the same purpose, but by different persons. dat. 2 die Decembris. anno 22 R. Eliz. 508.

57. Attested Copie of Q. Elizabeth's Commission to the Lord Treasurer Burleigh & others, authorising them to heare & determine the Matter & Cause touchinge the Validity & Invalidity of the Incorporation & Dotation of the Dean & Chapter of Chester, and of all other Matters & Causes that may be objected on her behalfe, on the behalfe of the said Dean & Chapter, or on the behalfe of many Cheshire Gentry or inferior Inhabitants in whose Occupation the said Dean & Chapter's Lands then were. Tette, &c. 8 die Maij, anno regni 20. 512.

In the Preamble she declares, that Whereas her Father did erect a Deane & Chapter in the Cathedral Church of Chester, & did endow them with Lands and Possessions to the clear yearly Value of £800, & above; the most parte of which, sythen his Death, they did (by Licence of K. Edward VI.) demyse vnto St. Richard Cotton Kt. in Fee-Farme, for a certayne yearly Rent: and that the said St. Richard Cotton, & his sonn George Cotton afterward had conveyed a greate parte to Sir Hughe Cholmeley, Sir George Calveyley, & others in Fee-Farme, so that the said Deane & Chapter have nothing but a certayne yearly rent to maynteyne themselves withall: And whereas the said Deane & Chaptyer had bene humble Sutors vnto her, to haue the premises reduced to theym agayne, alledging, that there are such Imperfections in the Incorporation & Dotacyon, that she might resume, & take the same into her Hands, and after bestowe the same vpon theym in such sort as she should thinke meete: She therefore caused her Attorney-Generall to exhibit an Information against the said Sir Hugh Cholmeley, Sir George Calveyley, &c. but upon their Complaint, that if the said Suite should proceede, a greate Number, as well Gentlemen as others would be putt to greate & extreame Chardges before the same Suite could bee ended: Therefore

Num. 1994.

Therefore that the same may be speedily ended, & the Matter fully appeased, as also for the Advancement & some Increase of the Lyving of the said Deane & Chapyer, and to the reasonable Contentation of the said Gentlemen, &c. She causes this Commission to be issued forth.

58. Certain Notes concerning Instruments made temp. R. Edwardi vi. in order to the Alienation of the Lands belonging to the Deane & Chapter of Chester; by the second Randle Holme. 517.

Patents of the Kynge. Whereupon, doubt was made as well of the Validity of the Estate of the said Deane & Chapter, as of the said Fee-farmers which clayme there Estate by Graunt from the said Deane & Chapter. For getting an Assurance from her Majestie of all the Lands & Possessions claymed by the said Fee-farmers. For raising the Rents, in the gros; and laying the Sum to be raised upon the Tenants; according to the Value or Quantity of what they held. dat. 7 Aprilis, anno 21 Elizabethæ Regine. 532.

66. Part of a Lease, whereby Mr. William Clyffe Doctor of Lawe, Deane of the Cathedrall Church of Chester, & the Chapter of the same place, do lett to Farne, to Richard Dutton of Chester Draper, all their Messuages, Lands, Tenements, &c. sett, lying, & being in the Cittie of Chester, precincts of the same, or elsewhere, as specified & declared in a Schedule to the same annexed; unto th'end of Threescore yeares, at the annual Rent of Three-score & Neene pounds, Eightene Pence. dat. 13. January, anno 6 R. Edw. vi. 540.

This is not finished, because it refers to a former Lease mentioned above at § 19.

67. Exemplification of part of an Inquisition taken 31 Martij 1640. concerning the mind of Thomas Farmer Schoole-maister of the free Grammer-Schoole of Witten in the Countie of Chester; who had bequeathed the yearly benefite of £50. toward the maintenance of a poore & towardy Schollar brought up at the said Schoole, and sent to the University. 543.

68. Extracts from Deeds, with other Notes, taken out of a great Folio-Booke, belonging to the Deane & Chapter of Chester, by the second Randle Holme, and others. 544.

The said great folio Booke, seemeth to be the Leiger or Journal Book of the said Dean & Chapter; wherein Minutes of their Transactions & Affairs were orderly registered.

69. Extracts from certain Deeds found in the hands of the Sequestrators, anno 1657. 571.

Among these, mention is made of the Collegiate Church of St. John in Chester; of the Brethren & Sisters of the Fraternity of St. Anne, therein; of the Grange of Stanlowe formerly belonging to the Monastery of Whalley, etc.

1995.

An Heraldical Book in folio, on the outside entituled 'Coates and Pedegrees;' as containing,

1. An Alphabetical Catalogue of the Names of the Coates of this Roule: that is, directing to the Microcheons included in the next Article, according to the running Numbers sett upon them. 1.

2. A Roll of Armes, as well Welsh as English, belonging to many antient Families, especially those of Herefordshire: now cutt into Leaves & bound up with the rest of the Book. 3.

3. A large Collection of Pedegrees of Noble & Worshipful Families, both of England & Wales; partly extracted from Visitation-books, particularly those of York-shire & Staffordshire, taken in the time of Queen Elizabeth; to which some Continuations have been afterwards made; the other part chiefly consists of loose Papers of Descents, Church Notes, &c. either bound with or fastened to the former, wherein divers Entrances may be observed of the Hands of Richard Mundy, Jacob Chaloner, and others. Among them all, I shall particularly observe these only which follow, 14. b.

4. Descent of Prince Henry from the Houses of Lancaster & York; engraven.

According to the present Numeration of the Leaves,

5. Some Original Letters scattered up & down; but not (in my opinion) either for the sake of the Persons, or importance of their Matter, requiring particular mention: unless we except those Papers relating to Mrs. Jane Shelley

Num. 1995, 1996.

Shelley, who was the Heirefs of Lengin (or L'Engayne) of whom there are likewise other Papers in this noble Library. vid. 57. 66. 91. b. 120. 155. b.

Those that relate to the said Mrs. Shelley, may be found at fol. 65. 68. 128. 133. 153. 159. 160. b.

6. Copie of a Confirmation of Armes, & Grant of a Crest, to George Jenkes of the Countie of Salope Gentelman, by Robt. Cooke Clarencieux. dat. 1 May 1582. 140. et vid. 140. b.

In the principal Letter, is an hasty Trick of the said Clarencieux in his Habit.

7. Alphabetical Table referring to the Pedegrees found in this Book. 162.

8. Alphabetical Table directing to the Armes tricked, or otherwise mentioned, in the same. 165.

1996.

A Book in folio, consisting of a parcel of loose Papers long since bound up together; and on the outside thus entituled, "Notes of severall companies in Chester, with their Sutes & Charters." The particulars are these that follow,

1. The third Randle Holme's List of Matters of most Note, to be found in this Book, at the beginning.

2. Interrogatories to be mynistred to Wittneses to be examined on the parte & behalfe of Roger Hurleston Gent. Complainant; against Thomas Meoles & Robert Cherke Defendants. 486.

This is concerning their Rights of Fishing in the River of Dee.

3. Depositions of Witneses taken in the Queenes Majesties Court of Exchequer, in the Castle of Chester, the 12th daie of September, anno 43 R. Elizabethæ, vpon the parte & behalf of Roger Hurleston Gent. Complainant, against Thomas Meoles & Robert Cherke Defendants.

This seemeth to be the original, and is attested accordingly.

4. The Plea & Demurror of the Alderm. Stewards, & Breethren of the Compenny of Joyners, Caruers & Turners, within the City of Chester, Defendants to the Bill of Complaint of William Smith Complainant. 515.

This is a rough Draught, amended in some places, by Mr. Edward Whitbie Recorder of Chester.

5. The original Petition of the Company of Joyners, Carvers, & Turners, to Thomas Knowles Maiour of Chester, the Recorder, & Aldermen. 518.

This is against Richard Bolland, a very refractory person, full of his scoffinge Tearmes & apish Toyes, still provoking that Company to daylie Trouble, Vexation, & Charges, and had vowed & sworne severall tymes, he would doe the Company as much hurt as he could, &c. for which, they had fined him.

6. Complaint of William Smith of Namptwich, Joyner; to William Earle of Derby & James Stanley Lord Strange his sonne, Chamberlein of Chester. 520.

This originall Bill fets forth how the Complainant was arrested in an Action of Trespas, by the Company of Joyners Carvers & Turners, for working in Chester, being no Freeman; and praying that his Cause might not be heard before the Mayor & his Brethren, but in an indifferent Place, that is in the Court held by the Justices of Assize.

7. Draught of a Bill of Complaint, to the abovementioned Chamberleyne of Chester, by the Maister & Wardens of the Mistryes or Artes of Marchant-Drapers & Hofiers of the said City. 535.

This is against Thomas Deane, who being made a Freeman of the City of Chester, but not of their particular Company; and having clandestinely gotten into his Hands the Charters, Deeds, Books, and other Evidences of the said Company, had unjustly practised & used to sell all Sorts of Woollen Cloathes there, to their extreme prejudice. They therefore pray, that the said Thomas Deane may be summoned to answer in their Lordships Court, concerning the Premises; and that in the mean time, a Restraint may be putt upon him, to hinder his further unlawful retailing those Commodities.

8. Copie of an Instrument, whereby William Glaseor Mayor, the Aldermen, Sheriffs & Common Counsell of the said City, did incorporate William Aldersey th'yonger & others of the Occupation of Linnen-Drapers, there, and make the same a whole & full Occupation of it selfe, distincte and separated from other Occupations within the said City: provyded, that they should not vter or sell any kinde of Linnen Clothes, but onely Huswifes Clothe; with other necessary Ordinances. dat. 4 October, ann. 6 R. Edwardi vi. 546.

9. The Drapers & Hofiers Charter of Corporation Englished; anlie for ther playner & better vnderstandinge of the Contents conteyned in the same. 548.

This beareth Teste the 12th daye of anno R. Elizabethæ.

10. Billa pro Gardian. Artis de les Merchant-Drapers et Hofyers infra Civitatem Cestr. Quor. et Georgium Hastings Deft. in Error. 569.

11. Supplication of the Cappers of Chester, to David Middleton then (i. e. about A. D. 1538.) Maire, & his Co-brethren: setting forth, that whereas Thomas Smythe in tyme of his Mairealtie (i. e. about A. D. 1535.) had onerated & charged them to brynge forthe a Playe, concerninge the Storie of Kynge Balake & Balam the Profet, and at the same tyme promysed them redresse, as to other peoples retheyllunge of cowrse Wares vnder the price of 16s. the Doffen, as aboue; and that as yet no Refourmation thereof can be had, astur greate Instance & Request made: They therefore beseeche him, other to se for the Refourmation of the Premysies; or elles to take no Displeasure with theyme, if they for lakke of Habillite do not brynge forthe their sayde Play.

This seemeth to be the Original.

12. Billa pro Aldermanno et Senescallis artis Capiciorum, vocat. Le Cappars Crafte, versus Johannem Kylche, in Placito Conventionis fracte: (anno 4 R. Edwardi vi.) 573.

13. Billa pro Aldermanno et Senescallis artis sue mistryj Capiciorum, vocat. Le Cappars Crafte, versus Johannem Kylche in Placito Transgressionis, ad dampnum 100 solidorum. 574.

14. Billa pro Aldermanno et Senescallis artis Laniorum, querentibus; versus Laurencium Rawlinsou Defendentem; in placito Transgressionis super Casum, ad dampnum 40 solidorum. 574, 575.

15. Billa, pro Aldermano artis Candelariorum, et Senescallis ejusdem artis; versus Laurentium Rolynson, in Placito Transgressionis; anno 5 R. Edwardi vi. 576.

16. The joynte & severall Ayde Prayers & Aunfweares of George Norwood, Louurence Rawlinsou, William Sconce, & Richarde Foxeley, Defendants; to the Bill of Complaynt of John Danolde Alderman of the Arte or Mysterie of Bakers, and the Stewards of the same Arte or Mistry. Complainants. 577.

Setting forth, that forasmuch as the Matters in the said Bill of Complaint conteyned, of righte oughte to be determined elsewhere, they desire to be dismissed with their reasonable Costes: because they are Inhabitants & Dwellers within the Queens Manner and Lordshippe of Handbridge, and are customary Tenants to the same. To which her Noble Progenitors among divers other Liberties, Fraunchises, Viages, & Customes, to the said Tenants granted, gave them Liberty to make & bake Bread to sell on the two Merkett Dayes weekly, within the City of Chester; and this in Consideration of dyvers Rents, Customes, & Services by them paid & done, &c.

17. Rejoynder of the Tenants of Handbridge, to the Bakers Replication. 583.

Demurring

Num. 1996.

Demurring to the manifest Imperfections of the said Bakers Bill & Replication; and shewing their Right to sell Bread in Chester as aforesaid, by reason of many Grants from the Crown to the Nuns of Chester, part of whose possessions Handbridge was; and that the antient Privileges still continue to the Tenants or Inhabitants of the said Lordship, notwithstanding the Dissolution of the Nunnery.

18. The Replicacon of John Daneld Alderman of the Arte or Mystry of Bakers, & the Stewards of the same, Complaynants; to the joynte and feuerall Ayde, Prayers, & Aunfwers of George Norwoode, &c. Defendants. 589.

Herein they deny that others are Customary Tenants to the Queens Lordship of Handbridge; or that she had any Customary Tenants there. Averting that they were only Tenants at Will to Edmund Gamull Alderman of Chester the Queenes Fermor there; and therefore they would crave that the Defendants might be enforced to Aunfwere, &c.

19. The Bakers Bill agaynst the Queenes Tennants of Handbridge; A. D. 1589. exhibited to Henry Earle of Darby Chamberlen of Chester. 594.

This Bill & the former Replication are Originals; but they, with some other Papers preceding, are much damnyed by Moiture.

20. Determination (of Mr. Walley Mayor of Chester, & Sir Francis Gamul) by Virtue of a Reference from Prince Maurice, concerning the Difference between the Bakers of Chester & Mr. Commissary General Russel, who refused to pay £ 66 : 9 : 4. to them upon his Majesties Acct. although that Money was their due. dat. 13 May 1645. 598.

21. Copie of Prince Maurices Reference, above-mentioned. Dat 13 March 1644. 599.

22. Letter of Mr. Walley the Mayor & Sr. Francis Gamul, accompanying the Bakers Depositions, & Prince Maurice his Reference, & requiring his speedy Answer. 600.

23. Copie of an Order of Council, for apprehending all such Chester-Feltmakers as did vse the Trade, or keep any Apprentice, without having served Seven Yeares Apprenticeship to that Trade themselves. dat. 29 July 1629. 601.

24. Supplication of the Company of In-holders & Cookes of Chester, to Hughe Glaseor the Maior, &c. (i. e. about A. D. 1602.) upon their being presented at the Quarter-Sessions, as Commen Ale-Sellers or Tiplers offending. And therefore praying, that either They might be discharged from the said Presentment: or else, that they the Magistrates would proceed no further therein until Mr. Judge Warburton and Mr. Recorder should return; or to suffer them to travers the same.

25. Original Bill of Complaint, exhibited by the Inholders & Cookes of Chester, to William Earle of Derby, Chamberlen of that Countie Palatine, against Michael Sheppard, Glouer; Thomas Stubbes, Husbandman; & John Whitbie, Sherman; who had presumed audaciously to exercise, for gaine, the Arts and Misteries of Inholders & Cookes, to their great Prejudice. Signed, 14 July, 1621. 604.

26. Lift of the Inholders & Cookes of Chester. 625.

27. Order of Valentyne Broughton Mayor of Chester, & the other Magistrates there, upon occasion of the Bakers Complaint against the In-holders selling their own White Bread, baked by themselves in their own Houses; & restraining them from doing so, any otherwise than by furnishing their Guests at Dinners & Suppers. (A. D. 1584.) 626.

28. Rough Draught of an Order, to the same purpose as the former, explaining and confirming that made anno 21 R. Henrici VII. 628.

29. Another Draught of the same Order; which was made upon occasion of the Variance between the Bakers CAT. HARL. VOL. II.

34. Attested Copie of the Petition of the In-keepers & Ale-Sellers of Chester, to the Mayor & Corporation there, praying to be protected from the Vexations of the Brewers; who molested them, because they brewed their own Ale & Beere for Sale. 657.

35. Lift of the several Malsters dwelling in Chester. 672.

36. The Defence & Anfwere of the Company of Brewers, incorporated by his Majesties Letters Patents in the City of Chester, to the Certificate of the Maior & Aldermen of the same Citye. 674.

37. Attested Bill of Complaynt exhibited to William Earle of Derby & James Stanley Lord Strange his sonne, Chamberleyne of Chester, by Gilbert Tilston of Hawarden in the Countye of Flint, Collermaker; against the Sadlers of Chester, who had laid violent Hands upon him, as he was selling his Goods there on the Market-day & took some of the same away with them. 675.

38. The Plea and Demurrer of the said Sadlers, to the Bill of Complaint of the said Tilston. 684.

39. A Note of such Wares as Gilbert Tilley (the aforesaid Coller-maker) desires to sell in the Markett at Chester, belonging to his Trade. 692.

Here are Three Papers about this matter, for the most part, written by Mr. Recorder Whitby's hand.

40. Part of a Petition of the Gloouers of Ireland, to his Majesties Farmers, for the prohibiting of Skines to bee caried ouer to England. 694. 696.

41. Petition of the Auncient Company of Glouers, (both Dry and Wett Glouers) within the City of Chester; to the Kinges Majestie, against a projected Fee for stamping their Leather; at this time, when by reason of their excessive charges in procuring the same (principally from Ireland) they had much adoe to support themselves and Families. 697.

42. Petition of the Mercers and Ironmongers within the Cittie of Chester to the Kings Majestie; setting forth, that diuers Citizens & Strangers not being first admitted into the sayd Company, have attempted to vse & exercise the said Trades and Misteries, to the greate damage & hindrance of the Free Men of the sayd Company. And therefore praying that He would vouchsafie vnto theyme his Highnes gracious Letters Patents, whearby the Freemen of the sayd Trades & Misteries may be made, vnited, and incorporated into one Bodie corporate & perpetuall Societie; enabled to vse and enjoy such lawfull Liberties & Priviledges as have been heartofore granted to other like Companies within the sayd Cittie, vpon the like occasion. 699.

Here are some other Notes entred, concerning Apprentices taken, & Bonds given in the said Company; and also of Parties married about A. D. 1600, & 1601, who were not members of it.

A Book in folio, consisting of divers particular Tracts, Fragments, and loose Papers, bound up together, in the manner or order following;

1. The last Randle Holme's List of the Things of most Note in this Booke.

2. Historical Notes, of Occurrences, during, or relating to the Reigns of K. William the Conqueror, his two Sons, King Stephen, K. Henry VIII. & his children: extracted from our Chronicles, perhaps, by some Roman Catholic. 7.

3. Feoda de Comitatu Cestr. secundum Inquisicionem factam per Alanum La Zouch tunc Justiciarium Cestr. circa annum Domini 1240. (collecta ex rubro Libro in Scaccario apud Westmonaster.) 50.

4. Of what Parcels or Quantities of Land a Knight's Fee did consist. 50. b.

5. That by Act of Parliament 27 Hen. VIII. every Bargaine & Sale were to be inrolled. ibid.

6. Of Formedons in Discender, Remaynder, and Reverter. 51.

Here are likewise other Notes or Maxims, extracted from the Statutes, or from our other Law-Books.

7. Collections from the Commentaries of Sir Francis Vere, concerning the Defeate of Turnehoult; & the Battell of Newport. 54.

8. The Supplement to the Discourse of Sir Francis Vere; and in particular, touching the last Charge in the Battaille of Newport; by Sir John Ogle then present. 64. b.

9. Sir Francis Veare his part at Ostend; by Sir John Ogle then present. 66.

10. The Pedegree of the Stanleys: that is, the Descent of Henry Stanley Earl of Derby (sett down narratively) as deduced from Numbers of great Personages; with a Declaration of the Right he had to his several Quarterings. Done A. D. 1590. 78.

Notwithstanding that this Tract is written by a good Hand, and that great Peer's Name is subscribed at the end, I take it to be but a Copie.

11. Notes taken in the Church of Bingley in Com. Ebor. 81.

12. De-

Num. 1997, 1998.

12. Declaration of the Descent of William Norres of the Speke, Knight; by him compiled & putt furthe, to remayne for a Testymonie & Record of Truthe; to the end his Children & Heyres might reade & vnderstand the same; according to that which he had hearde & founde, either by Writing, Words, Witnesses, Evidences, or other wayes. dated the 9th of June, A. D. 1563. 83. b.

13. Copie of a Letter from David Powell to Sir William Brereton Kt. dated from Ruabon, 10 January 1591, concerning a pretended Charter of K. William the Conqueror, confirming to divers of the Cheshire Gentry & their Heires, the same Armes which their Ancestors did weare, before the cominge of Hugh Lupus to that Countrie. That the Instrument (forsooth!) was verey faire wrytten; and the Eschucheons depicted in the Margin; but the Seales which had bene at it, were altogether worne away. 89. b.

14. A Collection of Descents, Welsh & English, especially of Cheshire and Lancashire-Families entred by several Hands, as well by way of Narration, as otherwise. 90. (et vid fol. 83.)

These are all crossed out; which I take to be a Sign of their being entred fairly, from hence, into some other Book or Books.

15. Another Collection of Welsh and English Descents, not crossed out as the former; but, however, noted by the second Randle Holme, to be (for the most part) extant in some others of his Books. 124.

16. Notes about the Sur-names of our English Families, taken from Camdens Remains. 144.

17. Names of the Conquerors of Glamorgan & Brecknockshires. 146. b.

18. Another Collection of Descents, Welsh & English; like the former, either crossed out, or noted to be extant in other Books. 147.

19. Yet another Collection of mix'd Pedegrees English & Welsh; done upon larger Paper, and all crossed out. 165.

20. A Booke of Names, Places & Tymes; taken out of Recordes, Evidences & Offices. 182.

The Method of this Tract, is to give the Name of the Place (which is for the much greater part in Cheshire) in pretty right Order of Alphabet; and then to sett under the Persons name whom they found concerned there, and the time when: that is specifying the year of the King reigning. (This is discharged by being cut shorter.)

21. Alphabetical Table to the Pedegrees, contained in this book. 209.

22. Such another Table referring to the Coates of Armes. 210. b.

1998.

A thin oblong Book in fol. on the outside, by the third Randle Holme, thus intituled, the Names of the Inhabitants of Chester, in the severall Wards, about A. D. 1600. but I choose to describe it briefly in the following manner:

1. List of the Inhabitants or House-keepers within the Wards of St. Giles, and of the Holy Trinity as they were assessed towards the finding or providing of Armor or Armes, A. D. 1595. Mr. William Aldersey then being Mayor. 1.

2. Another List of the Magistrates, and others of Chester, but their Names unchanged: Mr. Sheriff Wirlden being mentioned therein, it appeareth that it was made A. D. 1590. 5.

3. Another List of Persons chargeable with Shott; and from Mr. Sheriffe Ratcliffe's being therein named, it appeareth that the same was made, A. D. 1590. 6.

4. Another unchanged List of Inhabitants Names, through divers Wards of the City of Chester; but no Year, or Office being expressed, I shall not pretend to determine the Time when it was made. 8.

5. Another List of Persons assessed, throughout certain

Num. 1998, 1999.

Wards in Chester; among which I find mention of Mayster Jhon Smythe, Tomas Aldersey, and Rauffe Aldersey, Aldermen. 21.

The last of these was Sheriffe A. D. 1541. The second was Mayor A. D. 1549. having been Sheriffe, A. D. 1538. The first was Mayor A. D. 1555, having served as Sheriffe A. D. 1546. But this Assessment being made when Rychard Rauffebon (or Rathebone) was Sheriffe, i. e. 1547, it shewes, that divers in Chester (as in other places, become to be Aldermen, before they are Mayors.

6. The Names of Householders within St. Oswalds Warde; with their respective Assessments, made when Rychard Bavande was Alderman thereof; who served as Sheriffe A. D. 1571. and was Mayor ten Years after; and again A. D. 1600. 23.

7. Uncharged or unassessed List of the Inhabitants of St. John's Warde, Mr. John Hankye then being Alderman; who was Sheriffe of Chester A. D. 1556, and Mayor thereof A. D. 1571. 24.

8. A like List of the Inhabitants of Sene Giles Warde, made when Maister Wylliam Bryde was Alderman there: now there being two William Birdes Tanners, both Sheriffes of Chester, the one A. D. 1546, the other A. D. 1566; I suppose this relates to the former, who was also chosen Mayor, A. D. 1547. 26.

9. Original Assessment of the Inhabitants of St. Martin's Ward toward the Reparation of the Walls of Chester; signed by the very sorry Hand of Peter Drinkwater Mayor, that is, A. D. 1624. 28.

10. Attested Copie of the same, produced upon the Suit (formerly mentioned, at the book 95. C. 4.) between Sir William Brereton (or Sir Walter Pye for him) and the City of Chester, upon their assailing & distraining upon his Tenants, who had refused to pay toward the same Murage. 32.

Another oblong Book in folio, but thickish; consisting of many single or particular Tracts or Papers, long since bound up together, in the following Order:

1. The third Randle Holmes Notes specifying the Things of most Note in this Book; at the beginning.

2. A true Rentall of all the Rentes of every severall Estate of the Delinquents sequestrated; being in the Devision of Marce Jolicoeur one of the Collectors for Namptwich-Hundred, A. D. 1646. That is to saie, Namptwich, Auvelston, Woulston-wood, Leighton, & Wystaffton. 1.

14. A perfite Accounte of what hath bin receued by Captaine Thomas Hulfe Collector in his Deuesion in Broxton-hundred, the Towneships expreased; by an Order vnder the Hands of the Commetie, bearing date the 18th of June 1646, to the 21 of July next after. 44.

15. A perfite Accompte of what Captaine Thomas Hulfe hath receued for his Seruis, as Captaine of a Foot-Company, from the 25th of March 1644, to the 14th of March 1645. 45.

This Accompt is signed both by Hulfe & Hancoke above-mentioned.

16. A perfite Accompte of what my Officers and Souldiers have receued, and what is due unto them in Arrears vnpaid. 46.

This Accompt was recd. by the Committee, & attested.

17. A true and perfect Accompte of all such Summes of Money as haue been receiued by Collonell Croxton, and my selfe (i. e. Robert Venables, as Captaine, Lieut. Collonell & Governour) at Ch. lmondeley, vpon the propositions of Parliament, beginning 25 Aug. 1643, by Order from Sir William Brereton. 47.

This Accompt also includes their Disbursements out of the said Money.

18. A true & perfect Accounte of the time I (Robert Venables) haue served the State in Cheshire; and alsoe what Pay is due vnto me for my Service accordinge to the severall places & capacities I haue served in. 52.

This takes in an Accompt of such Moneys as He had receiued for & towards his said Pay; and being sworn to (like as the former Accompts were) was recd. & signed by the then proper Persons. 52. b.

19. Accountys (both of Receipts & Disbursements) of Thomas Hickocke & Thomas Bennet, from January 1645, till November 1646, they being Sequestrators for one part of the vpper Division of the Hundred of Wer-rall. 55.

This was attested upon Oath to be true, deliver'd in & signed accordingly.

20. Accompt of the Inhabitants of Frodsham, as to the Moneys paid by them according to the Sequestrators Orders; or of their other losses sustained from the Parliament-party. 65.

This was deliver'd in, upon Oath; & signed accordingly, 25 May 1647.

21. A true & perfect Accompt of all such Summes of Money as haue bene disbursed by Randle Grafton one of the Collectors of Sequestred Estates within the hundred of Northwych in the County of Chester, for the vse of the Common-Wealth. 83.

Num. 1999.

22. Randle Grafton Collector his Booke of Accountys for Receipts, pro ann, 1645 & 1646. (wrong side upwards.) 96. b.

The Delinquents whose Estates were in his clutches (or at least part of them) were the Barron of Kinderton, Lord Kilmurrey, Lord Brereton, Mr. John Boothe, Mr. Liverfage, Mr. Law. Winington, Deane & Chapter of Chester, Randle Hardinge, Mr. Robert Elcocke, Mr. Robert Carter, Sir Thomas Aston, Sir Richard Lewson, Sir Thomas Smith, Erle Rēvers & Mr. Sauage.

23. A Booke declaringe what Rents & other Moneys sequestred out of feuerall Delinquents Lands & Estates in North-wiche-Hundred, in Cheshire, for the Vse of Kinge & Parliament; haue bene collected & receiued by William Leftwiche, one of the Sequestrators of that Hundred, A. D. 1643. 98.

Here, the principal Delinquents were the Lord Cholmondeley, Earle Rivers, Earle of Derby, Lord Brereton, Lord Kilmorey, Peter Venables Esq; Jeffrey Shackerley Esq; Thomas Cholmondeley Esq; Peter Leiceller Esq; & Hugh Wilbraham Esq.

24. A true & perfect Accompt of all the Moneys receiued by Mr. Raph Poole, Collector for North-wich-Hundred, from 1 of March 1644, to the 1 of June 1645. 103.

This Accompt includes also his Disbursements during the said Time: and is followed by divers others of his like Receipts & Disbursements; but being all within the same Hundred, I think their severall Titles need not be transcribed here.

25. Accompt of Mr. Peter Bromfield, A. D. 1644 & 1645. viz. of his Receipts & Disbursements. 127.

This Man was of the gainful Mystery or Occupation of Sequestrators; and as to the truth of his Accompt, would boggle as little at an Oath, as Ralph Poole, or the other Saints abovementioned, did.

26. A true and perfect Accompt of all the Moneys which haue bene receaved out of Delinquents Estates within the Divisions of Mr. Poole, & Mr. Grafton, Collectors for North-wich-Hundred, from the 10th of April last, to the 14th of May A. D. 1646, collected according to Order of the Committee of Sequestracons for the said hundred by Thomas Bullen. 131.

Num. 1999, 2000.

84. The further Accompts of William Leftwiche, declaring what more Rents & other Moneys sequestred for the use of King & Parliament, haue beene by him as Collectour for some part of North-wich hundred, collected & received for the Use aforesaid, out of the feuerall Delinquents Lands & Estates in that hundred. 258.

The principal Delinquents mentioned in these Accompts, (which do likewise include the said Collectors Disbursements) are abovementioned : relating to the year 1645.

85. His further Accompts of Receipts from the said Delinquents Estates, & Disbursements made A. D. 1645 & 1646. 281.

All these his Accompts, that is, in this & the preceding Article, seem to have been deliver'd upon Oath, to the Committee, and signed by them accordingly, 21 June 1647.

86. A Rentall or Booke declaring what old or other Rents for the Yeeres 1643, 1644, & 1645, were & are payable to the feuerall Lords, Gentlemen, and others Delinquents, for their Lands & Tenements sequestred, according to Instructions of Parliament in that behalfe : and lying in the Parish of Davenham, and in the Townships of Northwich, Winton and Lostockgralam, Peuer, & Allostocke ; all situate in the Hundred of Northwich, & in the Division of William Leftwich Collectour of the sequestrated Moneys & Rents. 315.

This was deliver'd in upon Oath, 5 September 1645 ; and signed by the Commissioners accordingly.

87. Accompt of the said Sequestrator, or Collector's Disbursements, A. D. 1643. 337.

Herewith, is a Fragment touching his Receipts during that Year ; and another of his Receipts A. D. 1644.

88. Another Accompt of the said Leftwiche's Receipts & Disbursements, from the said Delinquents Estates, in the years 1647 & 1648. 345.

This Accompt was likewise given in upon Oath ; and signed accordingly.

An oblong Heraldical book in fol. on whose back the last Randle Holme hath written this Title, ' Sutes of Coates ; & Coates of feuerall places : ' which I shall presently endeavour to explain. But I beg leave, in the first place, to observe, that it is indeed a sort of an Armes Book ; that the said Collection seems to have been made (or at least, begun) in the time of Queen Elizabeth ; and was rudely or hastily done, by severall hands, some of which seem to be of Officers of Armes : and by this Mark X, or this O, upon or near to most of the Escutcheons, the greatest part of it seems to have been more leisurely & fairly entred into some other Book, for ready & constant Use. Moreover, at the beginning, I find,

1. An Alphabetical Table of the Coates in this Booke ; made either by the said Randle Holme, or by his appointment.

2. Part of the old Table, which is almost useles ; because it seldom directs to the Leaves where the desired Armes are to be found. More of it may be seen at folios, or pages, 88, 101, & 109.

3. The Collection it self, which beginning in the nature or manner of an Ordinary ; was, perhaps what Randle meant by his Sutes of Coates ; which I take to be an uncouth expression, fol. 1. More Coates disposed in this way of Ordinary, may be found at folios, or pages, 4, 7, 8, 10, 12, 16, 20, 22, 38, 41, 52, 57, 72, &c. As to his expression of Coates of severall places ; I understand it not as if here was a Collection of Armes of Kingdomes, Cities, Monasteries, Corporations, &c. for in truth, I see none such : but rather, that the proper helps for compiling this Collection did appear, and were made use of in severall places ; as is now and then hinted at in the book ; especially where we find,

4. Armes of those great Warriors who were present at the Siege of Carlaverocke in Scotland in the tyme of King Edward the first, Anno 1300. 23.

5. Some intimation (the Writing not plain) as if Armes were collected at the House of the Lord Treasurer Burghley. 82.

It is certain that that great Man did cause the Armes of many eminent Persons to be painted in his House ; which may remain yet, for ought I know.

6. Henningham's Pedegre : i. e. Armes only collected from the Pedegree of Heveningham. 2001.

A Book in folio, whereinto the last Randle Holme had fastened divers of his loose Prints & Drawings ; which seeming not properly to come under the Denomination of Manuscripts ; I shall here forbear the Description of them, and hasten to the next book.

2002.

A Book in folio consisting of many loose Papers & Tracts, long since bound up together, and by the last Randle Holme entituled Cheshire-Deeds. They are,

1. The same Randle's List of matters of most Note in this Book. At the beginning,

2. Litteræ Patentes R. Jacobi 1. quibus concedit Ricard Gwynne, et ad firmam dimitit, omnes illas Mineras Plumbi, vulgariter nuncupatas Mynes of Lead, alias Lead vuri, alias owri, infra Hundred de Colchilt et Ruthland in Comitatu Flint ; ad finem 21 annorum. reddendo inde annuatim 66s. 8d. Teste Consiliario suo Julio Cesare Milite Cancellario et Sub-thesaurario Curie Scaccarij sui apud West-monasterium, 18 die Novembris, anno Regni sui Anglie 11^{mo}. 236.

3. Estimate of the Charge in repairing & amending the decayed Rooms & Walls, &c. in and about the Castle of Chester ; as the same was surveyed by S^r Richard Trevor S^r Richard Grosvenor, Edward Dodd Esq^r. & Richard Brereton Esq^r. 239.

4. The jointe and feuerall Answeres of Richard Grosvenour Esq^r ; and Sir Richard Grosvenour Knight, his Sonne & Heire apparant, Defendants ; to the Bill of Complaint of Sir Robert Cholmondeley Barronett, Complaynant. 241.

This rough Draught sheweth, that Contention arose between the said Parties, upon occasion of certain wast Grounds called Willey-more, Willey-purse, & Willey-pitts, which the Complainant claimed as part of his Maner or Lordship of Bickley ; alledging that the Defendants by some casual or indirect meanes had into their Hands divers auncient & other Deeds, Evidences, Writings, Escripts, Boundaries, & Miniments touching & concerning the said Manour or Lordship of Bickley, and the Commons, Mores & Wast grounds thereunto belonging. On the other side, the Defendants claimed the same Wast Grounds as parcell of their Mannour of Tuffingham. (f. rectius, Tuffingham)

5. Purport of the Grant (abovementioned at § 2.) of the Lead-Mines in Colchilt & Ruthland ; extracted from the same by Will. Hill Auditor, 6 August 1629 ; in order to a new Lease. 247. b.

This is attended by the Lord Treasurer Westons Warant for making a Lease of the Premises vnto Richard Grosvenour Esq^r ; Roger Grosvenour his Sonne, & Mr. Thomas Gamull, to hold the same during their Lives, & the Life of the longer Liver of them : yielding & paying the accustomed Rent & a Fine of Tenn pounds.

6. Litteræ Patentes R. Caroli 1. quibus concedit Roberto Brerewood, Officiu vnius Justiciariorum suorum Comitatum Carnarvon, Merioneth et Anglesey, vna cum Feodo Quinquaginta Librarum per annum : habendum & exercendum Officiu predictum durante Beneplacito suo. Teste, &c. 6 die Decembris A. D. 1637. 249.

7. An

Num. 2002.

7. An Assignment of the remaining Terme of Years in a Lease of all the Mines of Cole, Stone & Leade & of the Materials to make Leade, within the whole Lordship of Bromfeld & Yale in the County of Denbigh: granted to Richard Grosvenour of Eaton Esq; deceased; assigned unto John Wich Citizen of London, by William Colly of Eccleston Gent. Mr. Grosvenor's Executor, the 10th of March A. D. 1633. 253.

8. Rough Draught of a Deed whereby Sir Richard Grosvenour of Eaton, Knight & Baronett, declares the Uses of the Lease last abovementioned, as then lying in Mr. Colly's Hands. dated 13 March, 1633. 260.

9. Exemplar Indenturæ quâ Willelmus Rufiel Miles & Baronettus, Willelmus Collins & Edwardus Fenn, Generosi; concedunt Francisco Gamull Armigero, Thomæ Bauand Arm. et Willelmo Colley Generoso, omnes illas Mineras Plumbi vulgariter vocatas Mynes of Lead, aliâs Lead vuri, aliâs owri, five Rakes of Lead, infra Hundred de Colchilt et Ruthland in Com. Flint. habend. in feodi firm. imperpetuum. tenend. de Domino Rege, &c. vt de Manerio suo de East-Greenwich in Com. Kanc. per Fidelitatem tantum, in libero & communi Soccagio. Reddendo inde annuatim Dno. Regi 3l. 6s. 8d. dat. . . die . . . anno 8 Regis Caroli 1. 268.

10. A Deed, whereby John Wich Citizen of London regrants, assigns, & sets over to William Colly of Eccleston Gent. the Assignment of that Lease abovementioned in § 7. dated 12 March 1633. 274.

11. Draught of an Indenture, whereby Richard Grosvenour Esq; Sonne & Heire apparent of S^r. Richard Grosvenour of Eaton, Knight; by the Appointment of his said Father, doth assigne & sett over vnto Roger Hurlton of Chester Esq; and Robert Bavand Citizen of London, all those Mynes of Lead, &c. mentioned above in § 5 & 9. to hold during the Life of the said Sir Richard (in case the terme of years he held in the Kings Grant, should be unexpired at the time of his Decease) to his the said Sir Richard's Use & Behoof, or to such Uses as he should appoint: and afterwards to the Use of the said Richard his Son; & so to Roger Grosvenour his Grandson, untill the said Terme should be ended & expired. dated the 12th of August 1634. 283.

12. Draught of an Indenture whereby Francis Gamull Esq; Thomas Bauand Esq; & William Colley Gent. do acknowledge & confesse, that the Mynes of Lead, &c. mentioned above in § 9. were purchased in their Names with the money of Sir Richard Grosvenour & his Heires; that they haue no Right or Title to the Premises, but stand seized of the same in Trust only; which Trust they covenant to discharge, according as Sir Richard shall limit the same. dated the 9th of June, ann. 12 R. Caroli 1. 292.

13. Copie of a Commission of King Charles 1. empowering Randolph Holme Mayor of Chester, Sir Robert Brerewood Kt. Recorder, Sir Orlando Bridgeman Kt. Attorney of his Court of Wards & Liveries, & Vice-Chamberlaine of Chester, Nicolas Ince, Richard Dutton, Charles Walley, Randolph Holme Senior, Colonell Francis Gamull, & Thomas Throp Aldermen of the said City, to seize upon the Effects of absent Rebels, and of such of their Adherents as were or had been in actual Rebellion against him; the said Effects (of what kind soever) being within the City, or County of the City of Chester; or within 5 Miles of the said City within the County Palatine of Chester: giving likewise Commands how they should dispose of the same. This bears Teste at Oxford, the first of January, anno Regni 19. 299.

14. Copie of Daniel King's Certificate importing that he had receiued from Mr. Randle Holme, an Original Grant under the Broad Seal & Hand of K. Charles the First; which he hoped to shew to K. Charles 11. for the benefit of the Loyall Sufferers of the City of Chester. dated, 26 July 1663. 301. b.

This Grant I take to be the Commission mentioned in the last Section or Article: and it may be easily imagined that the Rebels, when gotten into Power, & into the Possession of Chester, would be revenged to the utmost of all those who acted by its Color & Authority: so that it is no wonder if the Holme's Family were suddenly oppressed, and (at long run) brought to ruin. I remember a Son of the third Randle Holme (who was Son to the second, who was Mayor when this Commission was issued out; who was Son to the old Alderman, named in the same Commission) and, I think, his name was also Randle. He was Tapster or Chamberlain in the Golden Talbot Inne in Liverpoole, A. D. 1694. his poor Father the third Randle then living.

Num. 2002.

15. Interrogatories to be myndred to Richard Stockton, John Dawson, & George Abraham, Defendants; at the Suite of Randall Griffith, Complaynants. 303.

These are concerning the Wast grounds called Willey-more, before-mentioned in § 4.

16. The Examinations of the same Dawson, Stockton, & Abraham, Defendants; taken, in Chester, the first day of August A. D. 1610. before George Caluley, Edward Dutton, & Hughe Starkey, Esquires; by force of a Commission to them, & William Hassell Gent. out of his Highnes Courte of Star-chamber, directed; for th'Examyning of the said Defendants to the Bill of Complainte of Randle Griffith Complaynaunte. 316.

17. Breve R. Jacobi 1. directum Georgio Calveley, Edwardo Dutton de Chester, et Hugoni Starkey, Armigeris, ac Willelmo Hassall Generoso; pro Examinatione prædictorum Johannis Dawson, &c. Teste, &c. secundo die Julij, anno Regni sui Anglie, &c. octavo. 345.

This Copie of the Kings Writ was compared with the Original, and attested.

18. A Mappe or Survey of Tuffingham, as lying contiguous, or adjacent to Bickley, made A.D. 1620; & serving to shew that Willey More belonged to Tuffingham, & not to Bickley. 347. b.

19. Draught of the Covenants of Marriage, entred into by Henry Birkenhed of Backford Esq; Alice his wife, & Henry their sonne, on the one parte: and Sir Randall Mainwaringe of Peover Knight, on the Second part: for settling & intailing the Manor of Backford, with other lands & tenements, Huxley, Chorleton, Newton juxta Tattenhall, & Sydenhall, upon occasion of the Marriage which had been celebrated between Henry Birkenhed the Son, & Margaret Sir Richards Daughter; whose Portion was £. 860. 349.

20. Draught of an Indenture betweene Thomas Ireland of Bewfey in the Countie of Lancaster Esq; vppone the one partye; & Sir Richard Grosvenour of Heaton in the Countie of Chester, Kt. & Baronett; Thomas Standley of Awderley, &c. vppone the other partie: for settling the Moyety of the Mannour-house of Bewfey, with the Lands, &c. thereunto belonging, upon the Marriage celebrated between the said Thomas Ireland and Margaret his wife; whose Portion was £. 1300. 366.

21. Placita de Sessione Cestrie tenta apud Cestriam, anno Nono Regni Anglie, &c. Jacobi 1. coram Justiciarijs Cestrie. 368.

Here the Pleas were about certain Cattel of Randle Griffith of Bickley (formerly mentioned) which grasing in Willey-more, were taken & impounded by John Dod & other Bayliffes of Richard Grosvenor Esq; in Tuffingham. Whereupon the Contention arose, whether Willey-more belonged to Bickley, or to Tuffingham; and seems to have been found by the Jury for the latter.

22. Draught of a Settlement of the Estate of Richard Alporte of Overton Gentleman, consisting of the Mannours of Overton and Ouldcastle, with other Lands & Tenements in Horton, Chorleton, Chocleage, Tillston, Loccroffe, Edge, Malpasse & Cudington; upon occasion of the intended Marriage of Richard Alporte the Son. 373.

23. Copie of a Mandate of K. Charles 1. directed to William Juxon Bishop of London his High Treasurer of England,

Num. 2002.

England, and Francis Lord Cottington Chancellour and Under-Treasurer of the Exchequer: commanding that his Customers & other Officers should levy and take to his use One Shilling $\frac{1}{2}$ Chauldron of all Stone-coales, Sea-coales, Pitt-coales, or other Coales intended to be exported to Ireland, the Isles of Jersey, Guernesey, or Isle of Man; over and above the Duties hitherto paid; in like manner as all Coales designed for Home-vent, do now pay an additional Shilling per Chauldron, by virtue of His Majesties Covenant with the Society of Cole-Merchants trading to New-castle, Sunderland, Blythe, Nooke, and Berwicke, &c. dated 30 July 1638. 380.

24. Draught of an Agreement, whereby Sir Richard Grofvenour of Eaton Knight and Baronet, conveys to & settles upon Roger Hurleton, & divers others who had been Sureties & ingaged for him, his Manours of Eaton, & Pulton, with other Lands & Tenements in Pulford, Figden, Belgreave, Dodelston, Greenwall, Kinerton, Burdwardley, Bickley, Macefen, Bradeley, Stockton, Wigland, Foulwich, Droirwich, Kiddington, Hargreave, Churton, Rowton alià Roe, Chriftleton, and Farnedon, all in the County of Chester; as also, in Burton, Greford, Guerfild, Brymbo, Bertham, & Elasham, all within the County of Denbigh: to hould the same during Twenty years (in case he the said Sir Richard should live so long) and to apply the Rents thereof, as they should accrue, to the Payment of his Debts: which being done, they were to restore the Premises unto him. dated 6 July 1619. 383.

25. Copie or Draught of an Agreement, made between Sir Richard Grofvenour of Eaton Knight & Baronet; & Robert Bauand Citizen & Dier of London: relating to his (Sir Richards) Leasehold-Mynes of Lead, &c. in the Hundreds of Colthilt & Ruthland within the County of Flint. Which Premises he now charges with the Sum of 1000 Markes as an Augmentation of his daughter Maries portion, and over & above the annual Summe of 20 pounds already, or now, assigned unto her, from the same Premises. He likewise chargeth the same Premises with £.500 more, as an Augmentation to the Portion of his Daughter Grace. All this on supposition, that their Lives, or his Lease, would continue & hold out long enough. dat. 18 June anno 12 R. Caroli 1. 389.

26. Attested Copy of an Indenture of Sale, passed by Richard Grofvenor of Etone Esquier, to Thomas Eger-ton Esquier, Her Majesties Solycitore Generall & Elizabeth his Wiffe; of certain Messuages with other Lands & Tenements in Dodelston, parcell of the Possessions of the late dissolved Monastery of Diewlencreafe, aliàs Delacresse, in the Countie of Stafforde. dat. 26 Marche, anno 26 R. Eliz. 398.

27. A Scedule of Debts to be paid forth of my Lands leased. 401.

These Debts amount to the Sum of £.4,863. 6s. 8d. and seem to be what were provided for by Sir Richard Grofvenor, by his Indenture above-mentioned at § 24.

28. Extracts from divers antient Deeds, relating to Cheshire-Families, by the second Randle Holme; perhaps entred more fairly into some other Books. 403.

29. Imperfect Covenants for a Marriage to be celebrated between John Wudfalle, & Anne the Daughter of Rycharde Nuttalle, whose Portion was one Hundreth Merks; for which she was to have a Jointure in Meases, Lands & Tenements of Inheritance, of the clere yerely Value of 20 Pounds, ouer alle Charges & Repryses. These Covenants were made about, or in A.D. 1559. 405.

30. Draught of the Award made by William Dauentport, Rondall Lancastre, John Tylstone & Thomas Hauley, Arbitrators betweene Petre Strete of Chester Bocher, and Richard Browne of Boughton Yoman; upon occasion of a certain Messuage in Boughton forfaid. dated 7 Marche in the first yere of Q. Elizabeth. 413.

Num. 2002, 2003.

31. Draught of the Award made by Sir Thomas Grofvenour Knyght, Arbitratour betweene Rauffe Aldersey of Chestre Alderman, and Thomas Aldcroft, concerning the Ryght, Title & Interest of one Meafe in Pykton, within the Countie of Chestre. 414.

32. Draught of an Indenture Tripartite; whereby Sir Richard Grofvenor Knight & Baronet, was to assure unto Sr. Richard Broke of Norton, Knight; Thomas Marbury of Marbury, Esq; Hugh Wilbraham of Eccleston, Esq; and William Barneston of Churton Gent. all their Purchase of the whole Manor or Lordship of Tuffingham, with other Lands and Tenements in Barrell & Greeneley. dat. 15 March 1631. 415.

33. Breviat between John Starkey Esq; Plaintiffe, & William Yonge, &c. Defendants: concerning a Lease of Knights Graunge, made by Hughe Starkie to Roger Leeche. 418.

34. Exemplification of Records touching a Lawsuit, about the Right of Common in Kyng's Wood, aliàs Kyngs londe, alias Litill Saughall Wood by Saughall: temp. R. Elizabethæ. 422.

35. Bill of Complaint exhibited in the Court, as to Robert Earle of Leycester Chamberleyne of the Com. Palentyne of Chester; by William Crofton Gent. one of the Quenes Serjants & Officer within the said Countie, and Anne his Wiffe, late the Wiffe of Alderman Raffé Aldersey deceased: against certain persons Tenants of one Messuage, diverse Shoppes, and other Tenements in Chester, which accrued to the said Anne from the Possessions of the said Raffé Aldersey: because of their denial to pay some Rents due, upon the Instigation of William Aldersey, Son & Heire of the said Raffé; to whome the Premyssees were to descend, in Reversion, after the Deathe of the said Anne. 428.

A Book in folio consisting of many Tracts & loose Papers long since bound up together, and by the last Randle Holme entituled on the outside Chester Cawfey & Dee Milnefs: in turning over which, I find the matters following.

1. The said Randle Holmes Notes of those Things which he thought most remarkable in the Book. At the beginning.

2. The Accompte of the Executors of John Maffye Esq; who deceased 14 October 1591: being made up, or delivered in, the 2th of Aprill 1606. 620.

3. Rents due to the Rt. Hon^{ble}. Richarde Lorde Viscount Molyneux, for Meadowe Grounde and other Demayne-Lands belonging to Selton, Anno Dni. 1636. 624.

4. A Charge to Richard Brereton Esq; & William Barneston Gent. Executors of the last Will & Testament of the above-mentioned John Maffye Esq; of their Receipts, from 15 October 1591, vntill October 1603: for which they were to be accomptable vnto John Maffye Esquier, Sonne & heire of the deceased. 628.

5. A Clause of a Lease, containing Covenants between Sir William Norres, Knyght, & Johan ap Johan, to whom Sir William had lett to ferme certain grounds in the Township of Burton, within the Lordship of Bromfelde & Countie of Denbigh, at the annual Rent of 3s. 4d. dat. 29th of Maye, in anno 5 Edwardi vi. 632.

At the bottom of this Clause is this Note, 'Copia vera, et corrigitur;' and yet it is incorrect enough, this notwithstanding.

6. A Paper, on the backside entituled 'Old Rent of Hampton.' 633.

7. The Demefne & Lands of Henry Delves of Dodington Esq; rated. 634.

This Survey was made & signed by Rychard Clatton Gent. & Thomas Steele.

8. A particular of the Manor of Torbrian, in Com. Devon, made about A. D. 1604, and then held by the Lord

Num. 2003.

Lord Rivers of the Castle of Okington, at the annual Rent of 6s. 8d. 639.

This particular declares the Names & Ages of the then Under-Tenants, the Contents of their several Tenements, their annual Rents, to what the same might be improved, & the Heriotts.

9. A like particular of the Manor of Ypellpen in Com. Devon, held at the same time by the same Lord. 643.

10. Another Particular of the Mannor of Torbryan, made in the same View, though not altogether in the same method, by William Stowell Gentleman, Steward there, the 4th of August A. D. 1640. 651.

11. Rates & Prices of all sorts of Poultry sett down by Ralph Freeman Lord-Mayor of London, &c. according to Presidents in former time; to be observed by all Poulterers, &c. selling within the Citie of London, & Liberties thereof. rated 7 January 1633. 662.

In the Preamble it is observed, that as the Lords of the Privy-Council had reformed many Abuses, such as the excessive Number of Tauernes, & immoderate prices of all sorts of Provisions in Ordinaries and Hosteries: and now finding that the excessive Rates of Poultry of all sorts being so unreasonably enhaunfed by Poulterers & Higlers, as to become an intolerable grievance to the Subject, the Inconvenience whereof reflected vpon his Majesties houshold: they signified the expresse Command of his Majesty, that the Lord-Mayor, &c. should sett fit Prices for all small Acates and other Provisions and to sett up the same in publike Tables: all persons nevertheless having liberty to buy Poultry at lesser & lower Prices, as they could furnish themselves. These are printed Sheets.

12. Names of the Aldermen, Sheriffs, & Common Council of Chester, A. D. 1601. John Katcliffe Mayor: when a Clerke of Pentice was to be chosen. 665.

13. Copie of a Privy-Seale of Qu. Elizabeth, directed to the Mayor, Aldermen, Sheriffs, Peers, & Common-Council of Chester; requiring them to lend Her 100 Pounds, to be employed for the necessary Defence & Preservation of her Dominions & Subjects, which Somme She promitteth to repay at the end of one Yeere. Given, 20 September, anno Regni 39. 666.

14. Another Privy-Seal from K. Charles 1. to the City of Chester; requiring the Loane of £100, for 18 Monethes. Given, the 7th of July 1626. ibid.

15. Petition of John Hannay of Gloverstone, Chapman, to William Earle of Derby & James Lord Straunge his Sonne, Chamberleine of the County-Palatine of Chester. Setting forth, that as he was walking in Chester, about his lawfull Occasions, he was called before the Mayor, and commanded to watch within the Citie; and for refusing so to do, he was forthwith committed to the Common Goale there, to his great Disgrace & Hindrance: He therefore prays that he may have his Majesties Writt of Corpus cum Cauca, &c. 667.

This Petition was granted by the said Earle, & the Prisoner order'd to be bailed, 23 January 1636.

16. Draught of a Plea upon an Indictment of certain Persons for a Trespas by them committed. 673.

Herein, the Erection of Chester, with certain adjacent Hamletts, into a County of itself, distinct from the County Palatine, with the appointment of Sheriffs & Coroners, by King Henry vii. anno Regni 21, is especially mentioned.

17. Draught of an Indictment of Charles Wallye, & others of Chester, for riotously entering into the House of one James Boyd of Gloverston & taking a Distress there, of his Goods. ann. 4 Caroli 1. 686.

18. Mr. Recorder Whitbys Briefe & Notes, upon occasion of the Suit commenced between Sir Gilbert Ireland & others Plaintiffs; & Richard Lecestre & John Leech Defendants: designed to prove that the Inhabitants of Gloverston, were subject to the Assessments made at Chester, or by the Officers thereof. 688.

CAT. HARL. VOL. II.

Num. 2003.

19. Bill of Complaint exhibited by the Maior & Citizens of the City of Chester, to William Earle of Derby Chamberleine of the County-Palatine, against one William Hodges of the City of London Marchant, who being no Free-man of the City of Chester, had caused to be brought in by Sea, one Barque laden with Merchandizes to the Value of £3000; for which there was due to the Petitioners, severall Subsidies, Tolles, and Customes (as of Tonnage, Poundage, Murage, &c.) to the Somme of £10: 13: 5. which he, at length, utterly refused to pay, after he had made many solemn promises of making due payment, by a certain day. They therefore pray that the said Hodges might be attached by his Body, & enjoyned to put in good Suerties, for answering hereunto, &c. 690.

20. Copie of the Decree issued from the Chamberlaynes Court, for the City, against the said William Hodges. dat. 22^{mo} die Aprilis, A. D. 1612. 696.

The Defendants chief Argument was, that He was a Free Citizen of London; whose Citizens were by many Charters of our Kings, exempted from the payment of any Tolls, Subsidies, or Customes, in any Port or Place of this Realme. Now this Suit concerning all Citizens of London trading to Chester, and being of great importance to the said City of Chester; it was (in favor to both Sides) suffer'd to ripen & grow to maturity by slow Degrees. At length (after much Art and Trouble given by Hodges) the Court pronounced Judgement against him, whereby he was to pay all the said Customes, with large Costs.

21. List of the City of Chesters Leases, Rentalls, & Evidences, deliuered to Mr. Richard Dutton, Mayor; the second day of January 1573. 698.

22. A part of the City Bill of Complaint against William Glasier Alderman & Vice-chamberlayne of the Exchequer of Chester. 699.

This giveth a long detail of the same Mr. Glasiers Enormities; setting him forth as a very haughty & passionate Man; and (what is not very commonly found) a particular Enemy to that City, of which he himself was an Alderman. It wants the first Leaf.

23. A very incorrect & faulty Copie (notwithstanding it's being subscribed and attested as "Copia vera") of the Quo Warranto laid against the Mayor & Citizens of Chester, by Prince Arthur, 12 Augusti, anno 14 R. Henrici vii. 706.

24. Petition of the Comminaltye of the Citie of Chester, to William Wall then Maior, & the Aldermen his brethren, (i. e. about A. D. 1586.) relating to a Pasture called the Roode Eye; which, for longe tyme had bene vsed to be sett to the poorest Sorte, for Cowepasture at a sinale Rate; and was about to be utterly taken from them, as they apprehended. 722. b.

25. Exemplification of Records; about the Inhabitants of the County of Chester's being bound to repair the Bridge of Chester over the Dee, and the Citizens to be free: anno 14 R. Edwardi 1. fol. 724. As also

26. Concerning the different Methods used in assessing People, toward the reparation of the Sea bank at Thedethorpe in Lincolnshire, anno 18 R. Edwardi 1. 725.

These Records were attested by Mr. Arthur Agarde, 21 Maij, A. D. 1608.

27. Term. Pasche anno 13 Caroli 1. Quo Warranto versus Majorem & Cives Civitatis Cestrie. 730.

To this Title on the back-side, the second Randle Holme hath added these words, by the Kinges Atturney (viz. Sr. John Bankes) to know how they should their Priveledges, as Vice-Admirall in the River of Dec, to Arnolds-hare. I consue it was vpon Mr. Andersons information, when he had a Patten for the same businesse.

28. Notes concerning the Privileges of the Mayor & Citizens of Chester; extracted from the old Charters granted to that Citie: together with an Abridgement of Prince Arthur's Quo Warranto issued out against them; and their Exposition or reply to the same. 734.

29. The Clayme of the Cittie of Chester, vppon a Quo Warranto brought against them by Prince Arthur, anno 14th R. Henrici vii. 739.

30. Copie of a Bond, whereby John Phillipps & George Holmes were bound to the King, for the just payment of the Customes to be due from their Ship, upon landing their Wines & Prunes in the Port of Chester, or elsewhere. dat. 12 January 1613. 742.

At the end, it is noted that the Ship arrived in the said Port, about 8 days after, but not paying the Duties chargeable upon their said Commodities, no Warrant passed for the Discharge thereof.

31. Covenants entred into by Sir Richard Bulkeley of Beomarice in the County of Anglesey Knight, of the one Partie; and certain Citizens or Merchants of Chester, on the other: for securing to himself the Pre-emption of French Prize Wines, at the rate of 4 Pounds $\frac{1}{2}$ Hogf-head. 744. b.

Note, Sir Richard had lett a Lease to the Mayor & Citizens of Chester of all Prize Wines which should be brought into any of their Ports during the Terme of 9 Yeares, at the yeerelie Rent of 32 pounds; out of which, they were to pay for such Wines as should arrive there, and be approved by himself or his Servants.

32. A Coppy of the Kings Grant of the Prize-Wines, (which Robert Singleton had a Lease of for 31 Years;) to the Mayor & Citizens of Chester, for ever; paying annually 40 Shillings for the same. This grant extends to such Prize-Wines as should be brought into the Port of Chester, or any of the Creeks belonging to the same; and beareth Teste, the 14 December, anno Regni Regis Jacobi i. Angliæ, &c. 3. 746.

33. Exemplification of an Order betweene the Chamberlaine of Chester, and the Maior & Sheriffs of the Cittie of Chester. Term Hillar. anno 5 Regine Elizabethæ. 752.

This Order was made, after a full hearing of both Parties, appearing by their Deputies, before William Marques of Winchester, Lord high Treasurer of England; Sir Walter Mildmay Knight, Chancellour of the Court of Exchequer; Sir Richard Sackville Knight, Under Treasurer of the same Court; and Sir Edward Saunders Knight, Chiefe Baron of the same Court: by the Advice and Assent of Thomas Caras Esq; Serjeant at Law to the Queenes Highnes, of Gilbert Gerrard, & William Roswell Esquiers, her Graces Attorney, & Solicitor Generall, &c. and regulateth the Privileges claimed on both Sides, directing also their respective Practices & Demeanors, for the future, that no farther Debates or Contentions might arise between them.

36. The joint & severall Answeres of William Sparke Maior of Chester, William Gamul & Nicholas Ince Aldermen, three of the Defendants; to the Information of Sir Walter Ince Knight, his Majesties Attorney of the Court of Wards & Liveries, by the relation & on the behalfe of John Earle of Shrewsbury Complainant. 760.

Num. 2003.

This Suit was commenced in the Reign of K. Charles i; for the sake of certain wast ground, & three Cottages, built by the Magistrates of Chester, along the Side of the River Dee.

37. List, or Panell, of the Juries of Flint, Denbigh, Cheshire, & Cittie of Chester; together with a List of the Commissioners of Sewers; soon hereafter to be more plainly mentioned. 764. et 775. b.

38. An Extract from the abovementioned Commission of Sewers, whereby K. James i. authorised William Earle of Derby, George Byshop of Chester, Richard Byshop of S' Asaph, Sir Peter Warburton K^t one of the Justices of the Common Pleas, Sir Richard Lewkenor Knight Chief Justice of Chester, Sir Henrie Townesende K^t one other of the Justices of Chester, the Mayor of the Cittie of Chester for the time being, Sir Richard Bulkeley, and many others of the principal Gentry of Cheshire, Flintshire, & Denbighshire, upon this his Notification, that the Walles, Ditches, Bankes, Gutters, Sewers, Goates, Calceis, Bridges, Streames, and other Defences by the Coast of the Sea & Marche Ground, beinge & lyinge within the Lymitts, extending from Hillbrye vpwards, within Land, alonge the same Ryver, unto Newe-Bridge neere the Castell of Chirke in the Countie of Denbigh, by rage of the Sea flowinge & reflowinge, and by meanes of the Trenches of fresh Waters descendinge & having course by divers Wayes to the Sea; be so dirupte & lacerate; and the Comon Passages of Shippes, Ballengers & Boates in the Ryvers, Streames, & other Fluds within the said Lymitts, by meane of settinge vpp, & makinge of Streames, Milles, Bridges, Ponds, Fish-garthes, Mildames, Locks, Hebbinge-Wearres, Hecks & Flud gates, or other lyke Letts, Ympedyments or Annoyances, be lettred or intervpted: soe that greate & inestimable Damage, for Defalte of Reparation of the said Walles, Fences Ditches, &c. and also by meanes of settinge vpp & enlarginge of the said Fish-garthes, Mil-dames, &c. in tymes past have happened; and yet is to be feared, that farre greater Hurte, Losse, & Damages are lyke to ensue, vntill speedie Remedy be provyded: to meet together, and call before them all proper Persons; and so orderly to assesse all such as should be liable thereto; to fine & punish the refractory; to provide fitting Materials of all kinds; to pull down, repair, strengthen, and enlarge, in all necessary places; &c. until this Service entrusted to them should be brought to the desired end. This Commission bears Teste, at Chester, the 29th of Auguste Anno Regni sui Angliæ, &c. quinto. 765.

On the back, this Commission is thus entituled, 'The Comition of Shewers about the Causey in Dee.' Perhaps that might be thereby taken Care of, as a principal Article.

39. An Inquisition taken by virtue of the Commission aforesaid at Chester, 16 December, anno 5 R. Jacobi i. where the Jurors presented the Weare of Richard Grosvenour Esq; made between the Towneshippes of Aldforde & Eaton, as hindring the Current of Dee-River: as also the Causey & Flood-gates nere Dee-Bridge, in or nere Chester, as not only hindring the passage of the said River into the Sea; but upon all greate Land-Floods, annoying & surrounding of diuers lowe Grounds, to the Damage of £100 $\frac{1}{2}$ ann. besides other effects of the said Weare, Causey & Floodgates, fatal to the Chanel or Course of the said River, its Navigation and Fishing. They presented also the New Key builded at the charge of the Cittizens of Chester, as another great annoyance & hindrance to the River. 776.

40. Another Copie of the same Inquisition. 779.

41. The Case of the Mayor & Citizens of Chester; or (as the second Randle Holme hath putt it on the back-side) Breviat of the Maior & Citizens, about the Comition of Shewers, to support the Causey from beinge pulled downe. Sir John Sauage Maior. 781.

This

Num. 2003.

This Breviat seems to be very judiciously drawn up, in opposition to the Decree of some of the Commissioners; as objecting, among many other reasons or arguments, that the Haven was then but in the same Condition, as it is described by Giraldus Cambrensis, and others. That his Majesties Customes at Chester, were then greater than ever. That the Cawsey (which had then been erected above 500 years, and was never before complained of) could not be abated without destruction of the whole, & loss of the Mills. That the Decree (as the Verdicts found in Wales, which were contradicted by that found in Chester) was made by Parties interested, who solicited the Cause, before & since, both the Commission & Decree; and continued to prosecute it, as Parties. That of 56 Commissioners, 18 of Wales, and only six of Cheshire agreed to the Decree (made in the dark, & out of time;) of which number nevertheless many were not actually present at the making of it, but their Hands and Seales were procured to it afterwards: &c.

42. The Case of the Cawsey & Milles in Chester; presented to the Lords the Judges, 13 February 1608. 786.

This is in pursuance of the Breviat abovementioned, against the Cawsey's being prostrated, pulled down, taken away, &c. & signed by Sir John Doddridge, Sir Henry Hobarte, &c. 786. et vid. 849.

43. Another Copie of the same Case, setting forth (as the former did) that the Cawsey, & some of the Mills objected against were certainly standing A. D. 1119. and that others of the said Mills were erected by Johannes de Scotia Earle of Chester, who died A. D. 1237. to the great benefit of the Inhabitants of that Countrey, & elsewhere, without ever being impeached before. This is also signed by several of the Judges. 788.

44. Draught of a Letter from the un-signing Commissioners, to the Lords of the Privy-Council, in behalf of the Cawsey built upon a natural Rock, crosse the River Dee. 800.

This was contradicted, as it seemes by the then Earl of Derby, who (with the Bishop & Deane of Chester) had consented to the pulling downe of one half thereof.

45. Draught of another Decree from the Commissioners, for the Salvation of the Cawsey over the Dee (which they observe to be originally issuing out of a certaine Mere or Lake in Wales commonly called Pymble-mere, falling down with such violence, sometymes vpon an Increase of Rayne, and sometymes by Wynde without Rayne, as that the Grounds adjoyning to the sayd River have bene in auncient tymes, as they now are, vsually overflowne; especially those which are toward the Head of the said River, many Miles above the Cawsey) and of the Mills or Water-workes sett up, in or neare the same. dated the . . . of A. D. 1609. 801.

46. Attested Copie of an Act of Assembly made at Chester, the 9th of October, 1607. wherein they declare the great reasons they had to preserve the Cawsey, Mills, & Water-works in & adjoyning to the River Dee (as are likewise finely represented in the Draught last abovementioned) resolving that a Petition be made to the Kinge for a Superfedas of the said Commission; and that other Petitions or Letters should be sent to the Ld. Chanceloure of England, the Lord Treasurer of England, The Earle of Salisbury, &c. 810.

47. Draught of an Act (or Bill) for Explanation of the Statute of Sewers. 811.

This is drawn up, in a View of enlarging the power of the Commissioners of Sewers: but at the back, there put some Notes disproving it.

48. Attested Copie of an Act of Parliament (of Anno 3 & 4 R. Edwardi vi.) intituled An Act concerning the Citie of Chester, for Weares in the River of Dee. 815.

49. A Bill by the Cloth-woorkers for Confederacy, to pull downe the Cawsey. 832.

This Complaint was exhibited by John Byngley & other Clothworkers of Chester, to Thomas Earle of Dorset

Num. 2003.

Lord Treasurer, Sir Julius Cæsar Chauncellour & Under-Treasurer of the Exchequer, Sir Lawrence Tanfel Lord Chiefe Baron, and other the Barons of the same Court: setting forth the Antiquity, with the great Usefulness & Convenience of the Cawsey, with the Fulling-Mills & Corn Mills, erected upon the River Dee, in or by the City of Chester. As also how there had been a Combination entred into, & a Riot begun by a sort of lewd Persons, who would pull downe the said Cawsey & Mills, which would be not only to the disherison of the King, but to the destruction of all the Clothing Trade in those parts; the hindrance of his Majesties Service in Ireland; & the starving of the meaner Sort, for want of Bread.

50. Diver Draughts, Cases, & other Papers relating to this matter of the Cawsey & Mills. 849.

51. Petition of the Maior, Aldermen, Citizens & Inhabitants of the Citie of Chester, & of the Gentlemen & Inhabitants of the County Palatyn of Chester, neere vnto the said Citie. 857. b.

This is written upon Velum, and seemeth to be an Original; it is for the Cawsey & Mills; and particularly, against Sir Richard Trevor & other Welsh Gentlemen, who fancied themselves either damnified or hindred by their standing.

52. Petition of the Meyre & Cominalte of the Citie of Chester for the Customes of the Mynes to be relaxed. 858.

This Petition was exhibited to K. Richard II, in the 21st year of his Reign.

53. Translation of the said Kings Answer to the foregoing Petition; being a Grant, whereby he releaseth to them all further Toll for grinding theire Corne at his Mills than the 16th Grain: but this for Four Years only. dat. 23 Februarij, anno Regni sui 21. 859.

54. The Case offered by the Commissioners aforesaid, to the Judges; being against the Cawsey & Milles; with this Question grounded upon it, 'Whether Commissioners of Sewers haue by Law Power, by theire Decree, to pull downe & abate Ten Yards of the said Cawsey? and Whether this Decree, by the Lawes & Statutes of this Realme, may & ought to be executed, or not?' 860.

This is signed by Three of them.

55. The Case of the Mayor and Citizens of Chester, containing a full Answer to the former. 862.

This is the same with that mentioned above at § 41.

56. Breviat of the Maior & Citizens Answer to the Objections, about the Decay of the River of Chester. This is an Abridgement of the former. 867.

57. Mr. Recorder Whitbie's Notes in the same Affair. 869. et vide 883.

58. The Cause (or Case) of the Mills & Cawsey at Chester. 871.

This is a rough Draught, much amended by Mr. Recorder Whitbie.

59. A Copie of the Commissioners Case, above-mentioned at § 54. 876.

60. Another Copie of that Case above-mentioned at § 42. 877.

61. A sort of Brief, in defence of the said Cawsey & Mills. 878.

62. Briefs of the Statutes of Sewers; with the Commissioners Questions thereupon. 879.

63. Commission to Thomas de Pulle, & William Stanley, Esquires, & others; to enquire, by Verdict, concerning the decay of the River Dee, & total ruin of the Haven of Chester. This bears Teste at Chester, 12 October, anno 28 Regni Regis Henrici vi. 881.

This Commission was grounded upon a Petition of the Citizens of Chester, who alledged the said misfortunes to be the main occasions of the Desolation & Misery they then labor'd under; being then so great, as to dissuade them from paying even the Kings Fee-farme Rent.

64. The Case of the Mayor & Citizens of Chester. 885.

A book in folio consisting of many single Papers, Parchments & Tracts, long since sewed or bound up together. These (as those of some of the preceding Books) relate to the Affairs transacted by particular Persons and Societies within the City, County, or Countie-Palatine of Chester: and, by the last Randle Holme, is on the outside thus entituled. Notes and Charters of severall Companys within the City of Chester. But a more particular Account of its Contents, is this that follows.

1. The said Randle Holme's Note or Table of the most remarkable things found herein; but without the necessary Numbers of the Pages. At the beginning.

2. A Quietus est (from the Court of Exchequer at Chester) to James Vaudrey & others for impost of Wynes, brought into Chester-Port, anno 9 R. Elizabeth. 730.

This is the Original written upon Parchment; the Sum due to the Queen was £. 1091. 7. 4.

3. Original Petition of William Gamull & other Vintners of Chester, to Charles Howard Earle of Nottingham, Lord Highe Admirall of England; against one Button an Inste-keeper; who having gotten a Wine-Licence, grew troublesome to the other Vintners; indeavouring to confine them within the Walles of the said City; whenas they were licensed (although at a very dear rate) to retails Wines not only in the City, but throughout the County of the same. 713.

This Petition hath his Lordships Order thereupon, underwritten and subscribed with his own Hand; whereby I suppose Button's Impertinence was sufficiently checked.

4. Original Order of the Privy Council, dated 19th of February, 1629. 733.

This shews that whereas the Kings Progenitors had made divers grants to the Mayor & Citizens of Chester to the use of the Company of Merchants there) for Transportation of Calve-skinnes from thence, the Creeke, & Members thereof; the said Mayor & Citizens, upon the expiration of the last grant, had deputed Mr. Gamull & others, to solicit another to the City, for the use of the said Merchants, as had been usuall; the nature of which Service these good Men mistaking, procured a grant to themselves, from Mr. Maxwell his late Majesties Patentee, &c. for transportation of 600 Dicker of Calve-skinns yearly from the Porte of Chester. But upon a full hearing of this Matter before their Lordships, it was declared by the said Mr. Gamull, that the said grante was by him ever intended to be for the benefit of the said Company, in generall: and therefore their Lordships, by this Order, took care that they should have the Benefit of it, or of a new grant in lieu thereof.

5. A true Copie of his Majestie (K. James 1's) Licence granted to James Maxwell Esq; for the buying and Transportinge of Calve skinnes. 735.

Num. 2004.

This setteth forth, that as Queen Elizabeth had (in the 7th year of her Reigne) granted Free Licence to Arthur Balsano & others of his Name yearly to export 6000 Dickers of Leather of Calve-skinnes, accompting Ten Dozen to every Dicker, for Seaven Yeares; paying therefore 5 Shillings for every Dicker: So he now grants to James Maxwell Esq; Licence to export Annually 18000 such Dickers of Leather and Calve-skinnes, during the Terme of 21 yeares: at the same Price or Rent of 5 Shillings per Dicker. This grant bears Teste, 12 June anno Regni Angliae, &c.

6. Original Bill of Complaint, exhibited to Thomas Earle of Dorset Lord High Treasurer, Sir George Howme Kt. Baron of Barwicke, Chauncellour of the Court of Exchequer, Sir Thomas Fleminge Lord chiefe Baron of the same, and the rest of the Barons; by Robert Singleton Farmour vnto his Highnes of the Impost & Tonnage of all French Wynes brought into the Port of Chester, and Members thereof, in Michaelmas-Terme, anno 2^o. R. Jacobi 1. 739.

This sheweth that the said King did let to farme vnto Sir John Swynnerton Knight, all Subsidies, Tonnage, Ympost, & Dewties of all French & Renish Wynes to be brought into England & Wales; and that the said Sir John had assigned part, or a Share of & in the said Patent or Grant, unto him the said Singleton; that is, of all such Wynes as should be brought into the Ports & Creeks of Chester, Liuerpoole, Beaumaris, Conwayne, Caernarvon, & Lancaster: but that Randle Ince & divers others had actually brought such Wynes into his District, refusing to pay him the Duties they were liable unto: and that another person, one Owen Johnes of Chester, Mercer, without any Warrant from him, had compounded with divers, for his Dues upon such Wines, to a considerable value; and therefore prays that a Subpena may be directed to all the said Offenders, commanding personally to appear in the Exchequer in Westminster, and there to answer to the Premisses.

7. The joynt and severall Answeres of Randle Ince, Randle Fernalle, & Owen Johnes, three of the Defendants to the Bill of Complaynte of Robert Singleton Complaynaunte. 748.

Here Ince & Fernalle plead that Singleton being not the Kings immediate Patentee, they think they need not answer Him in the Exchequer. That they are both Free Citizens of Chester, and consequently not liable to pay any Dutie whatsoever for their Wines (by Virtue of divers Grants from Q. Elizabeth) especially considering that their Vessel had but 56 Tonnes of Wine in her, & not 66 Tonnes as was alleaged. As for Johnes, that he received not so much as Singleton charged him with; but that which he did receive, he wholly paid to Sir Richard Trevor, and Sir William Morris; who (he believed) might have Right enough to take it.

8. Draught of an Acte concerneing matters of Assurances used amongst Merchants. (Anno 43 Eliz. cap. 12.) 759.

Upon the Back is this Note; I like this Law for all things, save onely that I thinke there ought to be Fees allowed, (such as the Commissioners for Fees shall sett downe) for a Register & Officer of the Court of Assurances.

9. Grant to Arthur Balsano and others, for Transporting of Calve skinnes. This was given under the Privie Seale, the 26 of February, anno 7 Regis Jacobi 1. 763.

In these papers (which contain but a small part of the Grant) the Name is written Balsano; and not as just above, or as in §. 5.

10. The Demurrer of Rychard Byrde, Thomas Hand, & William Parnell of the Cittie of Chester Merchants; to the Bill of Complaint of Sir Richard Calveley Knight, Farmour of his Majesties Customes of Impost and Tonnage within his Highnes Port of Chester. (Termine S. Michaelis, anno 3 Regis Caroli.) 767.

The

Num. 2004.

The Suit was for the Impost, Custome, & Subfedye for Fifteene Tonnes (supposed to be Wines) entred for Vinegar; so that the Plaintiffe was not paid for the Custome & Impost of 15 Tonns of Wyne; which 15 Tonnes of Wyne being thereby not entred, were become forfeite to his Majestie. Moreover, the Defendants being charged vpon a Penall Lawe, in regard the said Customes, &c. were concealed or misentred; the Goods so forfeited were to bee recovered by Information in the Kings Exchequer, by Action of Debt. And, for that noe Person vpon the Breach of a Penall Lawe, is compelled to accuse himself, or to bee examyned vpon Interrogatoryes, as the Complaynant prayeth; and that if the Defendants haue offended, they are answerable to the Lawe for the same: they did demurre, &c.

11. Draught of the Indenture made 24 of February 1624; Betweene Sir Richard Caulveley Knight, Gentleman-Vsher, Dayly Wayter vnto his Majestie of the one parte; and William Gamull, William Aldersey. Andrew Gamull, Aldermen, of Chester, & others, Merchants of the said Cittie: Whereby Sir Richard assignes unto them the Kings Grant of the Customes, Imposts, &c. of all manner of French Wines, by whatsoever meanes brought into the Port of Chester; for and during the Terme of Seauen Yeares. Yeilding & payinge therefore yearlie, vnto the said Sir Richard, 650 Pounds, and one full Hoggeshead of Wine. 773.

12. The second Randle Holme's Copie of a Quietus est, from the Exchequer of Chester, to feuerall Merchants of Chester, for the Customes & Imposts upon Wines; annis 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, Reg. Elizabethæ. 791. b.

13. His Copie of Q. Elizabeth's Graunt for the taking of the New Custome of Impost-Wynes; and her forgiueing the Merchants of Chester their Arreares &c. anno Regni nono. 792. b.

14. An original Mandate, under the Royal Signet, directed to the Maier of the Citie of Cheshire; requiring him to take care that Hugh Palmer who was commaunded to appere before the Prive Counsaill (being assured to come & retourne fuerly & fausly, without any Daungere for al maner Accions dependinge ayenste him) should make his appearance accordingly, by the Day appointed. 793.

15. The Replication of Roberte Singleton Complainant, to the joynte and feuerall Answeres of Randle Ince, Randle Fernall, & Owen Johnes, Defendants, &c. 799.

In this Draught, the Complainant traverses the said Answer; and stands to the Award of the Court.

16. Part of a Grant or Lease made by K. Charles 1. unto James Maxwell Esq; one of the Groomes of his Bed-chamber; wherein are recited the abovementioned Grants of K James 1. to the Bassano's, and also to the said Mr. Maxwell. Which last Grant this King confirms, and frees him from all manner of Arrearages past, which ought by any means to have been paid to his Majesty, by reason of the said Grant: and likewise makes Mr. Maxwell easier, for the remaining part of his Term of 21 Yeares, by accepting of the usual rate of 5 Shillings p Dicker in full payment; and acquitting him for the future of all Customes, Subsidies, Imposts, &c. any ways chargeable on his Calve-skins. His Majesty doth also hereby renew the same Lease, or rather grant another Lease for 21 Yeares (to commence upon the expiration of the old one) of the sole Licence of exporting Leather of Calve skins, to the quantity of 18000 Dicker p annum, at the said rate of 5 Shillings p Dicker, in lieu & in full recompense of all Customes, Subsidies, Imposts, &c. chargeable on those Goods: with a Prohibition against any other Persons exporting the like from any port whatsoever, especially from that of Chester. 801.

17. A Relation of William Edwards & others Merchants of Chester, against William Gamull Alderman of CAT. HARL. VOL. II.

Num. 2004.

the said Cittie, for the vndue procuringe of a Licence for Transportation of Calue-skins from the Port of Chester. 855.

There is somewhat relating to this foul matter, specified above at § 4. This further setts forth the Meanes he (this Mr. Gamull) used in getting from Mr. Maxwell & his Assignes two grants, for the yearly Transportation of 600 Dickers of Calue skins, (being the chiefe or only exportable Commodity out of those Parts) during the feuerall Remainders of 7 Yeares, & 21 Yeares; paying for euery Dicker, vpon the entry thereof, to His Majesty 5 Shillings; and to the said Grantours 8s. 4d. This is also enforced by a more particular Charge against Mr. Gamull, shewing the Inconueniences which have ensued his indirect and oppressive Dealings. Then comes Mr. Gamulls Defence and Answeres; with a Reply unto them.

18. Certificate of William Gamull & twelve other Chester-Merchants (to the Lords of the Privy-Council) against William Edwards another Merchant there; who had gotten an Order of Council importing that what Shipp or Bark should be freighted by any Merchant of Chester, for any other place, should also take in a proportionable part of the Goods of the said Edwards, upon his demand. They therefore declare that it hath been the usuall Custome of the said City, that any Marchant of the said City might associate & take to himself such Partners as he should like of, to joyne with him in freightinge of Shippes, and to trade into Forraigne Parts. And that yf att any tyme all the said Marchants had Freight in one Bottoine, it hath ben of Free-Will, without Compulsion. It beinge a free Libertie & Priviledge that all Marchants within his Majesties Kingdomes doe enjoy. dat. 26 Aprill, 1630. 859.

19. A Quietus est to Peter Muttone & other Merchants of Chester, for Impost upon their Wynes brought into the Port of Chester, anno 9 R. Elizabethæ. 860.

This is the parchment Original.

20. Counterpart of an original Indenture, whereby William Gamull Alderman & Merchant of Chester, & others his Associates grant, to Edward Broughton of Chester Merchant, Licence to buy & transport from the Port of Chester, Ten Dyckers of tanned Calve-skins yeareley; paying to Abraham Dawes & John Harrison, during their terme in their Grant, and after, to Mr. Maxwell, 8 Shillings and 4 Pence p Dicker, and to the King 5 Shillings: and further, to pay his Proportion of all Charges laid out, or to be disbursed, in for & about the two Grants obtained by Mr. Gamull. dated the 26 January 1623. 861.

21. Original Indenture of Champartie, whereby Thomas Mylner of Neston in the Countie of Chester, Master and Owner of a certaine Barke called the Grace of Neston, lets to freight the said Barke to certain Merchaunts Freightors, with one able Master & Sixe expert Maryners; for a Voiage to Waterford in Ireland, & back again to the River of Chester; for the Sum of 17 Pounds. dat. 30 of Marche, anno 14 R. Elizabethæ. This is also upon Parchment. 862.

22. Letters Patents (or Privy Scale) of K. Charles 1. directed (as it seemeth) to the Lord Treasurer, the Chancellor and Barons of his Exchequer (upon the Instance and Request of Edward Dutton late Mayor of Chester, William Gamull and others Merchants there) certifying them, that whereas the Merchants, Citizens & Inhabitants of Chester, had (within tenne Yeares) lost diuers notable Shippes and Vessells, & greate Quantitie of their Goods and Merchandizes vpon the Seas, as well by Pyrats as by dyvers other misfortunes: and namely, in their entries in and goinge out at the Mouth of the Haven of the Porte of Chester, beinge lately growne & become more daungerous for the cominge in, & yssuinge out of Shippes then in tymes past it hath binn; by reason whereof the same Marchaunts chaunts be lately fallen into greate Decaye: he therefore consideringe the Inconveniencies that maye growe by the decaye of the Navye and Travaley by the Seas in those parties of England, and myndinge the Maintenaunce of the same Merchaunts, as well for their owne Releefe, as for his better Service in tyme of Neede, releaseth them from all arrearage due for the new Impost upon all Wynes of the growth of France brought into the said Porte, being 50 Shillings & 4 Pence for euery Tonne; and also acquits and dischargeth them from paying the said new Impost for the future. Yeaven vnder the Privy Seale at Westminster, 21 of Maye, in the nyynth yere of his Raigne. This Copy wanteth the first Leaf. 863.

23. Representation of William Gamull Mayor of Chester, & his brethren, to the Lord Treasurer, as it seemeth; upon the Refusal made by the Officers of the Customs in that Port, to accept their Entries of Calve-skinnes, or to receaue their Money therevpon due to his Majestie, to their greate hindrance; and desiring that the said Officers might be required to take such Entries of Skins as they should make, by virtue of their Lycence, they paying the Custome & Subsidie due unto his Majestie vpon the sayd Graunte. And the rather, for that (as they vnderstand) the sayd Officers forbearance was by force of his Lordships Letters to them lately directed. dated, 11 November, 1608. 877.

24. Draught of a Petition of William Edwards, William Ince, & others, Merchants of Chester, to Tho. Lord Viscount Sauage Chamberlaine to the Queenes Majestie. 878.

This is of the not very plain Hand of Mr. Recorder Whitbie, so often before mentioned; and setts forth the great Wrong done to the Company of Merchants of Chester, & to the Corporation of the said Citie; by Mr. William Gamull, who had greatly failed in the Trust reposed in him, as to the procuring a new Grant for the Transportation of tanned Calve-skins, after the expiration of their former Grant. It is therefore prayed, that the said Mr. Gamull should be sent for up, to answer his said Misdoings, before the Lords of His Majesties most honorable Privie Council. vid. supra § 20, 17, & 4.

25. Original Bill of Complaint exhibited by S^r Richard Calueley Knight, Farmor to His Majestie of the Customes of Impost & Tonnage within the Port of Chester; to James Earle of Marleborough Lord high Treasurer of England, S^r Richard Weston Knight Chauncellor & Under-Treasurer of the Court of Exchequer, S^r John Walter Knight Lord cheefe Baron of the same Court, and the rest of the Barons there. 880.

Here the Complainant setteth forth, that about the 24th of April 1627, one Cornelius Anthony Merchant did arive in the Port of Chester, with 98 Tonnes of Wynes of the growth of France, together with certaine Vinegar, & 12 Puncheons of Prunes; being the Goods of Richard Bird, William Parnell, & Thomas Hande, all of Chester. Merchants, who being confederated together to defraud him the Complainant of his Duties, had by some casuall or indirect means gotten into their possession the late Kings original Grant of the Customs of French Wines brought into the Porte of Chester; and had secretly, in the night-tyme, & at other tymes, conveyed away above Fifteen Tonnes of the said Wynes, on purpose to deceave him of the Impost thereon amounting to Forty Shillings the Tonne: having entred the same, or the most parte thereof for Vinegar, instead of Wynes. vid. supra, § 10.

26. Draught of an Act for the Reformation of Abuses in Gould-smithes. 808.

27. The Warrant for the Gould-smithes Chartre, at Dublin. 900.

This Warrant is from the Privy-Council of Ireland, & directed to the Attorney-Generall, bearing date, A. D. 1637.

28. Petition to Mr. Hare Hardware Mayor of Chestre;

40. A Copy of the Princes Counsells Letter to the Judges: 11 Martij 1622.

This was upon that Birchley's affair; who being disfranchised about 3 yeares before, had procured a Writ out of his Highnes Court of Exchequer at Chester, for his Restitution; a way of proceeding laid to be without Precedent. They therefore desire that this matter may be duly consider'd, so as that the ancient & lawfull Customes & Liberties of the said Cittie may respectively be preserved; yet without Wronge or Prejudice to anie private person. And that the best Courfe of their proceeding, might be by a friendly Mediation to reconcile the Differences, without further Trouble or Suit in Lawe. But if any should be found refractorie to their Orders & Arbitrement; they might expedite the Proceedings in the Cause, as the Justnes & Equity thereof should deserve.

41. Proceedings at an Assembly of the Chester Magistrates, held in the Common-Hall of Pleas, 2 Aprill 1619. upon Birchleys busines, when (after Affirmation of the antient Customes of the City) when, the Defendants Counsell being called, they wear fullie satisfied with the Order made thereupon, referring their Clyent to the Mercy of the said Assembly.

An Heraldical Book in folio, consisting (for the greatest part) of large Pedegrees of particular Families, both English and Welsh, cut into scantlings, so as to be bound up together in the present form. They are,

1. Descent of Robert Harvey Alderman of Chester, extracted by the second Randle Holme, from the Genealogie made for the Honorable Sir William Hervey Knight & Baronet, Baron Hervey of Roos in Ireland, & Lord Baron Hervey of Kidbrooke in Kent, A. D. 1638. 1. a.

2. Pedegree of Charles Lord More of Mellyfont & Viscount Drogedagh, A. D. 1632. 1. b.

This is done by the said Randle Holme; but the Armes are only traced with Black Lead.

3. Pedegree of William Molyneux Esquier. 16. et vid. fol. 72.

This is signed by W. Hervy als. Clarencieux King of Armes.

4. Pedegree of the family of Egerton, deduced by the said Randle Holme to the year 1651. 22.

5. Pedegree of Aldersey, down to the year 1641. 40.

Herein there is some trifling about the Etymology of the name of Aldersey, which might really have been Aldredes-hai; in like manner as Aldersgate in London, in old Writings, yet remaining with the Dean & Chapter, as also in other Hands, is written Aldredes-gate.

6. Pedegree of Raven of Ellworth. 41. b. Here the Armes are in Colors: but the Descent itself is noted to be false.

7. Labored Pedegree of Sir Robert Sidney Knight, (who was afterwards Earl of Leicester) and of all the families from whom his Lady, as well as himself, was descended; made A. D. 1598. 54.

Upon the backside of these Genealogies, is a Descent of Younge of Shropshire, deduced from many Welsh families.

8. The Genealogie of the auntient Familie of William Hughes of Llewellyd in the County of Flynt, Gentleman. 84.

9. Pedegree of S^r Edward Conway K^t Baron of Ragley; made (with the Armes in Trick) A. D. 1628. 97. b.

10. Pedegree (with the Armes tricked) of the Noble Family of Neville. 107. b.

At the Top was a Note now imperfect, no more remaining than this which follows, 'Owte of a old Role on Parchmentt, wrought in (Colors) . . . the Original whearof is in the Handes of S^r John Danvers Knight. This copied . . . was a Pedegree remaininge sometymes in the Custidy of John Nevill the last Lord Latymer of Snape.'

Then comes,

11. The last Randle Holme's Table of the Names of Families mentioned in these Pedegrees.

2007.

A Book in fol. written by divers hands, mostly at the Charge of the second Randle Holme, being on the back, entituled with this only word "Deeds." It contains Extracts from a very great Number of Deeds & other Instruments or Writings. These relate principally pally to Cheshire Families & Estates; with which some others relating to Staffordshire and other Counties are accidentally, or unavoidably intermingled. It is said, in two places, that it is a Copie of Mr. Vernon (a famous Antiquaries) book inscribed P. and in the Margin follows the Numerical Order of Leaves in the same; to which the several Tables or Indexes hereof do likewise refer.

Num. 2007, 2008.

With the said Extracts, are found some Church-Notes, Historical Observations, & many Tricks of the old Seals, done by Randle Holme above-mentioned. Among many things worthy of Remark, I shall take notice of the Notes of Mr. Egerton (afterward Lord Chancellor of England) then Council for Mr. Thomas Venables Baron of Kinderton, in order to the Trial which came on between him & Philip Oldfield learned in the Law; when, after a Critical Examination of the Old Deeds produced by both parties, the Baron of Kinderton was allowed to remain Lord of the Manor of Bradwall. These Notes are succeeded by others, shewing, with what Arguments & upon what Deeds & Evidences grounded, S^r. William Brereton impugned the Old Tenures of certain Lands, at the Juries finding the Office post mortem Thomæ Venables Ar. anno 4 Regis Jacobi 1. The first of these may be found at No. 138; the other at No. 162. The Reader of them needs not be startled at the multitude of mistakes, which he will perceive, considering that the Transcription was done by hackney-pen-men, who are generally ignorant enough; as also that they are, generally, so plain, that the Sense is very obvious & intelligible.

At the beginning of the Book the last Randle Holme hath put,

1. An Imperfect List of the Names of Towns, mentioned in the following Collections.

2. Index Villarum; or, a more regular, full, and Alphabetical Table of the said Towns Names.

3. Index Virorum; or, a like Table directing to the several Surnames of Families herein mentioned.

4. The Names of the several Persons from whose Deeds & Evidences these Manuscripts (i. e. Extracts) were taken. Sett down by the third Randle Holme, A. D. 1672.

A book in folio, like to the former; as bearing the same Title on the back, written by the like ignorant & careless Hackney-writers, and as I suppose at the same Randle Holme's charge; who hath putt this following Note at the beginning thereof. 'This is a Copy of Mr. William Vernons Liber H which (leg. and) is folio'd according to his booke in the margent of euery page.' It chiefly consists, like that preceding, of Transcripts & Extracts from Deeds & other Instruments, illustrating or conducive toward the History of Cheshire Families & Places; and somewhat about other places in Staffordshire: giving likewise some Church-Notes from Mobberley & Chedle aforesaid; with certain Historical Observations of Mr. Vernon; & divers Tricks of Seals by R. Holme. Before all, is put

1. The last Randle Holmes account of things of most Note in this Collection.

As to the Collection it self, I shall take particular notice, at this time, of no more than

2. The Charter of Altrincham, as made a Free Borough by Hamund de Maffie.

3. Of the Tithes of Bowden.

4. The Plea of Quo Waranto brought against Henry Duke of Lancaster, Constable & Marefchall of Chester, & Lord of the Manor of Halton, anno 31 R. Edwardi III; with his Answer.

5. Names of the Townes included within the Baronie of Halton.

6. Qu. Elizabeth's Letters Patents relating to the Duchy of Lancaster.

CAT. HARL. VOL. II.

Num. 2008, 2009.

7. Writings relating to the Barony of Kinderton. 13. b.
8. Writings relating to Northwich, and to the Leads & Wallings there. 15; 43.

9. Collections relating to Midel-wich. 37.

10. Baronia de Shipbrooke. 42. b. 44.

Here are many Evidences concerning the antient Family of Vernon; and among the rest, some particularly relating to Sir Rauffe Vernon Knight, & his Descendants: which Sir Rauffe was a Bastard, and (as appears by what I find) was a vigorous man. He saw his Great Grandson married, & settled lands upon that marriage; (vid. fol. 47. b.) and lived Seaven score yeare & ten yeare; (vid. fol. 48. b. & the Cheshire Visitation books.) An instance of Longevity not commonly observed.

11. Charter of the Borough of Knottesford, as granted by William Lord of Tabley. (et vid. fol. 78.) 97.

14. The above-mentioned Randle Holmes Index Locorum.

15. His Index Virorum.

Note, both these Alphabetical Tables (as doth that Table mentioned above at § 1.) in their several References or Directions, do not observe the Numbers put on the top-corner of the several Leaves; but those specified in the Margins, answerable to the same in Mr. Vernons Book.

2009.

A Book in folio, which the last Randle Holme thus entituled on the out-side, 'Charters & Privileges of the County & City of Chester,' &c. It consists of many Tracts, written by several Persons, especially by the second Randle Holme, and afterwards putt together by his said son, in the Order following.

1. The last Randle Holmes List or Account of the Things of most Note in this Book.

 19. Collectanea, maxima ex parte, e publicis Recordis in Turre Londinensi conservatis; de temporibus Regum Henrici II. Ricardi I. Johannis, et Henrici III. per Rogerum Dodsworth, ut videtur. 9.
 20. Copie of a Mandate from K. Henry VIII. whereby he commanded S^r Rodulphe Brereton Knyghte Chamberleyn of Chester, to instruct & assist his Commissioners in levying the 3000 Markes, which the Inhabitants of that County-Palatine had granted to his father K. Henry VII. for Confirmacon of Liberties, and Pardon of diuerse Offences & eville Dedes committed & done by them. 12. a.

Next follow large Collections made by the second Randle Holme, and mostly of his Hand-writing, relating to the City of Chester, the County-Palatine, or their Inhabitants; wherein many memorable matters being specified, I find myself obliged, to make particular mention of these that follow.

21. That the County of Chester was once erected into a Principality; namely, anno 21 Ricardi II. 34.
 22. How Justices of the Peace came to be instituted in Cheshire, Flintshire, & Anglesey, anno 27 Henrici VIII. ibid.
 23. How the Holding of Shires came to cease, and the Sessions, &c. to succeed them, anno 32 Hen. VIII. ibid.
 24. How this County-Palatine came to send two Knights, & the City of Chester two Burgeffes to the Parliament at Westminster. ibid.
 25. How the Protection of Debtors in Chester came to be abolished anno 34 R. Henrici VIII. ibid.
 26. That the Original Seale of Chester, shall be also the Original Seal of Flynt. ibid.
 27. That the Exchequer of Chester hath been kept at other Places during the time of Plague. ibid.
 28. Of the Rigor used by the Kings Commissioners A. D. 1609, in assessing all Freeholders in Cheshire toward the Aid for making the then Prince Henry a Knight. ibid.
 29. Breve R. Henrici VI. pro certificandis Nominibus illorum qui portant Arma antiqua, et ad ill. premuniend. ad serviend. Reg. pro defensione Regni, secundum gradus suos; dat. anno regni 7. una cum Responfione Vice-comitis Cestriensis. 24. b.
 30. Petition of the Freeholders of Cheshire, temp. R. Edwardi IV. asserting their Liberties & Privileges; and particularly that, of not being bound by any Act of Parliament made out of their own County. ibid.
 31. That antiently, the Justice of Chester granted Livery of Lands; and the Constable kept the Gaole. 35.
 32. Mandamus of K. Edward I. issued anno Regni 25, for Reginald de Gray his Justice of Chester to make Return of the Customes used within that County Palatine: with the Inquisition made thereupon. 35. b.

 40. That the County and City of Chester was a Sanctuary. 39. b.

Num. 2009.

41. Exemplification of Queen Elizabeth's Grant made to the Merchants of Chester, the laste day of February, the third yere of her Reigne; whereby she freed them (during her pleasure) from the future Payment of two Shillings for every Tonne of Iron brought into the Port of Chester by them; which the said Merchants had until that time paid, more & beyond any other English Merchants did pay. 39. A.
 42. A trew Coppy of the Graunt of the Libertyes of the County Palatine of Chester, confirmed by diuers Kinges & Queens. This bearing Teste, 28 November, anno 2 R. Elizabethæ. 146.
 43. Preamble to a Dismission out of the Chancery, by reason of the County Palatin of Chester; 20th October, anno 15 R. Elizabethæ. 153.
 44. A trew Grant of the Libertyes of the City of Chester, and the making of it a County by it selfe, distinct from the County Palatine of Chester, by King Henry VII. in the 21 Yere of his Raigne. 154.
 45. That the Citizens of Chester vsed & enjoyed diuers Libertyes & a Guild Mercatorie, by prescription, before any Charter was granted to them. 159.
 This is followed by a List of those who granted Charters to this City, the first of whom is Randulph (the third, surnamed Blundeville, I suppose) in one of whose Charters, then (& perhaps now) remaining, Randle Holme observeth, that the said Earle granted to them their antient Libertyes & Guild Mercatoriam sicut hactenus vsi fuerunt. Might not a Gild Mercatory be sett up, and other Privileges be granted by the Predecessors of this Earle, and in process of time be lost? Can the Exchequer of Chester produce regular Inrolments of all their publick Instruments from A.D. 1181, when this Great Man came be to Earle? or do we know of any Gild-Mercatory to have been instituted but by Authority? Without Grant from the Prince, or States of the Place, such a Brotherhood would seem to be but a Rout, & an Unlawful Assembly, and their making Orders for their own Regulation, would be but a Combination to enrich themselves & oppress their Countrymen; which one would think could not be well relished by Authority; which not being applied to in so weighty an Affair, had no provision of Duties or Customes reserved; and consequently would, at least, yield such a Gild no protection, if it did not soon destroy it. Vid. fol. 12.
 46. Breviats of (or Notes from) the Confirmations of the Libertyes of Chester, out of severall Charters. ibid.
 47. The Meyres & Bonds of the Circute of the Libertyes of the City of Chester; so far as they were writt in the Booke of Mr. Glasier; but since added out of the Black Booke, tempore Henr. Gee, A.D. 1540. 162.
 48. Notes touching the Princes of Wales & their Creations; the Earles of Chester; & Dukes of Cornwall. 163.
 49. Petition of William Glasior Vice-Chamberlayne & Deputy to (Robert Dudley) Earle of Leicester, Chamberleyn of the County Palatine of Chester; to the Lords of the Priuey Councell, against Richard Dutton then Mayor of Chester; who is therein represented as a most vile person. 164.
 50. Articles of Contempt & Misdemeanures done by Richard Dutton in the tyme of his Maioralty, against the Queenes Court of Exchequer of Chester, the Authority thereof, and against the Officers of the same Courte. ibid.
 51. The Answere of Richard Dutton Maior of Chester, with the Articles of Answere thereunto annexed, in Answere of the Bill & Articles by William Glasior Vice-chamberleyn, exhibited against him. 166.
 52. Notes concerning the Charters granted to the City of Chester; with a Censure on them, by the Exchequer. 169.
 53. A Letter from the Councell, in Aprill 1574, to

Num. 2009.

to Sir Walter Mildmay, Sir Francis Walsingham, Sir William Cordall Knight, & Thomas Bromley Esq; for the hearing of the matter betwene the Vice-Chamberleyn of the Exchequer at Chester, &c. and Mr. Richard Dutton, Maior of the City of Chester. 171.

This Copie is not entire.

54. Letter to the Lords of the Priuey Councell, by the said honorable Persons, in Answer of their Letter. dated the 3d of April 1574. 172.

55. Coppy of a Letter from the Queenes Priuey Councell, to the Maior, Aldermen and Citizens of Chester, for the performance of their Lordships Decree, and of good Adviment, & Admonition for their former Offences. A.D. 1574. ibid.

In this smart Letter, they are told they must surrender up the Queen's last Confirmation of their antient Liberties; and take out a new one; wherein the Clause Præterea, which had been indirectly procured, & had been the principal occasion of the late Broils among them, should be left out.

56. Notes for the Authority of the Exchequer of the County Palatine of Chester; and the deniall of the Authority claymed by the City of Chester. pag. 173. (et vid. 96. B. 22.) 182.

57. Notes of Records remayninge in the Exchequer of Chester, to proue the Authority of the sayd Exchequer, from K. Richard the Seconds tyme. 174.

58. Actes of Parliament mayntaininge the Authoritye of the sayd Exchequer. 178.

59. Obseruations or Notes taken out of the Charters of the City of Chester. ibid.

60. The Proceedings of the Chamberleyn of Chester, in a matter in the Exchequer of Chester betwene Foulke Aldersey Marchant, & Thomas Greene Tallow-chandler, both Citizens of the same City. 179.

This Proceſs ends abruptly; and, as it seems, it first began the Differences between the Officers of the Exchequer, and the Officers of the City. It happened A.D. 1562, when Richard Dutton was one of the Shireves.

61. A Writte of Refumption of Honors, Castles, &c. by force of an Act of Parliament in the County Pallatine of Chester, 6th September, 30 Hen. vi. 180.

62. The Sheriffs Returne of the Writte of Refumption aboue-sayd. ibid.

63. Writte of K. Edward 1. directed to Reginald de Grey Justice of Chester, requiring him to certifie, by Inquisition of the Customes of that County, with regard to the Lands of Heyres held of him in Soccage. Teste, &c. 21 Julij, anno Regni 25. 183.

64. The Inquisition vpon the Writte abouesayd. ibid.

65. Another Writte of the same King, directed to Richard de Mafsey Justice of Chester, for an Inquisition to be taken super Consuetudinem Comitatus Cestr. per quam Willelmus de Venables et Katherina vxor ejus, clamant habere jus presentandi ad Ecclesiam de Thornton super Moram, vacantem, &c. Teste, &c. 8 die Junij, anno Regni 28. 184.

66. The Inquisition upon the Writte above. ibid.

67. Forme of the Writte of Diem clausit extremum, vsed within the County of Chester, anno 6 R. Edwardi 11. 185.

68. The Inquisition upon the Writte above. ibid.

69. Another like Writte, issued out upon the Decease of Warin le Grovenor; anno 35 R. Edwardi 1. ibid.

There followeth some Notes, shewing what happened thereupon (as also a Bill of Complaint concerning them at page 340. A)

103. Copie of the Order & Decree of Richard Vaughan Bishop of Chester. made 30 Aug. ann. 24 R. Eliz. & regulating the Affair of the common Stock (first given by one Goodicer of Barnston) for buying of Cows to the use of the poor Inhabitants within the 8 Townships of the Parish of Woodchurch. 338. A.

2010.

A Book in fol. written by divers hands; and on the outside thus entituled, 'Cheshire Domesday Booke; with an Alphabate of all the Townes in the said Shire.' But in turning it over, I find therein the following matters.

1. The last Randle Holmes List of the things of Note in this Book.

2. Series Pontificum Romanorum a D. Petro Apostolo usque ad Pium IV. folijs transpositis descripta.

3. Alphabetical Table of the Names of all the Townes & Villages in the severall Hundreds of the County of Chester. 179.

This is said to be taken ex Libro pergam-penes D. Will. Vernon remanente, scil. Collectorum Subsidii trium millium Marcarum per Comitatum Cestr. anno 5 Edwardi IV.

4. The Names of all the Townes & Lordships in each Hundred within the County-Palatyne of Chester, with the Hamletts, Mansion-houses, & Free-holds; with other places of Note within every Towne or Lordshippe; Anno 1662. 181.

This is much enlarged by the last Randle Holme: but notwithstanding the foregoing Title, takes in only the Hundreds of Bucklow & Macclesfield. Howbeit, there follow like Surveys of others, with other Dates; as.

5. Wirral Hundred; anno 1668. 193. b.

6. Namptwich Hundred; anno 1666. 198.

7. Northwich-Hundred; Edesbery-Hundred; & Broughton-Hundred; anno 1671: and Chester-City, without date. 202. b.

8. A trew Coppy of that Extract of Domesday-booke (so much as concerneth Cheshire) remayninge in the Custody of the Kinges Remembrancer, and belonginge to the Exchequer at Westminster; which booke is called the lesser Domesday-booke. 230.

This the second Randle Holme transcribed from Mr. Peter Leicesters Copie; which he examined with the Record, the 9th of July 1646. 232.

9. Certaine Parcells (relating to Cheshire) transcribed out of the greater Domes-dei-booke, remaininge in the Tally-Office (i. e. the Office of the Chamberlayne of the Exchequer) at Westminster. 242.

Num. 2010, 2011.

In the two preceding Articles, the obsolete or Glossary-words are endeavoured to be explained.

Within this Tract I also find, but out of place,

10. The Complaint of the Men of Middle-wich against the Abbat of Darnchale, &c. from the Records. 250. b.

11. The Names and Number of the Lords & Owners of Salt-houses in North-wich. 251.

12. Verdict of a Jury touching the antient Customes of the Borough of North-wich; found 12 August 1641, and presented, in order to be inserted in the booke of Customes & Orders for that Burrow. 251.

13. Ex majori Libro de Domes-day; viz. de Terra inter Ripam et Mersam, quæ nunc est pars Agri Lancastriensis. 252.

14. Some few Notes touching the Hundreds of Cheshire, by the third Randle Holmes. 257.

15. Abstractum five Epitome Libri de Domes-dei (quantum scilicet ad Cestre-scire) secundum ordinem Villarum in unoquoque Hundredo; cum Nominibus eorum qui ejusdem Villas tenuerunt, tam tempore Edwardi Regis qui Confessor dicebatur, quam tempore Willelmi Conquestoris, sub cujus Regno iste liber factus est. 258.

This, as the Tracts 9 & 13 above, is the Hand of the second Randle Holme; and hath also the Corrections of his Son.

16. The Proportion of the Ould Hundreds in Cheshire, to the New Hundreds. 277.

17. Notes relating to Domes-dei Booke, its Name, Use, &c. ibid.

18. Here are more Extracts from thence, still relating to Cheshire: which being added to, or considered with what is above mentioned at § 8 & 9. will afford a pretty good Copie of that most antient Record, so far as it relateth to this County. Which Extracts the said Randle Holme the second took from a Copie of Domes-dei as to this Countie, transcribed from the Record, from Mr. Peter Leicester & Mr. William Vernon, at the price of Eight Pounds, by Mr. Scipio l'Esquire then Under-Chamberlayne of the Exchequer, and was compared with the Record itself by the same Mr. Leicester. 275.

Here I cannot but wish, that honest Randle had been as good a Copist as Scipio l'Esquire was.

Now come some loose Papers lying at the end; being

19. The last Randle Holme's beginning of a Translation of the Cheshire in Domes-dei.

20. Names of Freeholders in divers Parishes or Hundreds in Cheshire.

21. Armes, in Blason, of many antient Cheshire Families, who took their Surnames from Townes.

An Heraldical Book in folio, consisting (for the greatest part) of a mixed Collection of Pedegrees, drawn out first upon large Papers, which have been since cutt into lesser Pieces, and bound up together as a Book of a moderate Volume. In the whole I observe,

1. The second Randle Holme's Letter (as Deputie to the Office of Armes, in Cheshire, Lancashire, &c.) to the Lady Sherburne, late Wife to Sir Richard Sherburne Kt. dated, 3 May 1638. 1.

This was to demand the Fee due to the Office for entering her Husband's Funeral Certificate.

2. The Genealogie or Pedegree of Sir Christopher Trentham of Rocetter in the County of Stafford Knight; now livinge anno 1649; collected & drawne by (the same) Randle Holme of the City of Chester Alderman. 1. b. 3. b. 5. b. 7. b.

3. The said Randle Holme's Receipt, for £3. 6. 8. as the Fee for the Funerall-Certificate of Rafe More of the Hall of Heath in the County of Chester, Gent. dated, 26 February 1637. 2. b.

4. Some

Num. 2011.

4. Some broken Notes of Cheshire & other Descents, by Ran. Holme, &c. 3. B. 3. D. 5. B. 7. A.
5. Quarterings of Sir Richard Houghton of Houghton. 3. C.
6. A Descent expressing how the Lady Anne Sawyer is rightfull Heyre Generall to the Blood, auncient Patrimony, & Coate Armored of Humphrey Haughton of Manchester, her Great Grandfather: exemplified from the Records of the Heralds Office, 9 Aprilis A. D. 1627, by Jo. Philipott Somerslett. 3. C. b.
7. Funeral Certificate of . . . Speed, made by John Aston. 3.
8. Descent of John Manley of Huxley. 5. A.
9. Randle Holme's Letter (imperfect) to S^r Gilbert Houghton Knight and Baronet, desiring him forthwith to send his fathers Funeral Certificate, and £.6. 13. 4. being the Fee incidental to his Fathers Degree, which was that of an Esquire; or otherwise, laying before him the danger of contesting the matter in the Earl-Marshalls Court. 5.
10. Descent of Lacy Earl of Lincoln with some Notes. 6. A.
11. Descent of Bostock. 7. B.
12. Randle Holme's Letter to Mrs. Manwaringe, dated, 9 March 1637, desiring her Husbands Funeral Certificate, & the Fee of £. 3 : 6 : 8. for enrolling the same in the Office of Armes; being dew for a Gentleman, because he was buried with Armes; els it had byn but 40 shillings. Randle complains that one Dutton made the Escutcheons, it being his own business, as Deputy, to do all matters of that kind; and therefore threatens poor Dutton. 9.
- Here are more Scraps of such like Letters from Randle to others; which I omitt, as being too imperfect.
13. A Print containing the Genealogy of the Royal Familie, from K. Edward IV. to K. Charles I. and his son Charler Prince of Wales, afterwards K. Charles II. 11. A.
14. Stemma Sacrum; The Royall Progenie. 11. B.
- This is another Print; engraven by Ægid. Fleming. It begins higher than the Conquest; and is carried on to K. Charles II. but not without several manifest errors.
15. Pedegree of Cokeyne, done upon Parchment. 12.
16. Descent shewing how Sir William Brereton of Brereton is descended from Hugh Kivilock Earl of Chester. 15. B. (with other genealogical Notes prefixed.)
17. Notes & Descent, for & of the Family of Yonge. (vid. infra § 22.) 15. C : 16. A, & B : 18. b.
18. Pedegree of Cockayne. 16. 18. 20. 21.
19. Les Maisons que, par Masles, sont fortis de la tres noble Maison de Lusignan. 18. A.
- This is a tattered old printed Paper, cut into pieces, but giving the Armes of the severall Houses; done, in French, by Estienne de Lusignan, Docteur de l'Ordre des Freres Precheurs; with an impertinent Dedication prefixed.
20. The Genologie of the worshipfull & auncient Families of the Wynnyngtons & Leaftwiches of Leaftwich in the Countie of Chester; contynued vntill this year 1597. 24.
21. Descent of Stanley Earl of Derby; on the back of the former. 29. B.
22. Part of the Descent of Younge. 29. B.
- This belongs to those Papers above-mentioned at § 17. and has (on the back) some Notes written by the Hand of S^r William Dugdale; as I before observed some others on the back of 16. A.
23. Pedegree of Arden of Warwickshire, Cade, &c. 34. b. vid. 48. b.
24. Part of a Descent of Walker. 47. B.
25. Descent of Hocknell of London, Merchant; by the second Randle Holme (on the other side the leaf)
26. Pedegree of Caldecote & Gamul; by the same. 50.

2012.

An Heraldical Book in folio, consisting chiefly of old & large Pedegrees both of Welsh & English Families, made by different Persons at different times; cutt into lesser portions, and (with other papers) long since bound up together in the order following;

1. Imperfect Draught of the Pedegree of Mulyneux. 1, 3, 7, 9, & 11, 12. according to the new Numeration with Black Lead.
2. The Genealogie of the worshipfull Mr. Henrey Maynwaringe of the Realme of Ireland, A. D. 1608. (Imperf.) 5. b.
3. Fragment of a Discent of Rowley & Rode. 6.
4. Genealogia præclaræ et antiquæ Familiz de Stanley; descripta rogatu egregij viri. D. Rollandi Stanley Domini de Stanley & de Hoton; per Willelmum Flower Norroy et Robertum Glover Somerslett, A. D. 1580. 15.
- On the backfides of these, and some of the following Leaves, are fragments of particular Descents, not (in my poor opinion) worthy of any speciall mention.
5. Pedegree of Tannatt, or Tanatt; a Welsh Family. 22.
6. Pedegree of Wilbraham. 28.
7. Pedegree of Warren of Stockport & Poynton, laboured A. D. 1580. 33. b.
8. Descent of Mylne-ton. 40. b.
9. The Genealogie of the Honourable Thomas Lord Fairfax of Denton, Baron of Cameron. 42.
10. The auncient Genealogie or Pedegree of the right worshipful Familie of the Mandleys of Mandley (f. l. Mandley) in the County of Chester; made A. D. 1638. by Randle Holme of Chester, Deputy to the Office of Armes, who had seene the Originall Deeds and Records that proved the same: and confirmed by Sir Henry S^r. George Norroy 44. b.

Intermixed with this, I find,

11. Part of the Descent of Maffye of Paddington, taken A. D. 1626. 45.
12. The Names of the chief Peeres of England, being the representatiue Body of the whole Kingdome in Parlamento Lincoln. A. D. 1302. tempore Edw. 1. 45. b.
13. The Lyniall Descent of Mr. Starkye of Darley or Olton Lowe.
14. Some short Rules or Maxims in our Common Law; mostly, in Law-French. ibid; et pag. sequent.

Then comes,

15. The Petegree (with the Armes rudely painted) of Sir Thomas Moston of Moston in Northe Wales Knight; sett furth by Thomas Jones of Tregaron; and fynished at Founteyne-Gate the 9th of Marche A. D. 1604. 52.

This is noted by old Randle Holme to be false; and as to the general Character of this Jones of Fountain,

Gate,

Num. 2012, 2013.

Gate, I think I have remarked somewhat in one of the former Volumes of this Catalogue.

Herein I also find intermixed,

16. The Pedegree of Greene of Congleton, to the year 1650; by the same Randle Holme. 54. b.
17. Pedegree of Sir Robert Eaton of Pentry-madoc; by the same. 57. b.

Then comes on,

18. The Genelogy of the worshipfull & auneynt Famelye of Robert Dokenfyld of Dokenfyld in the County of Chester, Esq. 65.

19. Pedegree of the Family of Warburton collected for Sir John Warburton Knight, Lord of Arley, by Lawrence Bostocke Gent. examined, allowed, & recorded, by Robert Cooke Clarencieux, A. D. 1574. 72.

These two last Pedegrees are pasted back to back; and therefore must be consider'd accordingly.

20. Pedegree of Dutton. 72. b.
21. Pedegree (imperfect) of Aston of Tixall or Tike-shall) 80.
22. Another Descent of the same Family. 84. b.
23. Descent of Sutton of Gwerhill in Com. Denbigh. 85. b.

24. Pedegree of the Family of Pulteney; by the above-mentioned Randle Holme. 86.

25. The same Randle Holme's Genealogie of the right worshipfull Sir Robert Byron of Colwick in the County of Nottingham K^t as extracted from the Pedegree made for his brother John Lord Byron. 88.

26. Pedegree of Wynne of Caervadwyn. 96. b.

27. Another; contrived in a Circle, according to the fancy often used by the Welsh Bards or Heralds. 99.

28. Pedegree of Thelwall. 100. b.

29. Pedegree of Savage, by William Smith Rouge-Dragon; as I suppose. 101.

This is said to have been made at London, A. D. 1580.

Lastly, follows

30. The third Randle Holme's Alphabetical Table of the Surnames of Families mentioned in this Volume: but pointing to the same according to the old Numeration of the Leaves.

2013.

A paper Book in folio (which I shall not call Poetical) relating to the severall Companies of the City of Chester; which I having partly run over, shall describe in the following manner.

1. The Proclamation for Whitsonne Playes, made by William Newall Clarke of the Pendice, anno 24 Henr. viii. at the beginning.

It sets forth, that "in ould tyme, not only for the Augmentation & Increses of the Holy & Catholick faith, and to exort the minds of common people to good Devotion & holsome Doctrine; but also for the Comonwealth & Prosperity of this Citty, a Play & Declaration of diuers Stories of the Bible; beginning with the Creation, & Fall of Lucifer, and ending with the generall Judgement of the World, to be declared & played in the Whitsonne weeke, was devised & made by Sir Henry Frances sometyme Mooncke there; who gat of Clement then Bushop of Rome 1000 dayes of Pardon; and of the Bushop of Chester, at that tyme, 40 dayes Pardon, to euery person resorting, in peaceable maner, to heare & see the sayd Playes: which were instituted to the Honor of God, by John Arnway then Maior of Chester, his Bretheren, & whole Cominalty thereof; to be brought forth, declared & played, at the Cost & Charges of the Craftesmen & Occupations of the sayd Citty," &c.

Underneath the Proclamation, the Third Randal Holme hath written, that Sir John Arnway was Maior, A. D. 1327 & 1328; at which tyme these Playes were written by Randall Higgenett a Monk of Chester Abby, &c.

Num. 2013.

2. The Banes which are reade beefore the beginninge of the Playes of Chester, A. D. 1600.

Here, or in this Prologue, it is said

"That some tymes ther was Mayor of this Citie Sir John Arnway Knight: who most worthilye contented hymselfe to sett out in playe

The Devise of one Done Rondall Moonke of Chester Abbey."

This Rondall might be Hikeden or Higden, for ought I know (vid. N^o. 2125. fol. 272. b.) and it seems, that his Poetry & Language being grown obsolete, the Draught was altered for the Pageants or Playes (as they are called) which were to be publickly exhibited, A. D. 1600. and then this very uncorrect Copie seems to have been taken by one George Bellin, who perhaps might have acted some part therein. These Playes or Interludes are 24 in Number, and their severall Titles are these that follow.

3. The Tanners Playe, 1600. Pagina prima; (i. e. the first Pageant, or Pagin) de Celi, Angelorum, et infirmalium Spirituum Creacione. 1.

4. The Drapers Playe. Incipit Pagina secunda; qualiter Deus docuit (f. creavit) mundum. 6.

5. The Water-leaders & the Drawers of Dee, their Playe; about Noah & the Flood. 17. b.

(Here Noah's Wife, being as perverse as Job's swears by Christ.) fol. 19. (and by St. John. fol. 21.)

6. The Barbers & Wax-Chaundlers Playe. Incipit quarta Pagina; qualiter reuerfus est Abraham a caede quatuor Regum, occurrit ei Rex Salem equitando, et Lothe. 23. b.

7. The Cappers & Linnen-Drapers Playe. Incipit Pagina quinta de Moyse, et de Lege sibi data. 33.

8. The Wrightes Playe. Pagina sexta, de Salutatione et Nativitate Salvatoris Jesu Christi. 41.

9. The Painters Playe. Incipit Pagina septima de Pastoribus. 57.

10. The Vintners Playe. Incipit pagina octava, trium Regum Orientalium: 1600. 64.

11. The Marcers Playe. Pagina nona, de Praesentatione five Oblacione trium Regum. 71. b.

12. The Gould-Smythes Playe. Pagina decima, occisione Innocentium, ex Herodis tyrannica persuasione. 76.

13. The Blacke-Smythes Playe. Pagina, de Purificatione beate Virginis; 1600. 83. b.

14. The Bowchers Playe. Incipit Pagina duodecima; Jesus ductus est in desertum a spiritu. 89. b.

15. The Glovers Playe. Pagina decima-tertia; de coeco, et de resurrectione Lazare. 95.

16. The Corvisors Playe. Pagina decima quarta; de Jesu intrante domum Simonis Leprosi, etc. 104. b.

17. The Bakers Playe. Pagina decima-quinta, de Coena Domini, et ejus proditiione. 113.

18. The Fletchers, Bowyers, Cowpers, & Stringers Playe. Incipit Pagina decima-sexta; de passione Xpi. 120. b.

19. The Irémongers Playe. Incipit Pagina de Crucifixione Xpi; et de his que fuerint in eundo versus locum Calvarie. 129.

20. The Cookes Playe. Incipit Pagina decima-septima, de descensu ad Inferna, et de his que ibidem fiebant secundum Evangelium Nicodemi. 138.

21. The Skynners Playe. Pagina decima-octava, de Resurrectione Jesu Christi. 144.

22. The Sadlers Playe. Pagina decima nona de Christo, duobus discipulis ad Castellum Emaus euntibus, apparense; et alijs discipulis. 154.

23. The Taylors Playe. Incipit Pagina vicesima, de Ascensione Domini. 159. b.

24. The Fishmongers Playe. Incipit Pagina vicesima-prima, de Electione Matthiae; et de emissionem Spiritus Sancti. Qualiter Apostoli fecerunt Symbolum Apostolicum, viz. Credo in Deum Patrem, &c. 163. b.

25. The Cloth-workers Playe. Pagina vicesima-secunda e libro Ezechielis. Facta est super me manus Dni.

27. The Websters Playe. Pagina vicesima-quarta, et omnium postrema; de Iudicio extremo. 189.

2014.

An Historical Book in small folio, all written by the Hands of the second & third Randle Holme's; being begun in or before the year of our Lord 1656 (as appears, in fol. 17. b.)

It is only part of a rough Draught of some larger work, which seems to be the History of the City of Chester; in order to introduce which, it was thought fit to premise somewhat touching the Antient History of Great Britain in general, & of England in particular, as may appear by the Contents of the several Chapters. They are,

Chap. i. The State of Brittain in elder tymes; and how it is seated. 1.

Chap. ii. The Names by which this Iland hath bine called. 2. b.

Chap. iii. Of the Division of the Ile into Provinces, States, Shires, & Hundreds, &c. 5.

Chap. iv. Of the Inhabitants of Cheshire; and from whence they are originally descended. 10.

Chap. v. The continuance of the Inhabitants of Cheshire; and the Countreys from which they are said to be descended. 18. b.

Chap. vi. Of the Languages vsed by the people inhabiting Cheshire; their esteeme of learning, and the feuerall wayes of Writing, & formes of Letters vsed by them. 25. b.

Chap. vii. Of the feuerall Habits used by the people inhabiting this our City & County. 35.

These are followed by a short Tract or Discourle, of the first Foundation of Chester; which concludes with these words, "thus far of the State & Condition of this City of Chester, dureing the Roman Government."

This work, notwithstanding the marginal & other Citations, is almost wholly collected from Books printed in English; and tis much pitty that those two industrious men had not Learning, Judgment, & Experience sufficient, in the feuerall parts of this their Undertaking. Which if they had persevered in to the end (notwithstanding all its defects) might have afforded us Notices of many things, that now may not easily, if ever, be retrieved.

51. Notes from the Plea-Roll of the same Year, touching Margeria de Arderne, &c. 80. b.

52. The State and Petition of the Cause touchinge the Deane & Chapter of Chester to the Commissioners. 82.

This shews how Sir Richard Cotton having a Design to get most of the Dean and Chapters Lands into his possession, procured Deane Cliffe to be cast into the Fleete-Prison, & then caused him, with only two of the Prebendaries to grant the said Lands unto him in Ferme, at less than the old Rents: who having taken from the same all the Commodities he could, sold them to certeyn Gentlemen of Cheshire, at not above two Yeares purchase. Hereupon, the succeeding Deans suing the Fermors, with the good liking of Queen Elizabeth; She at length order'd the matter to be heard by a Special Commission. More concerning this important affair, the Reader may learn from the following Titles.

53. The Fee-Fermors Breviatt of the State of the Cause betweene her Majestie & them, about the Lands late belonging to the Cathedral Church of Chester. 82. b.

54. The Auditors Report concerning an Allowance to be made to the said Dean and Chapter. 83.

55. Petitions made and exhibited on the behalf of the Fee-Fermors. 83. b.

56. The Kings (i. e. K. Henry VIII's) Proportion, as to what every person shall be allowed, upon his Foundation of Chester-Cathedral; and what Sommes & Payments were to be charged by his Letters Patents. 84.

57. The Allowance which the Deane & Chapter demaunde, by pretence of certeyn Statuts of their Houle, which they affirme.

58. Her Majesties Commission to certen of the Lords of her Privie Councell; who had Charge to heare & determyne the Cause of Chester. ibid.

59. Mr. Attorney-General Popham his Opinion, touching Chester Cafe. 85. b.

This shews that K. Henry VIII's Grant of Lands to the Cathedral Church of Chester was void; because the Words in the Patent were only "Decano & Capitulo Ecclesie Cathedralis Xpi. & B^{ne} Marie Virginis per Nos dudum erect. & fundat. . . . leavinge out this worde CESTRIE." 85. b.

60. The Order sett downe by the Commissioners, touchinge the matter of Chester Aprilis 1579. 86.

66. A Surrender of Landes in Cheshire, made to the Queenes Majestie, by the Fee-Farmors anno 11 R. Eliz. 94. b.

Note: The Deane & Chapter having made a like Surrender, her Majestie graunted the Premisses; viz. to the Fee Farmors the Lands; and to the Deane & Chapter the Rents of the sayd Lands.

67. The Attorney Generall's Information in the Exchequer, against the Fee-Farmers; anno 18 R. Eliz. 96.

68. A briefe Abstracte concerning the late Abbey-landes of Chester, how they haue binne enjoyed sythence the Suppression of the same: and proveth much to be concealed, substracted, or wrongfully deteyned from her Majestie. 98. b.

69. The Opinion of Serjeant Popham, touchinge Chester-Cafe. (The same with that above at § 58.) 99.

70. The Confirmation of the former Reasons, by certeyn Judges & others lerned in the Lawes of England. 100.

71. What followed upon the Information above mentioned at § 66. ibid.

A Book in folio, consisting of divers Tracts, or lesser Books, long since bound or done up together, by reason of their Subject; which is that of the Sequeltrators Accompts of what they had plunder'd the Royalists of, during several Years, in the Hundred of Wirral, within the County-Palatinate of Chester; as may appear by the following Titles.

1. The Accompts of George Ball, Thomas Bennett, Richard Harrison, & Robert Leene, sower of the Sequeltrators for Wirral-Hundred, from the 6 of Nov. 1644. to the 26 of Nov. 1646. 1.

This is the Originall, signed by all their Hands, & delivered in upon Oath, 30 March 1648.

2. A true Accompte of all such Rents & Moneys as have have ben received by Thomas Broster one of the Sequestratours for the Hundred of Worrall; vntill Candlemas, 1645. And also of his Disbursements 21.

5 K

Num. 2018.

This was deliver'd in, to the Committee, upon Oath, the 3 of December, 1646.

3. The Accompts of Richard Coventrey and Henry Hancock, both of Receipts & Disbursements, within their Allotments, since the 10 of Nov. 1644. vnto the 22 of January 1645. together with what Rents were found to bee due & vn timer from Sir Thomas Powell his Tennants, att the 29 of September A. D. 1644. 29.

Several of the Accompts in this Article, are carried on much lower; even to the year 1647. And they being signed, were delivered, upon Oath, to the Committee of Accompts for the County of Chester, 30 March 1648.

4. A true Accompt of Thomas Kirkes one of the Sequestratours for the Hundred of Wirehall; of all the Delinquents Lands, old Rents & Goods, with their Names, within his Division, from the 24 January 1645, vntill the 24th of June 1646. 74.

This Book was delivered in, by Kirkes, upon Oath as part of his Accompts, 13 Aug. 1646.

5. An Acompt of the publicke Monie received & disbursed since the making up of the last Accompts 23 Jan. 1645; by Tho. Kirks & Tho. Crosse Sequestrators in the Hundred of Wirrall: vnto the 24 June 1646. 80.

This Book, being signed, by Crosse, was delivered vpper to the Committee, vpon Oath, 13 Aug. 1646.

6. A true & perfect Accompte of Thomas Kirkes, one of Sequestrators for the Hundred of Wirehall; of all the Profits of the Delinquents Goods, Lands, & Rents, within his Devision; from 24 June, vntill the 25 November. 1646. together with his Disbursements. 90.

This Accompt was delivered in vpon Oath, 3 December 1646.

7. A true Accompt of Rents & Moneys recd. by Tho. Broster, one of the Sequestrators for the Hundred of Wirrall in the County of Chester, since the 2 Febr. 1645, vntill the 25 of Nov. 1646: and alsoe the Disbursements of all such Receipts. 99.

These Accounts were delivered upon Oath, to the Committee, 3 December, 1646.

8. An Acompt of what Monie hath beene received by Thomas Crosse one of the Committee for Sequestrations, in the Hundred of Wirrall, from the sequestred Estates in his Alotment; from 24 June 1646: vntill the 2 day of October next following: together with his Disbursements from the same. 110.

9. An Acompt of what Monie was recd. by Tho. Crosse one of the Sequestrators for the Hundred of Wirrall; since the second day of October, 1646: vntill the 24 day of November following: with his disbursements. 116.

These Accompts, (that is, this & the former) were given in vpon Oath, to the Committee, by the said Crosse, 3 Dec. 1646.

10. Three Books of like Accompts for the yeare 1647, signed by Richard Johnson another of the Sequestrators in the said Hundred; and delivered vpon Oath, the 30th of March 1648. 122.

N. B. fol. 149 is transposed, and should have been the first Leaf of these Accompts.

11. A true & perfect Account of the Receipts & Disbursements of Richard Johnson one of the Sequestrators of the Hundred of Wirrall, since the first of December 1646, in the Office of Sequestrations; to the 15th of April 1647. 151.

These Accompts being signed by Janion aforesaid; were delivered in vpon Oath, 30 March 1648.

A Theological Book in folio, written almost wholly by the Hand of Edward Shawe of Halton in Cheshire; who having been Curate to Mr. Jhon Brereton Parson of Meoustoke in Hampshire, in the Yeare 1576, became Chaplain to Sir John Savage of Baraver in the same County, Knight, as may appear in the Notes by him written in fol. 2. b. But more particularly I find therein, before the work which commenceth at the Leaf numbered fol. 1.

1. Two Notes relating to the said Sir John Savage or his Family; Notes about a Comet which appeared A. D. 1577; about the Death of William Downham Bishop of Chester; and the building of Frodsham Bridge: among much Scribble in the first unmarked page.

2. Some Notes about Baptisme; with an Astrological Table: on the next page transversed.

Then turning back 3 Leaves you may find,

3. A Preface of Hugh Kinge Musician, in Defence of Dauncing, and of Organs; against divers of the Puritanically-affected Clergy; seeming to have been copied from a printed book.

Then turning the book, as before, we find

4. The Summe & Content of all the Holy Scripture, both of th'Old & New Testament.

5. Certain Theological Verbes, & short Notes.

6. The Nature & Exposition of the 12 Signs of the Zodiac, applied to Mens Inclinations & Tempers.

7. Part of Wi. T's (Will. Tindale?) Preface vnto the Reader, giving the Somme & Contents of the Scripture (the wrong side upward.)

8. Notes of no Relation to one another; and of little moment.

9. Table shewing the Times of the moveable Feasts, from A. D. 1574. to 1590. perhaps taken from the Service-booke.

Then comes the principal Work of the Book, being,

10. An Explication of very many places or Texts of the Holy Scriptures, which seem to be repugnant to each other. 1.

11. Part of a Table to the said Work. 150. b.

2020.

A Book in folio, written by divers Hands (but chiefly by that of the second Randle Holme) on the out-side thus entituled, "Deedes concerning the City of Chester; the City-Lands," etc. which seeming too general I shall take the Liberty of observing these particulars that follow.

1. The third Randle Holme's List of Things of principal note in this booke: made A. D. 1669.

At the beginning,

2. An Alphabet of Men's Names; or of the Names of Families, mentioned in this Book.

3. Notes out of a little booke in the Maiors Chest, when William Dauison was Maior; anno 9 Hen VIII.

390. A.

Herein are Notes of Pleas in the Port-mote-Court there. v. g. Richard Jaun for breaking a Welshman's Head, fined in 6s. 8d. Tho. fil. Willi. Flether, for breaking Will. Mercer's Head, 3s. 4d. and Will. Mercer to pay as much.

4. The Manner of the Entrance of Free men at a Port-mote-Court: (or Freemen of ould how made.)

390. b.

5. A Precedent of a Man's being made free, without paying any Fine; because his Father was free before his Birth.

ibid.

6. Notes

Num. 2020.

6. Notes out of an other small Booke in Mr. Maiors Chest. 390. C.

Here, among other matters, I find,

7. That anno 16 R. Henrici vi. Richard Playmond-stow of Chester, Clerk, late Dean of Chester, was sued for Extortion.

8. That the Sheriffs held an Inquisition & Inditements without the Maior. 396. C. b.

9. That anno 17 R. Henrici vi. the whole Company of Bakers were indicted, upon a Combination among themselves. 390. D.

10. Customes of the City, payable for Goods carried into Ireland, and out of Ireland, by Pack, &c. 392. E.

11. Customs paid for Entrance of Shippes & Goods out of Ireland. 390. E. b.

12. Fines Carnificum extra Libertatem. 390. F. b.

Hereby it appereth, the Buchers were fined that sould within the Libertyes without Licence; and also payd Toleat Gates.

13. Abstracts out of some Roules in the Treasure-Howse of Chester, taken A. D. 1645. 390. H.

14. List of Writings or Instruments in the Mayors Boxes. 390.

15. Of a Gift bequeathed to the City of Chester, by Thomas Aldersey Citizen and Haberdasher of London, A. D. 1608. 395.

16. Bond of the Companies of Wrights, Sawyers & Slaters to the Incorporation of Chester, for their future better behaviour. dat. 20 Oct. anno 33 R. Eliz. 396.

17. Of the Gift bequeathed to the City of Chester, by Foulk Aldersey Alderman, circa ann. 11 R. Jacobi. 400. b.

18. Indenture concerning the Gift of Dame Elizabeth Booth Widow, to the City of Chester, &c. dat. 14 Jan. ann. 17 R. Jacobi. 401.

19. Extracts from the Counterparts of Chester-Cities Leases. 402.

20. Agreement between John Holand Yeoman-Usher of the Kinges Chamber, & the City of Chester, who claimed the Office of Gawgershipp within their City, as appertaining to them, & in their Disposition: which Office being given by the King to Holand, he releaseth to the City, in Consideration of a Sum of Money. dat. 3 June ann. 30 Hen. viii. 418.

21. Indenture shewing that Owen Johnes did receive for the City of Chester, according to the Direction of Thomas Buchurst Lord High Thresorer of England, & Sir John Fortescue Kt. Chancellor & Under-Thresurer of the Exchequer, of Vincent Skynner Esq; one of the Officers of the Receipt of the Exchequer, one Standard-Bushell, Gallon, Quart, & Pint, of Brasse: hauing her Highnes Stile & Armes imbossed, & in sundrey places stamped with the Letter E & Crowne Imperiall, and Exchequer-Stampe in the bottom; all measured, tryed, & sized, by her Majesties Standard; in the said City of Chester to be safely kept, for the Use & Profit of the Common-Wealth, according to the Act of 12 Hen. vii. For which Measures, (with some Incidental Charges) the said Owen Johnes disbursed £7. 2. 3. dat. 4 May ann. 44 R. Eliz. 418. b.

Then follow,

22. Draught of a Letter from the Magistrates of Chester, to some Lord (perhaps, to the Lord-Treasurer Burghley) setting forth, that their Butchers having lately enhaunsed the Prices of Flesh, they were constrained to call in the Countrey-Butchers, by whose repaire thither, the Citie was better & more reasonably served. And because there was noe convenient place to erect any Shambles within that Citie; and that the ould Shier-Hall (adjoyneinge to the same) being vncovered & in ruyn, might be made very commodious for such a purpose: they humble beseeche him to be a meane that the Citie might haue the said decayd Howse and Rowme, for such Consideracon as should be thoughte reasonable. mating besides that albeit their habilites extended not to gratifie his Lordship in any Respects as they ought; yet did they presume this Bouldnes to sende vnto his honour half a dozen of Cheshire Cheefes. dat. 4 Febr. 1578. 420.

23. Letter from Sir Hugh Cholmondeley, to the same Lord Treasurer, & Sir John Fortescue Chancellor of the Exchequer; certifying, that the Mayor & Citizens of Chester having obtained their Suite for transporting the old Shire-hall into their Citie, and making the upper part of it into a Garner to serve for the Stowadge of her Majesties Corne, or other Provisions; and a Flesh-Shambles or open Markett underneath; which had been done with great Expence: there was come forth from their Honors a mean Proces against the Maior & Inhabitants of the Citie, for £.40. for the Price of the said ould Shire-hall, as though the same had bene bought for so much money. dat. 25 May 1594. 421.

24. Another Letter of the same, to the said Lord Treasurer, as it seemeth, certifying, that he had surveyed the old Shire hall, & found, in respect of the great Want of such a House, to serve for the laying up of the Corne & Victuals provided for her Majesties Garrison in Ireland; and that the building of the same would be very chargeable to her Majestie, as it will be to the Citizens: his Lordship could not any otherwise haue so profitable & honorable bestowed the same; as well for the benefit & furtherance of the Queenes Service, as to releue the said Citie with a Roome for an open Flesh-Shambles; which they stand greatly in neede of. 421. b.

25. The Lord Treasurer Burleigh's Letter to Sir Hugh Cholmondley Kt. Surveyor of her Majesties Lands in Cheshire. Shewing, that notwithstanding Mr. Glafour & Mr. Bostock had a sort of Promise of the preferment, before others in buying of the old Shire-hall; yet being moved by Letters from the Maior of Chester, &c. to permitt the same to be converted to some necessarie use; as the vpper part to be a Garner for her Majesties Provisions, and the lower part for a Shambles: He requires Sir Hugh, if he knows not Cause whie the same were better to be otherwise employed, to giue Order that the Maior may proceede to the repaire or alteringe thereof to the purposes aforesaid. dat. 1 Sept. 1531. 422.

26. Sir Hugh Cholmondley's Letter to William Bird Mayor of Chester, warranting him or his Deputies, on the behalfe of the Citizens, to take & receive the ould Shire-Hall, to be forthwith altered, converted, repayed, & employed for and to a Garner for the Stowage of her Majesties Corne, or other Provisions; and a Flesh Shambles or open Market to be made underneath. dat. 10 October 1581. 422. b.

27. Notes relating to the payment of £40. for the said old Shire hall, by the Mayor & Citizens of Chester; and also of £45. 2. 6. wherein they were amerced anno 4 R. Eliz. of which Sums they were discharged 18 June 1594. ibid.

Then follow more Abstracts of Chester-City-Deeds, among which I particularly note, 28. Some relating to Lands in Bersham in Com. Denbigh, whose Names are Welth. 428. b.

These Lands were purchased by Valentine Broughton Alderman of Chester, and were by him bequeathed to the Citie, to divers charitable purposes. Here also follow divers other Extracts relating to the said Mr. Broughton's Will & Estate.

29. Abstracts of Deeds relating to Yscoyd Lands. 433. b.

30. Short Notes extracted from the several Charters granted to Chester; irregularly fastened in, at 437.

31. Abstract of a Deed relating to an Houise in Bridge-street, belonging to the Maior & Commonalty of Chester A. D. 1423; and afterward lost by them. 441.

32. Grant of an annual Rent-charge of 20 Shillings, by Richard Dutton Maior of Chester, & others; to William

Num. 2020.

William Leech &c. for the Reparation of St. Peters Church there for ever. dat. 15 Sept. anno 16 R. Eliz. 442.

This Mr. Dutton & his Fellow Trustees, were to continue a perpetual Succession, by electing new ones, when the Majority of their Number should be deceased. But for want of doing so the Benefaction hath been lost long since.

33. I might have mentioned before, (but think it not here too late) An Inquisition taken the last of May 1624, before Thomas Foster one of the Deputy Stewards of the Lordship of Bromfeld & Yale, in the County of Denbigh, upon the Oaths of John Lloyd, &c. (all Welshmen) sworn in the Court of the Manor of Yfcoyd, for setting of Meres & Bounds of three parcells of Land, late the Lands of Valentyn Proughton deceased. To which Inquisition, the Steward above-mentioned set his Hand & Seal; but the Jury sett to ther Hands, and Tags for Seales. 339.

34. Indenture tripartite made 6 Febr. anno 24 Hen. vii. between Thomas Smyth th'elder, Over-seer of the Testament of Roger Smyth deceased, Sir Henry Bullinge & Sir John Davenport Chapleyns, & John Harper Marchant, Executors of the sayd Roger Smyth vpon the one part: & Thomas Hawardyn Maior of Chester, the Aldermen & Comynalty on the other part: and Margery Prioreffe & Convent of the Nuns of the Monastery of our blessed Lady of the said Citty vpon the third part: touching the Disposition of the Charities left & bequeathed by the said Roger Smyth. 444.

35. Carta, quâ Laurencius Smyth Arm. et Willelmus Davison Aldermannus Cestrie, Custodes five Magistri Fraternitatis five Gilde Sancte Urfule Sodaliumq; suarum Cestrie ac Fratres et Sorores ejusdem, concedunt, quod Custodes five Magistri Fraternitatis five Gilde S^{re}. R. Henrici Octavi. 445.

36. Extracts & Notes from the Citty-Writings, relating to the Law-Suit about to be commenced between the Citty & Sir Randal Crüe, for the Toll of Est-gate, A. D. 1639. 448.

37. Collections from the Records of Pendice-Court, by H. Dod Notary publick. 457. Among them I find,

38. Abstract of an Indenture whereby Grace, Daughter to Henry Turner Weaver, was bound Apprentice for 7 years to Jane the Wife of Richard Bauand then Maior of Chester: the said Jane covenanting to instruct & teach the sayd Grace in all such Trades (especially Maltinge) as she then used; and in due manner to chastise her. 469.

39. A Grant made (by interposition of Money) by Robert Brerewood Maior of Chester, & his Brethren, to Rouland Barnes of the said City Mercer, freeing him from being inpannelled in Juries, or called into the Common Council of 40, for Ten years then next to come. Which Covenant, it seems, they kept; but about 13 years after, they made him serve as one of the Sheriffs of the same City. This Brerewood was Mayor of Chester, A. D. 1583. 465.

40. An Indenture, whereby Thom. Fletcher of Chester, Alderman, with his Son, did grant to Peter Warbérton one of the Justices of the Bench, a Barne & some Land, late parcell of the Possession of the Black Friars in Chester. To have & hould the same for 1000 Yeares; paying yearly a Peper-Corne, if it be demanded. 478. b.

41. Notes out of Mr. Thomas Chaloners Presidents by him made. 484.

Num. 2020, 2021.

42. Breefes of Dedes in Hands of Tho. Wormincham Tayler, A. D. 1649. 485. b.

43. Collections made by the second Randle Holme out of the Pentice-Roules, A. D. 1652. 488.

Now follow Copies or Extracts of divers matters relating to the Admiraltie in those parts; entred into this book by several Hands; for instance, 44. Commillion of Thomas Lord Seymour of Sudeley, Lord High Admiral of England, &c. whereby He appointed Sir Thomas Holcrofte of Vale-Royal, to be his Vice-Admiral in the Counties of Chester & Lancaster. dat. 19 die Junij A. D. 1547. 493.

45. A Summons of one Thomas Radford, to appear at the Court of Admiralty then held in Southwark, near London-bridge, by Edward Clinton Earl of Lincoln, then Lord High Admiral. dat. 8 June, A. D. 1575. 494.

Here is a Trick of the Great Seal, which that noble Lord used in the said Court, as Admiral.

46. An Instrument whereby William Stanley Earle of Derby Vice-Admiral of the Counties of Chester & Lancaster, constituted Thomas Wyat Gentleman his Procurator, through the sayd Counties. dat. 18 Sept A. D. 1635. 494. b.

47. The Judges Charge in the Admiralty-Court. 495.

48. Presidents used in the Admiralty-Court at Chester. 497.

49. Admiralty-Statutes, for the Orderynge of the Water of Chestre. 499.

50. The olde Custome & Lawe of Chestre for the Water of Dee. 499. b.

51. The Maior & Commissioners Precept, for Appearance before them, about the Water of Dee: A. D. 1588. ibid.

52. A View taken of Flod-yats by the Maior of Chester, & his Bretheren, anno 20 R. Henrici viii. 500.

It seems, that these Flood-gates have occasioned very much damage to the River of Dee; and have been one Cause of its being almost choaked up with Sand.

53. Letters Patents of K. Henry v. whereby he granted divers Liberties & Privileges to the Maister, Bretherne & Sytters of the Hospitale of Seynt Johan Baptist, without the Northgate of the Citie of Chestre; bearing Teste 26 Nouembre anno regni 2. 500. b.

54. Notes & Abstracts of divers Pleas held in the Port-mote-Court of Chester. 501. 512. b.

55. Notes collected from the Rolls of the Sherifes Court in Chester. 511.

Here it may be observed, that

56. Anno 28 R. Edw. 1. a man was sued for Fishing in the Kings part, below the Bridge, & catching 20 Salmon worth 20 Marks; and at another time, a Salmon worth 10 Shillings. ibid.

57. Executors did then sue in the Sherifes Court. 511. b.

58. A Mans Wife was Arrest upon her Hulbands cause; but getting the better, they were both attached afterwards. 512.

59. An Alphabetical Table of the Names of Places mentioned in this Book. 518.

2021.

An Heraldical Book in folio, consisting of different Works put up together; or done by different Hands, among which, I take that of Mr. Richard Scarlate Citizen & Painter-Stayner of London to be the principal. On the Outside it is entituled, by the third Randle Holme, "Sutes of Coates": which seeming to me not sufficient, I presume to describe it in the manner following:

1. The said Randle Holme's account of the Things of most Note within this Booke; wherein the method observed in the next Work, is particularly described. At the beginning.

2. An old Ordinary of Armes, roughly tricked; seeming seeming not only to want two Leaves at the beginning ; but is otherwise imperfect, & damaged by much use.

Num. 2021, 2022.

3. 91. 98.

A great part of this, is of Mr. Scarlate's hand ; and some Additions have been made thereto by the said Randle Holme and his father.

3. Coates taken out of Pullar's Pisgah-sight, A. D. 1650 (the Gentlemen being all Citizens of London.) by the same Randle Holme. 60. b.

4. Armes of our Kings, from Edward III. to Henry VIII. inclusive ; impaling those of their Queens ; by Mr. Scarlate. 84.

5. Armes of divers of our Nobility & Gentry, mixed ; by the same. 85. b. 97, 101, 111, 118, 149, 155.

6. Armes of many antient English Barons. 102.

7. Arms of Sir Walter Rawley, with 3 Helms, as many Crests, and with Supporters ; printed. 116. b.

8. Fanciful Arms of England, or rather of Q. Elizabeth ; of many of our Nobility of the Royal Family ; of Dukes, Marquises, Earles, Viscounts, & Barons since the Conquest : perhaps collected from some Copie of Cookes Baronage. 123.

9. Armes of Scots Nobility, hastily trick'd by Scarlet above-mentioned. 148, 151, 156.

N. B. the Scots Armes seeme to be all dashed out, by a cross stroke, or diagonal line drawn through every Escutcheon ; which I understand not as if the said Armes are all false ; but only that they were all fairly entred from hence, into some other Book.

10. An Alphabetical Table of the Names of Families whose Coates are extant in this Booke. 158.

A Book in folio, written (with Tricks of Seales) by the second & third Randle Holme, & by certain others ; on the outside thus entituled, "Deedes of severall Cheshire families, &c. and wherein I find,"

1. The last Randle Holme's Account of Things of most Note in this Book ; at the beginning.

2. Extracts out of Mr. Greene of Pulton-Lancelyn's Deeds. Coppyed A. D. 1654. 1.

3. Extracts from certain Court-Rolls of Bebynton, Pulton-Lancelyn, &c. perhaps in the possession of the said Mr. Greene. 5.

4. Notes relating to the Family of Lancelyn, Greene, &c. gathered from certain Books marked with Letters ; which I take to have been part of the Collections either of Mr. Vernon, or of Mr. Dodsworth. 7.

Among these are some Church Notes, taken in Westminster, Luffwick & Greenes-Norton in Com. Northampton and Bebington in Com. Cestr.

5. Abstracts from Deeds in the possession of Raph Lownes of Ashley, anno 1650. 9. A.

These concerne chiefly, the Family of Lancelyn ; except the last, which is a sort of Pardon for Trespasses done in the Forest of Wirhall.

6. Some Notes relating to the Family of Strange of Knocking, taken out of an old Leger-booke, belonging to the Abbey of Hagham, penes Ric. Leuelon de Trent-ham Bart. A. D. 1635. 10.

7. Notes relating to divers Cheshire & other Families ; found in Mr. William Vernon's book of Pedegrees. ibid.

8. Abstracts of Deeds taken out of a booke of the Division of the Barony of Namptwich, in Custody of St. Geoffrey Shakerley of Holme, Knight, anno 1671. 16.

Most of these relate to the Family of Malban.

9. Notes taken out of Mr. William Vernon's Booke of Pedegrees of Lancashire Families, A. D. 1672. 17.

Here are some Church-Notes, taken at Winwyke & Rufford.

10. Extracts taken from the Deeds of Mr. Robert Griffeth of Bromhall in the County of Chelter, A. D. 1653. 23.

11. Extracts from many Deeds in the hands of Mr. CAT. HARL. VOL. II.

Num. 2022.

Bruen of Bruen-Stapleford in Com. Cestr. taken, anno 1652. 37.

12. Extracts from Deeds in the possession of Mr. Thomas Wettenhall of Namptwich, Anno 1691. 66.

13. Lift of divers Deeds relating to the Estate possessed by the Family of Wettenhall, with some Declaration of their latter Descents : attested & subscribed by John Wettenhall. loose. 65. c.

14. Copies or Abstracts of Deeds, &c. in the Custody of Sir Richard Grosvenor of Eaton. 86.

Among these, I perceive some relating to the Fishing in the River Dee, or to the Conservation of its Stream & Chanell : as also 15. Orders for the Grand Sergeant of Dee-water from Eaton-were to Arnolds-hare. 87.

16. The ould Custom & Law of Chester for the Water of Dee. 87. b.

17. Answer of Robert de Eton to a Quo-Waranto brought against him, about the Privileges he claimed in the River Dee (temp. R. Edw. III. ut videtur) 88. b.

18. Indenture, whereby John Abbat of Chester granted Liberty to Richard Grosvenor of Eton, Squier, to make & attach a Weyre or Fish-yard in the Water of Dee, upon the Soyle & Ground of his Convent : and also to make a litle Howse on the sayd Ground, for the safe keepinge of the Fish & Netts of the sayd Richard, &c. together with all the Teith-Fish that shall happen to be taken in the sayd Fyth-yord & Weyre, except of Picke, Tench, & Bream : for the annuall Rent of 25 shillings ; that is to witt, for the sayd Attachment & Howse, 20 pence ; and for the sayd Teyth-Fish 23s. 4d. dated, 6 September, anno 4th. R. Hen. VIII. 89. b.

19. Confirmation of the Golden Talbot the antient Crest of the Family of Grosvenor, to Richard Grosvenor Esq ; of Eaton. by Sir William Dethick Garter. Yeouen, 20 August, 1597. 90. b.

20. Grant in French, of a Crest to William Poole of Poole in Wherall in the County of Chester, Esq ; by Thomas Wryothesley Garter, & John Yong Norrey. dated 13 April, anno 4 R. Hen. VIII. 91. b.

21. Deeds copyed, (it should have been said abstracted) from the Originalls remaining in the Hand of Mr. Swetenham of Swetenham, Anno 1663. 121.

22. Notes, & Abstracts of Deeds, taken out of a Booke of Mr. Woodnetts ; who was one that went in the Visitation of Cheshire and Lancashire, A. D. 1613, with Sir Richard St. George Norroy, King of Armes. 124.

23. Ex Cartis Thomæ Woode de Batterley, A. D. 1613. (from the same Book.) 132. b.

24. Ex Evidencijs Ricardi Walthall de Wyllanston in Com. Cestr. Generosi, anno 1613. (still from the same book.) 133.

25. Ex Evidencijs Rogeri Wetenhall, de Copenhall Generosi ; anno Dni. 1613. (from the same book.) 135.

34. How the Manor of Baddiley came to the Mainwarings. 167.

35. Alphabetical Table of the Names of Places, mentioned in the preceding Collections. 175.

36. Dee's (i. e. Extracts from them,) in possession of me Randle Holme of the City of Chester; of my Lands & Tenements I have in severall Streets in Chester, 3 May, anno 1693. 182.

Among them, is a Copy of a Privy-Seale, dated 19 November 1625, directed to Randle Holme the first, for the Lane of Ten Pounds; which was paid accordingly.
He also paid Ten Pounds, for his Contempt in not attending & receiueing the Order of Knighthood at his Highness Coronation, according to the Law in that Case provided. Here is also a protection granted to one of the Holmes, by the Earl of Manchester, whereby he was to be free from Arrests, Pannells, Offices, &c. upon his being sworne & admitted in the Place of Sewer of the Chamber, in Extraordinarie, to his Majestie. dat.
20 December 1664.

37. Breviats of all the Deeds of Purchase of the Est-gate-streete Howse; and the Wainscote, Glasse, & Goods in it: collected by the second Randle Holme, 21 December, 1657. 190.

This tract hath many Additions made by his Sons hand: including what relates to Water-gate street, Go-fanna, Hanbridge, & Knottesford.

38. Deeds & Writings of Concernment to the whole Family and Estate of the Holmes of Chester. 200.

These are like Abstracts made by the same hand.

2023.

A Book in small folio, written by divers hands, and on the out-side thus entituled, 'Liber Tenures in Com-cestrie,' etc. It was begun to be written long ago, and was in the possession of the second Randle Holme in the year 1655, who hath taken much pains in noting down the Margins, the proper Names of Persons & Places: and hath also prefixed the Collectors Title to the whole Work, which seems to have been meant or conceived in the Words following.

1. Liber Feodorum Militum Comitatus Palatini Cestrie, per Thomam Greene Feodarium ibidem diligenter collectus ex Recordis in Scaccario Cestrie predictæ remanentibus, et alibi: et Baron. & Hundred. separat. & per semet ipsas collocat. Et Comitum, Dominorum, Militum, Armigerorum, et Generosorum, qui habuerunt aliqua Maneria, Mesuagia, Terras aut Tenementa, in Comitatu predicto, Nomina notata; et per quod Servi-tium Maneria, Mesuagia, Terre, et Tenementa predicta tenebantur: que omnia per Litteras Alphabeticas diuiduntur, quò cicius inveniantur. Et dedicatur et delibe-ratur honorabili Viro Willelmo Cecile Militi, principali Secretario Dne. Regine, et Magistro Curie Wardorum et Liberatarum Dne. Regine, 20 die Octobris, anno Eli-zabethæ Dei gratiâ Angliæ, Franciæ, et Hiberniæ Regine, Fidei Defensoris. &c. Quarto.

Further, I find therein,

2. Index Virorum, or an Alphabetical Table of Persons Names; at the beginning

3. An Alphabet of Townes Names, for this Booke; made anno 1664; at the end.

2024.

An oblong Book in small folio, consisting of a Collection of Prints, Drawings, & Paintings, mixed together; being such as was thought useful in the Business of an Armes-painter. They consist chiefly of Frontispieces, Compartments, Achievements, Armes, Devises, Supporters, Mantles, Helmets, Proportion of some Humane Bodies, Habits, Armor, Weapons, Bordures, Festons, Tombs, Alphabets, and other matters of Ornament.

Num. 2025, 2026.

2025.

A Book in small Folio, written by the Hands of the second & third Randle Holmes; and on the outside entituled, 'Fragments & Peeces of Broken Rolles belonging to the Pentice & Portmote-Court in Chester:' that is, Extracts, Copies, or Notes taken from such tatter'd Originals; not the Parchments themselves.
In turning this Collection over, I observe,

1. The last Randle Holme's Account of 'Things of most Note' in this Book. At the beginning.

2. His Table referring to the Lands in Chester & elsewhere, mentioned in this Book.

3. The Collection itself, which begins at fol. 9.

4. Indenture made 8 May anno 27 R. Henr. VIII.
whereby Edward Dimock of Chester Draper, covenan-teth with Henry Gee Alderman & Merchant of the same City, among other things, to find an able Watch-man well harnised yearly, at the Watch which is and shall be vsed to be kept within the said City, vpon Christmäs-Eue at night, and vpon St. Steuens day at night. 11. b.

5. Of a Suit between Ellen Plankeney Administratrix to her Husband Edward Plankney Gentleman, & Edward Plankney Yeoman: concerning a considerable Estate (before parcell of the lands belonging to the Nuns of Chester, & Monastery of Birkett (f. Birkinhede) anno 37 Hen. VIII. lett to ferme unto the deceased by John then Bishop of Chester, whose Lease was confirmed by the Dean & Chapter. 17. b.

6. Extracts from some Deeds, relating to Lands once possessed by the Dean & Canons of St. John's College in Chester. 18. b.

7. Some others, relating to Fishing in the River Dee.

10. Persons presented for Forestalling the Markett of Chester. (as likewise other Transgressors.) 33.

11. Lift of the Bakers of Chester; and their Markes for their Bread: from a Note of Mr. Chaloners A. D.
1589. 41.

2026.

A Book in small folio, seeming to have been written & tricked by the Hand of the third Randle Holme; who (in his later time) wrote this Note at the beginning thereof, 'This Book is my first Collections &
Draughts for the Academie of Armory, Anno 1649.'
Which date sheweth that he began that laborious Work when he was very young. The First Part of the Work containing Three Books, was printed at Chester for the Author. A. D. 1688. in folio: and (notwithstanding honest Randles manifest want of common Literature, and the numerous Errata of the Printer,) is really a very curious and useful Book upon many accounts, although now so much neglected & worn out of memory, as to be known to few People in these parts. And the vile price it hath been bought at, viz. eight Shillings, being much below the prime costs of Paper & Print, shew that the diligent Man must have been a great loser, after so many Years pains.

At the end of the Contents of the First Part, he hath inserted this Note. "Thus far have I, with much Cost & Pains, caused to be printed for the Publick Benefit. What remains (and is ready for the Press) is as followeth in the succeeding Contents: which (if encouraged by liberal & free Contributors) may appear in the World; else will sleep in the Bed of its Conception, and never see the glorious Light of the Sun." And indeed, that hath been its Fate; it is not yet printed, and perhaps never can be, a great Part of the Copy being lost since the

the Authors decease. That the Book did not sell, is imputed to Randles original sin. First in causing it to be printed at Chester, a great Way off; and secondly, for himself; the worst Article of the Two. No wonder therefore, if the Bookfellers combined together (in his Case, as in that of many others) to damn a Book they were not concerned in.

But to return to the Manuscript now before me; I observe that the greatest Part of the Tricks or Drawings (as well as the writing) is dashed through; by which marks I understand that the same were entered into some other Book or Books. Moreover, it may be remembred, that these Collections are loose and disjointed, & not in the same Order as they are printed. Lastly, that divers of the Drawings belong to the second or unprinted part of the Work.

I know not if it may beworthwhile to mention an original Letter fastened in this Book written by one John Price Vintner, and dated from Salop, 26 November 1617; wherein, amongst other matters, he expresseth himself thus, "You say I take vpon me to be the Glory of the North for a Vintnour: to which I answer, It hath pleased God that I know non outt of London or Brittolle retorne more money yearly then my self: which Account is easieley to be sene; and have don this 7 yeares, more then Too thousand Pounds a yeare And for ane Compact or Defaytte, or frawdulent Combynation between Him & Me; Yff another man doo saye it, He lyes in his Thrott. I skorn that mind; and yff he say that I ame satisfyed, he is a velen-lyinge Raskall."

A Book in small folio, written, tricked, and (in very many places) dashed or crossed like the former; being all done by the third Randle Holme; who in his later Years inserted the following Note at the beginning. 'This Book was my second Collection & Draughts for the Academy of Armory.' This is confused, and immethodical enough; and may contain some of the matters by him intended for the Second Volume.

In turning this Book over, among other Things, I observe toward the end,

2. Explication of divers Old Terms used in Blazon of Armes.
3. Descent of Stanley Earl of Derby, down to the last Earl William.
4. Descendants from Thomas Mostyn; brought as an Instance for the Marhalling of Coates.
5. Armes, or Atchievement of Leukenore, in Colors; as exemplified by Sir William Dethick, Garter, A. D. 1595.
6. Names of Writts used in our English Laws, explained.
7. Other Law-Termes explained.
8. John Watt his Accompts for what Profits hath bin rayfed att Mortherden-Millnes since his last Accompts, being the 24 of June 1645, vntill the first of March 1646. (One of the Sequestrators?)
9. Terms used by Theological Writers, & Canonists, explained.
10. Order of proceeding at the Funerals of sundry Personages, or Estates.

Another of old Randle Holme the third's Volumes; by him thus entituled, 'The first Book of the Academy of Armory, which only treateth of the Honorable Ordinaries: that is, containing only the first Nine Chapters of the First Book, and adorned with the printed Cutts, instead of Trickings. It comprehendeth also the Index to the First Book: and the Significations of all the Charges used in Herauldry, within his first Booke.'

Num. 2029—2035.

Another like Book in small folio, written by poor old Randle Holme the third, who (in his later time) gave it the Title following, 'The Manuscript of the Second Book of The Academy of Armory, to the Eleventh Chapter; as it was printed.' Here are no Trickings, but instead of them the printed Cutts are inserted. Several of the Leaves are damaged by the Fire, that no less fatal than frequent consumer of Books.

I cannot forbear remarking (and this with Astonishment) that in the First Page, under the Title above-mentioned, is the beginning of the Lords Prayer, in Greek, erroneously written, but not by a Greek, or in what we call a Greek Hand.

Here the Third Article (if I may say so) is most impudently perverted thus, ελθ' εγω (so it is written) "βασίλεια των Ιερουσαλμ;" an horrible Wickedness, in my poor Opinion.

2030.

Another like book written by the same Randle Holme the third, and by him thus entituled, 'The Manuscript of the Second Book of the Academy of Armory, as it was prepared for the Printing;' beginning with Chapter XI.

2031.

Another like book, written by the same Hand, and thus entituled, 'The Manuscript of the third Book of the Academy of Armory, as it was printed to the Sixth Chapter.'

The Trickings belonging to this Volume, are inserted into some of the former; and are not supplied by Prints. In turning the Book over, I observe much Writing or Matter dashed out; which I suppose to be inserted in Places more proper for it.

2032.

Another like book, written by the same Hand, and thus entituled, 'The Manuscript of the Academy of Armory, Book III. as it was for Printing from Chap. vi. to Chap. xiv.'

This is in the same Condition with the former; and with this the printed Book ends.

2033.

Another like Book, written by the same Hand, and entituled, 'The Manuscript of the Third Book of the Academy of Armory, as it was for the Printing, from Chap. xiv. to the end.'

It appeareth by many sure Marks, that this Volume was actually printed; but then, why it was not bound up with the former Part of the Work, I know not.

Some Paragraphs are dashed out, because they were brought in elsewhere.

Here are but two or three Trickings, and those hastily done; and no Alphabetical Tables at the end.

Another Book, being a Continuation of the former, and written by the same Hand. The greatest part of it seemeth to have been printed (but whether ever published, I cannot now say). Here are some Trickings, hastily performed, and (for the most part) dashed out, as having been made use of. This Volume concludes the 22 Chapter of the Third Book.

2035.

A parcel of loose Papers, written all by the same Hand, containing part of Randle Holme's Fourth Book of The Academy of Armory, being as yet unprinted: that is, Chapters iv, vi, viii, ix, xi, xii, & xiii. or part of them. Here are some Trickings; but, generally, the Papers look as if the last Hand was not putt to them. They are followed by some others, whereinto honest Randle digested.

An Alphabet or Table of all the Names of all the Coats

Num. 2035—2037.

Coats mentioned in the First, Second, & Third Books, according to their feuerall folios. That is, taking in the second part of the third Book.

N. B. This not being printed, divers who have the Book were obliged to be at the trouble of making such a Table to it for their own use.

A paper Book in small folio, written by diuers Hands in the Law-French, but wholly relating to the practice of the Municipal Laws of England: seeming to be a Collection of Cases argued in Westminster-hall, or extracted from the Plea-Rolls of either Bench there; all within the Reign of Queen Elizabeth. In turning it over, I observe the following Titles.

1. Term Trin. & Mich. anno 32 Eliz. in Banco Reg. This begins abruptly, the first Leaf being wanting.

In this Tract (at fol. 6. b.) mention is made of the Indictment of Sir William Dethick, for striking in the Palace of Westminster, and of his Plea. This had not been remembred here, but that I had been told before, that the Scene lay in St. Pauls Church-Yard.

2. Term. Mich. &c. anno 33 Eliz. in Banco Reg. 8.

3. Term Pasche, anno 19 Eliz. in Banco Regis. 51.

18. Term. Trinit. ann. 31 Eliz. Rot. 154. in banco Regine; inter Fenwicke & Midforth. 155.

19. Of Peters & Yorgall's Indictment for seditious Words. 157.

20. Of Mr. Gilford's Indictment, for being reconciled to the Seä of Rome. ibid.

2037.

A Book in folio written by diuers Hands; and on the outside thus entitled, 'Euidences & Old Deeds concerneing Cheshire Families, &c.' to which I may add both Families & Lands in Warwickshire, Kent, Lecestershire, Northamptonshire, Staffordshire, Shropshire, and other Counties; all which I chuse to describe briefly in the manner following.

1. The third Randle Holme's List of those Persons Names, in whose Hands, he found the Deeds hereafter to be mentioned. At the beginning.

2. Alphabetical Table of the Names of Families; extracted from the same Deeds. This followed by

3. Another like Table of the Names of Places.

Left the Peruser of this Volume should unwarily give too much Credit to these Tables, honest Randle hath advertised us, that they are both in Confusion, many Names of Places being inserted into the Alphabet of Sur-names; and many Sur-names into the Alphabet of Places.

4. Misterton & Pultney-Euidences. i. e. Short Notes extracted by the second Randle Holme, from a great Number of Deeds, &c. relating to the Families of Pultney, Napton, &c. and their Lands in Misterton, Pultney & eliewhere. 123.

5. Shenly-Euidences. 133.

These are like Notes, and seem also to have been taken, in order to the Laboring a Pedegree of Poulteney.

6. Out-Land Euidences. 151.

These Notes seem to belong to the same Work; and, with the former, include a great Number of Names.

7. Notes extracted by the second Randle Holme, out of the Deeds of Mr. Dais of Aston, A. D. 1639. 143.

Here are some Tricks of Seals (The Notes relate chiefly to the Towns of Horton & Hertford, in Cheshire)

8. Extracts from 16 Deeds in the Hands of John Edgeley of Marley, made by the same, A. D. 1650. 148.

Many of these (with others which immediately follow) relate to the Towne or Manor of Merbury in Cheshire. 152.

9. Notes upon Review of the Deeds: relating to the Family of Aston. 156.

10. Aston-Mondrem. 157.

These Extracts relate not only to the Town of Aston, but to the Families of Crue, Mynshul, &c.

11. Ashley-Evidence. 159.

Extracts of Deeds relating to that Place.

12. Frodsham, Kingesley, and Norley. 161.

i. e. Extracts from Deeds touching the Owners of Lands there.

13. Halton. 165.

In the same manner; and so of 14. Chester-Evidences. 169.

15. Minshull-Vernon, & Church-Minshull. 175.

16. Another parcel of Extracts from Deeds relating to Chirton, Codington, Tiltton, Farndon, Clutton, &c. 208.

17. Strange Evidences: i. e. like Extracts from other Deeds. 234.

18. Aston Evidence: i. e. like Extracts relating to the Family of Aston; taken A. D. 1635. 270.

19. Extracts from divers remarkable Deeds of the Old Earls of Chester, &c. by Mr. William Vernon that learned Antiquary; with an Original Letter of his to the second Randle Holme, dated 29 Maie 1639. 300.

20. The same Randle Holmes Extracts from the Evidences of Capt. George Dimock. 305.

21. His Extracts from the Deeds of Mr. Thomas Sanders of Clatterwick, A. D. 1649. 309. b. & 321.

These as the former, have Tricks of Seals: and are followed by others taken A. D. 1653, at 321. b.

22. Pleas at the Portmote of Chester, with other Extracts touching Lands, &c. in Chester. 324.

23. Certain Historical Notes excerpted by 330. b.

24. Notes extracted by the third Randle Holme, A. D. 1692. from the Deeds of Mr. Tho. Hulſe of Clive. 322.

25. His Notes from the Deeds in Custody of Christopher Wilſon of Bromhed in Com. Ebor. Gen. A. D. 1670. 347.

26. His Descent of that Wilſon; to whom he was allied. 349. b.

27. Extract out of the Register-booke of the Parochial Chapell of Bradfield; touching the family of Wilſon. 351. b.

Before I dismiss this Book, I shall take notice of some particular Deeds, which I note as uncommon.

Num. 2037, 2038.

28. A Writing of Award by John Sauage Knight, &c. Arbitrators; concerning the late Mariage solemnized betwixt William Poole & Elizabeth Tiltton: awarding that both Parties should personally appear at the Bishops Court, where William should exhibit a Bill in Forme of Law, & prosecute it against Elizabeth: as she should seemably doe: that the sayd Mariage might be there duly proved & confirmed, or else by Law dissolved. And if it should be proven Good; that it should be kept; but if the Lawes should judge a Divorfe, then Elizabeth to pay £6. 12. 4. An Heraldical Book in folio, being the Suite or second Part of that Work, which in this Library is Inscribed N^o. 2146. which will (God willing) hereafter be described in its place. This is written by divers Hands, and hath had many Additions & Continuations, made unto it, even so very lately as A. D. 1707, which was not long before its Owner the third Randle Holme deceased. He put upon its outside this Title, 'Pedegrees of diverse Places:' by which he meant, Pedegrees of Families dwelling in divers, or different Places; as well without as within the County-Palatine of Chester. Many of these are illustrated with Tricks of Armes, & Seals, Extracts from Deeds, and other Heraldical Notes, & principally done by the second and third Randle Holmes. This might serve as a general Account of this useful Book, since a particular One of all the Descents would be too tedious: but that, according to custom, I shall yet acknowledge that in turning it over, I observed,

1. The third Randle Holme's Alphabetical Table of the 'Pedegrees' entred into this Book. At the beginning.

2. His Alphabetical Table directing to the Coates of Armes found herein.

3. Dr. Humfrey Ridley's account of his Family, written by his own hand; inserted at. 178.

4. Copie of the Certificate or Acknowledgment of the Atchievement properly belonging to Lieutenant Colonel William Smith; by William Roberts Doctor of the Civile Law, & Vluester Kinge of Armes of the whole Kingdome of Ireland. dat. 14 July 1648. 219.

7. Original Paper of the Hand of S^r. Edward Walker Garter; desiring Information from Mr. Hurt of Casterne touching his own Family, who did formerly possess it. dat. 23 December 1664. at 289.

8. Copie of a Citation of S^r Robert Braerewood & other Gentlemen, to appear before the Committee for Sequestration for the City of Chester. dat. 23 Sept^r. 1646. 292. b.

A Book in fol. entituled on the out-side by the third Randle Holme 'Certificates taken after the Decease of Gentlemen, &c.' and may be divided into two Parts.

1. Funeral Certificates of some of the Cheshire-Gentry taken from A. D. 1600, to A. D. 1666. by W. Grafton Deputie al Norroy Roy Darmes: being for the most part, Originals, & many of them attested by the Hands of the Executors or nearest Relations to the deceased. 1.

Note, that some Additions & Emendations have been made to them by the second Randle Holme.

2. The Register-Booke of Funerals in the Counties of Chester, Lancaster, & North-Wales, begunne the 28 May 1606. by Richard S^r. George, Norroy King of Armes, (who subscribes the Title thereof with his own hand) to be continued by his Deputy Randal Holme, who was to truelie enter therein, from time to time, the Armes & Creafts, Match, Issue, & Decease of all such Persons of Coate-Armour & Worshipec, as it should please God to call out of this transitory Life, and should receive Worshipfull Enterment according to their Estates & Degrees. The said Randall to receive all Norroys Fees, for his Use; and upon the finishing of this Book, to deliver the same to the said Norroy, to be recorded & entred into his Majesties Office of Armes in London, according as he was enjoyned by Oath, and Order of his Office, for the Benefit of Posteritie. 15.

This good Order taken by that Norroy, would have been

Num. 2041, 2042.

been of great Use, if it had been well followed; but although the Register appeareth to have been well begun, the Armes being painted, the Certificate fairly copied &c. honest Randle Holme the first soon found those laborious Articles to be unnecessary, there being but 5 Achievements painted: and with the second Instance he failed as to the writing-part, there being no more of his Copies. But then in order to carry on the Register, he pasted the Original Certificates (in like manner as was done by those of W. Grafton abovementioned) upon another book; but not always in exact order of time, these Certificates seem to be, for the most part, drawn up by the afore said Randle Holme the first, as may appear, by comparing them with one subscribed with his Name, at fol. 52. and some Emendations have been made to them, and additional Certificates inserted by his Son the second Randle Holme, as at 23. 42. b.

3. The Fees to be demanded by the said Deputy to Norroy, upon these mournful Occasions, are specified, at 5. b.

4. The Book upon which all the Certificates are pasted, is an imperfect Copie of Cooke's Baronage.

A Book in folio, by the third Randle Holme, on the outside thus entituled, "Lancashire Deeds, &c." by which, we are to understand, copies of or Extracts from Seals, with other Notes, Papers Tricks of Seals & Monuments, relating chiefly to Persons or Places in Lancashire; and collected for the most part, by the said Randle, or by his father Randle the second. But, forasmuch as this Account may be deemed too general, I shall take the Liberty of putting down what I particularly remark therein; as followeth,

1. The Alphabetical Tables of Persons & Places mentioned in this Book, are not here; but are to be found in another Volume of the Work whereof this is a part, now inscribed 96 C. 25.

2. The third Randle Holme's Catalogue of the Things of most Note, entred into this Book; at the beginning.

3. List of the Free-holders Names throughout Lancashire; taken A. D. 1600. 185.

4. Nomina Villarum infra Comitatum Lancastrie, 204.

5. List of the Parish-Churches throughout the County Palatine of Lancashire, with the Hundreds they are in; and what Townships are in each Parish, ex libro W. Vernon Gen. A. D. 1668. 228.

6. Extracts from some Deeds, belonging to the Talbots. 213.

7. Carta R. Richardi III. quâ concedit Thomæ Talbott Militi, pro bono ac gratuito servicio suo, in captura magni Adversarij sui Henrici nuper de facto, sed non de jure, Regis Angliæ, sibi ac bonæ memoriæ Edwardi Regis IV. impensis, quadraginta Libras annuatim percipiendas de exitibus Comitatus Palatini Lancastrie. dat. 2 Augusti, anno Regni secundo. ibid.

8. Original Letter of Doctor Richard Keurden of Preston, to Randle Holme, dated 10th January 1664, desiring him to lend him what he had of Coll. Worden's Descent; and also to send him his old Role or Bundle of Transcripts concerning Fazakerley's & Walton's Lands. Adding that Mr. Townly and himself were in hott pursuit of their Countreyes Affaires, and in retrieving the Glory of their Palatine out of Monumental Ashes: being able to proue their County a Palatinate Jurisdiction under Rog. Pictavensis, before the Grand Survey of Domesdays Record in the Exchequer, and forfeited before that time; restored againe in William the second's time; forfeited again by Pictavensis at the Battell of Tenerchrey, in the beginning of Henry the first: bestowed then on Stephen before he was King; and continued for his Raigne in his son Will. Comes Boloniæ et Moritoniæ, til about 5th of Richard the first; then given to

Jo. Earle Morton; afterwards to P. of Sauoy; and by Henry III. conferred on Edmund Crouchback their first Earle by Charter; though some of the latter had not their Jura Regalia, as at first. 214.

9. Part of a List of the old Fines, or Pedes Finium remaining of Record, in the Exchequer of Chester, as it seemeth. 215.

10. A Kalender of the Evidene of Roger Kirkby Esq. 231.

11. Extracts from 3 Deeds of Colewyke & Byron with a Trick of the Seal of John Byrune. 233.

12. A Trick of an old Picture of a Knight kneeling armed in a Shirt of Mail, with a Tabard over it, of an old Fashion, & without Sleeves. On the Tabard are his Armes, but not exprest as in an Escutcheon, or as in the way used in later times. Yet in his left Hand he holds up an Escutcheon with his Armes according to the antient manner. 233.

This is said to be taken from the North-Window of the Church of Colwick, in Nottinghamshire.

13. Extracts from the Notes incerted by Mr. Vincent in the side of Standishes Pedigree: one of which, is the Receipt of Thomas Carlton Vickar of the Church of Crofton, which he gave for the Relique of S^t Lawrence's Head, brought out of Normandy by Sir Rouland of Standish. dat. 2 March 1442. 239. A.

14. Extracts from the Deeds of Mr. Maghull of Maghull, taken A. D. 1639. 248.

Among these, divers relate to the antient family of Molyneux.

15. Notes relating to the Family of Biron, collected from the great Pedigree of that Family, which was labor'd for Sir John Biron Knight of the Bath, A. D. 1627. 263.

16. Excerpta ex Collectionibus Rogeri Dodsworth de Hutton-grange in Com. Lancast. 24 Maji 1629. 272.

These are Extracts from Deeds relating to divers Families.

17. Extracts from the Deeds of Samuel Bispham of Billinge in the County of Lancaster, Esq; with his Pedigree collected out of Evidences, and other authentick matter of Record, by Sir Henry S^t George K^t Norry King at Armes, Anno 1640. 273.

18. Confirmation of the Armes, with a Grant of an Augmentation to the same, and a Crest, unto the afore said Samuel Bispham Esq; by S^t Henry S^t George Norroy. dat. 1 January 1640. 278. b.

19. Pedigree of the Family of Dauntesey 281.

20. Descent of the Family of Preston. 282.

Or rather, a Genealogical Scheme shewing the Descendants from Thomas Preston of Preston Patrick, & Leavens in Westmerland.

21. Short Decents of Byram, & of Byrom 284. b.

22. Descent of the noble Family of Ogle, down to William Duke of Newcastle. 285. b.

Part of this is said to have been copied from those Papers of Mr. Ogle which he took from his Deeds, A. D. 1611; and is continued to A. D. 1645.

23. Extracts from the antient Deeds of the said Noble Family; with Tricks of some of the Seals. 286. b.

24. Indentura inter Willelmum More Arm. Majorem Ville de Leuerepole, et Communitatem ejusdem Ville, ex una parte, et Willelmum Molyneux Militem, ex alterâ; dat. 5 die Octobr. anno 15 R. Henrici VIII. 287. b.

25. Deeds copied by me R. Holme of Chester Alderman, remayning in the Hands of Henry Beardsworth now of Chester & of Layland in Com. Lancast. 3 September 1650. 288.

To this Title, the same Randle, afterwards (being almost asleep, as I suppose) added these words, written verbatim, for the very first of them begins thus, 'Sciant etc. ego Robertus' — & others in the same manner; so that some of them are only Extracts, and not written verbatim.

26. Descent

Num. 2042, 2043.

26. Descent of the Family of Beardsworth. 288 b.
 27. The same Randle Holme's Extracts from divers Deeds in the possession of James Stopford, Esq; made in the month of March 1650. 291.
 28. Literæ Confraternitatis, quibus Johannes Prior localis Ordinis Fratrum Heremitarum S. Augustini Conventus Staffordie, accepit Johannem Bakehouse et Cice- liam uxorem suam, in Fraternitatem ejusdem Domus. dat. A. D. 1361. 292. b.
 29. Extracts from Deeds in the Custody of Mr. Wil- liam Rauon of Ellworth. 308.
 30. Extracts from Deeds in the Custody of Mr. James Jolly of Manchester, made by the said Randle Holme; A. D. 1652. 309.
 31. Extracts from Deeds in the possession of Mr. Ri- chard Jackson aliàs Kauerden, Doctör of Physick, made by the same Randle Holme, in January 1653. 316.
 32. Notes copyed out of the same Dr. Jackson's Col- lections, that were written with his owne hand: by the same Randle Holme. 326. b.
 33. Copies of Deeds taken by Dr. Jackson aliàs Cuer- den. 329. b.
 34. Mundana mutabilia, ETHLESTOPHYLAX: A De- claration how God hath preserved the Family, Kindred, or Posterity of Ethelston (now called Elston) in a compe- tent, though variable Estate, for a longe Tyme; as the same hath bin collected from fundry parcells of ancient Evidences by William Elstone. 336.
 This Treatise was written by Mr. Elston A. D. 1625, as appears in fol. 338 b. & 339. but, in this Copie is carried down no lower than ann. 2 R. Elizabethæ. The se- veral Families of whom it treats, seem to have been of the lesser Gentry; and Mr. Elston himself seems by his man- ner of Writing, to have been not only a pious man, but also well skilled in the Laws of this Realm.
 35. Extracts from old Deeds found in the possession of several Persons, whose names are omitted. 363.
 These relate, principally, to the Families of Faza- kerley & Walton: as also to divers of the old Inhabitants of the Town of Liverpool.
 36. Walton Deeds. 373.
 These are Extracts from old Deeds chiefly relating to the Family of Walton: and also to those of Clayton, Preston, &c.
 37. Collectanea de Honore Lancastriæ, ex libro Jo- hannis Hide de Urneston Arm. 383.

- A Book, in folio, consisling of divers Tracts, partly Historical & partly Heraldical, bound up together in no good Order; many of which are neither perfect, nor written by the same Hands. However, they may be described thus,
 1. The third Randle Holme's List of the Things of most Note in this Book. At the beginning.
 2. An Alphabetical Table of the Families Names, whose Pedigrees may be found in this Book.
 3. A like Table pointing to the Armes entred herein.
 4. A briefe Journal of the Seige against Lathom-Hall, Anno 1644. 1.
 5. Short Discourses upon these several Titles, viz. Gentleman, Knight, Baronet, Prince, & King; with some miscellaneous Notes, & an original Letter of one Samuel Clarke, intermingled. 9.
 6. Of the Antiquity & Constitution of our Parlia- ments. 20. b.
 7. A perfect List of the Names & Sur-names of the Knights & Burgeses for this County & Burrough of Derby, as they were chosen to attend that Parliament holden at Westminster, 3 Nov. 1640. 22.
 8. An unfinished Draught of the Market-house of Lich- field. 24.
 This belongs to an imperfect Account of the besieging of Lichfield-Close, A. D. 1642. written by some

Num. 2043.

- Cavalier, who had more Zeal than Learning (et vid. plura fol. 38.)
 9. Names of the Knights & Gentlemen resident in Derbyshire, as returned into the Exchequer, anno 12 Regis Henrici vi. 32.
 10. A Fragment of an Account of the Siege of La- thom-House, A. D. 1644. 36.
 This was different from that abovementioned, at § 4.
 11. A List of those Leicester-shire Gentlemen, who com- pounded with the Parliament for their Estates, at Goldsmith's Hall in London, during the time of the Civil War. 38. b.
 12. Part of a List of the Lords of the Privy Council to K. Charles II. designed to set forth their Titles, Cra- tion, Armes, &c. (but little is done) 46.
 13. Notes about John of Gaunt, & his son K. Henry iv. (short) 48.
 14. Descent of Stanley Earl of Derby (Imperfect at the end) ibid.
 15. Descent of Ferrers Earls of Derby. 48.
 16. Imperfect Tricks of two Corporation-Seals. fol. 54. (perhaps of Kendal in Westmoreland. vid fol. 91. b.)
 17. An imperfect & unlearned Essay towards an His- tory of the County of Westmoreland, and of the Noble & Worshipful Families therein resident fol. 56. (90, which follows 57. b.) 58. 84. 88. 90. (127, which follows 91. b.)
 18. Of the Lord Keeper Sir Edward Littleton (Lord Littleton of Mounflow) his exemplary Loyalty to K. Charles I. 60.
 19. Descent of Lenox Earl of Richmond, with Notes. 60. b.
 20. Descendants from Edward Seymour Lord Protec- tor, down to Francis Duke of Somerset; which Title he had not until the year 1675. 63.
 21. Descent of the Family of Bertu. 64.
 22. Some Notes touching the Family of Boyle, Earl of Burlington, as descended from that of Clifford. 66. b. & 67.
 23. Others relating to that of Bouchier, Earl of Bath. 68.
 24. ——— Wryothesley, Earl of Southampton. 68. b.
 25. ——— Sackville, Earl of Dorset. 70.
 26. ——— Cavendish, Earl of Devonshire. 72.
 27. ——— Carey, Viscount Falkland; Earl of Dover; & Earl of Monmouth. 73.
 28. ——— Hamilton, Duke of Hamilton & Earl of Cambridge. 75.
 29. ——— Digby Earl of Bristol. 76.
 30. ——— Fane, Earl of Westmerland. 77. b.
 31. ——— Howard, Earl of Berkshire. 78.
 32. ——— Savage Earl Rivers. 78. b.
 33. ——— Dormer, Earl of Carnarvon. 82.
 34. ——— Blount, Earl of Newport. 83.
 35. ——— Howard, Duke of Norfolk. 83. b.
 These last Notes are almost wanting. The principal Reason of treating of these Noble Families abovementioned, seems to be their Attachment to the Cause of their Sovereign King Charles I. and their respective Sub- scriptions made at York, for bringing each such a Num- ber of Horsemen completely furnished to his Assistance.
 36. Larger Notes (but sometimes erroneous) touch- the Descent of Nevil, Earl of Westmoreland (and seeming to belong to the Tract mentioned above at § 17) 84.
 37. Some others, relating to the Fanes Earls of West- moreland: and likewise to the same Tract. 88.
 38. Armes of divers of the Nobility, used in the Des- cent of Talbot Earl of Shrewsbury. 92.
 39. Descents of many Staffordshire Families, with some Notes & Tricks; seeming to be taken from old Visita- tion-books of that County. They are placed partly in Alphabetical Order; and, the Leaves being transposed, the Tract doth not begin at fol. 94, where is the Descent of Fowler: but at fol. 136. b. where we meet with that of Adderley (vid. etiam fol 104. & 172. 198 & 210. b.) 40. Notes

Num. 2043, 2044.

40. Notes relating to Cumberland, and to several ancient Families there, being of the same inaccurate Person who as above is said, did endeavor to write about Westmoreland. 102. et vide 164.
41. Part of a List of the Cheshire gentry who compounded with the Parliament, for their Estates, at Goldsmith's Hall in London, during the time of the Civil Warres. 118. 128. (vid. fol. 167.)
42. Notes illustrating the descent of the Noble Family of Tufton, aliàs Foketon. 120.
43. Others relating to that of Poulet Baron of Hinton St. George. 132.
44. ——— Pierpont, Marquis of Dorchester, & Earl of Kingston. 133. et 183.
45. ——— Coventrie, Baron of Aileborough. 135.
46. ——— Savile, Earl of Suffex. 136. b.
47. ——— Mohun, Baron of Oakhampton. 138.
48. ——— Leigh, Earl of Chichester. 139.
49. A Catalogue of the Earls of this Towne of Nottingham; with a brief historical Collection, setting forth their Loyalty, Armes, Wives, & Deaths. 140.
50. Succession of the Earls of Derby; imperfect. 144.
51. A Note relating to the honorable Life of George Savile, late Marquis of Halifax. 144. b.
52. An Account of the High Sheriffs of Derbyshire, during the Reign of K. Charles 1. 145.
53. Notes relating to the Derbyshire-Baronets, and their behaviour toward K. Charles 1. 149.
54. Notes, like those before remembred, relating to the Family of Paget, Baron of Beaudefert. 153.
55. Like Notes relating to the Family of Rich, Earl of Warwick. 155. b.
56. ——— Belafyse Viscount Falconberg, &c. 157.
57. ——— Brugges, Lord Chandos. 158. b.
58. ——— Capell, Earl of Essex. 161.
59. ——— Cary, Viscount Falkland. 162.
60. ——— Cromwell, Earl of Arglafs, 169.
61. ——— Leigh, Baron of Stonley. 173. b.
62. ——— Sutton, Lord Lexington (imperfect) 181.
63. Imperfect Notes concerning the Nottinghamshire Baronets, and their behaviour toward K. Charles 1. 184.
64. Notes like those above, relating to the Family of Stanhope. Earl of Chesterfield. (imperfect.) 196.
65. De Episcopis Lichfeldensibus & Coventrensis: a Duina, usq; ad Ricardum Poche. 208.
66. The printed Alphabetical Table to John Gwillim's display of Heraldry. 221.

2044.

A Book in folio, consisting of several Tracts & loose Papers bound up together, being written by the second Randle Holme, and others; on the back-side thus entitled, "Deeds of Abbeyes & Priories," &c. wherein I find,

1. The third Randle Holmes Account of the Things of most Note in this Book: at the beginning,
2. Index Locorum; or an Alphabetical Table of the Names of Places mentioned herein.

Next, follows a large Collection of Notes and Characters, with Tricks of many of their Seals; gathered from many Persons and Places, and may be accounted for in the following manner.

3. How Hugh Lupus Earl of Chester gave his Estate in Scipena to the Abbey of Abendon, manu cultellum Altari superponendo; with his Epistle to the Abbat Rainaldus, shewing upon what Terms he would part with it. Taken out of the Leiger of the Abby of Abbingdon remaineing in Cotton's Library, & noted, Claudius C. 9. 1.

4. Carta quâ Hugo cognomento Kivelioc Comes Cestrensis, concessit Ecclesiam Bettessfordiæ Priori et Canonicis de Trentham. ibid.

This Copy (says the same Randle) I received from

Num. 2044.

Sir Simon d'Ewes: whose Transcript of it may be found in this Library, at 37 B. 13. fol. 216. b.

5. Carta quâ Ranulfus Comes Cestriæ, dedit Cevæ Ridel filiæ Comitis Hugonis, Draitunam, in libero Conjugio, sicuti Comes Hugo ei in libero conjugio dedit et concessit. ibid.

This I receuied (quoth Randle) from Sir Simon d'Ewes, taken out of a Manuscript in Arundell-house, which belonged aunciently to the Barons of Stafford; wherein the old Charters of the Bassets of Drayton-Basset were inrolled, about the time of Richard II. (vid. 37. B. 13. fol. 248. 248. b.)

6. Copy of the Charter whereby Richard Earl of Chester gave an Hide of Land in Wdemundellai to the Monastery of Abendon, anno 6 Regis Henrici 1. 1. b.

This Deed comes from the Cottonian ms. before-mentioned, and is also transcribed into 37. B. 13. at fol. 217. b. where a remarkable Note in the Cottonian book, is there omitted. It shews that this Earl "nondum militari baltheo cinctus," as being under Age, had not a Seal of his own, but used that of his Mother.

7. Conventio inter Comitem Cestriæ, et Robertum Comitem Legecestriæ, et finalis Pax et Concordia quæ fuit concessa ab eis, coram secundo Roberto Episcopo Lincolnæ, et Hominibus eorum, circa Burgum et Dominicum Castrum de Mount-Sorell, et Castrum de Ravenstona, &c. 1. b.

Honest Randle found the Original of this, in Bibliotheca Cottoniana: i. e. in the book inscribed Næro C. 111. Cart. 4. where I have also seen it. vid. Smithi Catal. Bibl. Cotton. pag. 52. col. 2.

8. Old Deeds transcribed or extracted from the great Couchir-booke in the Duchy-Office at Grayes-Inne. London. 2. b.

They all relate to the Family of the old Earles of Chester.

9. Ex Claus. 16. Hen. III. a Writt about putting Clementia the Widow of Ranulf Earl of Chester, in full possession of her Dowry. 5.

10. Conventio inter Ranulphum Comitem Cestriæ, et Ilewelinum Principem North-walliæ, de indotatione Helenæ filiæ Lewelini: quam itidem in uxorem Johanni de Scotia, Comitis nepoti, tradendam promissit. ibid.

From the Original, in the Hands of Mr. Somerford Oldfield of Somerford in Cheshire, A. D. 1653.

11. Extracts from two Deeds relating to the Endowment or Settlement of the Abbey of Norton in Cheshire, which was removed thither from Runcorn. 5. b.

12. De partitione hæreditatis Ranulfi Comitis Cestriæ, inter tres filias suas. Ex Rot. Claus. 17. Hen. III. m. 17. ibid.

13. Extracts from the Public Records, & from the Bodleyan ms. LAVD. K. 84. concerning John le Scot Earl of Chester, and the Lands given to his four Sisters, as a Recompense for the County of Chester. 6.

These Mr. Holme owns that he had from the then Mr. William Dugdale; & likewise the same Records from Mr. Will. Vernon.

14. Notes relating to Cheshire, and to its ancient Earls, from the same Bodleyan Manuscript; and from the same Mr. Dugdale too, as I suppose. 6. b.

15. De Hugone & Ranulpho III. Comitibus Cestriæ, adnotationes binæ: ex Historia aurea Johannis Anglici five Tinumentensis ms. in Bibliotheca Bodleiana. 7. A.

16. Collectanea super Monasterijs de Parco-Creendun, Parco super Tamam, et de Maiden-Bradley, ex rotulo quodam dicto 'Rotulus de Crendon,' penes Decanum & Capitulum Ecclesiæ Cathedralis Oxon. 7.

17. Excerpta è Cartis quibusdam penes Christoforum Dominum Hatton, super Monasterijs de Davintre, Sandford, Hospitali S. Wiltani de Wigornia, Cænobijs de Alvingham & Nocton (ubi de Familijs de Bec. & Arci) Sireburne, (ubi plura de Familia Portorum, five de Sancto Johanne) Bradleia, S. Fridefwidæ Oxon. ibid.

18. Ex.

Num. 2044.

18. Extracts from the Evidences of Mr. Richard Bagod, principally relating to his Family, or to the Towne of Bromley-Bagod. 10.

These were copied from a Book of Mr. William Vernons.

19. Collectanea ex Libro Prioratus Sancti Thomae Martyris juxta Stafford. 12.

20. Collectanea ex Libro Ecclesiae Collegiatae B. Mariae de Warwic. 14.

I suspect that many of these Extracts from Deeds, included in the two last Articles, are taken from the Originals, & not from the Book abovementioned (although due Notice be not given) because many have Tricks of the Family Seals, particularly that of Johanna the Relict of Sir Robert de Harley, bearing date anno 49 R. Edw. III. as at fol. 15. b. et (vid. fol. 18. b.)

21. Collectanea ex Chartis Edwardi Aston de Tixhall in Com. Stafford. 16. b.

Divers of these relate to Persons & Places in Warwickshire, as well as others in Staffordshire.

22. Extracts from sundry old Deeds relating to divers antient Families, as Frevile, Marmion, Montfort, Walshe, &c. perhaps by Mr. William Vernon. 18. b.

23. Pars Cartae Willelmi Comitis de Warena, de Fundatione Ecclesiae S. Marie de Wodkirke. 18. C.

This was a Cell to the Priory of Nostell in Yorkshire.

24. Pars Litterarum Patentium Regis quâ concessit Henrico Wyat Militi, quod ipse fundaret Cantariam in Capella Beate Marie Virginis apud Melton juxta Gravilende in Com. Kancie. 18. C. b.

25. Collectanea ex libro Cartarum Prioratus Sancti Thome Martiris juxta Stafford, per Sampsonem Erdeswycke Armigerum. 26.

26. Collectanea ex Registro Cartarum Monasterij de Sibeton in Com. Norfolciensi. 27. b.

Notwithstanding what is above written, and also asserted in the Monasticon Anglicanum, &c. some hold the Scite of this Monastery to be within the County of Suffolk. Among these Extracts, I more particularly observe, 27. Inquisitio capta apud Sanctum Edmundum pro rationabili Auxilio levando (per Hundredum de Blithinge) de Feodis Militum, ad Filium Domini Regis primogenitum, Militem faciendum; die Lune proximo post Festum Translationis Sancti Thome Martyris, anno R. R. Edwardi III. à Conquestu, 21. 31. b.

28. Feoda Militum cum pertinentijs ad Honorem de Eye, in diversis Comitibus. 33.

29. Part of a Charter of Offa King of the Mercians, whereby he granted Eowengelad (vulgo Evenlade in Com. Wigorn.) Elme Comiti, Prefectoq; suo dat. A. D. 784. 34. b.

This is said to have been taken from the Original, by Edmund Langley.

30. Breve Regis Henrici v. contra eos qui in Viaggijs ipsius, Arma et Tunicas Armorum vocat. Coat-Armores, in se sumserunt; ubi nec ipsi nec eorum antecessores, hujusmodi Armis ac tunicis Armorum, temporibus retroactis usi fuerunt exceptis illis qui secum apud bellum de Agencourt Arma portabant (E. Rot. Clauf. 5 Henr. v. m. 15.) 35.

31. Adnotatiunculae ex Libro Feodorum Hundred. de Drunfetam et Nulverton, 24 Edw. I. inter feod. in Scaccario. 36.

32. Short Notes touching the Family of Fitz Nicholas. ibid.

33. Collectanea ex Registro Abbatie de Niewham in Com. Devon. ibid.

This is wholly upon the Descent of Courtenay, from Rivers.

34. Collectanea ex Cartulario Prioratus S. Pancratij de Lewes, in pago Suffexia. 37.

35. Extracts from certain Deeds which I (Randle Holme the second) had from Mr. Vernon, relating to the Family of Lacy, &c. 51. b.

Num. 2044.

36. Copie of a Deed in French, whereby George Baudewyn of Brugge conveyed to John Fitz-William of the More, the Manor of Overe-Kingeshemed, with the advowson of its Chapell, &c. dat. 23 May, anno 31 R. Edw. III. 52. b.

37. Carta Fundationis Monasterij de Farley, per Humfridum de Bohun II, Comitem Herefordia. 53.

38. Collectanea ex Cartulario Prioratus de Horton in Comitatu Kanciae, A. D. 1648. 54.

39. Collectanea ex Cartulario Abbatie de Salleia in pago Eboracensi, penes Dnm. Simonds D'ewes Militem et Baronettum, 30 Jan. 1647. 58. et 65.

The Chartulary here mentioned is now in this Harleian Library, inscribed. 35. A. 13.

40. Collectanea ex quodam Libro ms. in pergamento, continente Actus Curie Cantuariensis tempore Archiepiscopatus Roberti Winchelsey Archiepiscopi ibidem; nunc in Bibliotheca Lamethana. 61.

41. Collectanea ex publicis Recordorum Archivis, &c. ad Darceiorum Familiam spectantia. 62. b.

42. Collectanea ex Registro Abbatie de Bermundesey in Com. Surregiae, in Custodia Dni. Simonds D'ewes Militis, 8 Jan. 1647. 66.

This Book is not a Register of Deeds, or Chartulary; but a Chronicle, or Book of Annals of the Place, remaining now in this noble Library, inscribed 36. C. 14.

43. Collectanea ex Libro ms. in pergamento, cujus Titulus est, "Registrum five Martirologium Prioratus S. Trinitatis Cantuariæ, in Custodia Dni. Simonds D'ewes Militis et Baronetti, 27 Jan. 1647." 70.

I take the Custodia here, not to extend to a property, or legal Possession; because, 1. No such book of Sir Simonds D'ewes came hither: and 2. such a Book as this, I have perused among the Norfolkian mss. in the Library of the Royal Society now settled in Crane Court in Fleet-street, I suppose therefore that Sir Simonds borrowed it of Thomas Howard Earl of Arundel & Surrey, or else of his son Earl Henry: in like manner as the Kings ms. of Matthew Paris's Historia Minor, is cited (in this ms. fol. 64.) as in the Custody of the same Sir Simonds, 28 August 1648. which was afterward restored to the Library from whence it was taken; for, I myself, have divers times seen and perused it there.

44. E. Chartis in Custodia Sam. Roper Armigeri de Kirby-Monachorum in pago Warwicensi, 30 Maji 1643. fol. 82. (Most of these, relate to the Priory, or Priors, of Chalk and Repindone in Derbyshire.) 88. b. 89.

45. A Letter of Attorney, whereby Matthewe Marston Gent. appoints Edward Lyttleton Gent. to take Seisyn for him of certain Lands in the Mannour of Mynton in the Parishes of Church-Stretton in the Countie of Salop. dated, 26 February, anno 14 R. Jacobi I. 83. b.

46. Short Notes relating to the Family of Mytton & Lyngene. ibid.

47. Notes from two Inquisitions touching the Family of Cornwall. ibid.

48. E. quodam Cartulario Prioratus de Merton in Com. Surr. nuper in Bibliotheca Cottoniana. 84.

This book is (or ought to be) there still; inscribed CLEOPATRA. C. 7.

49. E. Cartulario Abbatiae de Kirkstid. 87.

50. Ex quodam ms. penes Thomam Dñm Brudnell Baronem de Brudnell-Stanton in Comitatu Leicestrensi, 30 Januarij 1647; cujus Titulus, The Leiger-booke of Doddington in the County of Huntingdon. 89. b.

Here the Reader, from the word Leiger-booke, need not think that Doddington was a Monastery, as it was not: but rather, that the said Book contained Copies of that noble Lord's Evidences, touching the whole, or part of his Estate; at least, such as related to Doddington, which he enjoyed, as being descended from Taylard, Grimbaud,

Num. 2044.

Grimbaud, & Kirkeby, the Owners thereof for a very long time before.

51. A Note concerning the Lordshipe of Great Budworth in Com. Cestr. half of which, was given by Warburton of Arley, to the Priory of Norton. 93.

52. Transcripts of Five Charters of so many of our antient Noble Men, that is, of the first William de Mandevilla, Earl of Essex; Henry de Lacy, Earl of Lincoln; Gilbert de Clare, Earl of Penbroc; William de Albini, Earl of Suffex; and Gualeran, Earl of Mel-lent: with Tricks of their Seals, excepting that of the last. 93. b.

Instead of the Seal of Earl Gualeran, are these Words, "This Seale, with its Endorse was not drawne in Mr. Dodsworth's booke."

53. Collectanea ex Libro Censuali, five Registro Prioratus de Beluero, subordinat. Abbatiz Sancti Albani; transcripta per Thomam Baronem Brudenell. 96.

Honest Randle Holme the second, took this Monastery to be that of Beverley in Yorkshire; wherein he was widely mistaken. For it plainly appears to be that of Belvoir in Leicestershire.

54. Collectanea e Cartis diversis, penes Thomam Baronem de Brudenell. 97. b.

55. Extracts from a few Deeds relating to the Nunery of Blithbury in Staffordshire. 99.

56. A large Collection of Transcripts, or Extracts from original Deeds. with Tricks of very many of their Seals; said to be taken from one of Mr. Roger Dodsworth's Books thus marked of which, I think I need now say no more, (forasmuch as very many of the Originals, being bought of Sir Simonds D'Ewes now living, are yet remaining in this noble Library) than that they relate to the Monasteries of Kirkeby-Monachorum, Studeley, Ellesham, Acomebury, Dora, Tunstall, Wederhale, Berlinges, Burewelle, Hacham or Haghham, Bulington, Kirkestede, Sempingeham, Bordesley, Neuhaus, Grenefeld, Suwerk or Southwark, Tanregge or Tunregge, Coges, Sewardesley, Frisetun, Alnewyke; and that from them, many good materials may be had, toward making out, or illustrating the Descents of the antient, noble & honorable Families of Mulbrai, Cantilupo, Kaynes (de Kaineto, Cheyne, or Cheney) Amundavilla, Clifford, Crevequer, Stafford, Haya, Nevilla, De Ayncurt, Kyma, Arsic, Welle, Orrebi, Taterfale, Fitz-Walter, De Arci, Bec, Monte-fixo, Marmion, Malet, Berner, Ros, Furnivale, Foliot, De la mare, Russel, Gosla, Lafci, Se-grave, Someri, Dan-martin, Wenlok, Blount, Monchenfy, Tybetot, Stapleton, Hoo, Bohun, Baiocis, Wake, Burgo, Port, Creun, Monte-begonis, Perci, Vefci, Wilgebi, Scoteni, Mandavilla, Ver, Gant, &c. 102.

57. Collectanea e Cartulario de Castell-Acre. 144.

Sir Simonds D'Ewes the Grandfather seems to have lent this valuable Manuscript to the second Randle Holme, not long before his decease: and then honest Randle keeping the book as his own; no wonder it came not among the others bought of Sir Simonds D'Ewes the Grandson. But in process of a long time; that is, after the death of old Randle Holme the third, it did come into this Library, & is now inscribed, 97 B. 2.

58. E Cartulario Prioratus S. Johannis de Pontefracto. 146.

59. E quodam ms. manu recentiori scripto, penes Johannem Langley Armigerum, A. D. 1649. 147.

This Manuscript contained Copies of many curious Charters, with Tricks of the Seals; and might be of good Use now, if it were known where it remains.

60. E. Cartulario S. Marie de Kirkested. 156. 158. b.

61. Collectanea e Cartulario de Castell-Acre. ilid.

Certificate (in old English) to encourage all that would give or send Gold or Silver, Broche or Ryng, or any othere gud to mowntens of (i. e. amounting to) a Peny by Zere, in helpyng of Mynstre, fonded in Name & in Vyrschype of oure Lady Seynte Mary the Vergyne, Gods Modyre, at Sothewelle, in Diocesis of Zorke. 164. b.

66. The Coppie of a Praer which her Majestie made her selfe, and sayd it when she was at the Sermon at St. Pauls Crosse 24 of November 1588. 165. b.

67. Index Virorum, i. e. An Alphabetical Table of those Persons Names, who are mentioned in this Book. At the end.

A thin Book in folio, written by the second Randle Holme, and containing some part of his Historically Collections, designed by him to be printed, and of which he himself gives the following Account, in his Dedicatory Epistle. "The Subject Matter treated off is a succession of the cheif Justices & their Assistants, Chamberleyns, high Sheriffs & Escheters of the County palatine of Chester since the Conquest as I have collected out of good Authoritys of Records, manuscripts, Evidences & other good notes I have mett withall, in my employment of the Gentrey of Cheshir concerninge diuers pedegreys I have made & abstracted out of their old deeds of graue Authority & Antiquity for other Authentique probations." But after all this, it seems to be no more than an heap of Materials towards an History of the Justices of Chester, down to ann. 15 R. Edw. II. and no lower; with some Notes touching the antient Earls of Chester, and their Officers.

2046.

A Book in folio, written by several Hands, and by the third Randle Holme, thus entituled on the outside, "Bills, Bonds, Indentures of Apprentices, within the City of Chester. Alsoe other deeds of the City, &c." These are no more than Abstracts of the Originals, with hasty Tricks of such Seals as remained. However, looking into the Book, I find therein,

1. The same Randle Holme's Account of the Things of most Note in this Book: at the beginning.

2. His List of Chester-Citty Lands mentioned in this Book. At the next Leaf.

3. Indenture made 28 April ann. 12 Eliz. betweene S^r Rowland Stanley K^t George Calveley Esq; & John Cotton Yeoman; for repaireinge of the Highway adjoininge to Chester, called Huntington-Lane; by the space of 2 Miles & an halfe. 1. b.

14. Breviats of Indentures of Apprentices. 39.

15. Indenture made 4 April, anno 4 Eliz. between the Maior & Citizens of Chefter & Thomas Wofewall the elder, and Thomas his Son, Maſons: whereby theſe Maſons obliged themſelves, dureinge their Lives, in all thinges belonging to a Maſons Worke, ſubſtantiaily to make, repaire, maintaine, & vpholde, all the walls of the ſaid Cittie; in conſideration of an annual Fee of 40 Shillings, and a Livery Gowne, &c. 40.

This Grant was ſurrendred, 2 Jan. ann. 33 Eliz. to the then Maior, by Thomas the Son, for 30 Shillings; he not being able to performe the Covenants.

16. Abſtracts of feuerall old Bonds. 51.

17. A Bond dated 11 May, anno 15 Edw. iv. whereby Thomas Haydoke Eſq; was obliged to apere at Waymothe, with 24 Bowes well & defenſable arayed; and to obey the Lord Awdeley, accordinge as the ſaid Lord was bounden to the Kinge in a grete Indenture, to doe him true Service in that Voyage. 60.

18. A Letter from John Dampart & Randulph Menwaryng Eſquiers, Rychard Dampart Gentyلمان, & Oliuer Swetnam Yeoman, to Mr. Byrkytt Recorder of Chefter, againſt S^r Richard Croſſe Chaplen, who had cauſed S^r Hugh Barnſtone Perſon of Surtnam to be areſted for Ten Shillings; which Sum they had undertaken to raiſe by equal portions. dat. 16 December, anno 38 Hen. viii. 78. b.

By divers of the foregoing Articles it appeareth, that part of the Matters contained in this book, do relate to England; although not so noted by Mr. Holme.

A Book in folio, containing a great part of an English Concordance to the Bible, with an Account of the several Places mentioned therein. Written by a Person who mentioned Mr. Newman & Mr. Wickens; and who (notwithstanding he seemed not to have a prospect of living to publish these his Papers himself) hath nevertheless prefixed a long & pompous Title to the same; which I here omitt, because of the tediousness of it.

2050.

An Heraldical Book in folio, consisting of many Fragments and single Papers, written by different Persons (for the most part, during the Reigns of Queen Elizabeth & King Charles 1.) and now bound up together. It is, on the back, entituled "Pedegrees of feuerall places;" but I rather choose to account for it in the manner following.

1. Coates & Crests; i. e. an Alphabetical Table of the Names of Families, whose Armes or Crests are to be found in this Book. At the beginning.

2. Transcript of a Letter of Attorney, whereby Mrs. Jane Shelley (the Heirefs of Lengaine) late Wife of William Shelley Esq; (who was attainted) did authorise Richard Whittington Gent. & Richard Wynter Clerk, to menage all her Affaires relating to her Rectorye & Personage.

Num. 2050—2054.

sonage of Taddington, & Mannours of Sutton alias Sutton-Frewne, & Weston, in the County of Hereford. 310.

Then follows,

3. The Collection of Descents aforesaid; the greatest part of which relate to Cheshire-Families, but put together in no manner of Order; and being, all along, intermixed with those of Nobility & Gentry of other Counties. Among them, I observed some to be of the hand of Sir Henry St. George the elder, who was (in his time) Garter King of Armes; namely, at fol. 431. and in other places. Here are also some Church-Notes, and a few Extracts from old Deeds illustrating particular Descents: and others of them are continued lower, by the third Randle Holme & others.

Interpersed among the said Descents, I find,

4. Divers original Letters of Tenants, Servants, & Friends, to Mrs. Shelley above-mentioned (of which honorable Personage, much matter may be found in this Library) the principal of which, in my opinion, is that of her Cozen Hugh Walshe, at fol. 432.

5. Some particular Matters relating to the Name & Families of Botiler. 448.

6. An engraven Paper thus entituled, "An Exact Genealogical Line of the Family of the Talbots of Baf hall, drawne out of their owne Evidences, Records, & other Writings of vndoubted Veritie; composed by Mr. Roger Dodsworth in Anno 1653: and continued to A. D. 1657. 454. b.

7. An imperfect Account of our Nobility, as created by sundry of our Kings, with their Armes in Blazon: partly in the method of Cookes Baronage. 533. b.

8. An Alphabetical Table referring to the several Pedegrees contained in this Book. At the end.

A Book in folio, without any Title on the outside, as most of Randle Holme's have: but proves to be part of a Law-Common place-book, begun in the Reign of K. Henry vi. and enlarged afterward.

A Book in fol. written by the third Randle Holme, and may be entituled, "A Discourse of the severall Religions practized by the people inhabiting this our County & City of Chester:" that is of the Religion of the Heathen Britans & Romans; the Practice of the Primitive Church Oriental & Occidental; of the Practice of the Church of England from the time of the Conversion of K. Ethelbert; the Institution of the severall Religious Orders who had any footing in England; the Foundation of the Cheshire Monasteries, &c. In this laborious Work, I believe honest Randal may have cited severall Greek & Latin Authors at second Hand; that is, without seeing them.

A Book in folio, consisting, for the most part, of blank Paper. That which is therein written, seems to have been done by the hand of some young Lawyer, who began to make a Collection of Precedents, for his own future Use. Thus he hath putt down some Transcripts or Abstracts of Conveyances of Land, Bills of divers kinds, and other Instruments; which chiefly relating to Persons and Places in Cheshire; may, upon some occasions, prove not unworthy of being consulted.

A Book in folio, consisting of many Tracts & loose Papers (now for the most part, bound together) being partly Originals, & partly Copies or Extracts, taken by the second Randle Holme, & others; and by the third Randle, on the out-side, thus entituled, "Notes and Charters, with severall things which concerne the Companies & Occupations within the City of Lancashire; taken from some Visitation-book of that County. 7.

4. Alphabet of the Armes in Blazon, of the Gentry of Lincolnshire. 16.

5. Like Alphabet for Cornwall; extracted from Mr. Carew's Survey of Cornwall. 21.

6. Like Alphabet for Cheshire: extracted from Mr. Dan. King's book printed A. D. 1656. and from an Alphabet of Mr. Smith's. 23.

7. Like Alphabet for Warwickshire. 32.

8. Like Alphabet for Yorkshire; collected by Mr. John Hopkison, A. D. 1658. 38.

9. Like Alphabet for the County of Northumberland. 49.

10. Like Alphabet for Cumberland. 51.

11. Like Alphabet for Westmerland. 52.

12. Like Alphabet for Staffordshire. 54.

These two last are sett down by the third Randle Holme; that of Staffordshire, from a Visitation-book.

A thin Book in folio, on the out-side thus entituled by the second Randle Holme, "How to finde the Records in the severall Cuberts & Prefes in the Treasury in the City of Chester." Here lett not the Reader expect an exact or a fairly-written Repertory or Kalendar to the Chester-Records; but only such loose Notes & Scraps which the second Randle Holme seems to have taken for his own Use only, when he digested the said Records into some sort of Order, A. D. 1652 & 1653, and placed the same into the Cup-boards & Prefes then newly bought to receive them; after they had long layn in Confusion, and much endamaged both by Rain & Ratts. This is obscurely sett down by himself, at fol. 1. b. together with the Orders to be observed by those who should come to peruse the said Records; tending to the preservation of the same.

It is plain, that Mr. Holme as he went on in this Work, took Notes of the Names of City Officers, &c. and of the times when they served, in order to compile Lists of them; as may be seen at fol. 26. &c.

A Book in folio, consisting of many loose papers and single Tracts, written by particular Persons, now bound up together; and, on the out-side, by the second Randle Holme thus entituled, "The Maiors of Chester. The Charters of the Citty, with other things about the same:" which I shall account for in the manner following.

1. The third Randle Holme's long Note of the most remarkable things within this Book. At the beginning.

2. How the Citie of Chester was governed before there was a Maior. 1.

3. Magistrates & Corporation-Officers in Chester. 2.

4. List of the severall Companies in Chester. 2. b.

5. Endeavors towards an explication of certain old Words, as Gabell, Recordator, Maior, Sheriffe, Citie, & Guild. 3.

6. Notes of divers old Matters tending to illustrate the History of Chester; by the second Randle Holme, &c. 4.

7. Auntient Customes in Games, vsed by Boys & Girles; merrily sett out in Verse: by the same R. Holme. 10. b.

8. A Collection of the Maiors whoe have governed this City of Chester, and the time when they governed: collected by William Alderfay Citizen & Alderman thereof. 12.

This Tract gives a short Account of the Earles; of the severall Charters granted to Chester; with a Series of the Maiors & Sheriffes, from the first, i. e. from anno 26 Henrici III. (with notice of some remarkable occurrences happening in their times) to A. D. 1600. Which Series, in divers places, is corrected or supplied by the aforesaid R. Holme; and by him continued down to A. D. 1658.

Here inserted, I find,

The Order of a publick Show, intended to have been made by the Citizens, upon the first of August 1621. 31.

9. The Speeches & Passages betwixt the Earle Arundell (Thomas Howard) and the first Randle Holme Maior of Chester, 19 July 1634. as they were reduced into Writing by Mr. Maior, and the Sheriffe his Sonue, i. e. Randle Holme the second. fol. 32. 2. (vid. 97. B. 17. fol. 309. b.) The Sum of the Matter was this; His Lordship (then Earl Marshal) comes to Chester, and his arrival there was kept secret. Mr. Maior not attending to welcome him; his Lordship sends for him by a Messenger with a Warrant. Mr. Maior coming with his White Staffe in his Hand, the Earl said, "Mr. Maior, I sent for you to tell you your Offence you have committed, in not giuing your attendance as you ought; and now do you come with your Authority?" and, with that, suddainly tooke the Staffe out of Mr. Maiors hands, & laid itt in the Windowe saying, "I will teach you to knowe your Selfe, and attend Peers of the Realme. Though I care not for your Observances, yet because you want Manners, I will teach you some; and you shall further heare from mee. I would haue you knowe, I haue power to committ you, to teach you to knowe yourselfe and mee; & to giue better attendance." After many Excuses on Mr. Mayors side, & Reprimands on the other, the Earl went away, and Mr. Maior paid the Fees demanded by the Earl-Marshals Officers.

10. Ordinance of the Lords & Commons in Parliament (dated 1 Oct. 1646.) for putting all the loyal Citizens from their Offices, and putting others in their Places; for pulling up the Causeway through the River Dee, & for pulling down Dee-Milnes belonging to Mr. Francis Gamull, and building other Mills upon the Rood-Dee; and for applying yearly £515. out of the Revenue of the Dean and Chapter of Chester, to some of their Clergy and Schole-masters there. 54.

11. The Accounts of Thomas Lyneall, for paueing the Street without the Barrs, and for Handbridge, ann. 1589 & 1591. 58.

12. Divers Proclamations emitted by Maiors of Chester temp. R. Eliz. with regard to divers Bodies of Soldiers arrived & quarter'd there, in order to their Transportation into Ireland. 59.

Among these, are some Proclamations in the Names of the Sheriffes, about the business of their Office.

13. Form of the Bond & Condition, to be entred into by each Clarke or Keeper of the Common-Hall. 61. b.

Next follows an old Latin Tract, containing the following particulars, 14. Libertates et Privilegia Civitatis Cestriae cum Metis et Bundis ejusdem; et Expositione Verborum quorundam obsoletorum, viz. Sac, Soc, &c. 63.

15. Carta R. Henrici VII. Civitati Cestriae facta et concessa, anno Regni 21. 65. b. et fol. 79.

16. Charters granted to the said City by the old Earls, and sundry of our Kings their Successors; and by Walter de Lasci. fol. 69. With these Charters the Tract aforesaid endeth; and then come

17. Translation of King Henry VII. this Charter above-mentioned. 90.

18. Original Writ of K. Edward VI. (bearing Teste 22 October, anno primo) authorising Rafe Goodman Maior of Chester, the two Judges of Assize, and others, to inquire of and judge Traytors, Fellons, &c. 96.

19. A Note of the Antiquity of the City of Chester (seeming to belong to fol. 6, &c.) 97.

20. A Shireves Summon of a Jury; shewing where the old Shire-hall formerly stood. ibid.

21. Queen Elizabeth's Charter granted to the City of Chester, anno Regni 16. in English. 98.

22. Customes

Num. 2057.

22. Customes, and some Forms of Instruments, vsed in Chester; sett down by the second Randle Holme, anno 1644. 104.

Then follow certain Orders or Decrees made by the Lords of the Privy-Council, &c. upon occasion of the Dissention arisen between the Officers of the Court of Exchequer at Chester, & the Maior & Citizens there; begun by reason of a Clause of Preterea artfully inserted into Queen Elizabeth's Charter granted unto that City in anno quinto of her Reign, and for pacifying the same: being, 23. The Order and Decree of William Marquis of Wyndchester Lord highe Treasurer of England, & others. 109.

24. Order made by the Earl of Leicester, Chamberleyne of Chester, & others. 110.

25. The Earl of Leicester's Letter to the Corporation of Chester. dat. 22 Iune 1573. 110. b.

26. Order of Privy Council, made 9 April 1574. 111.

27. Opinion of Sir Francis Walsingham, and others. 112. b.

Then follow,

28. Certain short Notes extracted by the second Randle Holme, from the Records of the Portmote of Chester. 114. b.

Among them, one sheweth, that a difference arose between the Bowers & Fletchers on the one part, & the Cowpers on the other; about carrying their Lights in the Procession on Corpus-Christi-day: which was decided by the Maior, anno 15 R. Edw. iv. Another, that divers Wymen were indicted for being Whores to several Monkes of Chester; and their Abbat indicted for taking away City-stones about Northgate, anno 21 R. Edw. iv.

29. Letter of the Magistrates of Chester, in Answer to an honorable person, who had desired them to give Peter Proby his Servant the Reversion of the Place of Clerke of the Pentice (in which place William Knight had served them diligently 24 years) or else to make him Under-Sheriffe: wherin they shew him, that they have no Charter, Record, or other Precedent to justify them in so doing; but would indeavour to provide for him some other way. dat. 28 April 1587. 115.

30. Copie of an Order of the Privy Council, made 29 May 1629. in favor of Robert Brerewood Esq; late Clerke of the Pentice in Chester; whose Fees were detained by Nicholas Ince & his Creatures. 115. 2.

31. Order of the Assembly at Chester, made 17 Iulie 1612, for cleansing, &c. Horne-lane; which, by reason of certayne Encroachments, and filling vp of the Diches, was made in effecte impassable. 116.

32. Indenture Tripartite, made at Taperlegh, anno 13 R. Henrici iv. of all Concords, Trespasses, Discords, & Defencions (Plees of Land & Debt excepted) between William Venables of Kinderton, and all his Kind-folkes, Friends, & Affiance, and all other men of his Retinew, and his Servants, of the one Party; and the Maior, Sheriffs, & all other Citizens, & Men of Chester, and their Kindsmen, Friends, Affinities, and other the Men & Servants of the Retinew of the said Maior, &c. on the other part: touching all Matters betwene the same William, & his Men & Servants, and the Men of the City of Chester, afore the Date hereof, moued and had. Which matters being comprised by the interposition of Arbitrators, chosen by both parties, to one part of the said Indenture with the Prince (as Earl of Chester) in his Exchequer remayninge, as well the Common Seale of the sayd Citie as the Seale of Armes of the sayd William Venables is put: and to the other part of theis Indentures, with the sayd Maior, Sheriffs, and other Men of the sayd Citie remayninge, the Seale of Armes of the sayd William Venables is put: and to the third part, with the sayd William Venables remayninge, the Common Seale of the sayd Citie is put. 117.

By this Agreement, among other Articles, William

A Book in folio, consisting of two main Tracts, each formerly distinct, but now fixed together; perhaps, as supposed to have been written by one and the same person, as they seem to relate to the same matter. The first of them is,

1. A sort of oblong Pocket-book in 8^{vo}. perhaps written by the industrious Cheshire Antiquary Mr. Laurence Bostock in his youth or younger years; beginning with CAT. HARL. VOL. II.

Num. 2059.

John Brock's sorry Verses upon the Worlds Nine Worthies (so called) whose supposed Armes were here tricked. 1.

2. Descendants from Thomas Leghe of Legh, & John of Legh of the Bothes; from a Memorandum written A. D. 1477. 4.

This is followed by two other Notes relating to the same antient Family.

3. A Note taken out of the Feodary of Halton; concerning Nigell the first Baron there, and his Posterity. 8.

4. A peece of a Bede-rowle belonging to a Chauntrey at Bowden erected by St William Bouth Knight, temp. R. Edwardi iv. wherein, many of his near Relations are particularly remembred. 12.

5. A Note relating to the ample Possessions of Sir Walter Cokefey Knight. 14.

6 A large deduction of the Posterity of Huchon Venables. 16.

7. Notes relating to the Family of Straunge Lord Kno-ken. 24.

8. Other Notes relating to many Antient Families, (not necessary to be all particularly enumerated here) with Tricks of some of their Seals & Armes. (et vide supra pag. 11.) 25.

Among them I find, Mountford, Buckley or Bulkelegh, Eggerton, Staveley, Wetenhale, Stanley, Fyton, &c.

9. Part of the Tenures of the Fee of Halton. 70.

10. Notes taken from the Offices or Inquisitions post Mortem, remaining in the Elchequer at Chetter. 71.

11. Extracts from Deeds, relating also to many antient Families. 84.

Among these I find,

12. The Names of divers of the Sherifes, Justices, & Escheators of Chetter. 95.

13. Concerning the Forest of Maclesfelde, its Bounds & the Townes situate therein. 130.

This Pocket-book is (as I hinted before) succeeded by a tatter'd Volume of Mr. Laurence Bostocks Collections, relating principally to the ancient Cheshire-Families; and is in many places adorned with the Tricks of antient Seals, &c. in like manner as the other Treatise last mentioned, is; but being much damaged by moisture, I shall say no farther of it, than that it still contains, 14. Some Notes taken A. D. 1581, in the Church of Alhallowes Northampton. 146.

15. Extracts from old Deeds, chiefly relating to Cheshire Families. 149, &c.

16. Knights Fees appertaining to the Baronie of Halton. 152.

17. Townes within the said Baronie. 153.

18. Townes within the Baronie of Malpas. 154.

This is followed by a List of the Men of Worship who owe suit to the Court of that Baronie.

19. Townes within the Baronie of Nantwich. ibid.

20. Townes within the Baronie of Kinderton. 155.

21. An Account of the several Officers appertaining to the Honor of Tutbury, parcel of the Duchy of Lancaster. 155.

44. A Large Descent of the Family of Bostock. 251.
- At the end (viz. pag. 258.) Mr. Laurence Bostock shewes how he came by this Descent of his Family.
45. The third Randle Holme's Account of the Things of most Note in this Book. 261.

2060.

A Book in folio, wherein are contained very ample Col- lections chiefly relating to the History & Antiquities of Chester and Cheshire; written, perhaps, by the Hand or Order of Peter Leicester Esq; now although I perceive that very many particulars herein, are also extant in others of Randle Holme's books (as being, it may be, transcribed from hence, or vice versa) I shall nevertheless, account for the same, as follows:

1. A particuler Table of those things that are written in this Book. At the beginning.
 2. Carta Foundationis Abbatix de Hulton (in Com. Stafford). per Henricum de Audidelege, A. D. 1223. 1.
 3. Abstract of a Composition between the Abbat of Hulton & the Prior of Trentham, made A. D. 1242: taken from the Original penes Rich. Leveson Militem præclari Ordinis Balnei, A. D. 1648. 1. b.

 18. Collectanea ex libro Monasterij de Cumba, in Bibliotheca Cottoniana. ibid.
 19. Collectanea ex Registro Monasterij de Kenclworth, in custodia Simonis Clarke Baronetti, A. D. 1637. 36.
 20. Fundatio cujusdam Celle Monialium apud Bret- ford. 37.
- All these last Articles relating to Warwickshire, were taken from Sir William Dugdale's Collections.
21. More Extracts from Deeds & Books, relating to the Family of Bassett; made by Mr. Dugdale & Sir Si- monds D'ewes. 38.
 22. A large Collection of Notes & Extracts made from Deeds, relating to the Abbey of Pulton, or Die- ulacres (to which Place the Monks of Pulton were re- moved) found in the Chartulary of that House; or in- rolled in the Tower of London; or from the Originals in the possession of Somersford Oldfield Esq; A. D. 1631. 40.
 23. Dieulacres Abbathia. Computus Edwardi Co- mitis Darbie per Willelmum Davenport deputatum suum. 51.
 24. Collectanea ex Libro Abbatis de Deulacres, in. Custodia Tho. Rudyard Gen. excerpta per Johannem Booth Generosum. 53.

 31. Some Collections relating to Chester, beginning thus 'Sanctorum prisca autoritate Patrum,' made A. D. 1649. apud Cestriam, from writings in custodia Ran. Holme Gen. 67.
 32. Collectanea e Libro vocato Prisca Sanctorum; de Terris datis Abbatie Cestrensi; remanente in Custo- dia Decani & Capituli Cestrie; vel Thomæ Case Gen. Clerici Capituli predicti. 68.

Num. 2060.

It may be noted, that a Register of the Abbey of Chester, beginning thus 'Sanctorum prisca,' &c. is among others of Randle Holmes books, now in this Library; marked 96 C. 2.

33. Collectanea ex Libro Evidenciarum, olim spectante Monasterio Divæ Werburgæ Cestrensis; penes Ricardum Berkenhead, A. D. 1580. 86.

34. Excerpta de le Cowcher booke Abbatis de Cestrie. 87.

35. A breife Abstract of the Lande & Possessions belonging to the late Abbey of Ahester, since the Suppression: provinge thereby, the same to have bene concealed, withdrawn, or vnjustly deteyned from the Queenes Majestie, or from her Highnesss Father, Brother, or Sister. 90.

This Title is not full to the purpose of what follows it; which is, a Narration touching the Dissolution of the Monastery of St. Werburgh & Foundation of the Cathedral Church of Christ, & of the Blessed Virgin Mary of Chester, by K. Henry VIII. in the premisses of whose Letters Patents, the word Cestrie (although afterward mentioned in the same) was unhappily omitted. It shews further, how Sir Richard Cotton Comptroller of the Kings Household procured the Imprisonment of Dr Cliffe Dean of Chester, & of two of the Prebendaries, & by Threats obliged them, being no lawful Chapter, to grant him the Fee-farme of the most part of their Possessions, at an annual Rent less than the Old Rent by £100 p ann. Also how Mr. Walker Dean Cliffe's Successor prosecuted this foul matter, but died before Sentence given. Whereupon, the Cottons, perceiving their Fee-farme to be voyde in Lawe, to furnish themselves with Money, & to strengthen their bad title with Friends, graunted the greatest parte of the same to sundry Gentlemen in Cheshire for one or two yeares (in monney) in hande paid. Who, after several hearings, being likely to lose their Cause, gave six yeares Rent of the said Lands vnto Robert Dudley Earle of Leycester, & so got a Commission out, that some of Q. Elizabeth's privie Counsaile might haue the hearing thereof, whereby the right course of Lawe was stopped: and then Petition was made to her Majestie for new Graunts of all the said Lands.

In this Tract there are likewise Copies of divers remarkable Writings, as 1. Sergt. Popham's Opinion, to prove the Kings Patent of the Dotation, through the Omission of the Word Cestrie, to be voyde. 2. The Judges Answer to the Earle of Leycester, who desired their opinion in this matter: dat. 1 Decr. 1576. 3. A breife Abstract concerning her Majesties Graunt of concealed Lands in-Fee-farme, to Peter & Edward Graye. 4. So much of the said Queens Letters Patents as concerne the Lands in Cheshire made ouer by the said Grayes, to Lancelot Bostock Esq; & Francis Hitchcock &c. 5. A Deed of Purchase for Bostock & Hitchcock from the Grayes, enrolled in the Chauncery, &c. 6. The Rental of all & singular the Mannors, Lands, & Tenements, &c. of the late Abbey of Chester, (except the Manour of Abbots-Cotton, Church-Lawton, & Weston) surveyed by William Bolls Esq; & John Wyseman, mense Junij anno 32 Hen. VIII. 7. The Commission graunted to the Lords of her Majesties privie Counsell, to hear the matter between the Dean & Chapter & the Fee-Fermors. 8. A Declaration of the Cause to the Commissioners, by the Deane & Chapter. 9. A Breife of the Cause declared by the Gentlemen to the Commissioners. 10. Articles of the Auditor of Cheshire's Report to Sir Walter Mildmay, &c. touching the same. 11. Petitions exhibited on the behalfe of the Gentlemen to the said Commissioners. 12. The Order sett downe by the Commissioners. 13. The Surrender to the Queenes Majestie from the Fee-Fermors. 14. Another Surrender from the Deane & Chapter, to the Queenes Majestie. 15. A breife Noate of the concealed Lands, sold & graunted in Fee-Farme by Mr. Bostocke & Mr. Hitchcocke.

36. Collectanea ex Cartis autographis olim Monasterio Divæ Werburgæ Cestrensis, spectantibus: descripta A. D. 1649. 115.

37. A Rentall of the Rectorie of Prestburie, taken anno 19 Elizabethæ Regine. 120.

This is followed by divers Notes specifying the Value of several other Rectories & Vicarages in Cheshire.

38. A Noate of such Lands, Tenements, Tythes, Rents, & other of the concealed Possessions of the late dissolved Monasterie of S^t Werburg, now in the possession of the said Deane & Chapter, and not conteyned in Hitchcocks Graunt. 122.

39. Copies or Extracts of Original Deeds relating to the said Monastery, and in the custody of John Edwards. 123.

40. A few short Notes relating to the Family of Aston, collected A. D. 1639, by John Cowper, for Tho. Aston Baronet. 127.

41. More Copies or Abstracts of old Writings concerning the Abbey of S^t Werburg of Chester. 128.

42. Collectanea de le Cowcher-booke Abbatum Cestrie, in Custodia Decani et Capituli. 135.

43. Copies of some Writings concerning the Monastery of Norton in Cheshire. 138.

Among them, is a Survey of its Possessions, as given in to the Court of Augmentations, according as the same were found in the Accompt of John Birkenhead, 4 Febr. anno 28 R. Henr. VIII.

44. Abstracts or Copies of severall other Writings relating to the Monastery of Stanlow, or Whalley, in Com. Lanc. to which place it was removed. 146.

These were taken either from the Originals, or from the Chartulary of Whalley, (all in the possession of S^t Ralph Ashton) by Mr. Roger Dodsworth, A.D. 1627. They begin with a Tract intituled De statu de Blackburneshire, which sheweth that soon after S^t Augustin of Canterbury came hither (into England) the Church of Whalley was built, and how the Rectors thereof were commonly called Deans, and were for the most part married men, leaving the said Rectory to their Children or Relations, as in hereditary Succession. Which custom prevailed not only during the time of our Saxon Ancestors, to the time of the Conquest, but long after, even to the time of the famous Council of Lateran (celebrated A.D. 1215, under Pope Innocent III.) by whose Canons, Cœlibacy was enjoynd to the Secular Clergy. (See further in this Catalogue Num. 2072-21.)

It may be further noted, that most of these Abstracts have relation to the noble Family of Lacy (and from which Mr. Dodsworth made out their Descent, which may be seen at pag. 154.)

45. E quodam Libro antiquo manuscripto, in custodia Ricardi Lacy Armigeri, reperto inter Evidentias patris sui: per Rogerum Dodsworth Generosum. 152.

46. Notes relating to the Family of Lacy, taken out of Rafe Brookes Discovery of Errors, printed ann. 1594. 157.

47. Notes relating to the Monastery and Maner of Dernhale; & to Over, which was formerly a part of it. 159.

48. Extracts relating to the Monastery of Vale-Royal (to which place the Monks of Dernhale were removed) and to the Maner and Grange of Merton. 173.

49. Ex libro Abbatum de Valle Regali, vocato The Leger-booke, or Green booke, remanente penes Thomam Marburie Armigerum, hoc anno 1624. 174.

This large Tract contains not only much useful matter relating to the Times when the Abbey stood; but gives likewise the Surveys or Valuation of its Possessions, taken after the Dissolution thereof.

50. E. Cartis Autographis Abbatiae de Kirkefall & Barnoldefwic; penes Richardum Hartley de Bernolswick-cotes, anno 1655 et Richardum Towneley de Towneley Arm. anno 1658. 216.

51. Apographa seu Compendia diverforum Instrumentorum in Turri Londinensi, five penes Galfridum Shakerley, anno 1631, remanentium, &c. circa Bundas & Divisa, &c. Vastu de Rudheath in Com. Cestrie. 218.

This Tract contains also many good Notes relating to the Manors of Drakelowe, Rudheath, &c.

52. Names of the Witnesses to the Renovation of the Monastery of Bath, by K. Henry I. A.D. 1101. 256.

53. Names of the Witnesses to the Foundation-Charter of the Cathedral Church of Norwich, by the same King. 257.

54. Short Note from the Foundation Charter of the Abbey of Leicester. ibid.

55. Short Notes from the Charters of Foundation or Endowment of the Cathedral Church of Exeter. ibid.

56. Like short Notes from the Foundation-Charter of the Monasteries of Knaresborowe, & Bildewas. 258.

57. Genealogia Fundatorum Abbatie S. Jacobi de Wiggemor, extracta ex Libro ejusdem Abbatie. 259.

58. Ex veteri manuscripto in Bibliotheca Cottoniana, annotato CLAUDIVS C.9. olim spectante Monasterio de Abbingdon. 261.

These Notes relate to some of the old Earls of Chester; and are extant also in other Books of this Library:

59. An alphabetical Table of the Names of Men, contained in this Booke. Of Earles, Archbishops, Bishops, Conitables of Chester, Sheriffs of Cheshire, Conitables of the Castle of Chester, Justices of Chester, Chamberlaynes of Chester, Escheators of Chester, &c. ibid.

60. Customes used in the Parish of Davenham, as they were certified upon Oath before William Bishop of Chester, 14 April, 1564. 272.

61. Short Notes relating to the Monasteries of Stanlowe & Whalley; and to the Personages of Backford, Wallazie, and Weuerham. 273.

A thin Parchment-Book in folio, consisting but of 22 Leaves, & two annexed Schedules, and these not all coherent, but rather Fragments saved from Destruction, and bound up together by the care of the third Randle Holme, who put on the back this Title, Chester-Deeds.

It seems to be part of a large Book or Volume, whereinto were entred the several Deeds or Conveyances of Houses, as also the Wills made by the Citizens of Chester, which were inrolled in the Portmote Court there, and here copied in a sort of Method; namely those Mesuages or Tenements as were situated in such a Street, or in such a Lane, are here putt by themselves, under the Name of the said Street or Lane, as a proper Title. Had this Work been preserved intire, it would have been of much greater Value.

A thin Parchment Book in folio, consisting of 29 Leaves, and one Schedule, being a damaged Copy of an old Deed: and written by several Hands.

This Book is that Register of the Abbey of St. Werburg of Chester, which was formerly known (& distinguished from the others) by the two first Words, 'Sanctorum prisca,' and contains Abstracts of the original Deeds of the Founders, & Benefactors to that great Monastery, and Bulls of the several Popes confirming the same. The Shortness of which Abstracts seems to shew, that they were not taken to remain in that House for ever, as Copies; but rather to serve the Abbats as Memorandums, on Occasion.

A paper Book in pretty large folio, written by the Hands of the second & third Randle Holme and others; and on the outside thus entituled, 'Deedes and other Writings of feveral Places, &c. Familys, &c.' By which is meant, Copies or Abstracts of Deeds and other Writings, together with Tricks of the Seals; collected or made by the same Mr. Holme, or by his influence, from the Originals in the possession of several of his Friends. This Collection being large, I shall only give the following brief account of it:

1. The said Mr. Holme's Catalogue of the Things of Note in this Book. 1.

2. Lieutenant John Radinge's Account of Moneys he had received for the use of his Company, since 20 May 1645, delivered by him, upon Oath to the Commissioners, and signed by them. 2.

At the End of the Bill he writes thus, 'For Free-quarter I leave to your favourable Consideration.' He received his Commission from Sir William Brereton, who having been the King's Ward, sided with the Parliament.

3. Extracts from Deeds in the Custody of Philipp Yonge of Kenton, Esq; taken A.D. 1656. 7.

4. Commission of K. Henry VII. to Sir William Yonge Sheriffe of Shropshire & others; authorising them to call before them the Collectors of the Tenth throughout the said County (which was granted to him by Parliament, in the 4th Year of his Reign) and to oblige the said Collectors to pay in such summes of the said Money as still remained in their Hands. Yeoven vnder the Priuey Seale, 5 March, anno Regni 7. 16.

5. The Customs of Edgemonden in Com. Salop, used there tyme out of mynde. 22.

6. Extracts from Deeds relating to the Towne of Newport (Novus Burgus) in Com. Salop. 23.

7. Extracts from the Deeds of Mr. Gamul of Salghall & Craball. 39.

8. Copie of a Letter from Mr. Rich. Wilfon, Parson of Trinity in Chester, to Mr. Gamul, dated 29 May 1644, requiring him to pay the Tyth of Crabball, the detayning whereof, he beleues, is no less than playne Sacrilege. 51.

9. A Copy of the Privy-Seal sent to William Gamul Alderman of Chester, for the Loane of £13. 6. 8. to K. Charles the First. Given 19 November 1625. 57.

10. Extract of an Indenture made 3 August anno 5R. Edwardi VI. between William Clyff Deane of Chester, & John Calveley Esq; wherein the Boundes of the Demeines of Saughton-Lordship are recited. 59.

11. Abstract of the Inquisition taken 16 August A.D. 1630. touching the Gift of . . . Goodikar of Barnston in the Parish of Woodchurch, to the Poore of the same Parish. 61.

12. Draught of a Roman Altar, with an Inscription found in digging of a Sellar in Chester, A. D. 1693. 80.

13. English Translation of a brief Dissertation made by Mr. John Greenhalgh late Head Scholemaster of Chester, upon the Roman Altar dug up in Chester, A. D. 1653. 80. a.

The Inscription begins I. O. M. TANARO: and is mentioned in several printed Books, but perhaps not so well explained as here.

14. Extracts from many Deeds, the Originals whereof were in the Custody of the third Randle Holme, A. D. 1667. (These serve to prove the times of many of the Maiors & Sheriffs of Chester.) 81.

15. A Brief of K. Edward VI. directed to the Inhabitants of the Counties of Chester, Salop, Denbigh, & Flynt, for their respective Contributions toward the Charge of building or making a new Haven at Lightfoote-Poole, near Chester: dated at Wrexham 1 June anno Regni 6. 123.

16. Abstracts

Num. 2063, 2064.

16. Abstracts of old Deeds relating to the Town of Barton, & entred into a Book anno 5 R. Henrici iv. remaining in the possession of Mr. Roger Dodsworth. 149.
 17. Like Extracts, made from the same book, & relating to the Towne of Bradford. 163.
 18. Like Extracts, made from the same book, relating to the Town of Irwilham. 166.
 19. Like Extracts, made from the same Book, relating to the Town of Salford. 172.
 20. Like Extracts, made from the same book, relating to the Town of Manchester. 173.
 21. Among these, is a Deed, in French, whereby Thomas de Barton gave his Armes to John the Son of Thomas del Bothe of Barton, his Heirs & Assignes. dat. 29 Sept. anno 5 R. Henrici iv. 174.
 22. Quedam Excerpta de Recordis remanentibus apud Castrum de Lancastr. per Magrum Rogerum Dodsworth. ibid.
 23. Names of the Commissioners appointed for Murders in each hundred of Lancashire, anno 6 R. Henrici v. 176.
 24. Collectanea ex Chartulario Abbatiae de Cocker sand. 178.
 25. Collectanea ex Libro de Whalley. 180.
 26. Transcripta ex Cartis in Custodia Richardi Westmore de Middleton juxta Lancastriam, A. D. 1628. 184.
 27. Ex Libro Abbatie five Prioratus de Burfough. 187.
 28. E Chartis Willelmi Chrechley de Lee, A. D. 1636 191.
 29. Ex Chartis in Custodia Joannis Calvey filij naturalis Radulfi Calvey Domini de Wodenmagna, &c. A. D. 1634. 192.
 30. From a Cowcher-book of Sir Raffe Asheton's Evidences, A. D. 1633. 195.
 31. Ex Libro albo Radulfi Asheton Militis. 199.
 32. Ex Chartis Johannis Holcroft de Morton, Arm. A. D. 1635. 200.
 33. Ex Evidencijs Richardi Bolde de Bolde, Arm. A. D. 1635. 202. 206.
 34. Cartæ de Burton-head, in Sutton. 203.
 35. Ex Cartulario Abbatiae S. Petri de Salop. in manibus Ric. Leuefon Militis Balnei, A. D. 1638. 226.
 36. Ex Libro de Laycock. 232.
 37. Out of the Irrotulary of the Deedes of the Duke of Lancaster, remayning amongst the Records in the Duchie-Office in Grayes Inne. 234.
 38. Out of the other great Coucher-booke also in the Duchie-Office at Grayes Inne. 238.
- I believe that most of these Extracts abovementioned, were made from Mr. Dodsworth's books.
39. Index Virorum: or an Alphabetical Table of Mens Names, mentioned in this Book.
 40. Index Locorum: or a like Table directing to the several Places herein mentioned.

2064.

A Book in folio, seeming to have been written & tricked by the third Randle Holme; who, on the out-side hath entituled it thus, "The Coppy of the Leagerbookes of Vale Royall, & Stanlowe:" wherein I find

1. His Catalogue of Things of Note in this Booke: at the beginning.

This Catalogue specifies many matters not to be found here; the Leaves wherein they were written being, perhaps, bound up in some other Book.

2. A Coppy of the Leager Booke belonging to the Abby of Vale-Royall. 241.

This was in the Hands of Sir Thomas Mainwaring Baronet, A. D. 1662.

Herein besides many Instruments relating to the particular Affaires of the Monastery, I find

3. Copies of several Popes Bulls, conveying sundry great Privileges to the Cistercian Order. 384.

CAT. HARL. VOL. II.

Num. 2064—2066.

4. Exhennia (Xenia) missa Dompno Petro Abbati de Valle-Regali, contra Festum Assumptionis Beati Marie, A. D. 1330. cum pretiis eorundem. 299. b.

Sequuntur,

5. Cartæ Abbatiae de Stanlaw, ante Translationem ad Ecclesiam de Whalley. 306.

Here are Tricks of most of the Seals; so that these Copies or Abstracts were taken from the Originals.

6. Cartæ Donorum post Translationem Abbatiae a Stanlawe ad Ecclesiam Whalleia. 320.

Divers of these seem also to be taken from the Originals.

7. A Catalogue of all the Gifts & Grants to the Abby of Stunlaw; and afterward confirmed to Whalley, when the Abby was translated there. 332.

These seem to be only the Titles prefixed to the several Charters as they were entred into the Abbey-Registre, and are followed by some other Writings; copied, probably, from the same Book which was in the hands of Mr. Richard Ashton of Downham, A. D. 1658, as appears in 322. b.

Toward the end, I meet with

8. Index Virorum; or an Alphabetical Table of the Sur-names of Families mentioned in this Book.

9. Index Locorum; a like Table containing the Names of places, with proper References.

A Book in folio collected or written by several Persons; namely by the second Randle Holme & others; by one of whom it is entituled, on the out side "Inquisitions from Hen. III. to Edw. IV." of which, nevertheless, I shall give the following Account:

1. Index Locorum: an Alphabetical Table, like that mentioned at the book above described. At the beginning.

Next after it comes,

2. Index Virorum. 8

I suppose these Tables not to be very exact; because the third Randle Holme hath thus written with his black Lead-Pencil, 'Both Alphabets to be mended.'

3. Another Index Virorum: being perhaps Names omitted in the former. 17.

4. Then follow the Inquisitions themselves (that is, Abstracts of them) collected from the Records in the Tower of London, the Treasury at Westminster, Chester-Castle, & the Exchequer in Chester, for the greatest part by Mr. John Maffy of Eggerley, sometime Clerke of the said Exchequer.

The Collection seems to have been made wholly upon account of Persons holding Lands in Cheshire: but proceeds not regularly, some Leaves being transposed, and others added, at different times, by the second Mr. Randle Holme.

5. His Alphabetical Table, directing to the several Abstracts of Inquisitions extant in this Book. 175.

6. An Index of Places, perhaps supplying the Defects in the first. 178.

A Book in folio, belonging to that last described, and on the out-side, by the third Randle Holme thus entituled, "Inquisitions from the beginning of Richard III. to the end of Charles I." That is, Abstracts of Inquisitions relating to those Persons who held Lands within the County of Chester; collected as aforesaid.

The Book seems to be written by the same Hands as the former, and consists of these Tracts following:

1. The Names of all the Persons whose Inquisitions are mentioned within this Booke, collected by the said Mr. Holme, A. D. 1664. At the beginning.

2. Index Virorum; as in the former book.

3. The abovementioned Abstracts of Inquisitions, beginning anno 1 R. Richardi III. 154.

4. The third Randle Holmes Alphabet of all the Townes & other
5 R

Num. 2066—2070.

& other Places mentioned in the feuerall Inquifitions within this Booke. Toward the end.

This is followed by

5. Another Index Locorum, or Table of Places.

2067.

A Book in folio, written by many different Hands and by the third Randle Holme, on the out-side thus entituled, "Laft Wills and Testaments of feuerall Gentlemen in Cheshire." It really confifts of diuers Tracts & loofe Papers put together in the Order following:

1. An Alphabetical Table of thofe Perfons Names whose Wills are either copied or abbreviated in this Book. At the beginning. Then follow,

2. Nomina Virorum: or an Alphabetical Table of Perfons Surnames. Then fucceed,

3. The Wills abovementioned, put together promif-cuoufly, and without any order of Time or Alphabet.

1. A.

Among them, I find,

4. The Names of the Jurors (i. e. Lords affifting in the Court) vpon the Araynment of Marvyn Tuchet Earle of Caftell-haven, at Weftminfter, 2 May A. D. 1631.

6. A.

5. That Earles Profeffion of Faith.

6. A. b.

6. Wills copied out of the great Register-Booke remaineing in the Will-Office within the Abbey-Court, in the City of Chefter.

Some of thefe are as high as the year 1519.

7. Other fingle papers (fome originals) being Wills, or relating to Wills.

279. A.

8. Nomina Locorum: toward the end.

9. An Original Probat of one Will; and a Transcript of another, loofe; at the end.

2068.

A Book in folio written by feveral Hands, and by the third Randle Holme, on the out-side thus entituled,
"Fines from the beginning of Edward 1. to the end of Henry VIII." But I find in it,

1. An Alphabetical Table of the Names of Places; at the beginning.

2. Copies of fome few Fines relating to Cheshire Lands, of the time of K. Henry the third.

1.

3. Abstracts of Fines levied in the Court at Chefter, from the time of K. Edward the firft, to the Reign of King Edward VI. both inclusive.

6.

4. Alphabetical Table of the Surnames of Families mentioned in the aforefaid Fines; at the end.

2069.

A Book in folio, written by feveral Hands, and belong-to that laft defcribed. It is by the third Randle Holme thus entituled on the out-side, "Fines from the beginning of Edward VI. to th' end of Q. Elizabeth." But in turning it over, I find its Contents to be

1. Index Virorum: or, an Alphabetical Table of the Sur-names of Families mentioned in the enfuing Collection.
At the beginning.

2. Abstracts of Fines levied upon Lands & Tenements within the County-Palatine of Chefter from the beginning of the Reign of Queen Mary 1. to the End of that of Queen Elizabeth.

1.

3. Index Locorum: or an Alphabetical Table of the Names of Places mentioned in the Fines abovefaid.

2070.

A Book in folio, written alfo by feveral Hands, and belonging to the two former. It is on the back entituled, "Fynes from beginning of Jacobi 1. to Charles II." As containing,

1. Abstracts, or fhort Notes of Fines relating to Lands & Tenements within the faid County-Palatine of Chef-ter, levied during the Reigns of K. James the firft, & K. Charles 1. to the end of April A. D. 1659. 160.

2. Index Locorum: or an Alphabetical Table of

Num. 2070, 2071.

Places Names; as ufual: toward the end, being succeeded by

3. Index Virorum: a like Table of the Sur-names of Perfons mentioned in this Volume.

2071.

A Book in folio, as the former, written by feveral Hands;
and by the third Randle Holmes, thus entituled,
"Deeds & other Charters of the Foundation & Donations to the Abby & Bifhoprick of Chefter." But this not being particular enough for the numerous Tracts and fingle Papers this Book now confifts of, I fhall describe it in the manner following:

1. The third Randle Holme's Lift of the Things of moft note in this Book. At the beginning.

This is followed by

2. Index Locorum: being indeed, an Alphabetical Table, not only of Sur-names, but of Matters alfo.

3. Many Notes of the fecond and third Randle Holmes, putt down in Order to the compiling a Series of the Abbats of Chefter.

1.

4. Carta Regis Eadgari qua fundavit Monasterium
Monialium S. Werburgae in Civitate Cestrenfi. A. D.
958.

3.

5. Some Notes extracted from an old ms. in the hands of Mr. John Goulborne, by the fecond Randle Holme.
A. D. 1652; relating to the Church of St. John in Chef-ter, and to Earl Leofric, who was a Benefactor to it.

ibid.

6. Copies or Extracts of many antient Deeds of the old Earls of Chefter, & others (with Tricks of the Seals) relating to the Abbey of St. Werburg of Chefter, its Liberties & Privileges, &c. taken from the Originals in the Hands of Capt. John Whitworth, by the fecond Randle Holme. A. D. 1649.

5. et 29. b.

Among thefe I alfo find,

7. The Charter of Randulf the third, Earl of Chefter, made to his Barons, confirming their Courts & other Privileges.

5. b.

8. Letters Patents of K. Henry VIII. (bearing Teftes at Walden, 5 Auguft anno Regni 33) whereby he made the Conventual Church of St. Werburgh, Epifcopal, and placed a Bifhop, Dean, &c. therein.

11. b. et 26.

9. Qu. Elizabeth's Letters Patent confirming the fame
& fomewhat enlarging the Endowment of the fame
Church. Thefe bear Teftes, 22 December, anno Regni 22.

15. b.

10. A parchment-fragment of a very good Chartulary of Chefter-Abbey, confifting of but two Leaves.

24.

11. Copies of fome old Deeds relating to St. Werburgs Abbey, & other Religious Houfes; from the Originals in the Treafury at Chefter, or with the fecond Randle Holme A. D. 1652.

33.

12. Extracts from Deeds entred into a Legier-Book of the Abbey of Chefter; which Book was in the custody of the third Randle Holme, A. D. 1668.

36.

13. A Coppey of (or rather Extract from) the Booke commonly called the Legier-book of St. Werburgues in Chefter, being fairely written in ould Hand, in Parchment, and beginning with Sanctorum Prifca.

39.

This Book is now in this Library, and infcribed
96 C. 2.

14. In Libro Rubro Abbacie Cestrie.

73.

The fecond Randle Holme's Note about that Book.
This Booke is auintiently written in Parchment, & containeth Coppies of Sutes out of Courte-Roules, with fome Coppies of Deeds & other good Notes concerning the Monastery of St. Werburgues. But it is much defaced, flubbered, worn, & many Leaves torne out:
which makes it very imperfect. But what poffibly I could gather, I have (as neere as I can) tranfcribed for future pofterity, November 1649.

By Court-Roules above, I fuppofe Mr. Holme meant Plea-Rolls. This tract feems to be imperfect.

15. Ex-

Num. 2071.

15. Extracts from other Deeds, &c. relating to Chester-Abbey. 100.
 16. Notes concerning the concealed Lands in Cheshire, granted by Q. Elizabeth to Peter Gray & Richard his son; and by them, to Lancelot Bostock & Francis Hitchcock. 102.
 17. The Deed of Purchase, &c. for Bostock & Hitchcock from the Grays. 103.
 18. A breife Note of all such Parcells of the said concealed Lands, as were sold & granted in Fee-farme by the said Bostock & Hitchcock. 104. b.
 19. Particular Valuation of the Rectory of Prestbury, anno 19 Elizabethæ Reginae. 105.
 This Rectory seems then to have been in the Hands of the Lady Egerton, who enjoyed also many other Advowsons, Penfions, &c. arising from Church-Lands; as appears by that which follows the Valuation above mentioned. 105. b.
 20. A note of concealed Lands, Tythes, &c. in the possession of the Dean & Chapter of Chester. ibid.

21. A stout Law-suit between the Abbats of Chester & Basingwerk, for the Advouson of the Church of West-Kirkeby, whose Incumbents had in former Times held the same by hereditary Succession, untill the time of the Council held by Pope Innocent III. at the Lateran-Palace, wherein it was enacted (if I may so say) that no Ecclesiastical Benefice, for the future, should devolve by hereditary Succession. (See further in this Catalogue, Num. 2060—44.) 18.
- I am informed, that some late Clergymen of our Church, by Money, have evaded the force of that Canon, and succeeded their Fathers in the same Benefice without fear or shame: one example of this kind, is now at Coventre.
- Then follow,
22. Extracts from certain Plea-Rolls of the County

Num. 2072, 2073.

- Palatine of Chester, for the 15th & 16th years of K. Edward 1. 20.

Num. 2076.

2076.

An Heraldical Book in folio, on the out-side thus entituled by the third Randle Holme, "Coates of the Nobility; Knights of the Garter; and Lord Mayors of London, &c." but this not being sufficiently particular, I shall describe it in the following manner,

1. Armes in Blazon of many Noble and Worshipful English Families. 1. & 20. b.

It seems that these have been copied, and entred into some other Book.

2. Order of the Funeral of George Talbot Earl of Shrewsbury; who died 26 July anno 30 R. Hen. VIII. 4. b.

3. Of the Feast of St. George, holden at Wyndfore, 22 May, anno 32 R. Henrici VIII. 5.

4. The Chardge that belongeth to the making of a Knight of the Bath; with the Fees of the Officers in the Court. ibid.

5. The Descent of Maud the Empress & of King Stephen; from the Book called Concordantia Historiarum 6.

6. The Interrment of King Henry vii. 6. b.

7. How Sir Raffe Graye being taken at the Castle of Bamboroughe, was disgraded of the Order of Knighthood. 6. b.

8. Coats of Armes & Badges (or Crests) of the Nobilities (i. e. Knights) of the Garter. 7. & 22.

9. How the Bastard of Burgoyne chalenged Anthonye Lord Scales, anno 6 Edward IV. and of the Combats which ensued between them. 8. b.

10. The Originall of Herawlds; from Eneas Sylvius. 9.

11. The Acheuement, conteyning 28 Coates, as they are marshalled & boren by Henry Stanley Earle of Derby. 10.

12. Armes in Blason, of certain Cheshire Gentlemen. 11.

13. A Visitation made in Lancashire, & in a parte of Cheshire, per Lancastre Heraulde, in the 24th yeare of King Henry VIII. by a speciale Comicion of Thomas Benalt alias Clarencieux King at Armes of the same Province.

This seems to be the Original, and William Fellowe perhaps was Lancaster-Herald at the time, who set forth the severall Descents, Narratively, as the Heraldical People say.

14. Some Armes of Northern Nobility & Gentry, partly tricked, partly in Blason. 19.

15. List of the Knightes of the Order of St. George sithence the Institution thereof: to near the midst of Q. Elizabeth's reign, with their Armes in Blazon, & some of their Crests tricked. 26.

16. Armes in Blason, of our British, Saxon, Danish, & other Kings, &c. 37.

17. List of our English Dukes & Marquises, Earls, &c. since the Conquest: with their Armes blasoned. ibid.

18. The Style of Q. Elizabeth Sovereign of the Noble Order of the Garter, and of the Knights Companions. 41. b.

19. Copie of the Rollof Ely, with the Names, & Armes (forsooth) of those very civil Souldiers, in Blason, whom K. William the Conqueror sent to associate with & Quarter upon the Monks of Ely. 43. b.

Then comes another Tract, by a very different Hand; containing,

20. The Crests & Badges of our English Kings, from King Edward III. to King Edward VI. inclusive; painted. 44.

21. Armes, Crests & Badges of many of our Nobility, in Colors. 45. b.

22. Armes & Crests, in Colors, of many English Knights; some of whom were Lord-Mayors of London. 52. b.

These are followed by some others only tricked.

Num. 2076, 2077.

23. Printed Armes and Crests of all the Baronets created to the Year 1620; being 127 in number. 176.

24. Armes & Crests of many antient English Gentlemen, taken by Mr. Robert Glover Somerset-Herald, ex libro antiquo olim spectanti Willelmo Ballard Armigero Marche Regi Armorum partium Occidentalium Regni Angliæ, Walliæ, et Cornubiæ, tempore Regis Edwardi quarti. 143. b.

25. Alphabetical Table of the Persons Names mentioned in this Book. At the end.

2077.

A Book in folio, written by several Hands, and on the back, entituled by the third Randle Holme by this only Word DEEDS: but I take the Liberty of giving the following Account of it.

1. The same Mr. Holme's account of the Things of most Note in this Book. A loose Paper at the beginning.

2. Men's Names: being his Alphabetical Table of Persons mentioned herein. In loose Papers.

3. Tabula ex Evidencijs Generosorum; Recordis, Placitis, Finibus, Recognitionibus, &c.

Mr. Holme seems to have meant a sort of Index Materialium.

4. Index Virorum: being another Table of Persons Names by the same Hand.

Then comes the main Work, being short Abstracts from Records & other Deeds & Instruments, chiefly relating to Cheshire; in looking over which, I choose to give the following particulars.

1. E Cartis penes Paulum Winington de Birches, Generosum. 1.

2. E Cartis penes Laurentium Winington de Armitage, Generosum. 2.

3. Georgius Sutton Miles, Magister Hospitalis S. Lazari de Burton, & ejusdem loci Confratres, absoluebant Thomam de Winington et Elenam Uxorem ejus ab omnibus Peccatis suis, nisi talia sunt, super quibus Sedes Apostolica sit consulenda. dat. A. D. 1491. 4.

4. Extracts from several old Deeds relating to the Family of Hefwall. 5.

5. Extracts from Deeds relating to the Family of Venables, &c. 6.

6. Abstracts from Deeds relating to the Parochial Church of Rosthorpe: which, at length, was given to Christ-church in Oxford, with all its rights as formerly enjoyed by the Prior and Conuent of Launda. 8.

7. Notes relating to the Divorce made between William Brereton & Amilla Venables, who were related in the fourth Degree, and how that the Sentence was annulled by the Carmelites; A. D. 1386. 10.

8. How Peter Venables married Alice Singleton, & forsaking her, married Alice Grieth: but, by a Sentence of the Church, was obliged to dismiss his last & keep to his first Wife, A. D. 1468. 12.

9. Note of a Suit of one Wentilian (perhaps a Welshwoman) against Sir Hugh Venables, who had betrothed himself to her near 28 Years before, & had begotten Children upon her. Hugh appeared, owned the Children, but denied the Contract: but, as it seems, was obliged to marry her. This happened A. D. 1240. 14. (et pag. 15. where it appears by the Testimonies of many Witnesses, that he was lawfully married to her in the Chepall of Peever)

10. How the High-way of Huntingdon near Chester being unpassable was repaired; and what provision was made for keeping it good for the future. 21.

11. How John Griffin Esq; bequeathed his purchased Lands to Eleanor his Wife for Lyfe; with Remainder to George Griffin his Bastard Sonne, & to his Heires & Assignes, for ever. But after the Death of Eleanor, George dying without Issue, these Lands escheated to Thomas Venables Baron of Kinderton; being held of him in Socage. 35.

Num. 2077.

12. Abstracts of Deeds in the Hands of Winington of Armitage. 36. (et vid. pag. 38.)

13. How the Barony of Witch-Malbanc was sold in Parcels. 40. 97. et 99.

14. Extracts from Inquisitions, giving the Names & Times of many Escheators of Cheshire. 42.

15. How the Lord Viscount Cholmondeley claymed Mr. Partingtons Chapel in Cristleton Church, because of an Inscription there relating to his Family; and was kept from it with greates Charge & Expence. 43.

16. Collectanea ex Cartis in Custodia Johannis Goulbourne de Milton. 44.

17. Collectanea à Cartis penes Robertum Venables de Antrobus. 47.

18. Abstract of the Verdict given upon the Contention which arose about the Bounds of Birchells, & Hendebury, Pexhulle, &c. wherein the Common Heath, Mores, & Pasture-ground belonging to each are declared. dated an. 5 R. Edwardi III. 50.

This, and perhaps some that follow, were taken from the Originals in the possession of Ralf Leycester of Toft, Esq.

19. Abstract of the Inquisition holden Anno 22. R. Edwardi I. in order to find whether Henry de Lacy Earl of Lincoln, or his Ancestors, Constables of Chester, were accustomed to have the Catalls of their Men or Tenants being Felons & Fugitives, which were found within the Fee or Liberty of Halton. 51.

20. Abstract of a Writ of K. Edward I. (bearing Teste, anno Regni 50.) commanding the Sheriffe of Cheshire to enquire touching the Right by which Hugh de Venables claimed to have a Court-Leet, & other Liberties in divers Villages, as appendants to his Maner of Kinderton. 78.

Here & after, the running number of Pages is very erroneously putt down; but the large Table abovementioned referring to it; I think it best to go on, without altering them.

21. Collectanea à Cartis penes Radulfum de Bostock de Moulton Generosum, A. D. 1643. 84.

22. E Cartis antiquis penes Henricum Vernon de Haffington, Armigerum, A. D. 1643. 87.

- A Book in folio written, for the greatest part by the third Randle Holme, and bearing this Title following, "A Generall Collection of all the Offices in England, with their Fees in her Majesties Guiste: which shews that a great part of this Book is transcribed from the Book of Fees made in the time of Queen Elizabeth, the Remainder being added by Mr. Holme, as the Notices came to Hand. Thus this book may be described, briefly, in this manner,
1. Mr. Holme's Table of the Contents: At the beginning.
- Then, comes a Detail of the Offices & Fees of her Highnes Courts, both of Justice & Reveignewe: viz.
2. The Exchequer of London (at Westminster) with the Fees & Allowances to the Officers there. 100.
3. Customers & other Officers about the Customhouse in London; with their seuerall Fees, Rewards & Allowances. 101.

8. Her Majesties Castles, Parkes, Forests & Chafes, with the Fees & Allowances to the Keepers & Officers there. 116. b.

Inserted, negligently, within this Tract, I find,

9. A List of the Offices in the Kings Guifte as Earle of Chester, with their Fees. 119.

The Book of Fees paid to Queen Elizabeth's Officers ending at fol. 120. b. next follow.

10. Fees payable to the Kings Officers, for creating of a Baronett. 122. b.

11. The Commission of King Charles 1. directed to Thomas Viscount Savage, Robert Viscount Cholmondeley, Sir John Savage, Knight, & many others; setting forth, that very many of his Subjects have been and are unjustly oppressed with excessive Fees extortively exacted & received of them by Attorneys & other Officers in the Courts at Westminster, & elsewhere; and also by Officials, &c. in Ecclesiastical Courts within both Provinces: and therefore willing them to call before them all proper Persons, by whose Testimonies the truth might best be found out, and take cognizance of all Fees demanded by all Officers since the 11th year of Qu. Elizabeth, & what new Offices had been erected or established since that time within the Counties of Chester & Flint, & City of Chester: bearing Teste, 3 January, anno Regni, 10. 123.

The remaining part of this Book seems to contain the Returns made to the Commissioners of Enquiry for the Counties & City above-mentioned, or a great Part of them; and are comprised under the following Titles.

12. List of the Fees taken by the Clarke of the Pentice in the Pentice-Court, and other Courts in the City of Chester, as agreed upon and allowed, A.D. 1621. 125. b.

This seems to have been collected from some Plea of

Num. 2079.

of Quo Waranto, concerning the Maner & Hundred of Macclesfield in Cheshire.

36. The Explication of divers other old Words used in the old Charters; taken from several Authorities. ibid. & 69.

37. Some Notes touching the Foundatiou & Endowment of the Abbey of Stanlow in Cheshire. 67.

38. The Boundaries of the Walte-lands of Frodsham & Hellbie, in Controversy betwixt 68.

39. The Forme of a Liurey sued, of Lands in the County of Chester. 69.

40. Notes about the Offices of Chamberlayne & Justice of Chester. ibid. (et vid. pag. 68.)

41. Historical Notes relating to Cheshire. 70. (et vide 74.)

These are imperfect, and relate mostly to Chester, and to the antient Earls thereof.

42. Abstracts of original Deeds, whereby the Family of Monte-alto (Mount alt, Moulde, or Mounaut) conferred many Benefactions upon the Abbey of Basingwerke. 72. A. B. D.

43. Abstracts from other Deeds, in the possession of Mr. Stanley, relating to the same Family. 72. B.

44. Pedegree of the same Family, deduced from the Charter. 72. C.

45. Rough Sketches of Pedegrees for the Familles of Lacy, Montalt, &c. 73.

46. Two differing Lists of the old Earles of Cheshire Barons. 75. A.

47. Petition of William Lord Baron Brereton of Loughlyn in Ireland, to Thomas Howard Earl of Arundel & Surrey, as Earl-Mareschal; complaining of the undue placing of certain Pictures & Armes in the Parliament-house within the Castle of Chester, by Mr. Glaseor late Vice-Chamberlayne there. 75. B.

This is followed by a short Narration of the Matter which ensued upon the Petition aforesaid; which was, the placing those Pictures & Armes, according as the Lord Brereton desired. But it being done without the knowledge of William Stanley Earl of Derby as Chamberlayne of Chester; he commanded them to be placed as they were before, A. D. 1624.

48. List of the Deanaries within the County of Chester; and of the several Parishes within the same Deanaries. 76.

49. Alphabetical Table of the Names of Places mentioned in the fore-going part of the Book. 76. b.

Then follows, as it were, a Resumption of the Work; wherein I observe, 50. Abstracts of Original Deeds late in the Hands of Captain George Dimock of Chester; and now with me (Randle Holme the second) A. D. 1648. 78.

Divers of these concern the Hospital of St. John Baptist in that City: as also other Deeds & Wills, relating to the Citizens & their Families; with Tricks of the Seals, &c.

51. Shorter Abstracts of other old Deeds, taken by the second Randle Holme. 89.

52. Carta qua Hamundus de Macy Dominus de Doneham, erigit Villam suam de Altringham in liberum Burghum, conceditq; Burghensibus ejusdem varias Libertates, et Privilegia, anno . . . R. Edwardi 1. 90.

53. Literæ Patentes Edwardi primogeniti Edwardi Quarti Regis Angliæ, Comitibus Cestrie, quibus perdonat Petro Dutton Armigero, mortem Johannis Maffy de Grafton, nuper felonice interfecti; ita tamen, quod idem Petrus sit Redo in Curia sua, &c. Teste, &c. 6 Julij anno Regni Patris sui 12. 93. B.

54. Extracts from 25 Deeds formerly in the Hands of the Lady Legh; & plundered A. D. 1646. 94.

These came to the Hands of the second Randle Holme, in the time of Warre, as he writes. 95.

55. Abstracts of old Deeds entred into a Booke in the Custody of Ja. Wright of Northwich, one of the Clerks Cap. HARL. VOL. II.

Num. 2079.

to H. Berkenhead Prothonotary at Chester. A. D. 1622.

97.

And here I observe,

56. Clamia Forrestarum de Wirhale, Mara, et Mondrem; ac etiam aliorum infra Forestas predictas existentium. (These Claims are thought to have been made temp. R. Edwardi III.) ibid.

57. Excerpta de Placitis Comitatus Cestrie, tentis apud Cestriam, coram Rogero Hillary Justiciario Dni. Comitibus Cestrie, die Martis proximo post Festum Assumptionis B. Marie, anno 27 R. Edwardi III. 158.

58. Breuates (i. e. short Notes collected) out of the Records in Chester Castle. 111.

59. Ex Libro Rubro Trotulatorio in Archivis Cestrie. ibid.

60. De Willelmo Win-peny, qui interfecit Johannem Fabrum apud Congleton, et post factum, captus fuit, et simul cum Bonis suis, missus fuit ad Castrum de Halton, et ibi detentus. Postea, Ballivi Dni. Comitibus Lancastrie de Halton, Corpus predicti Willelmi (eo quod super Curiam ibidem se ponere noluerit) ad Castrum Cestrie misit. Postea, predictus Willelmus fecit Finem, pro Pace Comitibus habenda. 113.

61. How William de Huxlegh, a notorious Thief, (with other Thieves) broke the Castle of Halton, and carried away with them Goods to the Value of £40. Which William being taken, & indicted at the Assizes, pleaded that He was a Clergy-man, & consequently not bound to answer in that Court. The Court then caused open Cry to be made, whether his Bishop had sent any person to demand him; which not appearing, the Jury brought him in Guilty of that, & other Robberies. 115.

62. Breve Edwardi Comitibus Cestrie, &c. directum Ricardo Sutton. Servienti Pacis in Comitatu Cestrie. in quo (quia nonnulli Malefactores et Pacis perturbatores Homicidia et alia Malefacta perpetraverant in Balliva sua) precipit quod in Balliva sua inviolabiliter conservet, &c. et quod predictos Malefactores et capi, et ad prisonam Castri Cestrie duci, vel extra Patriam fugari faciat, citra Festum Natalis Domini; sub pena forisfacture Ballive sue. Teste, &c. 3 Decembris anno 4 Regis Edwardi II. 121.

63. Willelmus Walke appellavit Adamum filium Johannis de Woodhouses de incendio Domorum suarum, et Asportatione Bonorum suorum. Et predictus Adam captus fuit. et ad Castrum Cestrie ductus, etc. Et idem Adam ad Appellationem nihil respondit, sed mutum se tenuit. Sed qui testificatum fuit Adamum loqui posse, si vellet, &c. Ideo commissus est Gaole ad Dietam, &c. Et postea testificatur per Johannem le Morgan Constabulario Castri Cestrie, quod predictus Adam mortuus est ad Dietam, &c. Ideo, &c. de Castell. inquirend. ibid.

64. Hugo Cholmondelege Serviens Pacis presentavit ad Castrum Cestrie Caput Davidis le Cooper decollati pro Burglaria cujusdam Domus apud Burwardesley, et cujusdam Domus apud Cholmondley, &c. anno 6 Edw. II. 124. vid. 131. 133. 172.

65. Jacobus de Coghull, &c. presentaverunt ad Castrum Cestrie. caput cujusdam hominis capti fugiendo cum quodam Equo furato; et presentaverunt Equum cum Capite. Qui quidem Equus postea vendebatur per Camerarium Cestrie pro 5 Solidis. ibid.

66. David de Buckley & Robertus de Woodhull Servientes Pacis sub Ricardo de Sutton, presentaverunt apud Castrum Cestrie Caput Thome Fox Felonis et Fugitivi; et nihil presentaverunt de Bonis. Ideo Inquisicio, etc. ibid.

67. In a Suit tried anno 3 R. Edwardi II. . . . Abbas (de Valle Regali) dicit quod Dns. Edwardus Pater Domini Regis nunc, fundavit Abbatiam suam, et dotavit de diversis Libertatibus, &c. per Cartam suam eis concessit Catalla Deodand. infra Dominium ipsius Abbatis. et dicit quod Infortunium predictum contingebat in filo Aque predictæ (de Wevere) Et quod filum & cursum Aque est infra Dominium suum. Et profert quandam Cartam per 5 U Seipsium

Num. 2079.

Seipsum lectam, sed Curie non ostensam nec liberatam. Et dictum est eidem Abbati per Justiciar. eandem Cartam Curie liberari, ad intrandum Clausulam, per quam clamat Libertatem predictam: et Abbas hoc facere recusans, in Contemptu Curie recessit. Ideo, de Libertate predicti Abbatis quoad Catalla predicta, ad Judicium, ad proximum Comitatum &c. ibid.

68. . . . Ricardus Goyel Monachus de Cumbermere interfecit Fratrem Adamum Carpentarium, cum quodam Cultello; et statim, Abbas et Conventus ejusdem Loci ceperunt eum, et imprisonaverunt secundum Consuetudinem Ordinis &c. (Anno 1 R. Edw. 11.) 127.

69. Assisa venit recogn. (anno 1 R. Edwardi 11) si Hamo de Maffy, &c. injuste disseisiverunt Petrum de Dutton. de libero Tenemento suo in Worperton, &c. . . . ideo capiatur Assisa, &c. Et quia idem Hamo est Baro Dni. Regis et Tenementa sua tenet de Dno. Rege in Capite, per Baroniam mediate; et ad Assis. seu Jurat aliqu. de aliquibus Tenentibus de Dno. Rege in Capite, tentis absque corporibus Militum Gladio cinctorum, et discretis Hominibus Comitatus, non est procedendum: et Vicecomes modo in Pannello suo, retor-navit homines simplicis Status et Tenure, non Milites, seu Discretos Comitatus, &c. Ideo preceptum est Vice-Comiti, quod venire faciat ad proximum Comitatum, duodecim Milites Gladio cinctos; et preter illos viginti-quatuor liberos et legales Homines ejusdem Comitatus ad faciend. Assis. &c. 130.

70. Rescriptum Pagani de Tibetot Justiciarij, ad R. Edwardum 11. anno sui Regni 4^{to}. . . . Quia Johannes Anker captus fuit, et in Prisonsa Dni Regis de Macclesfeld adhuc detentus est per Appellum Amicie filie N. de Falo, quod Appellum adhuc pendet, . . . ut mihi videtur, corpus predicti Johannis apud Nottingham, ducere non debui, quousque Appellum illud fuerit terminatum. Et etiam, quia totus Comitatus Cestrie dicit, quod Comes Cestrie est Comes Palatij, et habet talem Libertatem, quod omnes Prisiones capti in Comitatu Cestrie, sive extra, coram Justiciar. Cestrie infra Comitatum predictum arrenari et judicari debent; et a tempore quo non extat memoria, arrenari et judicari consueverunt, et non alibi extra Comitatum illum: nec unquam aliquis captus infra Comitatum predictum pro aliqua Felonia, ad Sectam alicujus, missus fuit extra Comitatum. Et quia, si ita est, esset contra Statum Dni. Regis Comitatus Cestrie ut mihi videtur, si dictum Johannem extra Comitatum Cestrie misissem, de sicut unicuique versus eum sequenti, secundum Legem & Consuetudinem Patrie, paratus sum Justiciam facere. ibid.

71. Descents of Dutton, Venables, Lancelin, Sutton, &c. seeming to have been made out from Deeds. 132.

72. Placitum Comitatus Cestr. anno 26 R. Edw. 111. de Contencione mota inter Hundred. de Bucklowe, et Hundred. de Northwico, de Misā 1000 Librarum Dno. Comiti concessarum. Jurati dicunt, quod Hundred. de Bucklowe ad quamlibet Misam centum Librarum, debet solvere 20 Solidos plus quam Hundred. de Northwico: ita quod Hundred. de Bucklowe debet solvere ad quamlibet Misam Centum Librarum, 14 Libras; et Hundred. de Northwico, 13 Libras, &c. 146.

The abovementioned Extract from the Chester-Plea-Rolls being over; I come to, 73. An old Paper entituled De Divisis et Bruera inter Villam de Whitbye, et Manerium de Stanley, 152. A.

Then follows,

74. Another Alphabetical Table containing the Names of Places mentioned in this ms. from page 73. to page 153. & also from page 158. to the end. 153.

75. Notes collected from the Plea-Rolls of Chester. 158. A.

Here I observe,

76. The Claims of Liberties & Privileges made by the Superiors of Religious Houses, Noblemen, Gentlemen, & Officers. ibid.

Num. 2079, 2080.

Then follow,

77. Abstracts of old Deeds in the Custody of John Kettell of Bursley (alias Burwardley) made by the second Randle Holme, A. D. 1641. 160. A.

78. His Collections from the Deeds or Evedences remaying in the Hands of Richard Allen of Bolfworth, Gent A. D. 1640. 166.

79. His Brevietts of a Court-Record belonging to Cheshire; written from Dr. Cuerden's Notes. 168. A.

80. Searches made in (i. e. Notes taken from) the Records of Chester, by Phillip Ouldfeild of Bradwall Esq; learned in the Lawes. 169,

Among these, I find one, shewing that

81. Alicia que fuit Uxor Rogeri Turnoke petit versus Thomam de Weste-dish, tertiam partem, &c. ut dotem suam, &c. Et Thomas et alij veniunt et dicunt quod predicta Alicia non debet inde Dotem habere. Dicunt enim, quod Ipsa in Vita predicti Rogeri elongavit se de eodem Rogero, et morabatur in Adulterio cum quodam Ricardo de Syddinton apud Somersford, et cum eo moram traxit; ita quod in vita ipsius Rogeri, nunquam fuit eidem Rogero reconciliata; et hoc parati sunt verificare per patriam. She denying the Allegations against her, They prove the fame to the Jury. Wherefore the Verdict went for the Defendants. 175.

82. Collectanea ex Recordis remanentibus in Custodia Magri Bradshaw apud London. ubi Liber vocatus Domestday remanet; A. D. 1632. 176. A.

All these relate to Cheshire-matters.

83. Ex libro antiquo Richardi Sneyd de Bradwall, Armigeri. 178. A.

84. Extracts from Cheshire Records. 179. A.

85. Extracts out of antient Records, remaing in the Hands of Mr. Thom. Birkenhed of Chester, A. D. 1637. 181.

Few of these relate to Persons or Places in Cheshire.

86. Ex Libro Decretorum Curiae Wardorum et Liberationum. 184. B.

This relateth to the process of the Suit about the Estate of Peter Shakerley of Hulme, Esq; a Ward, anno 12 R. Eliz.

87. Extracts out of ould Parchment Notes, in Custody of Mr. Will. Brock of Upton; & were in Bookes of Accompts of the Earles of Chester: by the second Randle Holme, A. D. 1639. 186.

88. Extracts from Deeds & other Instruments, made by the said Mr. Holme, &c. 187. 197. 200.

89. Notes from an old torn Record, shewing the Tenures of many Freeholders Lands, in the Counties of Surrey, Suffex, Kent, Huntingdon, Essex, & Hertford; taken by the same, A. D. 1639. 189.

90. A short Note of the third Randle Holme, touching the building and Reparation of Frodham-Bridge. 197.

91. An Alphabetical Table of the Persons Names mentioned in this Book; At the end.

It may be noted that most of the Extracts entred into this ms. as far as page 179. were copied from a Book, which Mr. William Vernon lent to the second Randle Holme, A. D. 1636.

2080.

A Book in folio consisting of divers Tracts put together by the third Randle Holme, who bath also given it this Title, "Seuerall Testimonies of the Custome of Chester, concerninge the takeinge-downe of Glasse and Wainfcote:" which Custome I find described in the words following; vizt. "That when, and as often as any Tenaunte haueinge an Estate for Terme of Life or Liues, or of Yeares of any Dwelling-house or Buildinge within the said City for his owne convenient Use within the said House or Buildinge, should & did erect & sett up upon any Glasse, Wainfcote, Inner Doors, Shelues, Formes, Dressers, & other such like

Num. 2080, 2081.

Like Necessaries: In such case the Tenante, his Executors, or Assignes, might remoue & take away the same, or Sell & Dispose thereof, at his or their Wills & Pleasures, without Disturbance of him that claymes the Reversion of the said House or building." Which Custom, and the Littigations occasioned thereby have given birth, as I conceive, to many more Tracts than these that follow.

1. Interrogatories administred to Witnesses produced to be examined vpon the parte & behalfe of Ellenor Alcocke Widowe. Executrix of Thomas Alcocke her Husband deceased, Complainante; against Charles Lewesley & Anne Salubury Widowe, Defendantes. Loofe at the beginninge.

2. Depositions of Lettise Alcock Widowe in that Cause. Loofe also.

3. Interrogatories to be ministred to Witnesses produced on the parte & behalfe of Thomas Gamull. Gent. and William Fletcher Inhoulder Defendantes, against Elianor Brereton Widowe, Complainante. 551.

4. Depositions of Witnesses taken in the Kings Majesties Court of Exchequer at Chester, within his Castle there, the 4th daye of July A. 5. Interrogatories to be administred to Witnesses produced on the Parte and behalfe of Ellen Brereton Wydowe, Executrix of John Brereton Alderman deceased, Complainant; against Thomas Gamull Gent. & William Fletcher, Defendantes. 572.

6. Deposition of Witnesses taken in the King's Majesties Court of Exchequer at Chester, the 27th of May, 1633, upon the part & behalf of Ellen Brereton Widowe, Complainant; against Thomas Gamull Gent. & William Fletcher Defendantes: before Edward Gregge Gent. Examiner of the same Court. 591.

A Book in folio, consisting of many single Tracts bound up together by the third Randle Holme, who on the back hath written this Title, "Dee-Milnes; Sutes about them." But I find therein,

1. The said Mr. Holme's List of the things of most Note in this Book. Loofe, at the beginninge.

2. Attested Copie of Mr. Francis Gamull's Bill exhibited to the Chamberlayne of Chester in the Exchequer there, against Edward Russell, & others, who had either sett upp Wind-Mills, Water-Mills, or Horse-Mills of their own, in or near to the City of Chester; or, at least, carried their Corn to be ground at the said Mills; in prejudice, as he asserts, to the Mills long before erected near Chester-Bridge, upon the River Dee (whereof he was then Tenant) being commonly known & called by the Name of Dee-Mylnes, and which had, time out of mind, the Right of Multure & Suit from all the Inhabitants of Chester, excepting only the Tenants to the Dean & Chapter, inhabiting without the North-gate. This happened about A. D. 1637. 1. vid. 158.

3. An Order of Star-Chamber (with the Seal affixed) dated, the 6 of May 1635. upon the Differences arisen between John Tyrer who had erected Water-works about 30 Years before, at Dee-Mills belonging to Mr. Francis Gamull, to the great Commodity of the Inhabitants of Chester; but to the prejudice of Mr. Gamull, as was asserted. Hereby, the Lords took care of the public Commodity of the People; and left both Parties to try out their private Matters of Complaint, in the Exchequer Court of Chester, according as they should see Cause. 36.

4. Interrogatories to be ministred to Witnesses produced to be examined on the Behalfe of Edward Whitby Esq; Recorder of the Cittie of Chester, and Francis Gamull Esquyer & Alderman of the said Cittie; against Phillip Manwaringe Esquyer, Robert Harvie & Thomas Aldersey Alderman, and others. 38.

Num. 2081.

It seems that Mr. Gamull's Grandfather, or Father, had permitted John Tyrer to erect Water-Works in and nere their Mills principally to preferue the Right of Grift & Multure to the said Milnes; and accordingly, the said Tyrer did agree that all such as should haue Water from the said Workes, should be obliged to grind their Malte & Corn at the said Milnes; & that such as refused, should be debarred from haueing of that Water, and their Pipes (if laid in) to be cutt off; which Agreement had been observed, and Mr. Gamull's Rent paid. That, in proceffe of time, old Tyrer being dead, Mr. Gamull entred into Treaty with John Tyrer the Son, for buying his Interest in the said Water-works; but before this was brought to a conclusion, Sir Randle Mainwaring late Alderman of Chester & the others, in Mr. Gamull's Absence, and without his privity, purchased the same out of his hands. That Sir Randle and his Partners acknowledging the Place whereon the said Workes were erected, & the Streame servinge the same, to be Mr. Gamull's Inheritance, Mr. Gamull was to make them a Lease thereof, at Ten Pounds p annum Rent, and they to performe all such Things & Covenants as the Tyrers had done. That after this, some of the said Partners. vttered & gaue-out Speeches against Mr. Gamull's Right of Grift and Multure, and said that it was a Slauery and Boudage that Men should be bounde to grinde at any Mills; and that they would free & discharge the Citizens & Inhabitants of Chester from the same.

5. Original Letter of Mr. Francis Gamull, to Sir chard Grofvenor Knight & Baronet, his Father-in-La dated from Westminster, 25 May 1641. upon the public Occurrences of that Time; as also his own private Affairs. 91.

6. Breviatts in the Sutes between Mr. Edmund Gamull & John Hankey, touching Dee-Milnes. 93.

7. An Original Instrument whereby Mr. Alderman Gamull abovementioned, did furrender to Thomas Gamull his Sonne & Heire apparant, all his Estate & Interest in & to Dee-Milnes, & all Fishings upon the Water of Dee, & in a certaine Poole called the Cage, with all the Water-courses, Flud-gates, Cawfies, Tolles, Multure, Profits, &c. to them belonging. Given, 20 Marche, anno 44 R. Elizabethæ. 96. b.

This Instrument is cancelled.

8. Rough Draught of the Cafe touching the antient Custome of Multure at Dee-Milles. 98. b.

Then follow some transposed Papers, wherein are contained,

9. A summary Recital of a Procefs between Raph & Thomas Goodman, Tenants of Dee-Milles, Plaintiffes; & Margaret Bavand, & others, Defendantes: for the withdrawinge Multure from Dee-Milnes, and carrying Corne to other Milnes. In this Suit, when honest Margaret happen'd to be cast, & she warned by the Court to forbear such her unlawful Practices for the future: the meek-spirited Woman thinking no harm in being as active in the Grinding-Trade as she could, unluckily fell into a Contempt of the Court; who (upon further Complaint) did on the 24th of March, anno 13 R. Elizabethæ, issue out an Attachment against poor Margery; Ordering, that att her Appearance she should be committed to Warde in the Castle of Chester, there to be punished for the Contempt aforesaid; and there to remaine, untill she should enter into Bound, with sufficient Suerties, to performe the Order of the Court before made against her; & further, to content & pay to the Plaintiffes 35 Shillings, for their Costs & Charges in this Suite susteined. fol. 109. (and so to be read toward the beginning of the Book.)

Then follow,

10. Some other Papers, written pro & con, relating to

Num. 2081.

to the Suit between Mr. Francis Gamull, & Edward Ruffel & others Defend^t that one Dickinson & one Denfon were in a fair way to be hampered, as standing in Contempt, for Breach of severall Orders of the Court; and for fraudulent Practize to defeate the said Orders. &c. Transposed. 111.

11. The severall Answere of Jane Davenport Widowe, one of the Defendants, for her parte; to the Information of Sir Walter Pye Knight, his Majesties Attorney of his Highnes Courte of Wards & Liveries, Complainant. dated the 5th of November 1623. 120.

Here Mrs. Davenport representeth that the sayd Information was contrived & exhibited against her, by the onely meanes of Edward Whitby Esq; (who had married Alice the Widow of Thomas Gamull Esq; which Alice had purchased the Wardship of her Son Francis, then an Infant) who vpon some causelesse Displeasure by him conceived against her, of purpose to vex & trouble her, and to put her to unnecessary Charges, without any just Cause at all. Which she the rather thinketh, because there are manye others named Defendants in the sayd Information with her, yet none of them are served with Proceffe to answere the same, but only herself; who by Reason of the weake (or poor) State she was left in by her Husband, is least able to defend Suite. She owns that her said Husband, for his better Advantage, did erect one Horfe-Milne for Malte upon his own Lande in Boughton within the Libertye of the Cittye of Chester, which he quietly held during the rest of his Life; & did receiue the Multure & Tolle thereof, & caused Malte to be carried & recarryed into & out of the Cittie of Chester, as often as Occasion required, without any Disturbance. She further disputes against the assertion of an Antient Custome of grinding solely at Dee-Milles; pleading that all the other or Countrey-Milles were free for any Man; & had been so, time out of Memory.

12. The Examination of Jane Davenport, Widowe, taken 22 of September 1623, by Vertue of the Kings Majesties Writte of Commission out of the Prince his Highnes Courte of Wardes & Liveries to them (the Commissioners) directed, vpon the Behalfe of Francis Gamull his Majesties Warde. 141.

Here the Widow can remember, with much ado, severall Matters which seem to make against her; but in the main, keeps her Ground & her Right to the Mill, with firmness enough.

13. Compendium Inquisitionis cujusdam, ubi Juratores dicunt, quod Georgius Cotton fuit seifitus in Domino suo ut de Feodo, de et in Grangia vocata Stanlow-grange in Com. Cestr. Et de & in quibusdam Molendinis aquaticis granaticis vocatis Dee-Milles, et quadam separali Piscaria in aqua de Dee, vocata le Kings Poole, et in le Cage ibidem. Et quod predictus Georgius Cotton et quidam Robertus Bonham, 20 die Februarii anno 13 R. Elizabethæ, vendiderunt Johanni Poole Armigero eandem Grangiam: reddendo inde annuatim prefato Georgio Cotton 13 Libras, 6 Solidos, et 8 Denarios. Et predictus Georgius Cotton, et Ricardus Cotton filius ejusdem, circa ultimum diem Junij anno 42 R. Eliz vendiderunt Thome Gamull Generoso (in consideratione 600 Librarum) Molendina et Piscarias predict. reddendo inde annuatim Centum Libras. 154.

14. Papers about an Injunction with Proclamation, against the Inhabitants of certain Townes, who for the future were to do their Soake & Suit to . . . Mille. dated from the Duchy-Chamber, Febr. 1632. 159.

15. The Case concerninge Dee Milnes, within the Liveries of the City of Chester; now the Inheritance of Francis Gamull Esq. 168.

Here are also Questions resulting from the Case, with the Answer of a learned Council to them.

16. Peition of Nicholas Ratcliffe & Mary his Wife, with other free Citizens of Chester, to the Mayor & Aldermen thereof; shewing, they had been served with Proceffes forth of the Court of Wards & Liveries at Westminster, by Mr. Recorder Whitby Gardian of Francis Gamull Gent. his Majesties Ward; & praying they would move Mr. Recorder to stay the Proceedings above; and that they might answer before their Worships. A. D. 1623. 169.

17. Petition of Nicholas Ratcliffe, &c. to the Assembly of Chester, setting forth their being sued in the Court of Wards at Westminster, on the behalfe of Francis Gamull Esq; his Majesties Ward, for not grinding their Courne at Dee-Milles. And therefore desiring the Advice & Assistance of the Assembly, whereby they will be guided & directed, as being of the poorer Ranke, & not able to stand out in so high a Courte, and vpon such great Charges as this Suite will require; being willing rather to giue anie Satisfaction that Justice will exact, for their Ignorance for the time past, and for the future to yield to the pretended Clayme, then to consume their Estates in defence thereof. 171.

18. List of the severall Windmylls & Horsemylls erected near Chester. 173.

19. A Copie of the last mentioned Petition; which was 29 January 1637, shewed to Witneses examined on the behalf of Francis Gamull Esq; Complainant, against Edward Ruffel Gent. &c. Defendants.

20. Copy of an Inquisition taken at Hawarden in Flynt-shire, 12 December anno 5 R. Jacobi 1. against the Caufway & Weare made in the River Dee; which by the Testimonies of many of the Welsh Gentry, & others, was found to be the Cause of the Overflowing of Lands, an Hindrance to the Coming up of the Fish, an Obstruction to the Navigation of that River, &c. (vid. infra § 28.) 176.

21. Translation of a Latin Lease of Dee-Milnes, with its Fishing, Suit, Court & Calley, lett by Edward the Black Prince to Robert of Bredone Person of the Church of Seynt Peter of Chester & others for Three Years; at the Annual Rent of 190 Pounds. dat. 29 Sept. anno 29 R. Edward III. 179.

22. Attested Copie of the Latin Enrolment or Original of the said Lease. 182.

23. Translation of the Latin Record whereby divers were manucaptors for Robert del Hope Deputie of Robert Castell Clark & Appruviator of Dee-Milles, under Henry Prince of Wales, &c. for his gud abeyryng ageynst the said Prince, and all Sutours of the Mylnes afforesaid, &c. 23 October, ann 11 R. Henrici IV. (vid. infra § 26.) 188.

24. Abstract of the Letters Patents of K. Edward VI. whereby he granted the Dee-Milnes, with the Fishing there & of the King's Poole, to Sir Richard Cotton Knight Comptroller of his Household, & Joan his Wife & their Assigns (together with the Manor of New-hall, & certain Land in Wrenbury) for ever, being then of the Yearly Value of 112lb. 15s. 2d. in full Recompense of the Scite and Capital Mesuage of the Abbey of Borne, & of the Lordships & Manors of Borne & Moreton, & of the Rectory of Borne, &c. within the County of Lincolne, & of other Lands & Tenements within the said County of Lincolne fold unto his Majesty. Teste, &c. 24 June, anno Regni 7. (vid. infra § 27.) 190.

25. Draught of an Order of the . . . Court at Chester (with th'Advys & Assistance of Henry Townesend Esquier, one of the Justices of Chester, Thomas Egerton Esquier, her Majesties Solycytour General, &c.) in the Cause between Gamull & Hankey: made 17 September. 1585. whereby Hankey the Defendant was obliged to continue his Suit & Grinding at Dee-Milnes, the Fermor or Fermors whereof were also obliged to be contented with the antient Toll (viz. the Sixteenth Graine only) & no more. And whereas Hankey hath sett up an Horfe-Mill in Chester for grinding his own, & other peoples Corne: It was order'd that Gamull should either buy buy it of Hankey, or else receive a reasonable Annual Rent for the going of the same. 199.

26. Attested Copie of the Latin Record mentioned above, at § 23. 201.

27. Translation of the Letters Patents of K. Edward vi. whereby he granted to S^r Richard Cotton Knight Comptroller of his Household, (in Consideration of the Scite of the abovementioned Abbey of Borne, with the Demeanes of Borne and Moreton, the Rectorie of Borne, & other Lands & Tenements in Lincolnshire) and to Dame Joane his Wife, (amongst other things) the Cornemillnes on Dee river; and that Fish-roume & Fishing & Libertie to fishe there in the Water of Dee; and the Fish-roume & Fishing of the Lumme called the Kings Poole in Dee: To be holden in Capite, by the Service of the 40th Part of one Knights Fee. Given, under his Privy Seale, 23 June, anno Regni 7. (vid. supra, § 24.) 203.

28. Copie of an Inquisition taken at the Towne of Lyons alias Holt in the Countie of Denbigh, the 14th day of December anno 5 R. Jacobi i. where the Welsh Jury was very vehement against the Weare & Causeway made in the River Dee, as the only Causes (and principally the Causeway) of the overflowing of their Land, the loss of their Fishing, & ruin of their former Navigation. (vid. supra, § 20.) 210.

29. Copie of an Inquisition taken at Chester, in the Countie of Chester, the 16th of December, anno 5 R. Jacobi i. against the Cause-way & its Floud-gates erected in the Dee: against the Weare lately made betweene the Townships of Aldford & Eaton, by Thomas Grosvenor Esq; & continued by Richard Grosvenor Esq; his Sonne; & against the new Key builded at the Charges of the Citizens of Chester. (This was for the County of Chester) 214.

30. Copie of an Inquisition taken in the Common Halle within the Citie of Chester, the same 16th of December, purporting the contrary to what was asserted in most of the former Inquisitions, and drawn up in Defence of the Fulling-Milles, Corne-Milles, Water-Workes, & Causey erected in the Dee, & Fishings in the same; the profits accruing by which they value at 1000 Pounds per annum besides the Ease & Benefite which the Inhabitants of the said Cittie & Countrey adjoining do, in generall thereby receive. 216.

31. Exceptions taken by the Counsell of Edward Russell & al. Defendants, to the Bill, Orders, & Proceedings of Court, on the behalf of Francis Gamull Esq; Plaintiffe. 222. b.

This is noted by the hand of Mr. Recorder Whitby, Mr. Gamulls Father in Law.

32. Evidence concernant Dee-Milnes; in Mr. Recorder Whitbys Hand. 223.

33. Answeres of (Mr. Gamull) the Complainant, to the severall Objections made in behalfe of the Defendants: noted also by the same Mr. Recorder Whitby. 223. b.

34. Copie of the Decree of the Kings Commissioners made in pursuance of the severall Inquisitions above mentioned; and dated at Wrexham in Com. Denbigh, 14 die Januarij, anno 5 R. Jacobi i. 228.

Herein is a Recital, almost Verbatim, of those Three Inquisitions that made against Dee-Milnes, the Causey, & Wear: but when they come to the Fourth, being the Verdict of the Chester-Jury, they recite it not, but say They (i. e. the Chester-Jury) have found some other Matters impertinent to their Charge, and tending to maytaine the private Goode of some Citizens, there, and not the publique Weale & Benefitt of the Cittie & Countrey. And forasmuch as the said Weyre, Causey, & New-Key, are greate & greivous Annoyances vpon the saide Ryver of Dee, and Cawfes of the severall Hurts afore said, They the said Commissioners, after another long Preamble, do order & decree, that one full Third parte of the said Weyre shall be pulled downe, and the River there, made open, that one half of the said New Key shall be abated & taken away: that the Obstructions and Annoyance in, at, or neere the Houlte-Bridge, be wholly removed: and that Tenn Yards in length of the said Cawley, in the middle of the Channell, downe to the bottome of the Ryver, shall be pulled downe & taken away.

35. Examynations taken in the Queens Exchequer, on the behalfe of William Goodman, &c. Plaintiffes, 19 Sept. 1570. 253.

In this Cause Mrs. Margaret Bavand was Defendant, being sued by Mr. Goodman & the other Fermors of Dee-Milnes, for grinding Corne belonging to the Inhabitants of Chester at Handbach Water-milne, and at the Wind-milne without the North gate of Chester; being both in her Occupation.

36. Inquisitio capta infra Caltrum Cestrie, 12 die Septembris, anno 4 R. Jacobi i. ad inquirendum de Terris et Tenementis Georgij Cotton Arm. convicti de Recufancia, in abstinento venire ad aliquam Ecclesiam, ad divinum Servicium. (This is the Proto-typon, or first Draught; & is much damaged by taking of Wet.) 271.

A Book in folio, consisting of sundry particular Tracts and loose Papers, bound up together by the third Holme; who, on the out-side, hath given this Title to the whole, "Chester, & Dee-Mills." In the inside, it hath this larger Title, "Dee-Mills & Causey; severall things concerning Chester:" but in turning over the Book itself, I find,

1. The said Mr. Holme's List of the Things of most Note herein contained; at the beginning

2. Mr. George Ireland's Agreement with Randle Holme, whereby Randle was to have a New Lease of his Dwelling house, for the Terme of three such Lives as he should nominate; at the old Rent, but paying a Fine. dat. 11 Septemb. 1660. Upon the same Paper.

3. Inquisitio capta apud Cestriam, anno 28 R. Henrici vi. coram Comissionarijs dicti Dni. Regis, per Sacramenta Johannis Manwaring Chivaler, &c. qui dicunt, quod dudum fuit quidam Portus apud Cestriam, ad quem multi Mercatores dicte Civitatis Cestrie, et alij Regni Anglie, et aliorum Regnorum et Terrarum communem Cursum et Recursum Transitus et Reventus cum Navibus et Mercimonijs suis habuerunt, ad eorum grandia proficua. Et quod per quinquaginta annos et amplius, extitit, quidam grandis Aque Curfus dicti Portus, per quem dicti Mercatores Cursum & Recursum habebant, qui per Sabulorum Maris incrementum, a dicto portu subtractus fuit: ita quod nulla Navis Mercatoria per duodena Miliaria dicte Civitatis appropinquare potest. Sic quod nulla Navis Mercatoria dicte Civitatis pertinens est, ad dicte Civitatis et Civium grandia Detrimentum, Defolacionem, et Depaupertatem. Et quod tempore Henrici iv. nuper Regis Anglie, fuit quedam Infurrectio et Rebellio in Wallia, qua durante, nemo dicte Civitatis, Victualia seu aliqua alia Mercimonia cum ullo Wallico vendere vel emere audebat, sed dictam Civitatem, ut homines Guerre a Wallicis indies et noctanter custodiebant. Pro quibus causis, multi Cives et alij, a dicta Civitate subtracti fuerunt; ita quod major pars Civitatis vastata, defolata, ruinosa, et minime inhabitata, per longum tempus existit. Sic quod dicta Civitas nec habilis nec similis perdurare, aut onus Regalis Feodi firme est portare, nisi ad perpetuam Adnichilationem dictorum Civium in eadem Civitate modo inhabitantium. 1.

4. Mr. John Brerewood's Allegations, that Dee-Mills should pay nothing to the Repaires of S^t. Mary's Church, in whose Parish they are. 1. b.

5. Project of an Act for the abateing, and to restrain the new Erection of Werres, Stanks, Kydells, and other Obstructions in great & navigable Rivers. 5.

6. Copie of a Letter from the Lords of the Privy Council, to . . . requiering him diligently to survey survey the Riuer of Dee, and the Haven, and to certifie the trewe State of the said Haven; the causes of the Decay thereof; how the same may be made good & amended, without the Destruction of Dee-Mills; and whether the Abatement or Pulling downe of the Cawsey, according to the late Commissioners Decree, will not be more prejudiciall to the City & Contry; then the amendment of the said Hauen thereby, will contravayle: that there-vpon such further Order & Direction may be given as may best stand with the common good of the Cittie & Country, & the Satisfaction of those, betweene whom the Controverfie dependeth. 12.

7. Copie of the Letter sent by the Magistrates of Chester, 19 July 1551, to the then Lord Treasurer, desiring his Intercession with the King for a Sum of Money toward their Charge in building an Haven (i. e. the New Key in Wirrall) all of Stone-worke, vpon the Riuer of Dee, in the Face & Belly of the Sea; which would, at the least, amount to Five or Six thousand Poundes: or els, their present Povertie would force their former Charges therein to bee but as Labor lost; and consequently must needs ensue the vtter undoing of the whole Cittie, with innumerable hurt to the Country adjoining. 14.

8. Part of a Draught of a Letter from the Lords of the Privy-Council to the Commissioners of Sewers for the Counties of Chester, Flynt & Denbigh; requiring them not to abate the Cawsey, till the whole busines should be heard. 16.

9. Will. Plimleys Affidavit concerning the fishing by Dee-Millnes; against the Bingleys, and their Claim about the Fulling Milnes, the Chamber & Orchard; and against Richard Evans the Glovers laying Sheep-Skins in the Dee, to hinder the Fishes coming up. dat. 24. Jun. 1629. 18.

10. The State of the Cause concerning the Millnes & Cawsey at Chester. 20.

Here it is shewed that Dee-Millnes & Cawsey were sett up by Hugh Lupe, many hundred yeares before ever any Statute of Sewers was made; and never since called in question. That some Gentlemen of the partes of Wales having Milles within 4 or 5 Miles of Chester, & Grounds vpon the River-side, doe now (after 600 yeares) earnestly labour to destroy the same. To this purpose they procured a Commission of Sewers to themselves & others, which (vpon pretence of some Annoyances supposed to be occasioned by the said Milles and Cawsey) they doe so violently prosecute, as to impannell Juries, & receave Verdicts in forrayne Counties; that in the Cittie, which is the proper Countie (where the pretended Nuisance is) being against them. That the said Commission did not extend vnto the said Milles & Cawsey. That at the last sitting of the said Commissioners, being the 17th of December, they did forbear to make any Order; and absolutely adjourned the Courte vntill the Saturdaie in Easter weeke: notwithstanding which, some of the said Commissioners of Wales, fearing a Superfedeas, verie lately, in private, mett together againe, and contrary to the expresse Direction of the Lord Treasurer of England, and their owne Agreement, they made an absolute Decree for the Destruction of the said Cawsey & Millnes, and published the same. Whereby the Welsh People are so encouraged, as to threaten to come very speedily to Chester, with great Multitudes, to put the said Decree in Execution. So that the Memorye of that antient Enmitye & Hostilitye which was sometymes betwixt the English & the Welsh is revived, and the myndes of the peaceable-affected, much disquieted. 20.

11. Another Copie of the same Paper. 22.

12. An order of the Lords of the Privy-Council, dated 13 March 1607, and signed by Robert Cecil Earl of Salisbury, concerning the Triall of the Cause relating to the Cawsey, New-Key, & Dee-Mills, to be had before them, on the 27 of April next following; and in the meane Season, the Commissioners of Sewers required to forbear to put in Execution any order by them formerly made concerning those Matters, or to take any other Course therein, by pretence of their said Commission. 24.

13. Attested Copie of the same Order. 26.

14. Attested Copie of an Order of the Lords of the Privy Council, adjourning their Hearing the Cause about the Cawsey & Dee-Mills, until the 20th of February next following, dat. 31 January, 1607. 28.

15. Another attested Copie of the same Order. 30.

16. Attested Copie of the Letter of Lord Chiefe Justice of England, the Lord Chiefe Justice of the Common Pleas, & the Lord Chiefe Baron, to the Lords of the Privy Council: dated 29 May 1609. advertizing, that after divers hearings of the Cause relating to Dee-Mills & the Cawsey or Mill-Stank within that River; the perusal of the severall Inquisitions taken of late before the Commissioners of Sewers; and consideration of all the Laws vpon which that Commission was or could be grounded; together with the Commission itself, & the Decree thereupon made: they are of Opinion, that the said Commissioners of Sewers, (for the Reason they give) doth not extende to such Auncient Mills, Mill-stankes and Cawseys, as were erected before the time of K. Edward 1. except they have bin enhaunfed & exalted above their former height, and thereby made more prejudiciall and hurtfull then formerly they were. In which Case they are not to be pulled downe from the topp to the Bottome (as the said Decree, now questioned, doth appoint) but to bee reformed; by taking away & abating the Excesse & Inhaunfment onely. 32.

17. Original Letter of the Lords of the Privy Council, to the Judges mentioned in the last Article; recommending, or rather referring this Matter to their hearing & consideration; that upon their Report given in, their Lordships might take such further Course therein, as shall be agreeable to Equitie and Justice, dat. 6 May 1603. 33.

18. Instances of Abuses done to divers of the Inhabitants of Chester, by the Partners in the Water-works there. 34. b.

19. Original Petition of Randle Holme and some others, to Francis Gamul Mayor of Chester, & the other Magistrates there; setting forth, that some private Persons hauinge an Interest in the Water-works, haue wrongfully cutt off the Petitioners Pipes, and demand far greater Rents than were formerly paid: praying therefore, that such Course may be taken, as that what was originally intended for a publique good, may not turn to a general Damage; and that it may not be in the power of these particular Persons, to impose high Rents, or cutt-off the Citizens Pipes at their pleasure. 34. 21. Bill of Charges in Writing to the Earl of Shrewsburies Proofs against the City of Chester, & theirs against him. 36. b.

22. Original Letter of Thomas Bauand to Mr. Recorder Whitby. dat. 13 Sept. 1634, relating to the aforelaid Bill. He had (it seems) by chance, taken too much. And further adds, that he had also of Mr. Alderman Edwards, 36s. 6d. which was for his paines, and his mans, for the Framing & Writing the Breuiates. This, Mr. Edwards (in a maner) enforced him to take: et quis nisi mentis inops, &c. especially in the Case of the Cittie? 37.

23. Notes taken by the second Randle Holme (perhaps from Books in his own Custody or Possession) concerning the Hamlet or Village of Hole in Cheshire, and Lands held there. 39. b.

24. The

24. The Answer of William Goodman, &c. to the Bill of Complaint of Hughe Cholmeley Knyght. 42.

Here these Defendants sett forth their Right & Title to their Pastures in Hole-Heath, as held by Leasehold of the Mayor & Citizens of Chester, who had been the Owners thereof time out of mind. They deny that Sir Hugh had any Right to the said Pastures; or that they with any Force entred into the Premises, or were of any such force indicted: and yf they were, or be, yt was & is wrongfully, by the Synnitre Labour & procurement of the Complaynaunt, beinge of the Kings Justices of Peaxe within the Countie of Chester, and hath manye Jurors at his Comaundement, and some of them his Servaunts & in his Liueries: by reason whereof suche Indyctements lyghtly maye be found & taken. And that if any Writt of Restitution was granted to the Complaynaunt; it was by his sinistre Procurement; they having ever since contynued in possession of the Premises; and therefore prayen to be dysmysed oute of the Courte with thaire Costs, for their wrongfull Vexacion. 42.

71. Copie of the Petition last mentioned, which was to the Maior & Assembly of Chester. 132.

Here Mr. Dod (as in Consideration of Services done, by discovering the Truth & Grounds of the demands of severall Fees taken in the Cities Courts in Chester) desires they would admitt hym their Phylazer in their said Courts: hee therefore yielding yearelye (towards any good vse fyve markes in money. Or else, their Consents, that he may have the Reuerfion of some settled Place of Preferment, fyttinge for hym to have. In this paper is also a Copie of his Notes about Fees, as aforesaid, which he delivered to Mr. Mayor; & which shew that some Corruptions had crept in.

72. An Act of Assemblie, which was houlden in the Common Hall of Pleas within the Cittie of Chester, 2 June 1618. 134.

By this Assembly, Alderman Robert Whitby & Thomas Whitby his sonne (whose Actions had been before taken into Consideration, at fundry times) were now finally, for their manifold Offences, Misdemeanours, & Abuses, cast from and out of their Office of Clerks to the Pentice, and never to be restored thereunto; and (in pursuance of certain Letters written from his Majesty) Robert Brerewood learned in the Laws was elected into the said Office; paying yearlie to the Cittie 20 pounds, and to the Sheriffes annually, upon the endinge of their Office, 10 pounds, if the Lawes and Statutes of this Realme shall permitt the same payments to be made. This Assembly likewise order'd that a Table of Fees should be made for Mr. Brerewoods Direction, by the Advice of Mr. Maior & his Brethren (whereof Mr. Justice Warburton to be one: whereby the like Extortion & Increasing of Fees heretofore used by the said Whitbys, maye hereafter bee avoyded.

73. Copie of the Citie's Letter to the King, who had recommended one Hugh Mainwaringe to them for their Recorder. They remonstrate, that by the Charter of K. Henry vii. confirmed by himself, none can be Recorder but one of the 24 Aldermen; and none can be Alderman, except he be a free Citizen, which the said Hugh was not, nor ever offered himself in person to be made one, but was a mere Stranger to them & their Corporation. And that for the obervation of the said Charter, and all their other Liberties, they had taken their Corporall Oathes. They therefore desire leave to elect a man capable of the Office by their Charter, there being divers of the Aldermen who had done good Service to their Incorporation, and were euerie waie fitt for the Place, both for their learninge in the Lawes; their knowledge & experience of their Orders & Liberties; & their sinceritie in true Religion. 136.

A Book in folio, consisting of many Tracts & single Papers bound up together; and by the third Randle Holme, on the out-side thus entituled, "The Sutes with seuerall Cityzens concerneinge their grinding of Corne at Dee-Mills, and no where else:" in the Description of which, I shall proceed in the usual manner; viz: I find therein,

1. Mr. Holme's Account of the Things of most Note in this Book. At the beginning, loofe.

2. Interrogatories to be ministred to Thomas Denson, one of the Defendants, at the Suite of Francis Gamull Esq; complainant, vpon Contempt & Breach of Order. 390.

It seems that the Court made an Order that this Denson & the other Defendants should grind their Corn at Dee-Milnes, untill the Time that that Cause should be fully heard and determined; but Denson was again prosecuted by Mr. Gamull, as combining with the others to overthrow that Order, and as grinding his own Corne, in the mean time at Boughton.

3. Th' Examination of Thomas Denson one of the Defendants, at the Suite of Francis Gamull Esq; Complainant, taken upon his Corporall Oath, in the Courte of Exchequer at Chester, the 14th of June 1637. vpon Contempe and Breach of an Order. 417.

Here honest Mr. Denson reapes great Advantage by a sudden Loss of his Memory, a sudden Misapprehension of Things & stupid Ignorance, join'd to a wretched Neglect in all his Servants & Friends. For, he really thought that the first Order (made long before) had obliged him to grind at Dee-Milnes, only 'till he should have putt in his Answer: So he answered forthwith; and then ground his Corne at Boughton, as thinking himself fully discharged of the Order. That as to the next Order, no body (neither at home or abroad) had ever apprised him of it, till within a very few days last past. Yet he had happened, in this mean time, to buy great Quantities of Malt of Mr. Edwards the Milner of Boughton, and then of his Wife; and afterwards had bought Malt of others being ready ground: and this,

5 Y

Num. 2083.

not to evade any Order of the Court in the least: but only because he conceived himself better used, by these People than by Mr. Gamul. As for raising any joint Sum, toward the overthrowing the said Orders; he knows nothing of it: only, upon meeting with Richard Dickinon accidentally, he did not consent to give Mr. Edwards abovesaid 20 Shillings (the other Defendants doing the like) towards his Charges to London, to endeavour that the Defendants might be at Libertie to grind their Corne where they pleased. Nor did he pay that 20 Shillings himself, for his Brother paid it. Finally he knows of no Combination among the Defendants, to stand out against the Order of the Court; only he is resolved (and soe some other of the Defendants have sayd they are resolved) to stand out against the Complaynant in this Suite; and to free themselves (if they can) from beinge tyed & bounden to grinde at the Complainants Millnes: conceivinge the same (if they should be bounde thereunto) will be much to their Damage.

4. The further joynt & severall Answeres of Andrew Mynshull, Rychard Dickenson, & Thomas Denison, Three of the Defendants to the Bill of Complaint of Francis Gamull Esq; Complainant; made unto severall Exceptions exhibited against Three former Answers on the said Plaintiffes behalfe. 450.

Here they alledge, that by Edward the viith's graunting the Fee-Simple of Dee-Milnes (to Sir Richard Cotton & Dame Joan his Wife) without reservinge any Fee-farme-Rent to the Crowne; diverse Privileges & Rights incident to the said Milnes, became to be extincte, determined, & ended; and ought not to be claymed by any Person or Persons, by, from, or under them, or in their Rights. And therefore, they deny that Mr. Gamull ever was, or could be a Ward to K. James or to K. Charles, by reason of the said Milnes. They acknowledge likewise, that they being Citizens of Chester, have, for many years, used to grind their Corne (except Oats) both out of & in the City, at their Pleasure. But the Quantities of Corne by them so ground at other Milnes, they cannot specifie, because they kept no Account thereof.

5. The severall Answeres of Thomas Weauer, (one of the Defendants) for his parte, to the Bill of Complaint of Francis Gamull Esq; Complainant. 459.

Here honest Thomas denies (at once) that he euer knewe, heard, or believed, that there euer was, is, or ought to be any such great Socke, Sute, or Service to Dee-Mylnes, as by the Bill is pretended; or that He, or any of the Inhabitants of Chester (except the Abbots Tenaunts) ought to have used, tyme out of mynd of Man, to grinde all their Corne there. For he sayth (and soe hopeth yt wil be proved in the event of this Suite) that there neuer was, is, or ought to be any such Custome for Grinding, or payment of Tolle, Customes, & Duties, at Dee-Mylnes, as in the Bill is vntruly pretended: for all, or most part of the Inhabitants of Chester & the Liberties thereof, have ever used & bine accustomed to grind their Corne, Mault, & Grayne where they pleased, without Interruption, or Clayme, or Challenge of any such pretended Custome. For this Defendant faith, that for Three Yeares last past, he hath ground at another Milne, without any manner of Interruption or Gainsaying of the Complaynant, vntill nowe of late. But formerly, indeed, He, in curtesie, and for his best Conveniencye, and vpon Threats to take away the Water from him, he did grind at Dee-Mylnes, where he received greate Wronge & Prejudice; and had his Maulte cast, with Shouells, awaye before his owne Face; and was otherwys abused by the Complaynants Mylners & Servants. As touching what Quantities of Corne he hath ground awaye from Dee-Mylnes, he is not able to give any dyrecte Answer therevnto. And therefore prayeth to be dismissed with good Costes, for his wrongful Vexation in this behalfe most vnjustly sustayned.

Num. 2083.

6. The severall Answeres of Elizabeth Pemberton Wyddowe, one of the Defendants, for her parte, to the Bill of Complaint of Francis Gamull Esq; 466.

Herein is little new Matter. She denies the Custome; & faith that aboute 40 Yeares before she was Servant to John Powell an Alehouse-keeper in Chester, who ground much Mault, & sent it all to the Milnes in and about Boughton; and so did all the then Neighbours. That, formerly, she was Tennant to the Complainant & his Predecessors; yet she did not then grind all, or the greatestt parte of her Malte at Dee-Milnes. And so for fixe Yeares & vpwards, she hath ground most or all her Malt at other Mylnes. And that many of her Neighbours, Cittizens of Chester, who have sold Ale & Beare, & used to grind much Malt for 20, 30, or 40 Yeares last past, have not sent any of their Malte to the Complainants Milnes to be ground.

7. The further joynt and severall Answeres of Elizabeth Pemberton, Henry Hazelwall, & Katherine Kinge. Three of the Defendants to the Bill of Complaint of Francis Gamull Esq; Complainant; made vnto severall Exceptions against their former Answeres on the said Plaintiffes behalfe. 471.

This is to the same purpose, and almost in the same Words with that at N^o. 4.

8. Original Letter of Thomas Corbin to Mrs. Alice Gamull, dated 18 July 1614, wherein he advertises her of his Masters and his own Diligence in serving her, by getting a Letter & an Order from the Court of Wards against those who withdrew their Multure from Dee-Milnes. 480.

9. Examinations taken in the Queenes Exchequer, in her Castell of Chester, on the behalfe of the Plaintiffe, the 21 of September 1570. 482.

This Plaintiffe was William Goodman then Fermor of Dee-Milnes, who sued Margaret Bavand Widow, for grinding the Corne of the Inhabitants of Chester at her Water-Milne called the Bach-Milne, and at her Wind-Milne without the North Gate of Chester. This Copie was made & examined A.D. 1637.

10. Copie of the Bill of Revival for Goodman against the Widow Bavand; who notwithstanding the Order of the Court (made anno 3 R. Eliz.) for her ceasing to grind the Cornes belonging to the Inhabitants of Chester, at either of her two Mills abovementioned; did in manifest Contempt of the said Order, continue daily & openly the said wrongful Practise; and by such withdrawing the Multure from Dee-Milnes, took away great part of his living. 503.

11. E Compoto Ministrorum, de anno 23 Regis Henrici VII. 511.

Et quod gurgites piscarie predictæ et granaria, cum parietibus Molendinorum extirpati et asportata fuerunt; unde idem Ricardus dampnum & jacturam 40 Librarum sustinuit. Item, quod per tres annos sequentes, dum idem Ricardus, per vices, in Servitio Dni. Regis stetit in Wallia; per super-habundantes Inundationes Aquarum, gurgites & crates predictæ, una cum Calceto ibidem, dissipata et asportata fuerunt; unde idem Ricardus, quoad Piscariam predictam, dampnum & jacturam ad valentiam 60 Librarum incurrit. Item, quod per tempus quo idem Ricardus stetit in Servitio Dni. Regis apud Trosselan; Calcetum predictum per hujusmodi Inundationes, dirutum et asportatum extitit; per quod Molendina predicta fere per unum quaterium Anni molare non potuerunt. Unde per hoc, et tales Inundationes frequenter per totum tempus predictum supervenientes; Molendina predicta sepius absque Molitione steterunt: per quod, ipse Ricardus, quoad multuram, per tempus predictum dampnum et jacturam ad valentiam 54 Librarum optinuit. 512.

14. Breve R. Edwardi I. Reginaldo de Grey Justiciario suo Cestrie destinatum; quo (quia Ricardus le Enginur sibi suggererat quod magna pars multure, quam percipere debet de bladis in Dominicis Terris suis Cestr. crescentibus, jam subtrahitur eidem, per assignationem quam fecit quibusdam Hominibus partium illarum de Dominicis predictis, in Escambium et Recompensationem quarundam aliarum Terrarum Abbati & Conventui de Valle-Regali, in augmentationem sustentationis sue, per se assignatarum) Volens inde certiorari; ille mandat quod inquireat quantum dampni idem Ricardus sustinuerit annuatim per subtractionem multure predictæ; et a quo tempore sic fuerit, per dictam assignationem subtracta; et quantum multura illa sic subtracta valere potuit singulis annis, a tempore subtractionis predictæ; et quantum valere poterit ex tunc, per annum, et qualiter, et quomodo. 513. b.

15. Inquisitio facta, eodem anno; ubi per Juratores compertum fuit quod, a tempore quo Dns. Rex assignavit Dominicis Terras suas Castri Cestrie Hominibus partium illarum in recompensationem aliarum Terrarum Abbati et Conventui de Valle Regali assignatarum: Ricardus L'Enginour per subtractionem multure quam de bladis Dominicis Hominum predictorum percipere debuisset, sustinuit dampnum ad valentiam 58s. 7d. ob. Verum quod non potest eis constare de multura temporibus futuris. 514.

16. Copy of a Letter from the Commissioners appointed to enquire of the Valew of the Lands of George Cotton of Warblington in the County of Southampton Esq; convicted of Recusancy; to the Intent the King's Majestie might the rather chuse whether to refuse the 20 pounds a Month; or to take two partes of his Landes: there being a Schedule annexed to the Commission, containing divers Mannours, Lands & Tenements, in the County of Chester, of greate valew, supposed to be his Possessions. But thes Lands, &c. these Commissioners shew to be the Lands given to the Dean & Chapter of Chester, and were never Mr. Cotton's Lands since his Conviction; and therefore, they cannot be sett downe by way off Office, in particular; but only in generality. 515.

17. Translation of a manifold Complaint against the Dee-Milners, upon account of their unreasonable Extortions. The complaint was made since an. 10 R. Richardi II. 517.

20. Abstracts of two other Recognisances (taken from the Rolls of the Exchequer of Chester) whereby, Richard Anyon & others, were bound not to convey any Cornes to any forren Mylle to be grownden, other then to the Kings Mylnes of Dee. dat. ann. 20 & 29 R. Henr. VIII. 521.

21. Abstract de Recorde & Evidence, concernant Multure al de-Milnes: by Mr. Recorder Whitby. 523.

22. Copie of an Order of the Court of Wards, whereby Robert Mawson, & others of Kighley in Yorkshire, were enjoyned to grind their Corne & Grayne at Kighley-Milnes (parcel of the Inheritance of Anne & Katherine Kighley her Majesties Wards) in such sorte as they did grinde their Corne there, at the time of their Father's Death. dat. anno 13 R. Elizabethæ. 525.

23. The joynt & severall Answers of William Reeve & others, Defendants, to the Bill of Complaint of Francis Gamull Esq; Complainant. 527.

These are in Defence of grinding the Chester peoples Corne at their Water-mylne called Hockenhul-mylne 24. Original Letter of Fane Cotton to Mr. Edmund Gamull; acknowledging the Receipt of Rent; & otherwife relating to Dee-Milnes. dat. 20 Augusti, 1584. 547.

25. A Note of severall Records taken out of a Kalendar of Mr. Baker; concernant his Molyms et Piscarie in Dee, &c. 548.

26. Order of the Exchequer-Court of Chester, dated 19 March 1613; whereby John Ratcliffe & others, who had lately withdrawn their Multure from Dee-Milnes, and gronde their Corne at a Querne or Hand-milne sett up by the said Ratcliffe; were obliged to grind at Dee-Milnes, untill their Cause should be finally heard. And further, they were likewise obliged to do to Mr. Edward Dutton such Services, as were due unto him by reason of the Houses they held of him. 550. et 554.

27. Another Order of the same Court, dated 5 Aprilis 1616. Against the said Ratcliffe & his associates, for Contempt of the Court, in not obeying the former Order. Hereby, Sir Henry Townesend the Chamberlayne awarded the said Ratcliffe vnto the Custable of the Castle of Chester; and to pay to the Kings Majestie for a Fyne, for breach of the said Order £6. 13. 14. His Cause to be tried at the Common Law, but the Consideration of what Action to be brought, & the manner of Trial, to be sett downe at the next sitting of the Court. The Defendants further to pay to Mr. Edward Dutton the Complaynant £5. for his Costs touchinge the Breach of the said Order; and to continue the grindinge their Grilte at Dee-milnes according to the former Orders. 522.

28. Sort of a Bill of Complaint of M^r Edward Dutton Fermor of Dee-Milles, against John Ratcliffe & others, for withdrawing their Multure, and the other Services they owed him. dat. 8 March, 1613. 556.

Esq; Complaynant; vpon Contempt, & Breach of Order. 563.

33. The Examination of Richard Dickinson, taken vpon his Corporall Oathe, in the Courte of Exchequer at Chester, the 7th of June, 1637. vpon the said Interrogatories. 579.

Here Dickinson owns, that hee, Thomas Denfon, Andrewe Minshall, & Raphe Drinkwater (three others of the Defendants) did find themselves much agreed that they should be tyed to grind at the Complaynants Milnes; conceyvinge the same to be much to theyre Damage. And they meetinge with John Edwards of Boughton Gent. (the owner of Boughton-milles) did intreat him to be their Solliciter, to helpe them that they might be at Libertye to grinde where they pleased. And he was contented to take paynes for them therein; and they then paid him 20 Shillings a-peece for or towards bearinge his Charges. And he did indeed then say & resolve that hee would lye in Prison before hee would grinde at the Complaynants Milnes; and soe did some other of the Defendants say. But none of them said that hee or they would not obey the Order of this Courte, or vsed any words against this Courte. It seems this man was very stubborn; he sent his Corne to be ground at Boughton, after the order of the Court to the contrary, and was therefore attached & cast into Prison. This Examination is imperfect at the end.

34. Original Lease granted by John Tirer to Godfray Wynne of Chester Butcher & Maude his Wife; of the Water brought into his Houfe from the Dee; for Five years; at the annual Rent of £1. 6. 8. dat. 8 January, A. D. 1603. 594. b.

35. Copie of a Letter from William Stanley Earl of Derby & Chamberlayne of Chester to the Lords of the Privy Council, September, 1633, by whom he was directed to hear the Matter between Alderman Philipp Maynwaring & others (owners of the Water-works at Dee-bridge) Complaynants; & Mr. Francis Gamul & Mr. Recorder Whitby, Defendants, certifying the State of the same; and that hitherto he had not found meanes to pacifie both Parties.

36. Order of the Lords of the Privy Council, in the Matter disputed between the Parties aforesaid: where their Lordships found that the Matters contested were of Natures public & private. The Points of a public Nature, were the Water-works, Streames of the Dee-Water, with the Liberties appertaining to them: These they resolved should continue for ever, to the present Purchasers & their Successors; they paying to Mr. Gamul the old Rent of £5 per annum, &c. and therefore they order, that the Owners of the said Water-Workes shall have free Liberty, Ingrefs & Egreffs, &c. to repair & amend the said Works as often as occasion shall require, without any Lett or Interruption from the Defendants: they making good to the Defendants any Damage that shall come to their Mill, by reason of the said Water-works. As to the Multure of Dee-milnes, Mr. Gamul his Agreement with John Tyrer, to oblige his Customers to grind their Corne at the said Milnes; and the augmentation of Tirer's old Rent now insisted on by Mr. Gamul: being the private points in Question: their Lordships left them to be decided according to Justice, in the Exchequer Court at Chester. 597.

37. Mr. Francis Gamul's Claim against John Tirer's Fine for the Water works of Chester. 598.

38. Depositions, shewing that in February 1607, all the Water Mills around Chester, stood still by reason of the Frost, except only Chester-Milles, as Randle Holme observes. 600. b.

39. Exemplification of an Order of the Assembly of Chester made 19 March anno 25 R. Elizabethæ, upon Occasion of Alderman Edmund Gamul's prosecuting of Alderman John Hankye for setting up an Horfe-milne in Chester. Here the Assembly condescended to one part

A Book in folio consisting of many little Tracts & loose Papers, bound up together by the third Randle Holme, and by him, on the outside, thus entitled, "The State of the Cawfie & Dee-Milles; and the Sute about them" In describing the same, I shall proceed in the usuall Method; as finding therein,

1. The said Randle Holme's Account of the Things of most Note, in the same. At the beginning.

2. Descent of Aldersey & Leech of Chester.

3. Briefe of the State of the Cause concerning the Milles & Cawfey of Chester. 157.

This is drawn up in opposition to the Commission of Sewers, which was authorised by K. James I. concerning which, much matter may be found in the Books 96. C. 22. &c.

4. Answer to the Objections concerning the Decay of the Haven of Chester. 161.

5. Exemplification of an Inquisition taken anno 28 R. Henrici VI. concerning the Decay of the River & Haven of Chester. 163.

6. Precedents shewing how divers have been presented for obstructing the Rivers of Thames, &c. and were acquitted. 165.

7. The Reasons of the Decay of the Channell at Moston-marke, in Wales. 167.

8. Exceptions to the Cafe which was presented to the Lords the Judges, on the behalfe of the Commissioners of Sewers, that made the Decree against the Cawfay in Chester. 169.

9. Petition of the poore Inhabitants within the Townships of Farndon, Churton, & Aldford, to Sir Richard Grosvenor Knight & Baronet, praying that John Boswell might be suffered to use his Corricles over the Dee, while Chester was besieged by the Rebels; that thereby Provisions might be carried into the City; and untill such time as they might all resort to Sir Richard's Ferry, as accustomed. This was presented, 7 June 1645. 171.

10. Account del profit del Passage de Dee, quand le Bridge fuit erupt, anno 27 R. Edwardi III. 172.

11. Original Examination of Robert Walton of Northwich; who sheweth the Cause of the Decay of the River, to have been by Sands, & not by the Cawfey. 174.

12. How the Frost in January 1607, stopped all the Water-Mills round about Chester; so that People were forced, in that Extremity, to bring their Corne to Dee-Mills, to be ground. 176.

13. Certificate of Richard Hafslewall & divers other old Men, that the Cawfey hath not been raised by Mr. Gamul, Gamull, or by any of the Goodmans, or any others that were owners thereof. dat. 1 January, 1607. 178.

14. Notes or Collections gathered for the upholding & mentayning of the Cawsey & New Kaye, againste all suche as are Impugners of the same; with Reasons & Allegations the better to prove the same. 180.

The Author of this Tract, I find, was Mr. William Aldersey, Alderman of Chester; and it seemeth to be of his own hand-writing.

15. Examinations of Witnesses, all consentinge that the Cawsey is no cause of the Decay of Chester-River; and that the New Key was very serviceable for Shippes, A. D. 1607. 182.

16. The Opyonion of me William Aldersey Merchant & Alderman of the Cittie of Chester; sett downe & wrytten with my owne Hand, the 16th daye of December A. D. 1607, & in the 64th yeare of my Age. 186.

This is in Defence of the Cause, New Key, & Dee Milles.

17. His rough Draught of the same Paper. 188.

18. Draught of a Letter seeming to be of Mr. Aldersey's Hand, but as in the name of the Commissioners of Sewers; to the Lord Keeper Ellesmere; proposing that an Hearing might be had before the Judges; in behalf of Dee-Milles, & the Cawsey. 190.

19. Original Letter of Summons from George Lloyd Bishop of Chester & others the Commissioners of Sewers, to William Aldersey Alderman of Chester, & others, requiring their appearance, to testifie their several Knowledges, about the said Milles, Cawsey, New Key, &c. dat. 16 September 1607. 192.

20. Draught of a Letter from the Dean & Chapter of Chester to the Lord Chancellor, in behalfe of Mr. Gamull, about the Cawsey & Milles; out of which, they have 5 pounds per annum. dat. 3 Nov. 1607. 194.

21. Original Letter of S^r. William Brereton to Mr. Thomas Gamull Recorder of Chester, who had desired him to certifie his Opinion in behalf of the Cawsey; but Sir William seemed to have been enclined against it. dat. 24th of January 1607. 196.

22. Copie of a Letter from the Lord Chancellor Ellesmere, to the Bishops of S^t. Asaph & Chester, S^t. Peter Warburton, & others the Commissioners of Sewers, apprising them how earnestly he had been moved by Mr. Recorder Gamull to award a Superfedeas to their Commission, & what potent Sollicitations had been made in behalf of Dee Milles & the Cawsey, &c. He tells them, that in this so weighty a Matter they should regard only & wholly the publique good. That they were to reforme all Obstructions & Noyances in the River of Dee within the lymitts expressed in the Commission, not ayming or pointing only or specially at any particular person, or at any particular Place or Matter. And therefore it ought to be indifferently & equally executed, for the publique & generall good of the Countreys adjacent to the same River; & not to be strictly or streynable extended to theis Milles & Cawsey only, or specially & above all other Noyances in that River: nor to be remislye or coldlye or partially handled for any private Favour or Respekte of Mr. Gamull, or of any other. In a Postscript he adds, that This Service is of greate Importance, and therefore ought to be attended; and they should see that Justice be equallye and indifferentlye done, for the generall Good: and not to absent or withdrawe themselves, nor to deale carelessly or negligently, as he is informed that some of them have done. dated 29 November 1607. 197. A.

23. Copie of a Letter from the said Commissioners of Sewers, to the Lords of the Privy Council; dated 4 January 1607. acquainting their Lordships that they had by their Decree, order'd half the New Key, and Ten Yards of the Cawsey to be pulled down, and taken away. 198.

24. Copie of a Letter from the Maior & Citizens of Chester, to Robert Cecil Earl of Salisbury & Lord High CAT. HARL. VOL. II.

Treasurer, in the behalf of the Cawsey and Dee-Milles. dated, 31 October, 1607. 200. 373.

25. Copie of a Letter from such of the Commissioners of Sewers, as were for the Preservation of Dee-Milles & Cawsey, to the Lord Chancellor Ellesmere: dated . . . January 1607. 202. 355.

Herein, with the Reasons of their Opinion, they observe, that notwithstanding their Commission was in general for the Reformation of all Obstructions in the River of Dee: yet there are dyvers other Cawseys & Impediments, not found or mentioned at all, in any of the late Verdicts; some of which were verie lately erected, and are only profitable to the particular Owners thereof.

26. Copie of a Letter from Hugh Glaseour Maior, & the Aldermen of Chester; to the Lords of the Privy Council: dated, 29 December 1602. advertising, that a Breach, above 20 yards broad, & 18 foot deep, had been made in the middle of the Cawsey, the last yeare, by the Violence of the Waters: whereby the going of Dee-Milles was stopped, and all whose living depended on them, in a fair way to be ruined. And that Mr. Edmund Gamull Fermor of the Corne-Milles there, had, out of his own purse, expended above £500. in repairing the said Cawsey; but that it would require above £100 more to finish the same. 204.

27. Copie of a Letter from Thomas Sackville Earl of Dorset Lord Treasurer, to the Commissioners of Sewers; requiring them to forbear to intermeddle with Dee-Milles, or the Cawsey; not doubting but that much good maie be done to the River by other meanes, yf with Diligence & Indifferencie they be carefull to execute the Authortie committed vnto them. 206.

28. Draught of a Letter from the Commissioners of Sewers (above-mentioned at N^o. 25) to the said Lord Treasurer, upon the subject of Dee-Milles & Cawsey. But adding, that the greate Necessity of theise Mills is made more manifest & apparant to all that dwell in theise partes; there being no other Mills within Ten or Twelve Myles of Chester, that could grynde in this late Frost at all in effect, by the Space of a whole Moneth together, for want of sufficient Water. 208.

29. Draught of a Letter from Dr. George Lloyd Bishop of Chester, & First or Second of the Commissioners of Sewers, to Robert Cecil Earl of Salisbury & Principal Secretary of State; upon the old subject of Dee-Milles & the Cawsey, which (he owns) some Gentlemen of his Country of Wales (devided from him in Opinion) doe earnestly labour to destroy. And now his Lordship being daily more & more confirmed in his former Opinion, as well by his owne further Observation, & Travells in this Service, for his better Satisfaction; as by the late greate Frost & other Accidents, whereby the Necessity of the said Milles is made more apparant vnto all, & that the Losse thereof would not onely tend to the Disherison of his Majesty in the ancient Rights & Royalties of the Earldome of Chester, & of the Deane & Chapter there, & of divers poore Companies, & particular Persons; without any certayne assurance of any Good to ensue: but also to the Impoverishment of the whole City & Country adjoyning, which are the better supported, by meanes of theis Mills & Cawfy, with Bread, Cloth, Fish, Fresh Water, & other necessaries. 209.

30. Draught of a Letter from one employed for the City, to the same Earle of Salisbury; importing, that now (after the Cause had been referred by the Lords of the Privy Council to the Three Lords Chiefe Justices, whereunto all parties then assented; & the Order was penned & signed: exception is taken by the Gentlemen on the other Side, to the Lord Cooke, as not indifferent in the Cause, for that he (the Writer) hath some Dependency upon him. Which Exception, as it is very strange against One of his Place; so, it is most untrue. 210.

31. Original

Num. 2084.

31. Original Letter of Mr. Edmund Gamull to his Sonne Thomas Gamull Recorder of Chester: shewing that his Adversary, Sir Richard Trevor is prosecuting a Suit de Idēota probandā against Mr. Puleston's Friend; and to that purpose, the Feodary of Cheshire & other Commissioners have taken an Office, wherein great Disorder hath arisen among them. That the Courte the Welsh Gentlemen intend to take, to abate the Mylnes to a lower Streame, to th'end the Cause may be so much drawn the lower; which platt will do no good at all to any, except the whole were pulled downe. For nowe ther is one Walk-Mylne, and two Corne-Mylnes cannot go, for want of Water. But this Devise was devised by Mr. Justice Warburton & others his Neighbours of Cheshire. 211.

32. Part of a Draught of a Letter from the King to the Judges, before whom the Cause of Dee-Mills & the Cawsey was to be heard: which he commendeth to their Care & Consideration. 212. et 315. 323.

33. Letter of the above-mentioned Bishop of Chester to the Lord Chancellor Ellesmere; dated 5 November, 1607. fol. 214. Importing, that he being named one of the Commissioners of Sewers in those Parts; did resolve to observe with all Diligence & Indifference, such things as he hold perceyve most materiall to be considered in the Service. And therefore made some Journies along the Water-side downe into Wirhall & elsewhere for his better Satisfaction: and having reduced his Observations into some Order, in forme of a true Relation, he sends them to his Lordship, by John Tyrer his Lordships Servant, one of much desert in Chester, for his industrious endeavours. And representing, that as the Matters fallen into Debate are of verie greates Importance: so, they are carryed on, on both parts with such Fervour, as that he could wish, for the Good and Peace of both, that by his Lordships honourable Care & Wisdome, a good & peaceable Ende may be put to this Begynnings; and those Humours allayed, which were vntymelie moved.

34. Original Letter of Mr. Thomas Crue of the Hole, to Mr. Recorder Gamull; informing him that, it had been proved before the Jurye, by credible Wytnesses sworne, that the same Night the Causey did breake, the Watter dyd falle 4 Foote. And another did wytnes, that wheras his Beastes dyd vsually drinke at Dee, beinge on the Land; the day after the Breache, the Ryver was gone soe smalle that he was dryven with Faggots to make waye for them to go to the Ryver. And that wheras the Bottes at Eaton-Boate flotting, over night, vpon the Ryver, the morning after the great Breache, they were one Land, and the Ryver did falle at Eaton-Boate, a Yarde and halffe. He therefore desires (his own Land also lying on the same side, & next to the Dee, & liable to Inundations) to be excused from giving Evidence on Mr. Gamulls side, as he had promised; for if he should be obliged to appear, he should be constrained to declare what he had above wrytten; whiche wold be a forre Evidence against Mr. Gamull, which he wold be lothe to doe. And that he himself is hatted of all the Towne like an Owle ys of Birds, because he holds with Mr. Gamull. 216.

35. Copie of a Letter from the Cittie of Chester to the Lord Chancellor Ellesmere, dated 31 October 1607. Setting forth, that certaine Gentlemen of Wales, intending to improve the Proffitts of their owne Milles, had lately, upon a Petition, preferred in their own Names, as also in that of the City, but without the Cities privy, procured a Commission of Sewers to themselves and divers others; have entred into the execution thereof, and earnestly endeavoured the Destruction of the Dee-Milles & Cawsey; pretending them to be the Cause of many great Annoyances, though farre remote & distant from them. Also that Sir Richard Trevor, one of the said Commissioners, contrary to the mindes of diuers others preceding him in Commission, hath taken vpon him to keepe the said Commission; whereby, he and his Associates are enabled to meete together, and to make Lawes and Orders at their pleasures, for the Destruction of the said Milles & Cawsey. They therefore give Reasons to induce his Lordship to give Direction for a Superfedeas to be graunted, to discharge the said Commission or else to exclude all such from intermeddling therein as Judges, which haue any Grounds vpon the River-side, or are otherwise interressed in the Cause, on either parte. 218.

Num. 2084.

36. Opinions of several very eminent Lawyers, that the abovementioned Commissioners of Sewers, had not power to pull down, or prostrate the Cawsey; for the Reasons they give. 219. 321. 352.

These Gentlemen wrote their Opinions with their own hands; and subscribed their Names, Th. Foster, Jo. Walter, W. Brocke, Jo. Brydeman.

37. Mr. R. Godfrey's original Opinion, that the said Commission of Sewers should have passed vnder the Seale of the Countie of Denbigh. And that a Jurie of the Countie of Denbigh could not inquire about the Cawsey which was in the County of the City of Chester. 223.

38. This Mr. Ry. Godfrey's original Opinion that the Commissioners of Sewers might abate, correct, & reforme, any Milles erected to the Lett, Impediment, or Annoyance mentioned in the Statute of 23 Hen. viii. cap. 5. 225.

39. Question. If six Commissioners of Sewers make Orders for the pulling downe of any Weare; and afterwards six other of the Commissioners doe order that the same shall be mainteyned: Are the firste Lawes repealed by the second? or what maie the Owner doe, yf any Attempt be made to pull it downe? 227. et 290. 338.

40. Another Question, whether a Mille or Weare of 500 yeares Continuance in one Countie; might be pulled downe accordingly to the Opynions of Juries in other Counties. 228.

41. Mr. Th. Foster's original Opinion, that the Chamberlaine of Chester might grant a Superfedeas; and that thereby the Commissioners Authority would be determined within the Countie Palatine. But then, whether it would be fitt & comelie for the Chamberlaine to grant a Superfedeas, without the Privitie of the Lord Chancellor of Englande, or before his Lordship should awarde a Superfedeas for the determyninge of the Commission vnder the Great Seale, was to be considered. 229. et vid.

42. Question. Whether the Commission being joint for all three Counties, & not severall for the Countie-Palatine of Chester: it oughte to passe under the Seale of the Countie-Palatine? &c. 230.

43. Original Opinion of Serj. Richard Hutton, upon the Question, whether the Commissioners of Sewers, or some of them might not revoke & repeal the Order & Decree by them made against the Cawsey: in the Affirmative. dat. anno 1616. 231.

44. Mr. Tho. Ireland's original Opinion, upon the same Question; concurring with the former. 233.

45. Original Opinion of Sir Henry Hobart, upon the Case abovementioned at § 36. and concurring with Mr. Foster, and the others. 235.

46. Original Opinion of Sir Francis Bacon, in the same Case; and concurring with the rest. 237. 319. 321.

47. Original Letter of Sir William Brereton to Mr. Recorder Gamull; as it seems, in behalf of one of those who had been prosecuted for with-drawing his Multure from Dee-Mills; and was now become willing to compound for his former Delinquency, and comply for the future. 239.

48. Draught of a Letter from George Lloyd Bishop of Chester, to Richard Bancroft Arch-bishop of Canterbury; terbury; in behalf of the Dee-Mills & Cawsey; some time before that Cause was heard by the Lords of the the Privy Council. 239.

Num. 2084.

49. Petition of Richard Cotton, Thomas Gamull, &c. to the Lords of the Privie Counsell: in Answer of one other Petition, lately preferred vnto their Honours by Sir Richard Trevor Knight & others. 240. et vid. 258.

50. Short Heads or Hints, perhaps putt down by the same Mr. Gamull, in order to a Draught of that Petition or of the following Papers. 242.

51. Objections made by those of the Welsh side, against the Dee-Mills & Cawsey; with proper Answers thereunto; which sufficiently discover their self-interestedness, and the irregular methods they took in endeavouring to compass their ends. 245. et vid. 253. et 262. 280. 282. 288.

52. Notes from the Statutes concerning Weares, &c. 250. 342.

53. That auneyent Calseys are to be preserved; and newe Erections to be pulled downe. 251.

54. Matters to be demanded of Mr. John Leigh, touching the overflowing of his Grounds by the Dee, 252.

55. That Dee-Mills & Cawsey cannot lawfully be pulled downe or abated, by a Commission of Sewers. 255.

56. Copie of the Bishop of Chester's Certificate to the Lord Chancellor Ellesmere, (abovementioned at § 33?) shewing the Observations he had made at the Execution of the said Commission of Sewers, and the Objections & Answers of both Parties. 266.

Some of these Papers seem to be of his own Hand-writing.

57. A Collection of the Evidences of Witnesses, & Confessions of the Commissioners, and other Noates materiall. 274.

58. The Names of such as are to be examined, and can prove the Matters alleaged in Defence of the Cawsey. With other matters of this Case; by what they are proved. 276.

59. The State of the Cause concerning the Milles, Water-works, & Cawsey at Chester. 284.

60. The Case of the Cawsey and Milles; with Reasons why the Commission of Sewers doth not extend to them. 286.

61. Original Letter or Paper of Mr. Thomas Crue, giving reasons why the Cawsey at Chester, could not be the Cause of overflowing the Grounds near the Holte. 292.

62. State of the Case relating to the said Cawsey; and of the Proceedings which had been thereupon. 294.

63. The State of the Cause concerninge the Milles & Cawsey at Chester. 296.

64. Other Papers written in Defence of the said Mills & Cawsey. 298.

65. Letter of Mrs. Do. Powell to Mr. Carden; dat. 1616. certifying that neither her Husband, sonne, or her selfe will agree that the Cawsey should goe downe. For if the Water should not come over their Ground, it would be nothing but a stife Claye, and would not be worthe the fowrthe parte that it is now. That all the hurt that is, was done by Sir Richard (Trevor?) by the turninge the River Allen, which cometh with swifter course then Dee, & drowneth them. That Mr. Gravesnor with his Weare dameth vp the River Dee soe, that she cannot haue her free Passage, and floteth over all. And that yf other Men would looke to their owne Losses by the going downe of the Cawsey, they would not be soe hastie to follow Sir Richard's humour, as they shall finde the smarte, yf it doe goe. 302. et 385.

66. Copie of a Letter from Sir John Bingley to his brother Randle Bingley at Chester; dat. 15 Julij 1619. blaming him for intruding vpon the Right of yonge Mr. Francis Gamull, by Fishing in the Cage-Chamber, which is his Inheritance. 303.

Num. 2084.

67. Copie of another Letter from the same, dat. 2 June 1614. desiring to desist from disturbing Mr. Recorder Gamul's Widow & sonne in the quiet enjoying of some things, & in the usage of such Liberties at the Walke-Mills which Mr. Gamull heretofore had, either of Right, or by Permission. 304.

68. Examination of Richard Hafslewall of Chester, Free-Mason; who deposed that he was a Workman at the making up of the old Breach in the Cawsey; and was also present at the reparying of the last Breach. And is well assured that the Cawsey was not raised or enhanced; nor at any tyme before, that euer he heard of. Neither did he euer knowe or heare, that there were ever any Flood-yates or Sluces within any part thereof. And further, that during the Tyme of the saide Breaches, the whole Current did runne through the same; and that no Water att all came neere either to the Fulling Milles, or Corne-Mills. 306.

69. Draught of a Letter from Mr. Recorder Whitby & his Wife (who was Mr. Recorder Gamull's Widow) to Sir John Bingley, concerning a new Claim (principally devised by his brother Randle Bingley) & insisted on by the Sherman; that is, of a right to Fish betwixt the Cage & the Walk-Millnes; for which end, they had bought Netts, &c. 308.

70. Prooffes that the Cawsey was before the Tyme of K. Edward 1. and that it was never inhanfed, or made higher. 309.

71. Notes touching some particular Annoyances complained of at Holt, 16 September 1607. 311.

72. Original Letter from Mr. Recorder Whitby, to Robert Davies, Esq; desiring a Copie of the Petition exhibited against the Cawsey: with Mr. Davies's Answer. 313.

73. Draught of a Petition, perhaps of Mr. Recorder Gamull, to the Lords of the Privy Council; beseeching them to reserve the hearing of the Cause about the Cawsey, to themselves. 325.

74. An Act for the abateing, and to restraine the new Ereccion of Weres, Stanks, Kydels, & other Obstructions in Greate & Navigable Rivers. 327.

75. Copie of the Superfedeads to the Commissioners of Sewers, from meddling with Dee-Millnes & Cawsey. Teste. &c. anno septimo R. Jacobi 1. 229 331.

76. Abstract of a Superfedeads issued by Qu. Elizabeth to her Commissioners of Sewers in Kent. 334.

77. Draught of an Order of the Lords of the Privy Council, dat. 2 Jun. 1609. concerning the Cause of Dee-Millnes & the Cawsey, which they fully heard on 27 April 1608. and then referred the poynte of Lawe concerning the Validity of the Commissioners Decree & their Authority, to Sir Thomas Fleming Kt. Lord Cheife Justice of England, S^r. Edward Coke Kt. Lord Cheife Justice of the Common Pleas, & S^r. Laurence Tanfield Kt. Lord Cheife Baron of the Exchequer: who having often heard the said Cause, & upon Consideration of the Commission, Inquisitions, and Decree, & of the Lawes, & Statutes of Sewers; certified theyre Opinion, for the Lawe, concerning the Premisses, the 29 of May last. Which Certificate being read, & it thearby appearing that the sayd Commission dothe not extend vnto the sayd Cawsey, & consequently, that the sayd Decree is not warranted by Lawe: Their Lordships misliking theise Proceedings, & being unwilling to be troubled with any further Complaynts in the Premisses; do therefore Order, that the sayd Commissioners shall proceede no further concerning the sayd Cawsey & Mills: and that the said Decree (for so much thereof as concerns the sayd Cawsey) shall not be putt in Execution. 336.

78. Names of the Jurors in the Counties of Flint & Denbigh;

Num. 2084.

Denbigh; when the Inquisitions were taken against the Cawsey. 341.

79. Notes of Mr. Recorder Whitby & others, touching the Statutes of Sewers, with Inferences drawn from them. 342.

80. Memorandums & Notes briefly putt down, & applicable to this Cause of the Cawsey. 345.

81. Draught of a Petition to the King, by the Mayor, Aldermen, & Citizens of Chester; & of the Gentlemen & Inhabitants of the County Palatine of Chester, nere unto the sayd Citie. 353.

This is for a Superfedeas to the Commission of Sewers; which, if not to be obtained, they pray, that a new Commission may be awarded to his grave Judges & others inhabiting in those partes, of learning & indifference, not having Grounds vpon the River side, nor otherwise interessed in the Cause on either parte; and that the Matter may be proceeded in according to Justice & Equity.

82. Copie of the Certificate of the Judges, abovementioned in § 77. 357. 359. 361. 363. 365.

83. Copie of the Letter from the Lords of the Privy Council, to the Commissioners of Sewers, dated, 7 Junij 1609. requiring them not to put their Decree in Execution, so far as it concerneth the Cawsey; nor to proceede any further, by pretence of their Commission, concerninge the sayd Cawsey & Milles. 367.

84. Short Notes, seeming to relate to some Law-suit commenced in the Court of Exchequer at Chester, about the Lands of Sir Randle Egerton. 369.

85. Mr. Recorder Gamull's List of certain Petitions, &c. drawn up, upon occasion of the Commission of Sewers. 371.

86. Petition (Bill) of the Maior, Aldermen & Citizens of Chester, about the said Commission; and setting forth, that it hath pleased the said Commissioners to forbear to sett downe any Order or Decree, to the Intent that they, or some of them may confer with his Majesties Judges & learned Counsell concerning the Cawsey, &c. whereby it is like that some solemn Debate may be had, as in a Cause of so great Waight is requisite. They pray therefore (William Stanley Earl of Derby & Chamberlen of the County Palatine of Chester) to graunt a Commission vnder Seale of the County Palatine, to examine Witneses vpon such Interrogatories as shall be ministred unto them, concerning the New Key, Milnes, & Cawsey, and the Commodities thereby received; as also for the making of a true Plott of the River Dee, that the Judges may be the better informed in the Cause. 371. b.

87. The Substance of the Four Verdicts about the Cawsey & Mills in Chester. 375.

88. Original Letter of the Major & Alderman of Chester, to William Brocke Esq; of the Inner Temple, & a Member of their own Body, dated, 31 October 1607. Acquainting him, that Sir Richard Trevor combining with some other Gentlemen of Wales, had procured a Commission of Sewers to themselves & others, with intent to pull downe the Cawsey & Dee-Milnes, vpon pretence of a common good to ensue; but indeed, either oute of Malice to the State of the Citie, or of Desier to improve the Benefite of their owne Mylls, 4 or 5 Myles off: which would tende to the vtter Ruine & Depopulation of the Citie. They therefore desire his help, & committ the Management & Direction of the Cause unto him; and promise (every one) to requite his Kindness as Occasion should be offered. 377.

89. Answeare to the pretended Inconveniences, by setting forth the manie Profits cominge by the Milnes & Cawsey. 379.

90. A particuler of suche Tenements as are out of Lease, beinge in Little Budwoorth; withe the Number of the Acres, and the yearly Valew of the same; and what they are worthe to be sould at 20 yeares purchase. 381.

Num. 2084, 2085.

91. Original Letter of Summons from the Commissioners of Sewers to Alderman Edmund Gamull. dated 18 August 1607. apprising him of their having received the Commission, and of their Intention to meet, for the Execution of the same, at Houltie and at Chester, on stated days, whither he might repair if he thought fit. 383.

Sir Richard Trevor's Hand is not to this Summons; and the first that subscribed was Mr. Justice Warburton, whose Head, Heart, & Hand seem to have been engaged in this partial Affair, all along.

92. Another Original Summons, of the same Commissioners, to Mr. Gamull, apprising him of their Intention to meet at Bangor in the County of Flint, in Order to putt their Commission in Execution. 384.

93. Notes about the Lands lying near to the River Dee, with the Names of many of those that held them: taken by Mr. Robert Carden, &c. 386.

94. Names of the Commissioners of Sewers: many of whom having Estates in these Low Lands, were consequently interessed in the Cause, whereof they were made Judges. 389.

2085.

A Book in folio containing many Collections illustrating the History of Persons & Places in Lancashire, &c. all which seem reduceable to the following Articles.

1. The third Randle Holme's Account of the Things of most Note in this Book. At the beginning.

2. Abstracts of many Inquisitions relating to old Lancashire Families. 410. 439.

3. Compota diversorum de Manerijis, Terris Abbatiarum, &c. taken out of a Booke written by Edward Rigby, anno 31 Eliz. which was a Coppy of a parchment-booke remayning amongst the Records in the Dutchy-Chamber at Westminster, of the Tenures & Lands in Lancashire. 412.

4. A true Coppy of Barfey his Roles of Tenures in Lancashire; remayning in the Court of Wards at Westminster: taken by Edward Rigby, anno 31 Elizabethæ. 413.

5. Liberi Tenentes Ducis Lancastriæ, in Comitatu Lancastriensi. 416. b.

6. A true Copy of an antient Feodary-booke, taken by Edward Rigby, anno 31 Elizabethæ; conteyning Respites of Homage. 421.

7. A Copy of an Exemplification of a Record remayning in the Tower of London (being the Inquisition taken after the Death of Henry Duke of Lancaster, anno 35 R. Edwardi III.) 427.

8. Another Copy of an Exemplification of a Record, remayning in the Exchequer (called Particule Compoti Johannis Cockayn unius Collectorum Auxilij 40 Solidorum de singulis Feodis Militum in Comitatu Lancastrie, ad primogenitum filium (R. Edwardi III.) Militem faciendum; anno regni sui 20.) 428. b. et 534. b.

9. Feodarium Comitatus Lancastriæ, transumptum de Libro Feodorum in Scaccario Dni. Regis. 429. b.

10. De Testa de Nevill, de Serjantijs Honoris Lancastriæ. 431. b.

11. Abstracta Placitorum coram Rege, apud Eboracum; in Libro Brodthawe in Le Tallie-Office apud Westm. 439. b.

12. Ex Cartis R. Rowthorne de Athertone Armigeri, A. D. 1660. 443.

13. Escaeta. (being Abstracts of Records touching Tenures of Lands) taken from the Inquisitions post Mortem. They begin about ann. 4 R. Henrici IV. and proceed not in good Order, untill the Reign of K. Henry VIII. and they conclude in anno 38 R. Elizabethæ, 443. b.

14. Termini & Libertates Manerij et Villatæ de Manchester, A. D. 1322. 525. b.

15. Supervisio Manerij de Manchester, anno 16 R. Edwardi II. 527. b.

16. Extenta

Num. 2085—2088.

16. Extenta Terrarum Comitatus Lancastrie in Wapentach. de Launfdale in Comitatu Lancastrie. anno 25 R. Edwardi 1. post mortem Edmundi Comitatus Lancastrie. 528. b.

17. Collectanea de Honore Lancastrie; ex Libro Johannis Hide de Urmiston. Armigeri. 529.

18. Index Virorum: or an Alphabetical Table of the Names or Sur-names of those Persons who are mentioned in this Book; and also in that other inscribed 96. B. 7. 537.

19. Index Locorum: i.e. an Alphabetical Table of the Names of Places found in this Book; as also in that other above-mentioned, whose marks are 96. B. 7. At the end.

2086.

An Heraldical Book in folio; on the back entitled thus "Lancashire Pedegrees:" but within it I find,

1. An Alphabetical Table to the Pedegrees conteyned in this Booke. At the beginning.

2. The third Randle Holme's Table, pointing to the several Coats of Armes tricked in this Book. 1.

3. A Table of all the Places mentioned in all the Pedegrees & Matches which are in this Booke. 2. b

4. The Visitation of the Countie of Lancastre made by William Flower Esquire, alias Norroy King of Armes, anno Domini 1567. 7.

This is all neatly written and tricked by the elaborate Hand of Robert Glover Somerfet-Herald: who also assisted his Father in Law Norroy, at the said Visitation; as may appear by a little Note in fol. 12. b. And this fine Copie is also the better for certain Additions and Continuations inserted by other Hands.

5. A Table of all the Names & Sur-names contained in the Matches of the severall Pedegrees within this Booke. At the end.

2087.

A Book in folio, on the back entitled "Inquisitions, &c." wherein I find,

1. An Account of the five sorts of Inquisitions issuable, after the Death of the Kings Tenants: being in the Hand of Robert Glover Somerfet-Herald. At the beginning.

2. Nomina eorum qui de Rege tenuerunt in Capite, per Servitium Militare; aut in Socagio, ad terminum Vitæ, per Magnam Serjantiam, Parvam Serjantiam, vel in Burgagio: a tempore R. Henrici III. usque ad annum 14 R. Edwardi IV. inclusive.

This whole work is thought to be of the Hand-writing also of Mr. Robert Glover above-mentioned; who hath likewise tricked the Armes of many Families in the Margins.

3. Index Virorum: or an Alphabetical Table directing to the several Surnames of Families mentioned in this Book.

A like Table for the Names of Places was designed to have been put at the beginning; but it was not done.

2088.

An Heraldical Book in a thin folio; wherein I find only these few matters that follow, viz.

1. The Names of the Knights & Gentlemen of Cheshire, and their Coate Armors (in Blazon) who, as it sholde seeme, lived about King Richard II. and later tymes. Copied verbatim out of an old Record found with Mr. Puleston. At the beginning,

2. Cheshire Coates of Armes, of every Hundreth; painted. 1.

This Tract goes through with only the Hundred of Macclesfield, & part of that of Bucklow: but then the Names of Families in other Hundreds are sett down, and many of their Armes begun to be traced out with Black Lead.

CAT. HARL. VOL. II.

Num. 2088, 2089.

3. The beginning or design of an Alphabet of the Cheshire Gentries Armes, to have been painted within printed Eschocheons, like the former. 15:

This design proved abortive, for the Names of the severall Families go no further than the Letter I; as to their Armes there are none putt down.

4. The Order of the Proceeding of her Majestie from Somerfet-Houfe to the Cathedral-Church of St. Pawle in London, 24 Novembris, 1588. 49.

This Book seems to have been done (so far as it goes) by Thomas Chaloner, Ulster King of Armes about the year 1590.

A Book in folio, written (for the greatest part) by Mr. Thomas Chaloner above-mentioned; wherein I find,

1. Fifteen different Coats of Armes, borne by the Name of Molyneux; hastily tricked by the first Randle Holme, who caused this Book to be bound A. D. 1634. & his Name to be stamped on the out-side, with gilded Letters. fol. 1. b. looking for the Number of Leaves at the bottom of the same, till further warning. 1. b.

2. Armes of Quarterings of Sir John Spenser, & Sir Charles Fox, hastily tricked. ibid.

3. Armes in Blazon, of English auncient Earles. 2. Among these, are some put down, that are neither English, nor belonging to Earles.

4. Armes in Blazon of many Kingdomes, Princes, & Countreys. 3.

Among these I am affraid that some may be looked upon as fabulous.

5. Arma Civitatum; that is, of some few Cities in England; & of a few places abroad. 4. b.

6. Series principum Cestrie Comitum. 5.

7. Armes of the Nine Worthies. ibid.

Here, instead of Godfrey of Bullen, I meet with Gwy Ealle of Warwick, to whom are given those Armes which are said to be borne by Thomas de Newburgh, who was made Earl of Warwick, about A. D. 1229.

Then follows, a large Alphabet in Blazon, to which the following Title which is put to the beginning of the Book doth peculiarly belong, "Coates Alphabet-wise in England, Ireland, & Wales; collected by Thomas Chaloner of Chester Gentleman, in 1588 May 1^o. and in other Yeares after, by the said Thomas Chaloner, alias Ulvelter principal Herehaught & Kinge of Armes for the Realme of Irelande. After, continued by Randle Holme of the City of Chester Alderman, Maior of the said City 1633. and by Randle his Sonne, also Maior of Chester 1643. To whom, I make bold to add the third Randle Holme, because I discern his Hand-Writing in sundry places of the Book.

To this Alphabet, the running Numbers of the Leaves are regularly putt at the Top, as in other Books.

As to the Alphabet itself, it is a very large one, and fit to be consulted upon Occasion; but then it is so very irregularly put down, by Mr. Chaloner's making but one Letter of V. & W. and by his & the Holme's entring words or Names beginning with the same Letters in many different Places of the Book, that the Design of the Alphabet is thereby, in a manner destroyed, and the Search after a Name rendred too tedious & irksome. I shall therefore make a sort of a Table to it, by which I hope it may soon become capable of being used, and those Eie-fores a little palliated.

The Table.

Original Certificate of Thomas Gamul Fermour vnto her Majestie of the Manour of Hanbridge, admitting Morgan Prichard & Elizabeth his Wife as Tenants of the House in Handbridge nere the Haughe-Greene, at the yearly Rent of 4 Shillings. Provided, that they doe suffer Ellen Sutton to have a convenient Roome of Lodging within the sayd howse; and to come, at her pleasure, to the Fyre in the Howse. dat. 8 Aprilis 1600. 13.

15. Responso Johannis Ratcliffe Majoris, et Ricardi Leicester & Johannis Leech Vicecomitum Civitatis Cestrie, et Custodem Gaole de North-gate ejusdem Civitatis. 14.

This Answer was drawn up upon a special Case; a Writt was issued from the Chamberlayne of Chester to the Persons above-mentioned, commanding them to deliver up the body of Thomas Cowley, whom they detained Prisoner in North-gate: because none of the King's Subjects ought to be arrested or imprisoned in coming to or going from the Court of the County Palatine of Chester, by Writt from an Inferior Court. The Maior & Shireves answer, that this Cowley is Prisoner upon Three several Actions of Trespas upon the Case, & as many several Actions of Debt; and that therefore he ought to remain in Prison, according to the Custome of the City. After this, is a Clause, wherein it is observed, that it was not specified in the Writt, that Cowley had any business at that Court.

16. Another Writt from the Chamberlaynes Court, more exprels than the former. 15. b.

Herein it is said, "Et quia predictus Thomas in veniendo versus Curiam nostram predictam ad prosequendum versus Thomam Wright, pro quadam Transgressionem per ipsum Thomam Wright perpetrata contra pacem & dignitatem nostram, per quosdam malevolos privilegia Curie nostre predictae nescientes aut parvipendentes arrestatus & attachiatus est, ac in prisona infra Civitatem Cestrie detentus: . . . Ideo Vobis precipimus quod Corpus ejusdem Thome Cowley a Prisona predicta, sine dilatione deliberari faciatis."

17. Supplication of William Marter & his two Colleagues, lately Apprentices with William Smethley late Waite-man, (i. e. Wait-player, or Minstrel) deceased; praying that they might be permitted to serve the City in his Room. 16.

18. Observations or Notes shewing how the Court of Exchequer at Chester came to its greatness. 17.

19. An original Letter of Attorney, whereby Robert Phillips late of Chester authorizes his Uncle Humphrey Phillips to transact business for him. dat. 31 July 1630. 18.

20. An old Bill, whereby many persons were presented by a Chester-Jury, as guilty of sundry Enormities, such as selling Herring not sufficiently salted, making Mault of wheat, &c. 19.

21. An Answer of certain Defendants to a Plea made against them. 20.

22. Original Acquittances made by David Speed Collector of the Kings Rents of Howles & Landes, late parcell of St. John's & St. Annes. The moneys being paid by Mrs. Alice Gamull Widow. 21.

23. Finalis Concordia facta in Curia de Portmote Civitatis Cestrie, tenta 13 die Januarii, anno 9 Regine Elizabethae, inter Graciam Stanley Viduam, et Edwardum Stanley Generosum, querentes; et Margaretam Alcocke Viduam, deforcientem: de uno Mesuagio, quatuor Cotagijis, et tribus Gardinis in Civitate Cestrie. 22.

This is the original Fine, written upon Parchment.

24. Placita Curie Portmote Civitatis Cestrie, tente coram Roberto Whitbye Majore, 23 die Augusti, anno 11 Regis Jacobi 1. 23.

25. An Injunction from the Exchequer of Chester, forbidding, under the Penalty of 500l. Thomas Chelshire Gentleman, to try his Cause with Margaret Brooke junior, in any Court belonging to the Citie. Teste, &c. 12 Junij anno 19 Regis Jacobi 1. 37.

Num. 2091.

26. A Quietus from the Deputy Auditor, to the Maior & Escheator of Chester, 29 Sept. anno 32 R. Elizabethae.

27. Original Petition of Richard Gitten Cherman, & Ellyn his Wife; to the Maior & Aldermen of Chester, complaining of Edward Plankney Gent. who had granted them a Lease of a Mesuage & a Croft in Handbrigg: and, after some time, order'd the Stone-Wall surrounding the said Croft to be cast downe & carried away, A. D. 1549. 38.

28. Original Petition of Elizabeth Bromley to the Maior & Aldermen of Chester, for 5 Yeares Rent of a place by her Cellar-door, whereon the Fishe-board commonly called the Kings Fishe-board nowe standeth; and that they would take the same away. 39.

The Arrear was order'd to be paid, 3 November 1590: but the Fish-board, I suppose stood still.

29. The Charges, Losses and Hindrances which Robert Brerewodd Alderman, Defendant, hath disbursed, sustained, & bene put vnto at the suite of Richard Breton Esquier, in an Action de ejectione firme, to the damage of 100 pounds, by him comensed in the Court of Portmote, 22 May, anno 23 Elizabethae. 40.

30. The Charges, Losses, and Hindrances which afterwards removed into the Court of Portmote there, A. D. 1576. 42.

Thomas Jonson of Tranr. Defendant hath disbursed, sustained, & ben put vnto at the suite & in the name of John Poole of Poole Gent. by the Procurement of William Leche vnknewen to the said Plaintiff, in an Action of Debt of 400 pounds, by the said William Leche, in the name of the said John Poole comensed in the Pentis-Court within the said City; and 31. Costs & Expensis made by John Rosinngreve in a Wryt of Repleg. agaynst John Glegg. 45.

This large bill was taxed; and so reduced to fifty Shillings Value.

32. The Charges with Edward Gruffyth Plaintiffe hath disbursed in an Action of Debt of 20 Markes, by him comensed against Roger ap John Defendante firste in the Pentice-Courte within the City of Chester, and afterwards removed into the Portemote-Court; wherein the Plaintiffe recovered: 25 September, anno 23 R. Elizabethae. 46.

This Bill being found too large, was much reduced by the Maior.

33. The Charges of John Granwall Plaintiffe hath disbursed in an Action of Trespas vpon the Case, to the Damage of 300 Markes: by him comensed against Thomas Sherman Defendant, in the Pentice-Court, &c. 14 Sept. 1577, &c. 48. b.

This bill was likewise taxed & reduced by the then Maior.

34. The Assessment of some of the principal Inhabitants of Northgate-Street. 50.

This is signed by Thomas Smith Maior, and two of his brethren, anno 21 R. Jacobi.

35. The Costs and Charges which William Welshman hath bene putt vnto in the Prosecution of an Action of Debt of £13. 13. 8. against John Peeres in the Pentice-Court. 51. b.

This Bill was also taxed, and in some particulars reduced.

36. The Accompt of Receipts & Payments of Roger Lightfoot & Richard Smyth Leave-lookers of Chester, anno 14 R. Edw. iv. 52.

37. The Names of all such Beggars as byne admytted for to begge within the Citie of Chestre, by Hugh Aldersey Maire of the seide Cite; and in what Parish iches one of theyme dwelleth. 56.

Hugh Aldersey was Maior of Chester A. D. 1528. 1541. & 1546. As to these permitted Beggars, they being above 60 in number, seem not to be all native Inhabitants of Chester, but many to have been Strangers, & possibly sufferers by the Sea, or otherwise. Indeed the Names

Num. 2091.

Names of several seem to be Irish; & others the surnames of gentile & honest Families.

38. Nomina Quadraginta-virorum Cestriæ; Nomina Servientium ad Clavas et aliorum Officiariorum; Nomina Constabulariorum, hoc anno 1 R. Elizabethæ. 58.

39. Names of the Poore in St. Gyles Warde; taken 28 April 1579, who had, or had not Relief. 59.

40. Lifts of Persons paying to the Poors Rate; shewing what was charged upon them, and what they did pay. 60.

By these it appears that A. D. 1570, the Number of Poor relieved in Chester amounted to 120.

41. Panellum ad inquirendum pro Johanne Salusburie Milite, Executore Testamenti David Middleton defuncti, super Breve de Elegit, versus Hugonem Enlowe. &c. 69.

This is the original written upon Parchment; & shews who were sworne & who not.

42. Breif de Conspiracy per Thomam Byrchley Haberdasher of small Wares, brought versus Sir Randle Mainwaring, & other Magistrates of Chester: before the Judges of Assize, because he was dis-franchised for exercising two Trades. 70.

43. Order of the Assembly of Chester, 8 April 1623, for the Restitution of Thomas Birchley to the Freedome of the Citie. 90.

This order came out after that the Citie had proved before the Judges, two of their Customes, & had their Allowance that the same were good & agreeable with Law. One was, that none might use any Trade, unless he were a Free-man of the City, and also free of the Company of such trade as he would use. The other, that none made free of one trade might use any other Trade, without leaving-off the first trade, & being made free of the Company of such other Trade. So that when Birchley was restored unto the freedome of the City, he was not thereby restored to any trade.

44. Draught of the Declaration of the Companies of Mercers & Ironmongers against Birchley, for following both their trades. 96.

This Draught is, in many places, amended by the hand of Mr. Recorder Whitby.

45. Writt directed to the Maior & Citizens of Chester, obliging them to restore Birchley to the Freedome of the City; & to suffer him to open his Shop-doors & Windows again. Teste, &c. 23 Septembris, anno 20 R. Jacobi 1. 117.

46. Brief of, or for Hugh Williamson Alderman Plaintiffe, against Thomas Glascoer Esq; & Grace Glascoer Widowe Deffs.

This was in a Cause of Debt for Goods taken upon Trust, which the Defendants were unwilling to pay. So they put in an Answer; & the Plaintiffe brings in his Proofes. 120.

47. Draught of an Order of the Citie of Chester, confirming to Mr. Recorder Whitbie the Fees incident to his Office, which had been kept from him ever since Mr. Brerewood had been made Clarke of the Pentice. 123.

48. The Answer of Sir Randle Manwaring one of the Defendants. 124. b.

This is upon occasion of the Suit commenced by the Whitbies, after their being turned out of their Office of Clerk of the Pentice. And herein the Crimes & Enormities committed by Thomas Whitby, are pretty amply set forth.

49. Another Copie of the same Answer. 136.

50. A Plea between William Morris who sued George Vanse Felt-maker in an Action of Assault & Battery. The Cause being tried the 30 March, anno 11 Caroli Regis. 146. b.

51. A Commission of K. James 1. authorising the Maior of Chester, the Recorder & others, to examine upon Oath, such as at the Port of Chester, come from, or go to the Parts beyond the Sea: as also to minister the Oath of Allegiance, when it should be found expedient. Teste, &c. 16 Marche, anno Regni 8. 164. b.

Num. 2091.

52. Original Certificate (signed by the proper Hands) of the Maior, Aldermen, Sherifes, Sheriffe-Peers, Citizens, & Inhabitants of Chester, on the behalf of Alderman William Gamull; and counter to the malicious Information of William Edwards, who had slandered him as guilty of Oppression, Crueltie, Tyrannie, &c. dat. in Marche 1624. 183. (v. § 60.)

53. Richard Mutchell's Bill of Complaint, brought into the Exchequer at Westminster, against Alderman Edmund Gamull & Thomas Gamull Esq; his son, Feodary of Handbridge: for violently taking away his Corne, and endeavouring to putt him out of his Houfe and Lands, which his Ancestors had held of the Kings Progenitors time out of mind. 184.

This wants somewhat at the end.

54. The Brief of the Whitbies, in Opposition to Mr. Brerewood & others Defendants. 200.

Here, contrary to what was suggested by Sir Randle Manwaring (vid. § 48.) it is affirmed that the Clerk-ship of the Pentice is one Office, and the Clerk-ship of the Portmote is another; distinct & separate from it.

55. The State of the Case about the Clarkship of the Pentice, between the Whitbies & Brerewood. 201.

56. Original Paper or Letter of Defiance, directed to Henry Gee Mayre of Chester (A. D. 1533.) by Rychard Cowper Cytezen & Groffer of the most noble Citie of London. 203. b. (vid. infra § 59.)

It seems that he had imported there a large Quantity of Sacks, & other good Wines, in the Sale of which by wholesale he had been much hindered. And when he was willing to sell the same, out of his Cellar, at 8d. per Gallon, he was likewise hindered by the Vintners there; who yet sold their own Wines, which were not so good as his, at 12d. per Gallon. Therefore, for that the Cytezyns of London ought to be intreted & usyd after the Preuelege & Libertyes that the Kyngys Grace hathe gyvone & grauntyd them in all hys Domynions; he produceth a Certificate vnder the Seale off the sayde Citie of Londone, requyring that he may be quiete in all thyngys as hyt conteynythe. The contrarye doying he protests to complayne off them vnto the Kyngs Grace & to his ryall Counsell for his Remedye; and to recouere of his Mastershipes Person & Godez, all the Hurt & Damages, that in this Cause he should susteyne.

57. Petition to the Mayre & Cominaltie of the Citie of Chestre, by Robert Barowe Alderman & Co-Cityner; praying their favor that he might inclose five Buttyes of Lande, of his awen Landes & Inheritance at Flokers broke, & injoye the Fee-Ferme thereof. 206.

58. Original Indenture, made 22 October 1574, between the Maior & Treasurers of Chester, concerning the Plate, & other things which were to be delivered unto him. (Torn) 207. b.

59. Copie of the Certificate of Sir Stephan Pecoke Lord Maior of London, in the behalf of Richard Smyth Draper, & Richard Cowper Grocer, shewing that they were in-registered Citizens of London, and reciting some of the Privileges granted to that City by the Kings Progenitors: as that the said Citizens of London should be free from payment of all manner of Tolls & Customs throughout their Dominions. Therefore desiring that the said Smyth & Cowper might be every where favorably treated, and excused from such Payments. Given, under the Seal of the Maioralty of London, 3 of March anno 24 P. Henrici VIII. (This is also torn.) 208. b.

60. Original Certificate of Sir Richard Grosvenor High-Sheriffe of Cheshire, signed by himself and by many others of the best Gentry of the County, in the behalf of Mr. William Gamull Alderman & Merchant of Chester: to the same effect, as that before-mentioned at § 52. dat. in the Month of March 1624. 210. b.

61. Rates

Num. 2091.

61. Rates of Servants, Labourers, & Hierers Wages, appointed at the General Sessions for the Peace within the City of Chelster, anno 38 R. Elizabethæ. 212. b.

Although this Table be torn and much damaged, yet good Information may be had from it: the said Wages being stated by the Yeare, with Meate & Drinck; by the Yeare, without Meate & Drinck; and by the Day with Meate & Drinck.

62. Exemplification of a Plea held in the Court-Baron of the Maner of Manchester in the County of Lancaster, 27 April, anno 34 R. Elizabethæ, between Oliver Derbilhyre Junior of Worley Lynnen-Webster, & Thomas Williams of Chester, Lynnen-Draper, for 24 Shillings which Williams owed the Plaintiffe for a piece of Linnen Cloth. 213. b.

63. Another like Plea between the said Parties, for a like Debt of 21 Shillings; at the same time. 215. b.

64. Another like Plea between the said Parties, for a like Debt of 29 Shillings; at the same time. 216. b.

65. Another, for Nine Shillings, being Moneys lent to the Defendant; who, like an honest Man, made no Appearance to any of those Actions; and was therefore amerced by Mr. Steward. 281. b.

These Papers are torn & damaged.

66. Names of severall Inhabitants in the several Wards of Chelster. 220. b.

67. The Plainte of Sir Christofer Hatton, Sir Edward Unton, & Mr. Henry Unton, against Edward Vere Earl of Oxford, for breach of Couenant about certain Lands, Tenements, & Offices in Chelster. 222. b.

68. Inquisition taken at Chelster, anno 3 R. Edwardi vi. upon Sight of the Corpse of Richard Sconfe Carter; who, assaulding one John Coke, was killed by him (in his own Defence) by a Blow, with a Staffe, upon his Head. 228.

69. Part of a Copie of a Deed, whereby John Bruyne of Stapleforde in Com. Cestr. Esq; in Consideration of 16 Pounds received, sold to Edward Plankney Gent. certain scraps & bitts of ground, in divers places. 228. b.

70. Defeazance of a Bond made by Thomas Sonky to William Stete, who was bound for him. 229.

71. Part of a Letter shewing, that it had pleased the Kynges Majestie to yeve unto the Citie of Chelster, ferten Trees, towards the makynge of a newe Haven. 229. b.

72. The Replication of Thomas Strete, to th^e Answare of George Vernone. 230. b.

Here was a Quarrel between two Sisters & their Husbands, about the Distribution or Division of the Mothers Goods.

73. The Answar of George Vernone to the Bylle of Complaynt of Thomas Strete. 232.

74. Petition of Thom. Strete to the Maire & Aldermen of Chelstre; praying their Masterships to call George Vernone before them, & compelle him to delyver his Goods unto him accordyng to Justice & the leafulle Custome off the Citie; or els to shewe before their Masterships gude & leafulle Matter, why he ought not so to do. 233. b.

Here is a little Inventory of the said Goods, about which the Quarell arose.

75. Opinion of the Judges, 17 Junij 1636, upon the Abuse of the Writ of Habeas Corpus, which had been petitioned for by divers Prisoners in the Plague times: that the Warden of the Fleet & Marshall of the Kings Bench might remove their Prisoners to some good Townes remote from the Infection, which should be assigned unto them; where the said Prisoners would be kept sub arcta & salva Custodia, and not to be as House-keepers in their own Houses, and make the Infection a Colour to abuse their Creditors, & delude the course of Justice. And that no Keeper of a Prison is authorized by the Writ of Habeas Corpus to give Liberty to his Prisoners, but that the same is an Abuse against the Law, and an Escape in the Keeper. 235.

Num. 2091.

76. Letter of Sir Thomas Coventrye Lord Keeper of the Great Seal, to Sir John Bramston Lord Chief Justice of England. dated 19 June 1636: acquainting him that his Majestie did exceedingly approve the foregoing Opinion or Resolution, and will not recede from the same; but prays all the Judges to observe it constantly. 235. b.

77. Litteræ Patentes R. Jacobi i. quibus concedit Gabrieli Marshe Armigero, diversas Terras Tenementa, &c. in Parochijs Omnium Sanctorum, S. Martini, S. Trinitatis, S. Michaelis, S. Johannis, S. Petri, et S. Warbuge in Civitate Cestrie, et in Handbridge extra Mures dicte Civitatis; parcellam Possessionum nuper Domus Monialium Cestrensis, et postea parcellam Possessionum Episcopatus Cestrensis, tunc in manibus suis existentem, pro termino triginta & unius Annorum; reddendo inde annuatim £25. 4. 6. Teste, &c. 22 Februarij anno Regni 22. 236. b.

78. Draught of the Indenture of Covenants between Sir Ranulph Crew Kt. and the Maior & Citizens of Chelster: whereby the said Sir Ranulph did quitt his Claim to the Tolls taken at the East-gate of Chelster, to them & their Successors for the annual Rent of £2. 3. 4. for the due payment whereof they engaged an house in East-gate-street. 241. b.

79. Copie of a Letter from the Lords of the Privy Council to the Mayor, Aldermen, &c. of the City of Chelster, dated 9 July 1630; in the Cause depending between Sir Ranulph Crew & the City, about the Tolls at East-gate. 262.

Here the two Parties contradicted each other remarkably; Sir Ranulph maintaining with much Confidence to their Lordships, that vpon full hearing of the Cause, the Judges delivered their Opinion for him: which report was likewise confirmed by Mr. Litteler the Towne-Clerke of Chelster: whereas, the City, in their Letter, insinuated that the Judges deliuered no Opinion at all. Their Lordships had therefore required a particular Certificate of the Judges touching that matter: and did also require them to put the Judges Opinion in Execution, without further Dispute or Disturbance. Their Lordships further give these Gentlemen to understand, that if their said Report should prove to be false, they should take just Cause of Offence at the said Letter, and against those that were the Contrivers or Counsellors thereof.

80. Draught of the Reference of the Cause about the Eastgate-Tolls, to the Decision of Thomas Viscount Savage Councellour & Chancellour to the Queenes Majestie, by Sir Ranulph Crew on the one side, & by the Major, Recorder, & of one the Aldermen, for the City. dat. 23 February 1630. 263. b.

81. Minutes of the Assembly mett 25 January anno 6 Caroli Regis, wherein it was agreed not to give possession of the East Gate-Tolls, &c. to Sir Ranulph Crew, as was required by the Lords of the Privy Council; but to defend the Cities Cause, by Law. 267. b.

82. Letter of the Lords of the Privy Council, to the Justices of Assise in the Countie of Chelster; dated the 9 of July 1630; being the Letter abovementioned at N^o 79. wherein, after a long detail of the Matter, they pray & require them to certifie particularly in Writing, under their Hands, what their Proceedings were in that Cause; and whether they delivered any Opinion therein; and what that was. 270.

84. Draught of an Indenture of Covenants, made . . . April, anno 26 R. Elizabethæ; between Thomas Liniall of Chelster Merchant, and . . . Freight-Masters & Merchants: whereby Mr. Liniall hired a good Ship to them, of 60 Tonnes Burthen, which they were to lade with their own Merchandises, and might conduct the same Ship into the Porte, Haven, or River of Bilbow, Vermew, or Sant Sabaltians: they paying Mr. Liniall for the use of her 42 shillings per Tonne. 271.

85. Peti-

Num. 2091.

85. Petition of the Keeper of the Northgate-Gaole in Chester; desiring that it might be putt into good Repair, wholly at the Citties cost, as had been accustomed, without chardging him with eny thinge further, but the payment of the bare Rent. And the rather, for that he is both a yonge beginner, and hath latelye entred the Chardge, and hath not tasted eny Fruyts of Thyrstynes therby, but only the Contentacion in settlynge himself in Service, where he purpofeth to throwde himself duringe Lief. 278.

86. Indenture made 2 August 1627; between Richard Burde Marchant & Richard Pemberton Gent. about the Salt-works at Weverham, oftentimes before mentioned. 278. b.

87. List of the Tenants owing Homage to the City of Chester, A. D. 1657. with the formes of calling each of them into the Court. 281. b.

88. The Authentic Order of the Lords of the Privy Council, dated 12 January 1630; requiring the City to suffer S^r. Randall Crew to take all such Tolls & Customes as are payable at the East Gate of Chester, without the Disturbance of the City, or any claiming from them: until they, by Suite, shall recouer the same from Sir Randall. Their Lordships also advised the Cittie to accept a Lease of 21 Yeares from S^r. Randall of all Tolls payable at the Eastgate; and that some able & indifferent Persons should reduce to a Certainty what Tolls ought to be paid there, whereby the same might be specified in a Schedule, to be annexed to the said Lease. Their Lordships do also remember the Disrespect shewed by the Assembly to their Board, and their not conforming to the Certificate of the Judges nominated by themselves; and yet for this time pass by the said Neglects (for which they deserued Blame & Reproofe) vpon expectation of their future Conformity, 283.

89. Indentura qua Johannes de Vere Comes Oxonie, constituit Thomam Bildon & Hugonem Bildon Servientes suos, ad occupandum Officium vnus Quatuor Seruientium ad Clavem Civitatis Cestrie. pro le Eastgate-strete, post mortem Patris eorum. Reddendo sibi annuatim, decem Solidos. dat. 5 Decembris, anno 1 R. Elizabethæ. 285.

90. Letter of the Lords of the Privy Council, to the Justices of the Assise for the County of Chester, dat. 20 November 1630. 291.

Again recommending the Cause about the Tolls at Eastgate unto them at the next Assises, for making Peace between both Parties: and the proposition of the Cities taking a Lease for 21 yeares from Sir Ranulph of the said Tolls, vnder such Rents & Covenants as they should conceive should be fitt. And that as Sir Ranulph was very willing to embrace any such Course of Quietnesse: so their Desires were to free him from Suites & Trouble in his olde Age.

91. Copie of a Petition of Richarde Litler Clerk of the Pentice of Chester: praying the Lords of the Privy Council, that they would not be his vndoing, by inserting in their Letters to the Cittie, onely one part of his Answer to their Lordships Question, and omitting that which he further added. 292.

92. Original Letter of John Lord Talbot to the Maior of Chester, dat. 6 December 1556, desiring at the next Christmas Watches to be called to do Homage for his House (being a Gable-Rent-House in his own Name, & not in that of Alexander Cotes, or of any other person. 294.

96. A Note of what Lands & Tenements belonged to Mr. John Brerewood, in the right of his Wife; who seems to have been one of Sir Francis Gamull's Daughters. 304. b.

97. Draught of a Petition to Queen Elizabeth by some London Gentleman; setting forth that John Gryffyth of Cayrwys in Flynt-shire Esquyer. had a good Estate; but was a bastard, and consequently could make no Will: that there was, indeed a Will forged by Peeres Gryffyth who was therein named Executor, and who had seized on the said Estate, and held the same for about five years: which tending manifestly to her Majesties Disherison; the Petitioner humbly besought her, to give him her Right, that so he might get it for himself. 305. b.

98. Account of Moneys laid out for repairing the Castle of Chester; taken by Mr. Recorder Whitby. 307.

99. Original Letter of the Lord Viscount Savag & other Commissioners to the Maior & Recorder of Chester; dated, 19 November 1627: requiring them to Survey Chester-Castle; to inspect the reparations made there the last year, by Order of Thomas Steele Surveyour of the said Castle; and likewise to take a perfect View & survey of the Ruynes & Decaies of such perticular places & Roomes which should be found most vifull & necessary to be repaired for the preservation of the Records, Judges Lodgings, Shire-hall, the Bridge and such other necessarie things. But, as to the Officers continually serving there, as the Prothonotarie, Constable, Gaylor, & others who received particuler benefit by their Places: they ought to be charged with the Mainteynance & Reparation of their severall Offices. 308.

100. A Survey of the Decaies in the Castle of Chester; taken the 28th of January 1624. 310.

101. Mr. Recorder Whitbys Estimate of the Charge of Buildings & Reparations necessary to be made in Chester-Castle. 312.

An Heraldical Book in folio, consisting of some loose Tracts bound up together by the third Randle Holme; and by him, on the out-side thus entituled, 'An Alphabate of Coates, of diuerse Shires, &c. as being, 1. An Alphabet of Armes in Blafon. 1.

This is said to have been written out of other old Alphabets A. D. 1560 & continued (perhaps by William Smith Rouge Dragon, the second Randle Holme & others) to A. D. 1640.

2. A large Alphabet in Blafon, beginning with the Letter B. 20.

This is said to have been copied by William Smyth Rouge Dragon aforesaid, A. D. 1604. and, perhaps, may bethe foundation of his larger Alphabet; of which a fair Transcript is now at Wympole.

3. Some Fragments of another Alphabet, in Blafon. 75. b.

Num. 2093.

2093.

A Book in folio, consisting of many single Papers (as well Originals, as others) with some Parchments, all bound up together by the third Randle Holme; who, on the back thereof, hath given it this Title, 'Chester-Businesse:' which, for the sake of more particular & better light; I shall in turning over the same, observe the several Matters following.

1. The said Mr. Holmes account of the Things of most Note contained in this Book. At the beginning.

2. The saying of John Daufson before Thomas Aldersey Maior of Chestre, conferring the Rent of a Tenement demysed by William Glaseour th'eldre vnto Margaret Hofalle, 17 Junij anno 4 R. Edwardi vi.

3. Objections & Alligacions ayenst George Harebrowne, for suche Fees as he demaundeth ayenst the Mayr. & Citesyns of Chestre.

This Harebrowne was of standing Counsell to the City, but in the time of the riotous Election of Piers Dutton to be Major; he stood & pleaded for Mr. Dutton & the Commons, against the Maior & Aldermen. So, when they had gotten the better in that Cause, they were resolved to turn Harebrowne out of that place, which he had privately crept and gott into. These Stirs arose about anno 8 R. Henrici viii. were heard by the King & Council; & Mr. Dutton with his Sheriffs were turned out.

4. Notes, Transcripts & Remembrances in the Cause between Hugh Hynde Plaintiffe, versus Johannem Fernall Defendant, in Ejectione Firme.

5. Original Bill of Rauff Done Esquier, desiring that the Action of John Tillston Alderman might be removed from the Pentice-Court, to that of Port-mote.

It seems this Alderman Tillston had gotten a Bond of £90. for payment of a less Sum, from the Petitioner & William Chauntrell Esquier, who had offered to pay what was due, which Tillston would not accept, but sued the other in the Pentice-Court before the Sheriffs there: minding throw the often Courts ther holden; and the Simplicite of the Common Jurors there; and the Absence of his Witneses; fodenly to condempne him & his said Surtie, in the said Action, contrarie to all Right & Justice. He therefore prayeth, the said Maior, by this Bill signed with his Hande (which is signed accordingly) to commaunde the said Actione with alle the Circumstances, into the Court of Portmote, to be tried before his Worshipp accordinge to the aunient Custome.

6. Attested Copie of an Order from the Kings Maiesties Councelle in the Merches of Wales appointing Edmond Gee Maior of Chester, Sir John Done, Sir Phellip Egertone Knights, & Richard Gravenour Esquier, to hear & determine the Cause between Edward Plankenay Plaintiffe, & Thomas Aldersey, &c. Defendants. dat. 2 December. anno 4 R. Edwardi vi.

7. A Mitimus for commytting Richarde Grigge to the Prysonne of the Northgate: 28 Martij, anno 1 R. Edwardi vi.

One John Edwards beyng accused & indicted of Errefey by Sir Richard Ledsham Priest, &c. in the Pentice of Chester before the Maior, Shirreffs, & dyverse other persons then present, openly saide & pronounfed, that there was of the best within the Citie of Chestre, of as evyll Disposicion, and dayly did worse then John Edwards. And forther, openly said that the said Priest was an Illore-mayster-Priest.

8. Breve R. Elizabethæ, directum Majori Civitatis Cestrie, &c. pro Taxatione, Levatione, & Collectione prime Solucionis tertij Subsidij, in ultimo Parlamento, sibi per Magnates et alias Communitates laicas concessi. Teste, &c. 23 die Julij, anno Regni 37.

This is upon Parchment, & seems to be the Original.

9. Certificate of Richard Rathburne Maior of Chester, touching the Debt due to Robert Brerewood Alderman

11. Part of a Draught or Copie of a Release of certain other Mesuages & Gardens in Chester, made by Thomas Bunbury of Stanney Esq; and Henry his son & heir, to William Ball Alderman of Chester.

12. Draught of an Acquittance for £46. 16. 2. paid by the Sub-Collectors of the last payment of the Subsidie within the Citie of Chester, to William Stiles & Paull Chauntrell Head-Collectors of the same: 2 Aprelle 1568.

13. Original Letter of George Stanley Lord Strange, to Sir Richard Godeman Maire of Chestre: desiring that whereas Perus Aslhetone had received certeyn Stuff of Jynkyn Trauers to make a Chaliffe of: he would cause Perus to deliver either the Chalice made, or the stuff back.

14. Original Bill of Edward Marten Draper, to Mr. Robert Brerewood Maior of Chester, praying that his Cause which was about to be tried before the Shireves in the Pentice-Court, might be removed to the Court of Portmote, & be tried before himself; the Petitioner fearing the simplicitie of the comen Jurors before the said Sheriffs, and undifferency in his said Cause to be ministred.

15. Petition of Dormyce Ulter Phisicion, to John Smythe Maior of Chester; beseeching his Maisterhippe, to call before him Anne the Wife of Alderman Rauff Aldersey, deceased, & Alderman Thomas Aldersey his Executor, & oblige them to pay him £2. 6. 8. for his Counsell & help administered unto the deceased during his sickness. The Petitioner having no specyalte to charge the Executors with, for the said Dett, at the Comen Lawe.

16. Petition of Richard Williamfon, to Mr. John Fyton Maior of Chester, sued with Margaret his Wife in the Pentice-Court, in an Action of Trespass upon the Case, to the Damage of 40l. praying that the Cause might be removed into the Court of Portmote.

17. Another upon a like Occasion, to Mr. Robert Brerewood Maior of Chester, from William Balle Gent. complaining of Alderman William Walle, who, (minding the Petitioners Discredit, Vexation, & Trouble) had arrested him in an Action of Trespass vpon the Case, to the damage of 20l.

18. The Rates of Servants & Laborers Wages, as taxed and appoynted by the Magistrates of Chester, anno 35 R. Elizabethæ.

The Table is damaged, like that in 97. A. 6.

57. Another, upon the ſame Occaſion, and of the ſame Date, directed to Sir Roger Aſton. ibid.

58. Draught of a Depoſition made by William Garfield, touching the Behavior of William Stiles Mercer of Cheſter, who had commenced his Action of Debt of 12 Pounds againſt John Aſmore; which Debt was the proper Debt of the ſaid Garfield, 22 Junij anno 17 R. Elizabethæ. 88.

Then follows a Collection of Papers, put up together, indeed, but all in diſorder; and relating to that important Affair of the Ship-money leavied by K. Charles 1. And here we find Sir Thomas Aſton Baronet, Farmer of the Impoſts of the French Wines brought into the Port of Cheſter, very angry at his being rated by the City of Cheſter for his ſaid Place, and blowing up a Quarrel between the County and the City of Cheſter; wherein he was ſuppoſed by Sir Thomas Delves then the High-Sheriffe, Sir William Brereton, & other Gentlemen, ſome of whom afterward, in the Civil Wars enſuing, revenged themſelves both upon the City & upon the King too. This matter being therefore ſo remarkable, I have thought it for the beſt to deſcribe the ſaid Papers not in the Confuſion they now are in, but rather ſomewhat toward their Order of time, whereby the chiefeſt parts of that Tranſaction, may be the more eaſily gathered up, & retained. Theſe Papers are, 59. Copie of a Letter from the Lords of the Privy Council, directed to the High Sheriffe of Cambridgeſhire, & dated the . . . of December 1634. 150.

Empowering him, in Caſe the Ship-money was n^t, or ſhould not be levied in Norwich, Lynne Regis, Yarmouth, and Wiſbich, within the time limited, or the Aſſeſſment not made in thoſe Places, to aſſeſs the ſame places himſelf, & to cauſe the Magiſtrates there, with Indifferencie, to leavie the Money, by the Pool, upon the Inhabitants.

60. Original Letter from the Lords of the Council, dated the 24th of January 1634: at the bottom, directed to the Maior of Cheſter, &c. and to the High Sheriffs of divers other Counties of Wales; but on the outſide ſuſcribed to the Maior, &c. of Cheſter, the High Sheriffs of the Counties of Cheſter, Lancaſter, & Cumberland, &c. 175.

Commending their Diligence in purſuing his Maſtieſties Writ, & the Directions of that Board. That his Maſtieſtie would lend them a Ship of 400 Tons; but as to the £2204. charged upon them, they muſt levie the ſame forthwith, and pay it vnto the Officers of the Navie & Ordinance. And if they ſhould deſire to know how that Money ſhould be diſpoſed of, they might authoriſe ſome one ſkilfull in Affaires, to ſee how it was beſtowed.

61. Liſt of ſeveral Perſons Names; perhaps, of ſuch as had Poſſeſſions both in the County of Cheſhire, and in the County of the City of Cheſter. 104.

62. Draught of a Certificate from the Magiſtrates of Cheſter, certifying that A. B. of Cheſter had paid his Rate to the Ship-money there, and therefore was not liable to be taxed elſewhere. dat. . . . Febr. 1634. 103.

63. Original Letter of Sir Thomas Aſton, to Francis Gamull Eſq; Maior of Cheſter, dated 17 Sept. 1635. 137.

Deſiring him to ſubmitt to the Lords Inſtructions, and not to expect to rate Men for their Lands lying in the County. The ſaid Inſtructions, in that point, being ſo expreſſe, that he durſt not admitt his Condition to exempt his Lands in the Countrey, in the Aſſeſſment of the County: it being of preſent prejudice to the Inhabitants of the Countrey, & of dangerous preſident to the Kings Service in all the Countreies of the Kingdome, wherein there are anie Townes Corporate, or Owners of Lands living out of the County.

64. Original Certificate of the Maior & Aldermen of Cheſter, dated 7 February 1634. 102.

Teſtifying that Edward Whitby Eſq; Recorder of Cheſter had paid £1: 6: 8. being his Rate toward the Ship-money, and therefore ought not to be charged in any other Place for that Service.

65. Original Letter of S^r Thomas Aſton, to the Mayor, Recorder & Aldermen of Cheſter, dated 28 Sept' 1635. 139.

This is objurgatory; & here Sir Thomas avers that the Gentlemen of the Countrey affirme that he juſtly ſtated the Caſe to them (viz. the Maior, &c.) in chardging them not to ſubmitt to the Kings Writ, nor to the Lords Inſtructions. That the Differences ariſing between the Country & the City, from the various Interpretations of them, were, de Quanto, De Ubi, & De Modo. For the Quantum, they will not truſt him the Sheriffe to ſett the Sum; but helpe themſelves by the Inſtructions, they being favorable for the Sum of 300 pounds. As to the Ubi, He was, according to the Inſtructions, to aſſeſſe all the Houſes & Lands throughout the whole County: but that they having Houſes & Lands lying therein, liked not the Inſtructions, but returned to the Writ, becauſe of an Abbreviation therein, whereby they would interpret Terras tenentes in Civitate & in membris ejuſdem; into Terrarum Tenentes, or Landholders: in which ſenſe, if they lived in the City, they would rate them as to their ſaid Lands, to pay with the Citizens, to the Countrey's loſſe. That this they would make good, by raiſing the third Difference, De Modo, of the Manner of this Aſſeſſment, which they would have to be a perſonall, not a locall Charge; at which Sir Thomas is very angry, as being contrary to both the Writ & Inſtructions, as he indeavours to ſhew, at length. Concluding, that if they conceiue the Lords have preſcribed a wrong Courſe, they would doe well to certifie them ſo much, that they may alter the Inſtructions throughout the

Num. 2093.

the Kingdom. Adding further, for doubtlesse, all other Corporations may plead the same Priuiledge to exempt theyr Lands in the County, as well as you ; which if it were graunted, in what Case would the Kings Service be when noe Sheriffe could begin his Assesment till all the Corporations had assessed, leuyed, & certified, what Lands they would exempt, &c.

66. A Copie of the same Letter. 127.

67. Original Letter of the Lords of the Privy Council to the Mayor & Magistrates of the City of Chester ; dated the 10th of October 1635. 135.

Acquainting them, that the High Sheriff (Sir Thomas Aston) had transmitted to them, two of their (the Cities) Certificates in the behalfe of Sir Thomas Smith Kt. & of William Allen Gent. wherein they took the bouldnes to declare that noe person, though hauing Lands & Estate in seuerall places within the County, ought to be charged but according to the Estate only which he hath in the Place where he resides. Under Colour whereof, they took upon them to protect others, for their owne Ends ; though to the disservice of the King. Which Indiscretion & Presumption as they could not but exceedingly marvell at, & sharply reprove : so if they (the City) should persist therein, for that which should concerne themselves, or mis-leade others by such their Conceyte & Example : their Lordships would call them a more seuerer Account, as well for their past as future disservice occasioned thereby.

68. A Copie of the same Letter. 156.

69. Original Letter of the Lords of the Privy Council to the Mayor & Alderman of the City & County of Chester : dated, 25 January 1635. 129.

Putting them in mind, that whereas that Board was very carefull to recommend, that the Cleargie in their Taxations & Assesments for Shipping, might receive all due Respect, both to their Persons & calling. It is now required that they should examine & make Certificate vnto their Lordships, with convenient Expedition, what the Cleargie hath been assessed at, within the City, for the Shipping Money charged this last Yeare.

70. Original Letter from Sir Thomas Aston, to Mr. Knowles Mayor of Chester; dated 27 January 1635. 153.

Requiring the City to send to him speedily, the 300 Pounds charged upon them, he being to make up his Accounts. And whereas they had charged him with Five Pounds, as Farmer of the Kings Customes in Chester : he says, he houlds by Patent from the King, discharged from any manner of Taxe, Chardge, or Imposition, other then the Rent reserved to his Majestie ; with Power of Defalcation of any Taxe whatsoever, that shall be imposed upon the same. So, that what they should impose, or he pay, in this kind, must be deducted out of the Kings Rent ; who then would be paid with his own Money : and himself should be thought an ill Tennant, to permitt the Kings Customes to become contributory to their Charges. Therefore desires them to revoke that Assesment, that he be not constrained to complayne of such Injustice, as is neither offred to the Grand Farmers there (whoe reape much more benefitt then he does) nor to the Farmers of his Majesties Customes, in any Port of England.

71. Original Letter of the Lords of the Privy Council, to the Mayor & Alderman of the City of Chester; dated the 8th of February 1635. 133.

Acquainting them, that Sir Thomas Aston had complayned to the Board, that he hauing noe House nor Lands at all within the Jurisdiction of the Cittie of Chester, was (out of particular Indisposition towards him) lately assed'd at Five Pounds, towards the Shipp money, vnder pretence that he is Farmor of his Majesties Customes of French Wynes in the Northerne Ports, which he holds by Letters Patents, &c. (as above in the last Letter) and that neverthelesse, they, in a disgraceful manner, sent their Common Sergiants to leauy the same vpon him. But the Board finding cause to dislike their proceeding, both for the manner & matter : and being satisfied that the Petitioner ought not to be charged in Relation to the farming the said Customes, did Will & require them to discharge him of the said Somme, & to Leauie the same otherwise.

72. A Copie of the same Letter. 143.

73. Original Letter from the Lords of the Privy Council, to the Maior & Alderman of the City of Chester ; dated the 23 February 1635. 131.

Shewing that they had considered the Citties Letter of the 8th present, and approve theire Care & good Endeavors, in the business of Shipp-money, and would represent the same to his Majestie, vpon any good Occasion. Their Lordships require them to pursue their last Directions, touching Sir Thomas Aston. And shewing that concerning the Refusall of Sir William Brereton or his Tenants to pay their Assesments ; they needed not to haue troubled the Board : considering the Authoritie given them by his Majesties Writt, to leauye the same by Distresse, or otherwise.

74. Original Letter of the Maior & Alderman of Chester to Thomas Bauand Esq; & Mr. William Edwards : dated the 25 of March 1636. 90.

Thanking them for their great Care & Paines taken, & encouraging them to proceed. That they conceive the Farmors Certificate differs much from Sir Thomas Aston's Case. For they knowe not the Farmers Receipts, nor whether they gaine or lose by their Places. But that the cleare gaine Sir Thomas Aston receaues in that City, might be demonstrated ; and thence they took their Computation for his Assesment. Nor doe they conceiue anie Difference : but that Sir Thomas ys as well lyable to the Assesment, for his cleare gaines there for his Farme (being for certaine Yeares) as the King's Tenants or Farmours of his Mannours or Lands are.

75. Original Letter of Mr. Will. Edwards, to Mr. Recorder Whitby : dated from London, 4 April 1636. 92.

Shewing the Trouble that he had met with in this their Difference with Sir Thomas Aston ; against whom the Lords of the Council would receive no more of their Petitions. That however, he had deliver'd one, kneeling, to the Lord Keeper who said that he and the rest of the Lords would mooue the King vpon Sunday ; when he attended, and found means to proffer another to his Majestie, and procured this Answer, that Sir Thomas Aston must pay the Five Pounds assessed on him (nolens volens,) in English, against his great Hart. That Sir Thomas, when he could avoyd yt noe longer, petitioned against him ; upon which, the Lords appointed Sir William Beecher, & Mr. Nicolas to examine his Profe. For at a meeting with Sir Thomas, when Mr. Bauand was present, he said these Words without Passion, viz. Sir Thomas, yt were better all the Houses in Chester were in the Riuer, then the Kings Service should be neglected.

76. Copie of Sir Thomas Aston's Petition to the Lords of the Privy Council, against Mr. Edwards, written by him, & inclosed in the Letter last abovementioned.

94. A.

Shewing that he being, by seuerall Orders, discharged from an Assesment putt vpon him by the Citizens of Chester ; and that after being by them required to pay the same, he did it to Mr. Secretary Windebanke. But that since, his Majestie being satisfied that noe Farmers of his Customes in England, haue been assessed in any Port where they liue not, only the Petitioner, was pleased to cause the Money to be restored. Yet such is the Malice of Will. Edwards Merchant, Solicitor for the Cittizens, that he giveth out, he will stay this Seaven Yeres but he will haue yt. That he will follow the Petitioner cloffe at the Heeles, and neuer leauie him, but will haue yt. 77. Original Order of Council, made, the King being present, 3 April 1636. & sealed with the Council-Seale.

148.

Importing, that whereas two Petitions were then read, the one of Sir Thomas Aston, and the other of the Maior & Citizens of Chester, concerning the Payment of Five Pounds assessed upon Sir Thomas, towards Shipp-money, as Farmer of the Imposts of French Wines within the Port of Chester: it was ordered, after a long & serious Debate & Consideration, in full Councell; that not only Sir Thomas should forthwith pay the said 5 pounds: but that all others his Majesties Farmers ought to be assessed for the Valewes of their Farmes for the Shipping-money, both at this time, or at any time hereafter. With a Clause for the Clerkes of the Council to call Mr. Edwards before them, and to examine him touching the offensive Speeches complained of by Sir Thomas Aston.

This is signed by Sir William Beecher one of those Clerkes: who wrote underneath, "Aprill the last 1636; vpon Report made to their Lordships of this businesse, theyr Lordships did not think fitt to make any further Order therein."

78. A Copie of the same Paper.

79. Draught of the Petition of the Maior & Citizens of Chester, to K. Charles I.

147.

Setting forth, that where Sir Thomas Aston, Farmer (by Lease, for above 25 yeares to come) of the Imposts of French Wines, within the Port of Chester, at a certain Rent; was (vpon full hearinge before the Lords of the Privie Councell) directed to pay £5. assessed vpon him in the said Cittie, towards the Ship-money: yet neuertheless, he refuseth to pay the same. Whereby, diuers Officers within that Cittie, whoe haue willinglie made payment of their Assessments, doe conceaue themselves to haue bene vnduly assessed; and may hereafter refuse to pay the like Assessments. They therefore pray that Sir Thomas may forthwith make payment of the said Five Pounds Assessment.

80. Copie of the Letter from the Lords of the Privy Council, to the High Sheriffe of the County of Chester, dated the first of October, 1636.

In this Letter are contained the Advices and Instructions, which he was presentlie to communicate with the Head Officer of the Corporate Townes, in that County. The County Palatine was to provide one Shipp of Three Hundred Tonnes, furnished with Men, Tackle, Munition, Victuals, &c the charge whereof their Lordships conceived, would amount to 3000 Pounds; of which Sum they thought the Cittie of Chester might well beare 260 Pounds. That such wealthy Men as had little Land, should be particularly taxed; in order to ease such as having Lands, were of weaker Estate. Here are ample Directions, how to make the Assessment easy & equal to all: but then, if any should refuse or neglect to make payment: the Kings Writ, sent with these Instructions, was to be executed upon him. That it was to be particularly expresse how much euerie Clergie-Man is rated at, for his meere Ecclesiastical Possessions; and what for his temporall & personall Estate. That forasmuch as the Privileges of the Clergie were not certainly declared; his Majestie is pleased, that for the present, they should be taxed, & make payment, as his other Subjects: but then, a due Respecte must be borne both to their Persons & Callinge, not sufferinge any Inequalities or Pressures to be putt vpon them. His Majestie resolving that these Assessments & Proceedings shall not be prejudiciall, in the future, to them, or to any of their Rights & Priviledges, which vpon further Search, shall be found due vnto them. Here are also, other plain Instructions for the leauying the Money; and diuers Cases which had happened in the former Years, to the hindrance of the Service, are here specified & obviated.

to the Lords of the Privy Council; . . . Decr. 1636.

169.

Complaining of Sir William Brereton, who protested his Tenant in his disobedience to the Kings Proclamation, by refusing to contribute toward the public Watches; and further, because Sir William had refused to paie his Assessment for the late Shipp-money (although he was rated very low) by reason whereof diuerse others who have promised payment, are vnwillinge to give any Satisfaction, vntill Course be taken with Sir William.

82. Copie of a Letter from Sir Thomas Delves the Sheriffe & many of the Justices of the Peace of the County Palatine of Chester, to the Lords of the Privy Council: dated, 28 December, 1636.

Complaining, that Sir Thomas Aston beinge assessed by the Countie toward the present Service of Shippeinge for his Farme of the impost of French Wynes brought into the Countie & Port of Chester, &c. and having paid accordingly: the Citizens of Chester doe pretend to ascribe & draw to themselves the ease & benefitt of this Assessment, intending againe to taxe him in the Summe of Five Pounds, in affront for the Service hee did when he was Sheriffe, and by way of quittance with the Countrey, who would not suffer them to discharge their Lands in the County. These Gentlemen do therefore assure themselves that their Lordships would not haue his Majesties Service disturbed with such differences, nor the Countrey discontented by such an injury, who doe already conceiue themselves ouercharged, in respect of their Neighbour-Counties.

83. Copie of a Letter from K. Charles I. to Sir John Bramston Chief Justice of the Kings Bench, and all the other Judges: given, 2 of February, 1636.

Setting forth the Reasons inducing him to haue a Royal Navie provided, of force & power sufficient to protect and defend this Realme. And that for preventing of Errors he had thought fit to have their Advice as to the Question inclosed. The Sum of the Question was whether he was not the sole Judge of any Danger impending upon this Realm, and of the Means of preventing it: and whether he could not command all his Subjects to contribute toward their common Defence, by writt under the Great Seale.

85. Authentic Copie of an Order of the Lords of the Privy Council: dated, 17 February 1636.

106.

Here, his Majestie being present, it was ordered, upon the Petition of Sir Thomas Aston, & the Certificate of the High Sheriffe of Cheshire, that the difference between Sir Thomas & the City of Chester should be heard at the board, the 7th of May next: and in the mean while, the Cities Assessment upon the Petitioner, to be suspended.

86. Copie of a Letter from Sir Thomas Delves Sheriffe of Cheshire, to the Maior of Chester, 6 March 1636.

Concerning the Notice he had given to the Cittie of the Order abovementioned: and that there were yet other differences betwixt the County & the Cittie: viz, about the Cities clayme of Glouers stonne, being exempted in the Citties Charter; their buyeing of the old Shirehall, which they had made a Common Hall of. Their Assessment of the Lord Bushopp of Chester; besides the particular Greeuance of Sir William Brereton. That for the Glouers Stone, Sir Thomas Aston, & the Clergie, he would seeke to protect them; and therefore desires for the assessing of the Clergie they would please to forbear: otherwise he must complayne of the Countreys wronge, as likewise of the Clergies sufferings.

87. Original Letter from Sir Thomas Delves, to Mr. Recorder Whitby. dated 6 March, 1636.

173.

Here he enlarges upon the particular matters by him specified in his Letter to the Maior; withall giving his Reasons for the Counties Claim to the Glouers

Num. 2093.

Glouers stone, & to the old Shire-hall : with a desire that Peace might be between the Countie & the City ; and also between Sir William Brereton & them.

88. Draught of an Answer from Mr. William Edwards Maior of Chester to Sir Thomas Delves High Sheriffe of the County of Cheshire : dated, 9 March 1636. 167.

Importing, that the City knew noe difference betwixt the County & them. That as to Sir Thomas Alston his Opposition to their Assesment, drew the Question to the Privy Council-board ; where, after many hearings, it was ordered (his Majestie then sitting in Counsell) that hee ought to paie the said Assesment, and did pay the same accordinglie : which the City had reason to thinke had made a final Determination. That for the Assesment of the Inhabitants at & about Glouers Stone : they formerly paid Subsidies with the Cittie, contributed to the Royall Loane, and were assessed vpon the two first Wryts for the Shipp-moneye, & paid accordingly ; and are now againe by them assessed vpon the last Wrytt. But these being priuate & particuler Mens Cases, one of Sir Thomas Alston, who is little Resident in the County ; the other of Sir Gilbert Ireland & his successours, who are Inhabitants in another Countie ; they knowe not how they should be made Causes concerneinge the Countie, being not before so taken by any former High-Sheriffe. As for their Assesment of the Clergy, they conceive they were directed so to do, and did so, & haue leuyed the Money, and will be accomptable to the Lords for their Doings. As for Sir William Brereton, they finde him, in his Disposition, inclyned to Suits against them. As for Peace, they desire it with all men : and if he (Sir Thomas) can take course to settle these matters in the same state wherein he found them : they shall readily giue way to any fittinge Course for accommodation.

89. Mr. Recorder Whitbys first Draught of an Answer to Sir Thomas Delves's Letter. 164.

Herein he defends the Cities Right as to the matters of the Glovers Stone, & the old Shire-hall.

90. Mr. Recorder Whitbys second Draught of an Answer to the same Letter. dat 10 March 1636. 166.

Here, those two matters are omitted.

91. A Note of Mr. Recorder Whitbie's hand, shewing when the 3 Writts for Ship-money came out ; the Sums charged upon the County of Chester ; & upon the City & Liberties thereof. And that by the third Writ, the County was not charged so high by £460. as it was by the second. 101. b.

92. Authentic Order of the Privy Council, made, (his Majestie being present) 14 May, 1637. 145.

Here Sir Thomas Alston's Case (who was assessed by the High-Sheriffe, for his Farme at £.16. 13. 4. and by the City of Chester, for the same Farme, at £3. 6. 8. being taken into consideration : vpon a full hearing or Councell on both sides, & serious Debate, & consideration, it was ordered, that in regard the Custome-house, is situate within the Liberty of the said Cittie, Sir Thomas should forthwith pay the £3. 6. 8. vnto the Maior of the same. And that the High Sheriffe of the County do take off from him the £6. 13. 4. and lay it elsewhere. And that henceforth, Sir Thomas & his Successors, Farmers in that Port, shall always be assessed, and pay, in that Cittie.

93. A Copie of the preceding Order of Council. 113.

94. Copie of a Letter to the Lords of the Privy Council, subscribed by many of the best Gentry of the County, against the City of Chester. 117.

Here they complain very heavily of the Counties being injured by the Incroachment of the Citizens vpon their Rights, in the Cases of the Bishop of Chester, who being assessed by a Committee of the Clergie, in the Countie ; and also in Lancashire, where he resided : was nevertheless rated by the City at 20 Nobles, where all he received was but 40 Shillings per annum, which (because the Bishop had paid, with some Addition) these Citizens would make a President of. In the business of the Glovers-stone ; though they allow the Inhabitants to pay with the Citizens the Church-duties, Poors Rate, and other Layes which concerne not the Countrey ; yet they insitt upon their holding one of their Quarter Sessions there, which if it be part of the County of the City, many of their Acts were void, as being done extra Comitatum. But they were informed, that in a Case of like nature, concerning part of the Countie, within the Cittie of Winchester : their Lordships expressly ordered the Inhabitants to pay with the Countie, & not with the Cittie. That as to Sir Thomas Alston, his Case was peculiar ; noe other Farmer of his Majesties Customes, in any Port of England, being assessed but only where they live. Therefore they conceive this to be done in Spleene & Affront, for his Service done when he was Sheriffe, and by way of quittance with the Countrey, because their Lands were not excused. With further Insinuations on their own behalf, and against the Citizens.

Num. 2093.

95. Another Copie of the same Letter. 96.

96. Copie of an Order of the Privy Council, made, (the King being present) 29 October, 1637. 115.

This is upon Reading the Letter abovementioned appointing a Copie thereof to be delivered to some of the cheefe Magistrates of Chester ; and resolving to giue a Hearing to both Parties, by their Councell, the 4th of February next, saving those Poynts as haue bin already settled, vpon full Hearing of both sides.

97. Another Copie of the same Order. 94.

98. Original Letter of Sir Thomas Delues, to the Maior & Aldermen of Chester ; dated, 21 December, 1637. 98.

Herewith, he sent the Copie of the Gentries Letter against them, and the Order of Council last abovementioned.

99. Copie of a Letter from the Maior & Aldermen of Chester to the Lords of the Privy Council ; dated the 13th Day of Januarye, 1637. 100.

Shewing, that their Lordships having twice ordered (his Majestie sitting in Counsell both tymes) that Sir Thomas Alston should pay with the City : They could not expect that hee, or any other, would haue taken that boldnesse to haue certified their Honors, that they still doe conceiue he ought not to pay with the City. For the other two matters complaind of, they conceiue they were but added to accompany Sir Thomas's Complaint ; who not only drew the Letter, but also by himselfe & servants laboured & solicited for Hands vnto it. Wherein, for what concerne the Glouers stone, They deny it to be excepted out of their Charter ; or that any Quarter-Sessions of the County are holden there. That the Inhabitants there doe pay Church-Duties, Releefe for the Poore, & other Layes with the City ; and haue heretofore likewise payd with the City Subsidies, the Royall Loane, & Shipp-moneye vpon the two first Writts ; vntill about the time Sir Thomas raised the Question concerning himselfe, the Difference was likewise raised concerning the Glouers Stone, whose Inhabitants were assessed by the Sheriffe, att no more than 15s. 2d. That as to the Bishop of Chester, they had proceeded respectfully towards him, and according to the Power given them, they had assessed Him, upon the two former Writts, & he had paid both the Assesments ; and haue now assessed his Lordship, upon the last Writ, as they conceiue they may lawfully doe ; haueing made noe Complaint against him, nor knowing of any he had made against them. As for the Spleen & Affront to Sir Thomas ; the Injuries, Incroachments, & Abuses to the Countrey, & Disservice to his Majestie, they deny all ; and shew that Sir Thomas's Good Services were nothing worth : that when he was first assessed in the City, he made the Case for Himselfe, and all his Majesties Farmers of England ; and being ouer-ruled therein, he raises the Question, that he ought to pay with the Countrey & not with the City ; whereby he he putt them to great Charge & Trouble, which he ought to reimburse. And they pray that they may execute the Writt vpon him for his Assesment, he hauing noe Cause of Complaint at being assessed Five Pounds forthat, which he hath long clearly gayned £1000 p^a annum by; and for the present yeare, will gaine £1500 aboute his Majesties Rent. Lastly, they humbly pray to be discharged of Attendance att the Board, vntill their Lordships shall be certified what the Earle of Derby and the Judges shall doe (at the Assizes) vpon their Lordships former Reference of these matters to them.

100. Copie of an Order of the Privy Council, made, (his Majestie being present) 27 May 1638. 123.

Here, when the Gentries Petition or Certificate against the City was taken into Consideration, & the fresh matters heard on both sides: they came to that part relating to Sir Thomas Aston; whose cause having been twice before heard at that Board & determined, his Majestie being both Tymes present: It was more expressly ordered by his Majestie and their Lordships, that the said Sir Thomas Aston shal be required to obserue the said former Orders in that behalf, and that he shall not henceforth presume to trouble his Majestie or the Board any more with the said Busines or Differences: and hereof the said Sir Thomas to take Notice, and to conforme himself accordingly.

101. Sir Thomas Astons Answere to Mr. Richard Litler Clerke of the Penrice, vpon the Demand of the 20 Nobles assessed vpon him for Ship moneys, within the City of Chester (Written by Mr. Litler) 4 Junij 1638. 119.

That the Lords having order'd him the Money back, which he had payed to the County; he hoped he should not pay this, before he receiued that. And likewise hoped it was not the Lords Meaning that he should pay it to the City there; but here (in the County) where he was assessed. And if his Answere liked us (the City) not, We (the City) might take the Benefit of the Writt, or what other course we thought fitt: for he was a Subject.

102. Original Letter of Sir Thomas Aston to Mr. Litler; dated, 4 June 1638. 121.

Giving his Answer in Writing to the Message or Demand abovementioned; the Substance of it being that he does not disobey the Orders of the Privy Council, but (as far as in him lyes, hath conformed himselfe to them; as he shall make manifest to their Lordships, if they please to call him to any further Answere. As to the Five Markes imposed vpon him by the Mayor of Chester; He says he will not oppose any power given Mr. Mayor by the Writt: but wishes he may take Satisfaction at Chester, according to the Direction of that Writt.

103. Authentic Order of Council, made, (his Majesty being present) 15 July 1638. 141.

Upon the Petition of the Mayor & Citizens of Chester, shewing that Sir Thomas Aston hath not hitherto payed the severall Assesments for Shippe-money charged vpon him, notwithstanding that the same hath bene severall times demaunded, according to three severall Orders formerly made: his Majesty & the Board having considered of the said Complaint, do straightly charge & require the said Sir Thomas, forthwith to pay to the Mayor of Chester the said Assesments, without further Delay, as he will aunswere the contrary at his perill.

104. Copie of Mr. Recorder of Chester's Letter to Mr. Bavand, sans date; concerning a Letter of Attorney to be sent by the City, empowering him & Mr. Walker to receive Sir Thomas Aston's Shipp-money, with Directions how to make the previous Demand upon Sir Thomas (since Mr. Litler had made some blunder in the business) and how to use the said Letter, in case of Sir Thomas's Refusal. 111.

Num. 2093.

105. Original Letter of Sir Thomas Aston, to Mr. Walker, sans date. 125.

He is sorry to have been absent, when Mr. Walker came to shew him the Lords last Order for his Payment of the Money. But hauing seene a Coppy of the Cityes Petition, wheervpon it is grounded (which he finds suitable to the rest of theyr allegations agaynst him, malicious & untrue) and knowing that the Kings Service is not concerned, (his Money being all payd) he has not oppos'd the three Orders, as is falsely suggested. Nor does he deny the legal Power of his Majesties Writt, but wif'd Mr. Mayor to take satisfaction at Chester. And hauing already satisfied the Writt by paying a greater Proportion in another place which cannot be repaid: he must, in this Case putt him selfe vpon the Justice of the Board, & humbly refer him selfe to theyr Lordships Censure.

106. An open Note, without date, written by Sir Thomas Aston to Mr. Walker: desiring him to leaue a Noate of the Date of his Letter of Attorney, and the times of the two Assesments, as expressed in the same; that he might drawe an Acquittance accordingly; and the whole Money should be paid. 125. A.

107. Sir Thomas Astons Draught of the Acquittance above-mentioned, dated 6 August 1638. 152.

By the payment of this Money, amounting to no more than £8: 6: 8. I suppose an end was putt to this tedious & costly difference; concerning which, there being no more Papers in the present Book: I shall proceed to describe what remains, in the order as they succeed one another. Thus, the First which occurs, is 18. The second Randle Holme's Draught of a Letter to Sir George Boothe Bart dat. 3 Nov^r 1656. 20. A.

Sir George was desirous of having the History of his Family drawn up from antient Evidences & other Muniments, in the same manner as divers noble Persons have caused theirs to be done. In Order to this, he caused Mr. Holme to make what Searches he could, and to collect together all the proper materials which occurred. Mr. Holme avers, that by the great Pains he had taken in this tedious business, for two Years together, he can prove Sir George to be descended from about 300 great, noble & antient Famelys, in England, Scotland, Ireland, Spayne, France, & other places. But, having no Learning, he was not able to digest his Notes, into proper & regular Method & Style; and was therefore, much more bent upon receiving his Money, & being discharged.

19. Armes Quartered by Sir George Booth: many of which are impugned by Mr. Holme. 20. B.

A Book in folio, confifting of many Papers, & some Parchment, bound up together, in no order; and, on the back, entituled "Cheshire-Notes & Deeds," by its quondam Master the third Randle Holme. In looking through it, I find.

1. His Account of the Things of most Note; at the beginning, as usual.

2. Particular of the Lands belonging to the Deane & Chapter of Chester, in Saughalle & Shotwick. 1.

3. Original Bond or Bill of Thomas Palyn Vintner, to Rychard Bavand Alderman of Chester, for 12 Pounds. dat. 12 May A. D. 1597. 3.

4. A Note of (Mr. Cotgrave's) Leafes in beinge, Anno 1597. 4.

5. Extract from the Court-book of the Hundred of Broxton, by Richard Holland the Steward there, 17 Januarij, ano 16 R. Eliz. touching a Debt of 28s. 8d. due from Katherine Reade, to Margaret Almbye. 5.

6. Exceptions to the New Commission of Grace, in Ireland; about defective Titles, temp. R. Caroli 1. 6.

7. Nomina Papalium Recusantium: or an authentic Copie of the Presentments of Popish Recusants dwelling within the Hundred of Broxton in Cheshire, for many Years during the Reign of K. James 1. 8.

8. Original Warrant of Sir Thomas Delves Sheriffe of Cheshire, dated 4 February 1636. to the Constables of Bache in the Hundred of Broxton: for levying £1. 2. 5 $\frac{1}{2}$ within their Division, toward the Ship-money. 8. A.

9. Original Articles of Agreement made & concluded vpon between Richard Kellie of London, Gent. and William Felles of Arrowe, Yoman; 10 May 1609. 9.

For a Lease of the Manor-house & Parke, &c. of Bidstone in Wirral, which Kelly held of the Earl of Derby; for which, Felles was to pay Kelly 140l. per annum; and a chief Rent to the said Earle of £38. 5. 8. Felles was bound in a Bond of 1000l. for performance of the Covenants. Here are also two original Instruments of the same Mr. Kelley; by the former, bearing date 12 July 1610. he appoints Thomas Gamull Esq; Recorder of Chester to receive his Rent. And by the other, upon Mr. Records decease, he appoints William Gamull Alderman of Chester, to do the same.

10. Papers relating to the vexatious Affaire of the Lease of Bidstone abovementioned, which William Earle of Derby, & Margaret the old Countesse his Mother, had granted to Lusher. But Sir John Egerton coveting the Premises, did, (at length) by very undue meanes, procure another Lease of the same to himselfe, having promised to procure Lusher's Lease, which he could never effect. 13.

The Lease which Sir John procured, was signed & sealed, but not deliver'd, being by the Earle committed to the Care of Mr. Ireland his Servant, untill Lusher's Lease should be produced, and this of Sir John's amended in certain material Points. But Sir John sueing Ireland for the same, gott it out of his Hands; and stood all tryals at Law (against Christofer Themilthorpe, to whom Lusher lett it; against his Widow & Executrix after his decease; & against Anthony Randle her second Husband, for full eleven years together, and to the impoverishment of the Plaintiffs. And when, at last, after all his Arts used for Delaies, he could hold it no longer:

Num. 2095.

he leased out the same to the Earles of Oxford & Salisbury, who seem to have made no great matter of it, since it was in Kellies hands so soon as A. D. 1609. It seems, that Sir John had attempted to invalidate Lusher's Lease, as not good, for some reasons; the Plaintiffs Counsel therefore observed, among other particulars, that the Lease it self, was under the Countesse & Earles Hands & Seales of Armes: which were enoughe without Witneses. For euery Earle is a Prince, and his Deed a Patent; Teste meipso might suffice.

11. Draught of a Petition to K. Charles 1. from the Gentry, Ministers, & Free-holders of the Countie-Palatine of Chester, and of the Inquefts serueing at the Assizes for the said Countie. 19.

This canting Petition is to perswade his Majesty to lay aside his intended dangerous Voiage to Ireland, and to take a Journey rather to White-hall, and to consult with his Great Council: and, with David, to answer the Petitioners, 'what seemeth you best, that will I doe.'

2098.

A thin Book in folio, written upon Parchment; wherein I find,

1. Fragmentary Notes relating to a Mize laid upon the Lands holden of the Prince of Wales in Denbighshire, as it seemes. 1.
2. The Original Mize-book of the Assesment laid upon Cheshire, about ann. 10 R. Henrici VIII. 3.
- This is written by the same Hand as the former; and may be imperfect at the end.

2099.

A Book in folio, for the most part written by the hand of the second Randle Holme, & by his Son, on the out-side thus entitled, "Deeds & other Writings of severall Familys in Cheshire, &c." In the Description whereof, I shall proceed in the same manner as I have before used with Books of this sort. It contains therefore,

1. Copies of, and Extracts from Records preserved in the Protho-notaries Office in Chester, relating to the Family of Alderley (antiently written Aldredes-lega.) 248.
- Among these, many do likewise relate to the Family of Acton, &c.

Num. 2099.

2. Copies (or Abstracts, at the least) of Deeds in the hands of Francis Aston of Alderley; copied by me Randle Holme, A. D. 1640. 260.

Mr. Holme, generally here, & elsewhere, gives hasty Tricks of the Seals, according as they occurred.

3. A large Deed wherein divers others are recited, & corroborated by the Testimony of a Publick Notary, A. D. 1412. and the Testimonies and Seals of many Cheshire-Gentlemen, concerning Lands & Tenements recovered by Thomas le Grosvenor Knight, from Ranulph le Mainwaringe, &c. with a remarkable Relation of the solemn manner used by Sir Thomas, in presence of the others, of Swearing to the truth, genuineness, & authenticity of the said Deeds, at the Altar in Macclesfield-Church, over the Holy Eucharist, which he also received. 264. b.

This Deed was in Custody of Mr. Dutton of Hatton, A. D. 1649. and then copied by the second Randle Holme.

4. Coppins, or Abstracts of Deeds, in the possession of Mr. Ravenscroft of Bretton; taken by Randle Holme junior, A. D. 1645. 267.

Among others, I find,

5. An Instrument, whereby William Venables Baron of Kinderton, with the Rest of the Burgesses of Middelwyck, made George, William, Humphrey, & Lawrance, the Sons of Rafe Ravenscroft, and their Children lawfully begotten, free Burgesses of the said Borough, dat. 12 July, 1485. 371.

8. Privy Seal of K. James 1. to Thomas Ravenscroft of Bretton Esq; for the Loane of £20. dated the second of March, 1625. ibid.

9. Carta quâ Robertus Senescallus de Monte-alto, concedit Monachis de Basingwerke, in perpetuum Elemosinam, Pasturam per totam Salteneiam; et totam Communem Pasturam de Hawrdin; et ut habeant ibi Falcaturam Scirpi ad cooperturam, quantum necesse habuerint ad cooperiendum domos suas de Lith. et Communitatem nemoris sui de Swerwde, ut habeant ibi de mortuo Bosco, quantum necesse habuerint ad Ignium nutrimenta; et de Viridi, quantum necesse habuerint, ad Edificia, et ad omnia cetera necessaria. 317.

10. Extracts made by Randle Holme, from many old Deeds in his own possession. 319.

Among them, I find mention of

11. A Mandate from Prince Arthur, to the Mayor of Chester, &c. for stopping all Strangers, & other Passengers not known to them, who were going for Ireland; and to keepe them in Custody, without Baile, till further Order. dated at Chester, 21 Novembr. anno 7 Hen. vii. 328.

12. A Writt to the Maior of Chester, requiring him with all the Justices of the Shire, to assemble together, & establish a Watch throughout the Shire, as well within Liberties, as without: and to secure all Vagabonds, and Unthrifts, &c. dat. 9 Dec' anno 27 Hen. viii. ibid.

13. Petition of David Molynton to John Hope Maior of Chester, against Richard Walker his Apprentice: shewing that he had played at Dice for dry Money, contrary to his Command; for which he did bete him & chastice him. For which the Sherifes of the City do trouble him, contrary to Law & Reason: being there is no Law to punish any Man for bating of his Wife or Prentice, &c. Therefore desires that he may not be any longer vexed; but that he may chastice his Apprentice for Mis-governance, &c. ibid.

I find that John Hope was Mayor of Chester many times; viz. anno ultimo R. Henrici v. & annis 1. 4. 5. & 6. Regis Henrici vi.

CAT. HARL. VOL. II.

Num. 2099:

Then follow,

14. Extracts from other Deeds, whose owners are not specified. 329.

Most of these relate to Lands lying within the Lordship of Hawardyn, or places not far distant; to the Hospital of St. John Baptist in Chester, &c. In this Tract I likewise find,

15. A Deed whereby the false Claim of one Thomas Jepson, who called himself Thomas Swetenham, was made manifest, before George Lord Strange. & others of the best Gentry. dat. 15 November, anno 12 Hen. vii. 355.

16. De duobus Messuagijs & diversis parcellis Terre in Gorstlowe in Kynartona, et in Kynarton, que nuper fuerunt Ricardi de Gorstlow de Gorstlowe; et nunc in manibus Hugonis le Maynwaringe. anno 4 Hen. vi. 402.

This was copied by Mr. Holme, A. D. 1648. from a Parchment Roule in custody of Capt. Geo. Dimmock of Chester.

17. His Extracts from Deeds in the custody of Mr. Rauen of Ellworth, A. D. 1651. 403.

18. Copies of four Deeds remaining with Mr. George Lightfoot of Chester. 417.

These Transcripts are said to be misplaced, being putt after pag. 378.

Pounds, fold a Capital Messuage, with certain Lands formerly held by Gye Province in Little Saghall alias Slebghall in Com. Celtr. 502.

49. Release of Edward Brereton of Whicelwicke in Com. Lancast. Gent. (in consideration of £43. 6. 8. paid) by William Brereton of Handforthe in Com. Cestr. Esq; of his Right to any part of the personal Estate of Sir Vrian Brereton, his father, or of Randulphe his brother, both deceased. dat. 8 January, anno 26 Elizabethæ Reginæ. 503.

50. Mr. Robert Tatton's Proofs, that the Wood called Kings-wood, is parcel of the Lands of Gye Province, in Little Salghall. 504.

This is followed by Copies of divers other Writings, relating to the said Wood.

51. Considerations moveinge the Queenes Tenants of Crabball, beinge three in Number, & of the antient yearly Rent of 40 pounds; rateably, as other Tenants of Great Saghall & Little Saghall, to haue their parte & portion of Common & other Wast Ground, now intended to be inclosed, lying to the said Townes seuerally. 509.

52. Rental of Tatton's Lands in Salghall, as it seemes; with some other Writings relating to that place. 510.

53. Abstracts of Deeds given to Sir William Brereton, A. D. 1656. 513.

55. Original Letter of Isaac Antrobus & Richard Towerfon, to John Bridgeman Bishop of Chester; dated 14 December 1629. concerning new Trustees to the Schoole of St. Bees in Cumberland; with regard to which they desire that the Provost and Fellows of Queens College in Oxford might be consulted. 518.

They say that they perceive his Lordship (vpon some privat mans Information) had appointed three Husbandmen to be Governors (or Trustees) of the said Schole: one of whome was a servile Fellowe, and a Sheriffs Baliffe.

56. A Fragment written by an older Hand; containing undigested Collections & observations, relating to our antient Earls of Chester, and other Nobles. 522.

57. A Note of the Lands belonging to the Free-Schole of Macclesfeld. 532.

58. Sir Peter Leicester's opinion (delivered in his Book. fol. 37. a.) concerning Amicia, daughter of Hugh de Cyvelioc. 533.

Namely, that she being illegitimate, could not be a Coheir: and consequently, that Sir Randle Mainwaring (Sir Peters own Grandfather by the Mothers side) had no right to quarter the Armes of the old Earls of Chester, although this Amicia was married to his Ancestor, and Sir Randle descended from her.

59. Answer of Sir Thomas Mainwaring to Sir Peter Leicester. ibid.

Here Sir Thomas is pretty warm; and proves that since what Hugh Kevelioc gave with this Amicia to Ranulph Mainwaring, was giuen in freemarriage (in libero Matrimonio) it certainly proves that Amicia was lawful: because a Bastard is not capable to receive any thing that way: with other Arguments: most of which are as strong for Geva the Daughter of Hugh Lupus: whom Sir Thomas owns to be illegitimately begotten, & whose Cause Sir Simond Dewes defends. vid (38. C. 8. fol. 30.)

60. Index Virorum: or an Alphabetical Table referring to the several Persons Names mentioned in this Book. 537.

61. Index Locorum: an Alphabetical Table of the Names of Places. 551.

ber, anno Regni 19; about the partition of an Estate in Little Mancott, within the County of Flint; with the Inquisition taken thereupon. 561.

2100.

An Heraldical Book in folio, on the outside, by the third Randle Holme, thus entituled, "Pedegrees of several Families, with the Quartered Coates." It is rather a Rhapsody of Heraldical matters, mangled & in bad condition, for the greatest part, done by several persons; and of which I think no more need be said than this that follows,

1. Pedegree of the Royal Family of England, deduced from Adam to K. James 1. by some Welshman perhaps. 1. b.

Intermixed with this, I find,

2. The Pedegree & Armes, with Quarterings of Langford, as I take it; by the second Randle Holme. 6. A.

3. Divers Welsh Pedegrees, sett down by the same, and elsewhere in this book. 7. A.

4. Quarterings & Crests of Salusbury; as painted on the Waincot in the perlar, at Mr. Salusbury's of Ruge in Comitatu Merioneth. 7.

5. Pedegrees of Eyton. (vid. Armes of Eaton of Eaton, with 142 Quarterings, said to be too few by 20. fol. 12. C.) 8. A.

6. Pedegree of Edwyn. 10. A.

7. Pedegree of Coll. Robert Soutly, who died 5 Sept. 1653. 13. A.

8. Descent of Heaton of Heaton in Lleveny. 13. b.

9. Pedegree of John Broughton, made by the second Randle Holme, A. D. 1651. 15.

10. Pedegree of Mr. Hugh Nanny of Merioneth Shire made by the same. 17.

11. Armes Quarterable by Gerard; collected for the Lord Gerard's sister by the same. A. D. 1636. 19. A. Then follows,

12. The Genealogie or Pedegree of the honorable Charles Worsley, Major-Generall, &c. to Oliver Cromwell; collected, as well out of the antient Family of the Worsleys of Worsley, in the County Palatine of Lancaster, as out of other authentic Records & Collections of diuers Pedegrees of noble & worshipfull Howses in several Countyes; and continued: by the same Randle Holme. (with this I find.) 32.

13. Pedegree &c. of Legh of East-hall. 32. b.

14. Pedegree & Quarterings of Rowland Hill of Soutlon Esq; & of Rowland Hill of Hawkestone Gent. transcribed or collected by John Salusbury de Gebystock A. D. 1667. for Mr. Holme. loofe. 35. A.

Mr. Salusbury says that he transcribed this Descent out of the Bookes of Owen Salusbury of Rüg Esq; Robert Davyes of Gwyfaney Esq; Peter Ellis of Wrexham, Arthur Kynaston of Sant Gent. & George Owen Harries booke of the Genealogie of K. James in Print, a° 1604. and out of the Books and Collections of the ancient Welsh Bards.

15. Pedegree & Quarterings of Mr. John Lee of Lee; by the said Randle Holme. 40. b.

Worsleys Pedegree is followed by 16. The Pedegree of Härbert, Wynne, & Vaughan of Lloddyard: by another hand. 46.

17. Pedegree of Piers Davies of Chester Linen-draper; truly collected, gathered & sett downe according to the ancient Records of Wales, and the bookes of the best approved Authors of the Britishe Genealogies, by Evan Lloyd of Paley in the Com. of Merioneth, Gent. alias, Evan Lloyd Jeffrey, A. D. 1634. 58.

It seems very hard that so many Crowns, Coronets, royal & noble Names as adorn this true Pedegree (fortho!) at the beginning, should dwindle into a Linen-Draper in the end.

Num. 2100, 2101.

18. Pedegree of James Phillips of London, with the Armes. 68.

This is of the same honest Randle's drawing up, and is thus subscribed by him, "This Pedegree was collected out of antient Records & warrantable Authores by Randle Holme of the City of Chester Esquire, Deputy to the Office of Armes, anno 1633. June 28."

19. The third Randle Holmes Alphabetical Table of the Pedegrees extant in this book: at the end.

A book in folio, consisting of many single Papers, with some Parchments and particular Tracts, bound up together by the third Randle Holme; and, by him (on the outside) thus entituled, "Deeds of Abbey's & Priory's," &c. of which I shall give the following brief Account.

1. The said Mr. Holmes List of the Things of most note in this book. At the beginning.

2. The Answer of William Bennet & Sibill his Wife, to the Complaint of Sir William Brereton Baronet, in a Plea of Trespass. 164.

The occasion of the Suit was this; Sir William being no Free-man of Chester sends two Sacks of Oats to sell in the Corn-market there; from which Bennet & his Wife (being the City-Officer) took two Quarts, as a Toll.

3. Sir William Brereton's reply: shewing that those Oats grew in a certain close called Le Jeoffreys Halke which formerly belonged to the Nuns of Chester; and being, in their time, Toll-free throughout England, was not then liable to any Toll at all. 164.

These two Pleadings are loofe.

4. A state of the Revenue of St. John's Hospital in Chester; and, in part, how to be applied. 170.

5. Letter of the Magistrates of Chester to Robert Johnes, Master of the said Hospital; requiring that he should sustain 13 poor Men there, all of their Community; without admitting of any Strangers. ibid.

6. Mr. Johnes's Answer: shewing that the Hospital was not able to maintain 13 poor men; but if it was so, that the Inhabitants of Chester had a right to a preference there; it should be so for the future. 170. b.

7. Notes touching Lands, &c. parcels of the Possessions of several Monasteries, granted to Sir Christopher Hatton Knight, anno 28 R. Elizabethæ. 171.

8. Note about the Grant of the old Shire Hall in Chester, to George Ireland; 25 May, anno 25 R. Elizabethæ. ibid.

9. Part of the Grant of the Rectory & Church of St. John Baptist in Chester, to Alexander King, for 21 years; he paying the annual Rent of 53s. 4d. and allowing £13. 6. 8. annually to the Vicar. 171. b.

10. Mr. Recorder Whitbie's Draught of a Petition to K. Charles 1. for Mr. Thomas Powel, who had a right to a Ferry over the River Mersey, from the Priory of Birkenhead to the Town of Liverpool; wherein he was interrupted by Edward Nicholson & William Jematte. 172.

11. Mr. Recorder Whitbie's Draught of a Certificate to the King; concerning the said Ferry. 173.

12. Original Letter from Mr. John Ratclyffe Maior of Chester, to Sir William Brereton Baronet, dated the 28th of October 1628. 174.

This is about a Suit which Sir William had commenced against the City (contrary to his promise) in the Court of Wards; upon their distraining for Murage, at the Nunnery in Chester.

13. Mr. Recorder Whitbie's Copie of the Depositions taken in that Cause. 175.

14. Extracts from divers Charters, & Royal Patents, touching the Foundation & Privileges of St. Mary's Nunnery in Chester. 117. 180. 188. 193.

15. That the Kings of England, after the Conquest, exercised no Dominion within the County-Palatine of Chester,

Num. 2101.

Chester, untill the Death of Johannes de Scotia, the last of the old Earls. 179.

This was taken out of an ould Vellom-booke of John Goulborne of Goulborne, A. D. 1610. and transcribed by the second Randle Holme.

16. The Gabull-Rents which the Sheriffs be charged with; vewed & set forth in the first Maioralty of Henry Gee, A. D. 1533. 186.

17. Copy of a Lease, whereby Margery Pafmyche Priorefs of the Nuns of Chester, dimised to Thomas Croghton, one Mesuage in Chester, for 70 years; at the annual Rent of 20 Shillings. dat. 10 December anno 16 Regis Henrici viii. 192.

18. Extract from a Deed of Sale of an house in Bridgestreet, formerly belonging to the Nuns of Chester, by John Poole & his Sons, to Mr. Edmund Gamull: 26 May, anno 33 Elizabethæ Reginae. 196.

19. Abstract of a Deed, whereby Agnes de Dutton Priorefs of the Nuns of Chester, lett to perpetual Fee-Firme a Place of Land in Bridgestreet. dat. in vigilia S. Cedde, anno 48 R. Edwardi iii. 196. b.

20. Mr. William Noyes Opinion, that Sir William Brereton's holding the Scite of the Nunnery of Chester, did not discharge him of Murage, when levied by the City. 198.

21. Writt of K. Charles i. to the Maior & Citizens of Chester, commanding them not to vex or molest the Hospital of St. Giles without the East Barres of their said City, upon the account of Murage, Pannage, or Pontage. Teste, &c. 9 Septembris, anno Regni 5. 200.

22. Confirmatio Gregorij Papæ ix. facta Monachis Cestrensis, super Appropriatione Ecclesiarum de Prestbury, de Bruera, de Nelson, de Eastham, de Bunnbrough & de Kirkby. 202.

23. De Donatione Ecclesiarum de Bruera & de Pulford, Monasterio S. Werburgæ. 203.

24. Deeds relating to the Suit between the Abbat of Dieulacres & William de Ipstones, upon the claim made by the said Abbat of Right of Common in the Pasture of Ipstones. temp. R. Henrici iii. 204.

25. Writt of Prince Edward as Earl of Chester, commanding the Maior & Shireves there to apprehend & commit to Gaol, Ralf Etone, for his bad abearing toward Master William Thomas Clerc & Warden of St. John Baptists Hospital in Chester. Teste, &c. 18 Julij, anno 17 R. Edwardi v. 205. b.

26. Notes relating to certain Religious Houses, taken from some of Mr. Roger Dodsworth's Writings. 205. c.

27. Notes touching certain Privileges granted to the Priory of Byrkenhed. 208.

28. A blank Letter of Confraternity, under the Hand & Seal of Antonius a Mutina General of the Capuchines. printed. 210.

29. Copie of the Letters Patents of K. Henry viii. whereby he dissolved the Priory of Canons of the Order of St. Victor, observing the Rule of St. Augustin, scituate near the Cathedral Church of Dublin; and refounded the Prior and Canons thereof into the Dean & Chapter of the said Cathedral. Teste, &c. 10 die Maij, anno Regni 33. 211.

30. The seuerall Debts of such Tenants as pay Rents vnto the Deane of Christ-Church, in Dublin; and which are due vnto the Honorable Sir George Radcliffe Kt. by vertue of a Sequestration of the said Deane, from the right Honorable the Lord-Deputie & Councill. 213.

This is signed by Henry, Bishop of Elphin: and seems to be wholly of his Hand-writing.

31. A Lease of the Tithes-Corne of Berneton, made 12 June anno 3 Edwardi vi. to John-Basnett by Peter Shakerley Esquier, for 36 years; at the annual Rent of £2:6:8. 218.

It seems that the Deane & Chapter of the Cathedrall Church of Crifte in Oxford had sett to the said Peter and one Bryan Trauers the Rectorie & Personage of

Num. 2101.

Budworthe, with the Chappell of Witton & Pever, for 40 years (to commence after the Expiration of the said Lease which the Dean, &c. had granted to one George Cotton Esqr; at the annual Rent of £82:2:8.

32. Apographum Recordi; viz. Cartæ, qua Johannes Rex confirmavit Abbatie S. Marie de Magio in Hibernia, omnes Terras et Tenementa, quæ de dono Antecessorum suorum, vel illorum qui post Adventum ipsius in Hiberniam illis benefecerant: tam de dono Regum vel Principum Hibernensium, quam Francorum, unde Munimentum vel Warrantum habeant. dat. 1 die Novembris, anno Regni, 2. 220.

33. Rentale cert. parcell. Terrarum & Possessionum nuper Hospitalis S. Johannis Baptiste extra Novam Portam Civitatis Dublin. confectum, A. D. 1583. 225.

This is written upon Parchment & is authentic. At the bottom, is a Warrant signed by the then Lords Justices in the behalfe of Thomas Coppinger of Youghall, to whom Q. Elizabeth, (in consideration of his greates Losses) was willing to grant an Estate of Fee-farme in so much of her Lands in Ireland, as would amount to the annual Rent of £14:2:0.

34. Carta, quæ Robertus de Ferrarijs Comes de Nottingham concedit Ecclesiam S. Mariæ et S. Hardulfi de Bredona, Ecclesiæ S. Oswaldi de Nostla. 227.

35. Confirmatio Cartæ prædictæ, per Hugonem de Ferrarijs Roberti filium. ibid.

36. Carta Hælberti de Laceio qua confirmat Fundationem cum Dotatione Canonorum S. Clementis in Castro de Ponte fracto. 228.

37. Abstract of a Charter, whereby Robert de-Lacy gave the Towne of Nether-Sutton, to Gilbert the Hermit of St. James of Notall, and to his ten Brethren there serving God. 228. b.

38. The Confirmation of Robert de Lacy, of Bernoldeswick, & many other things to the Monastery of Kirkstall. ibid.

This Deed was in the keeping of Richard Hartley of Bernoldeswick-Coates, A. D. 1655.

39. Abstract of a Charter, whereby Robert Lacy of Pomfret, gave Lands in Killinghall to the Abbey of Kirkstall. 229.

This was taken from Ralf Broke's Discovery.

40. An Agreement between John Lacy Constable of Chester & the Deane of St. Peters of Yorke; for Common of Pasture in Brotherton. dat. 9 Julij, A. D. 1339. 230.

This was in a Coucher-booke of Edmund Bunny's of Newland near Wakefield, Esq;

Then follow,

41. Abstracts or Copies of divers Original Charters made by the Lacies, & others touching the Churches of Whalley, Edesford, St. John of Jerusalem, St. John of Pontefract, Nostell, Kirkstall, &c. taken by the second Randle Holme, who also wrote those above rehearsed. 230. b.

42. Collectiones quædam ex Registris Testamentorum in Officio Registrarij Curie Prærogativæ, Londini, 238.

These seem to have been taken from some of Mr. Roger Dodsworth's Collections.

43. Abstracts of several old Deeds, owned to have been taken from Mr. Dodsworth's Book. 240.

These relate to divers noble & antient Families; as also to the Churches or Monasteries of Quarrera, St. John of Bedford, Sibetune, Alba landa, &c.

44. Ex Registro Prioratus de Blithe in Com. Nottingham. 245.

45. Ex Cartis Roberti Lisle de Gosford & Felton in Com. Northumbr. A. D. 1586. ibid.

46. Ex Cartis antiquis Richardi Malyuerer de Allerton in Com. Ebor. Militis, A. D. 1584. 249.

Amongst other Religious Houses, these principally concern that of Motesfont in Hampshire: and the Extracts from Mr. Dodsworth's Collections seem not to end, before.

Then follow, in the Rere.

47. Index Virorum. 468.
48. Index Locorum. At the end.

2102.

A Book in folio consisting of a parcel of single & independent papers, bound up together by the third Randle Holme, and by him entitled on the back, or outside, "Bills & Bonds sued in the Courts within Chester; with other Writings." In describing of which, I shall take this short Course: as particularly observing in the whole Collection, only

1. The said Mr. Holmes account of the Things of most Note in this Book. At the beginning.

2. The Collection of Bills & Bonds above-mentioned; which containing mostly Transactions of private Families, I might pass over in the General; I shall nevertheless take notice of

3. The Bond of Robert Prichard Prebendary of Worcester, of £40. made to the Deane & Chapter of Chester, the 6th of October 1625. 431.

This was in the behalf of Thomas ap William Thomas his Nephew, who had a Grant of an Almes-mans Place in the Cathedral of Chester, into which one Raphe Holland had gotten by virtue of a former Grant. It was therefore agreed, that Holland should keep the Place, & the other be allowed an annual Pension of 5 Marks, untill a Vacancy should happen.

4. Abell Brearley's Bond of £100. to John Bridgeman Bishop of Chester, dated 19 June 1629. 433.

This was for the Solemnization of a Marriage between James Meale & Elizabeth Holland, in the face of the Church of Rachdele, or Millrowe-Chapell. Divers other Bonds of this kind I pass over.

5. The Bond of Phillip o Reilly of Cluneany in the County of Cavan Esq; & Kathrin Rely alias mac Muhon Widow, to Rannald Earl of Antrim, for payment of £60. dat. 23 July 1634. 438.

Hereunto the Gentlewoman putt down part of her Name [catrina Ma] in handsome Irish, Characters.

6. Petition of John Waddinge Clerke, to the Howfe of Commons in Ireland, against John Kinge Clerke, a Member of the Convocation: about A. D. 1640. 471.

7. Receipt for £300: 16: 8: paid by the Maior & Citizens of Chester, to certain Merchants of Galway in Ireland, for 28 Tonns & one Hoghead of Sack & Hullocke, and 5 Hogheads of Aqua Vitæ, 15 May 1582. 478.

8. A Coppy of that Draught of a factious Petition to the House of Commons, which was delivered to me March 18 . . . by my Brother Hue Wilbraham, from divers great Ones. 544.

It is in the Name of Knights & Gent. of the County-Palatine of Chester; and acknowledges the great benefits flowing from that House, & desiring the Continuance thereof, with their speedie calling a Synod; the Changing their Countie-Court-Daie, for the better Observance of the Lords day; the erecting a Fort att Helbree; the providing Money & Ammunition at Chester, before any Souldiers be sent into their Countrey to be billeted; the inabling the Justices for punishment of insolent & disorderly Souldiers, and authorising the Justices & such of Quality as they should call to them, for Assessing fitt & moderate Rates for Provision of Horfe & Foot; the taking away the Votes of Popish Lords in Parliament; and the suffering noe Recufant to beare Office in the Common wealth.

9. An Agreement between Thomas Lawton Esquior Recorder of Chester, & Mr. Robert Whitbie Clerke of the Pentice there, about certain Fees claimed by each of them, as incident to his Office, dat. the 27th of November, anno 2 R. Jacobi 1. 553.

10. Bond of Thomas Leycester of Toft Yomon in £200. made to Sir Richard Wilbraham Sheriffe of Chester. CAT. HARL. VOL. II.

Num. 2102, 2103.

The Number of Papers in this Volume is great, yet I take their Importance not to be considerable: however, many original Hands may be, from hence, observed.

2103.

A Book in folio, consisting of a parcel of single Tracts & loose Papers, bound up together by the third Randle Holme; and, by him, on the out-side, thus entitled, "Church-matters; as Tythes, Mortuaries, with several Things concerninge many Churches, & Parish Businesse:" Among which, I observe

1. The said Randle Holme's Catalogue of the Things of most Note in this Book, taken A. D. 1669. At the beginning.

2. Order of the Lord Treasurer Burghley, the Earle of Leycester, &c. authorised by her Majesty to heare & determine all Causes & Controversies growing vpon the Validity & Invalidity of the Dotation & grant made by K. Henry VIII. to the Deane & Chapter of Chester, 7 Aprilis, anno 21 R. Elizabethæ. 1.

3. Complaint of the Maior & Citizens of Chester, against the Misdemeanors committed by the Dean of Chester & his Servants; and especially upon occasion of certain Expressions used by Mr. Deane, in a Sermon preached in the Cathedral Church of Chester. 5.

This Deane of Chester, perhaps, was Mr. Thomas Mallorie.

4. Other Notes taken from the same Sermon, which 6 H Mr.

Num. 2103.

Mr. Deane preached the Sunday before the Election of (Mr. William Aldersey) the new Maior A. D. 1612. 6.

5. Notes taken from the Sermon preached by the Lord Bishop of Chester (Dr. George Lloyd) the Sunday after the Election aforesaid. 6. b.

6. Letter of the Maior (Mr. Aldersey) and of the principal Citizens of Chester, perhaps to William Stanley then Earle of Derby; principally against Mr. Deane; & desiring that both he & Mr. Robert Whitbie (the late Maior) might be called to appeare before him, and the Cause examined; and if it should appeare that Mr. Whitbie had demeaned himselfe in his Government as a good & carefull Magistrate ought to have done; that both he & the Cittie might be cleared & acquitted of the vile, slanderouse, & vntrue Aspersions laid vpon him & their Government; and some Course taken for his clearinge in his Reputation & Credit, &c. 9.

7. Mr. Whitbies Observations made upon the same Bishop of Chester's Sermon preached at the Funeral of Mr. Thomas Gamul late Recorder of Chester, and after the Election of his Son Mr. Edward Whitbie, to be Recorder in his Place, whom his Lordship opposing, in the behalf of another, did thereby give Occasion to these Broils. 10.

8. The Case between St. Hugh Beeston Knight Plaintiffe, & Peeter Daniell, Esq; Defendant. 11.

About Abbots-Cotton, which John Bird Bishop of Chester lett for 89 years; and so was lett from one to another, till the Church received little benefit from it.

9. Original Receipt of John Bridgeman Bishop of Chester, for 13s. 4d. paid by the Incumbent of the Rectory of St. Peter, for his Tenths due to the Kings Majestie. dat. 17 January 1625. 14. b.

10. The State of the Case, deliuered to the Lord Saueage concerning the Difference twixt the Church & Cittie of Chester. 15.

This is of the very bad Hand of Mr. Recorder Whitby.

Num. 2104.

Barbar, to Sir John Savage Kt. Maior of Chester, & his Brethren; exhibited A. D. 1570. 338.

Complaining of the vexatious & malicious behaviour, of some others of the same Occupation towards him.

28. Mr. Recorder Whitbys Notes, concerning the Customs of sundry Companies in Chester; applicable to Birchleys Cafe. 340.

29. His Brief which he used in that Cause. 342.

30. His Draught of a Letter from the Mayor & Aldermen of Chester, to the Princes Counsell, concerning the Writt of Restoration brought by Birchley. 344.

31. Copie of a Letter sent by Mr. Recorder Whitby, &c. to the Judges who tried Birchleys Causes at the Assizes; shewing that the Magistrates of Chester had stayed the Writt for his Restoration; because the said Byrchley being first an Imbroderer, could not (contrary to the Custome of the City) vse the Trade of an Haberdasher of small Wares. 346. vid. infra. 356.

32. Original Letter of Mr. Peter Drink-water, to Mr. Recorder Whitby, about this Business concerning Birchley; and desiring him to move the Judges in such manner, as that their Order might be for readmitting Birchley only to the Freedom of the City in General: & to leave him to get into any Company there, as he should be able. 348.

33. Mr. Recorder Whitbys Draught of a Letter from the Maior & Citizens of Chester, to the Lords of the Kings Privy Councill, concerning Byrchley. 350.

34. His Draught of an Order of the Assembly of Chester-Magistrates, for restraining Thomas Byrchley from using or exercising any Trade or Occupation, within that City. 352.

35. His Draught of an Order of the Assembly, for the Restoration of Tho. Byrchley to the Freedome of that City. 354.

36. Copie of a Letter from Sir James Whitlocke & Sir Marmaduke Lloyd (being the Judges abovementioned at N^o. 31.) to Mr. Recorder Whitby; declaring their meaning to be that Byrchley should be restored to the Freedome of the City only; and that his Doores & Windows might be opened; but that if then he should Use any other Trade then what he might doe, by the Custome of Chester, they might take their Course against him, in a lawfull manner. dated from Ludlowe-Castle, 24 Januarie 1622. 358.

37. Copie of Mr. Hugh Davenport's Letter to Mr. Dod of Edge, dat. 19 Febr. 1614. 360.

About expediting the Exemplification of an Order out of the Court of Exchequer, sealed with the Seal of the County-Palatine of Chester; in behalf of the Company of Ironmongers in Chester.

38. Copie of Mr. Edward Dod's Answer to Mr. Davenports Letter. dat. 19 February 1614. 362.

Declaring that he could not assent to any such Exemplification as was desired without the Earl of Derby the Chamberlayne's Order; nor did he ever knowe any meane Order (the Suite dependinge) to be exemplified; it being in his Opinion a thing most unfitting.

39. Order of the Assembly of Magistrates holden in the Inner Pentice of Chester, 3 July anno 10 R. Jacobi 1. for dis-franchising Thomas Byrchley Vphoulster, for intruding himselfe into the Companies of Mercers & Ironmongers. 364.

40. Petition of Thomas Berchley to the Aldermen & Stewards of the Company of Paynters, Glaziers, Ymbroderers, & Stationers of Chester. Praying to be admitted into their Company, he purposing to take to wife Anne Dewsbury Widow, whose husband had been free of the same. 366.

41. Mr. Recorder Whitbys Notes & Collections from the Statutes, &c. concerninge Holydays, Fishe dayes, & killinge & eatinge of Flethe in Lent, or vpon Fith-dayes. 368.

Num. 2104.

The second Randle Holme hath observed that this little Tract is usefull for the City, & Company of Fishmongers.

42. His Notes & Observations concerning the Duke of Lenox's Patent for the Subsidie & Aulnage of Clothes; and about Novel Draperies. 373.

43. Proposal of George Wolridge about retailing Hufwife's cloth, so called, & Knitt Hofs, in Chester. 380.

44. Mr. Recorder Whitbys Notes in the Cause of Mr. Wolridge against Tho. Ankers & Anne Houghe. 381.

45. A Bill whereby George Wolridge & Thomas Walker Deputy Aulnagers to Francis Duchefs Dowager of Richmond & Lenox, craved the ayde & assistance of the Magistrates of Chester, in the Execution of their Offices. dated, 14 August 1626. 383.

46. Depositions of many Bakers of Chester, taken 28 April 1643, against Mr. Edward Russell; who drew them in, upon strong Promises of quick Payment, to bake much Bread & Biscuit for the Kings Store-house there; but payed them not. 384.

47. Petition of the Company of Bakers, to Prince Maurice, against the said Mr. Russell, who had resigned his Commissary-ship, & left them in the lurch; even denying to pay them, although he had sufficient Effects of the Kings in his Hands. 383.

Underneath is a Copie of an Order from the Prince to the Maior of Chester, & to Sir Francis Gamul Governor of that Citie, to call the said Russell before them, & to take in his Accompts, &c. dat. 11 March 1644.

48. Draught of the Answer of Edward Russell late Generall Commissary of his Majesties Army, to the Bakers Petition, preferring to Prince Maurice his Highnes. 390.

49. Draught of a Petition from Edward Russell, to John Lord Byron, Baron of Ratchdale, Commander in Chief of his Majesties Army, & Governour of this City of Chester. 391.

In both these, Mr. Russell asserts his Innocence; desiring that his Cafe might be enquired into, that his Reputation might not be unjustly prejudiced; and others of the Kings Officers discouraged.

50. Original Bond of Richard Elliston, and of his Surety Sir Thomas Baugh, of £100. to the Stewards of the Felt-makers Company in Chester, dated the 6 of November 1632. 392.

Hereby Elliston was obliged (during the Tyme he should be disabled, for not serving 7 years to that Trade) to abstain from exercising the said Crafte, or sett anie Person on Worke, or take anie Apprentice.

51. Original Petition of the Aldermen, Stewards, & Company of Felt-Makers in Chester, to Sir Thomas Ireland, Vice-Chamberlayne of the Countie-Palatine: shewing, that a young Apprentice passing by an ancient Master of the Companie, did not move his Hatt or Cap; which Absurdity the other corrected, by giving him a Box on the Ear. That thereupon, Mr. Harpur an Attorney (against the Consent of the Boys Master) caused the striker to be bound to the Peace with four Sureties, to answer the same at the next Assises: which proceeding would cause great confusion in the City, & make their Apprentices little to regard them. 395. b.

This was referred to the Determination of Mr. Recorder, the 19 July 1622: as beinge a Cittie-Matter, and fitter for Reformation there.

52. A Draught of a Letter for the Felt-makers movinge for Moneys to be employ'd in their Trade. 396.

53. Deposition of John Poole, taken by Mr. Recorder Whitby, touching the occasion of his striking Bradbourne the young sawcy Apprentice abovementioned. 397.

54. A Copie of the aforesaid Deposition, dated the 13 September 1622. with Mr. Recorders Account (dated 17 Sept.

Num. 2104.

17 Sept. 1622) of his hearing both parties & reconciling them; Poole paying his own Charges. 399.

55. Bradbourne's Examination, (taken for the most part) by Mr. Recorder Whitby, 16 September 1622. 400.

Here Bradbourne gives a good account of himself, and Poole appears to have been too peevish.

56. Original Warrant of Robert Sproston Maior of Chester, to the Constables of St. John's Ward, 1 March 1638. 402.

This was for bringing before them all In-houlders, Cookes, Tauerners, Butchers, Ale-house-keepers, Tipplers, & other Victuallers, within that Ward, to enter into Recognizance, for the performance of his Majesties Proclamation for the punctual Observation of Lent, & other Fasting Days.

57. Complaint of the Inholders & Coocks of Chester to the Maior & the other Magistrates there, temp. R. Eliz. 403.

These Men were Brewers & Retailers of Beer & Ale, & prayed, that their Fines might be mitigated for their not selling their best Drink at an Half Penny a Quart; which they could not afford to do, by reason of the Dearness of Malt.

58. Copie of a Letter from the Lords of the Privy Council, to the Maior, &c. of Chester. dat. 3 February 1636. 405.

Declaring his Majesties Pleasure for reducing the Number of Maulsters in every County, & incorporating the most able of them: and requiring them to certifie to their Board, the Names of such, within their City & Liberties, as are desirous to bee conformable, & to Live vnder Gouvernme: t. 405.

59. Articles to bee propounded to Malsters in the County Pallantyne of Chester. 407.

These Articles were sent by the Lords, with their several Letters to each County.

60. Copie of a Letter from William Edwards Maior of Chester, to Sir William Beecher Kt. & Captain James Duppa (who, perhaps, were Clerks of the Privy Council) dat. 409. (vid. 417. & 419.)

Declaring what had been done in Chester, pursuant to the Lords Letter; and that the Brewers there being already incorporated by his Majesty, they conceived themselves not to be meant therein.

61. Copie of a Letter from Sir William Beecher, Jo. Hore, & James Duppa, Commissioners for compounding with meet Persons, to use severallye the Trades of Common Maulsters & Brewers in fitt Places of the Realme, to the Maior of Chester, &c. dat. 24 Febr. 1636. 411.

Desiring them to recommend such honest & able Persons of Maulsters & Brewers, as had no other Trade.

62. Draught of the Certificate from the Maior & Aldermen of Chester, to William Earle of Derby, about the Brewers, who had, without the Knowledge of the Corporation, procured to themselves a Charter of Incorporation, with a Clause of Restraint, that none but of that Companie should brew Beere or Ale to sell there; which, if observed, would ruin most of their Inholders & Alehouse-keepers, who had used Brewing, time out of mind. 413.

63. Copie of the Certificate of the Beere-Brewers to the Kings Majestie, 4 September 1629. 415.

This is in the Name of the Maior & Citizens of Chester, who knew nothing of the matter; and is that complained of as clandestine and untrue, in the Article last above written.

64. Petition of the Companie of Beere-brewers of Chester, to the Maior, Aldermen, & Common Council there. 421.

Praying to be incorporated, under the common Seale of the City: which was done accordingly.

65. Original Letter of Mr. Thomas Bauand to Mr. Recorder Whitby; dated 21 December 1634. 423.

Num. 2104.

Partly about his own private Affairs; and partly about those of the City of Chester; he being a Lawyer employ'd in the Affair about the Beer-brewers Patent, and other City-matters. He likewise takes notice of the method used in London for asselting the Ship-money; & wishes the same were putt in practise in Chester.

66. Copie of a Letter from the Lords of the Privy Council, to the Earle of Derby, & Judges of Assize at Chester: dat. the last of January 1635. 425.

Upon the Brewers Information against 300 Inkeepers & Victuallers who brewed Beer & Ale to sell. Requiring to take into their serious Consideration, the Acts of Common Council at Chester, the Letters Patents procured by the Brewers, and the Allegations of the said Brewers and of the City; and also to hear what further could be materially urged by either Partie; and to certifie the Result of all to their Board.

67. Part of Mr. Carickes Letter to Mr. Worsley; (Walley?) dated from Ludlow, 5 March 1635. 427.

This is of Mr. Recorder Whitbys dis-agreable Hand; and relates (as do several of the following Papers) to the Affair then litigated between the Chester-Brewers, on the one side, & the Inholders & Victuallers on the other.

68. Allegations against the Patent, obtained by the said Brewers: by the same Hand. ibid.

69. Mr. Recorder Whitbys Notes, or Breif, relating to the Cause in Suit between the said Chester Brewers, and the Inkeepers, Victuallers. & Ale-house-keepers. 429.

70. Copie of the Charter of Incorporations granted to the Company of Bere-brewers, in this City of Chester, by Phillip Phillip, then Maior, &c. dat. 9 March 1606. 433.

71. The Bakers Oath. 435. b.

72. The Butchers Oath. ibid.

73. Copie of an Order of Assembly in Chester, made the 12th of October. anno 6 R. Edwardi vi. 436.

By this, the Chester-Brewers were obliged to sell their best Beere at the rate of 4 Shillings the Barrel, holding 36 Gallons.

74. Certificate to the Lords of the Privy-Council, from the Earl of Derby & the Justices of Assize, dated at Chester, the 18th of April 1636. 438.

This is in pursuance of that mentioned above, at No. 66. and certifieth that they conceived it fitt that a great Number of Inns should be allowed there, the Keepers whereof might have Libertie to brewe Beere & Ale for their Guests. And that the rest of the Inns & Ale-houses should not brew, but take their Drink of the Brewers.

75. Copie of an Order made by the Lords of the Privy Council; dated 5 August 1635. 440.

This is in behalf of the Brewers; and directing the Chamberlayne of Chester to chafise, by Imprisonment or otherwise, those who should presume to contravene the Patent of Incorporation, which the same Brewers had lately obtained.

76. A Brief in the Suit between the Brewers of Chester; & the Maior & Sword-bearer; Febr. 1634. 442.

It seems that the Defendants caused the Brewers to pay sundry Sums of Money in the Name of Coldish? or Marygallon? out of every brewing; and what other Sum they pleased for driving Carres through Streets, loaden with Beer.

77. Copie of a Letter from the Earl of Derby Chamberlayne of Chester to the Lords of the Privy Council. 444.

Shewing that the Brewers had obtained their Incorporation-Patent vpon vntrue Grounds; and without the Knowledge or Privitie of the Maior or his Brethren. And that it was conceived to tend much to the prejudice of the Cittie, especiallie to the poorer sorte, which are not able to subsiste, nor to maintayne their Families if they be restrained from brewinge.

Num. 2104.

78. Subscription of Monye granted by the Companye of the Yron-monggers; to be payd by them weeklye; towards the makinge vp agayne of the Haven: the thred daye of Aprell A. D. 1571. 446.

79. Petycion of the Companye of Mercers & Iremonggers, to Sir Randle Mainwaring Kt. Maior of Chester, &c. 447.

This is for disfranchising of Thomas Birchley, who had intruded himselfe into their Trade, and refused to be ordered.

80. Another Petition of the same Company, to the same Maior, & to all the Corporation of Chester. 448.

Against the same Thomas Birchley the Embroiderer; praying that he might be restrained from following their Trades, and be obliged to keep to his own.

81. Notes touching Orders made about Retaylers, within this Cittie of Chester. 450.

These are for the most part of Mr. Recorder Whitbys Hand.

82. Original Letter of the Mercers & Ironmongers to Mr. Recorder Whitby & John Ratcliffe Esqrs. Members of Parliament for Chester: dated 28 May 163. 452.

Desiring them to put their Hands to a Letter which the Mayor & Aldermen of Chester had written to the Princes Council about Berchley; and likewise, to get Sir Thomas Savages hand to it, if in London. Likewise desiring them to use Expedition in getting a Letter to the Justices, in the Citties behalfe.

83. A Noët of howe many thear be of the Companie of the Irenmongers & Mercers; with the Number of thear housholdes. 454.

99. Alia eorundem, versus Thomam Fletcher, in placito Transgressionis super Cafum, A. D. 1591. 479.

100. List, as it seems, of the several Fraternities or Gilds in Chester, before the Reformation. 480. loose.

101. Th'Ensware of Thomas Smyth Maior of the Citie of Chestre, to the complaynt of Henry Hardware. 481. loose.

About a Drapers Shop & Ware-house; the Title to which was contested.

102. Attested Order of the Exchequer-Court of Chester; holden the 15 of September 1609. 482.

This is against Hurleston & Younge; who being not Citizens of Chester, had privarly sold Mault (out of the Market) at their own Houfes, and were thereof convicted at the Quarter-Sessions, & fined for the same.

103. A printed Bill, in Order to the obtaining an Act or Ordinance to restrayne making of Mault in the Summer-time. 484.

104. Notes concerning Ale-houses, collected by Mr. Recorder Whitby, from the Statutes, &c. 485.

2105.

Another Book in folio, consisting of many original & other loose Papers & Tracts bound up together by the third Randle Holme; who upon the out-side, hath bestowed this general Title upon the whole, "Seuerall things concerninge the City of Chester." In describing of which, I shall follow my usual method.

1. In the first place then, I find therein, the said Mr. Holme's Account of the Things of most Note in this Booke, taken A. D. 1669. At the beginning. Then follows,

2. Part of an old Register of the Mayors or Sheriffes Court in Chester, beginning about anno 21 R. Henrici vii. and herein I observe,

2. A Panel of the Names of some Jury. 260. b.

3. Names of Chester-Constables, in several Wards. 261.

4. Nomina Pistorum Civitatis Cestrie. 261. b.

5. Nomina Carnificum. (i. e. of the Butchers) ibid.

6. Entrances of divers Persons who were admitted to the Freedome of that City, anno 21 R. Henrici vi. 262. b.

7. Entrances of the Pleas tried in the Portmote Court there, held before Thomas Thornton Maior the same year. 265. 272. 273. b.

8. An Order made by the same Maior & his Brethren, touching the Enfranchisement of all Traders who had faithfully served their Apprenticeships; & for keeping out all Strangers. 270.

9. Entrance of an Agreement, made before the said Maior, &c. betwixt John Rathebone, & Margerie the Wife of William Humfrey, about the possession of an house. 270. b.

10. Entrances of Pleas tried in the said Portmote-Court, anno 22 R. Henrici vii. 271.

11. Orders & Regulations made by the Maior & his Brethren, 6 K

Num. 2105.

Brethren, for keeping the Assize of Bread; & about the Sale of the same; anno 21 R. Henrici VII. 271. b. et 372. b.

12. Placita Coronmot Civitatis Cestr. tent. coram Thoma Thornton Maiore, anno 21 & 22 R. Henrici VII. 275. b.

13. Entrances of Causes heard at the Sessions of the Peace, held before Thomas Grene, Maior of Chester, & his brethren, anno 8 R. Elizabethæ. 279.

14. Placita Curie Portmot. tenta coram Thoma Grene Maiore; anno 8 R. Elizabethæ. 293. b. & vid. 304.

15. Nomina Officiarorum & Ministrorum Dne. Regine in Comitatu Civitatis Cestrie, tempore Thome Grene Maioris, et anno 7 R. Elizabethæ. 299.

This takes in likewise the Names of the Butchers, Bakers & Constables.

16. Entrances of matters transacted at the Sessions of the Peace, held before Sir William Snead Maior of Chester, and his brethren, ann. 9 R. Elizabethæ. 306.

17. Officiarij & Ministri Dne. Regine in Com. Civitatis Cestrie, tempore Willelmi Sneade militis Maioris ibidem, anno 8 R. Elizabethæ. 312.

This is like that above-mentioned at No. 15.

18. The Names of all the Poore People apoynted to lyve by Almes within this Citie, in severall Wards; in the tyme of the Mayraltie of Henry Hardware. 315.

19. Memorandum, touching an Award made by the Sherifes of Chester, as to two Actions brought by Thom. Burges Tailiour, against others; which were compounded for 15. 14. 8. brought into the Pendeis, before Henry Hardware then Maior, & his brethren, 25 of Septembre, anno secundo Elizabethæ Regine. 316. b.

20. An order made 11 July 1566. by Thomas Grene Maior, &c. upon the Variaunce depending betweene William Williamz Esquier & Morrys Willyamz Alderman for the Teyth pertaining to St. John in Chester; which were to be gathered & kept in the Teyth-Barne, until the Law should determine which of them had most Right to the same. 317.

21. Placita Curie Portmot. Civitatis Cestrie tente coram Thoma Grene Maiore, 15 die Julij, anno 8 Reg. Elizabethæ. 317. b.

22. Nomina Officiariorum & Ministrorum Dne. Regine, in Comitatu Civitatis Cestrie, anno 4to. Elizabethæ Regine. (imperfect.) 318.

23. Orders made by Mr. Mair, by th'Aquise of the Aldermen & Common Counsell, for byenge Corne & Graine in the Markett; as also for selling of Beare & Ale, & Tallow-Candles, & Victualls. 320.

24. A Warrant or Proclamation of Mr. Maior & his brethren, licensing all House-holders to bake their own bread; & also the Countrey-Bakers to bring in their bread to Chester-Market; upon the Combination of the Bakers not to bake any bread at all, rather than keep to the reasonable Assize appointed by Mr. Maior. 321. & 326.

25. An order of Mr. Maior, forbidding the Breakefasts which the wurshipfull of that City had caused to be made in the Houses, vpon Christemals daie in the morning, before devine Service ended: by reason whereof many disordered persons haue rather used themselves all the daie after idely, in Vice & Wantones, then yeuen themselves holy to Contemplacion & Praier. And also, that no maner person do go abrode a mumminge in any place within the same Citie, their Faces being covered or disguised: or plaie at any vnlawful Games. 322.

26. Distribution of the Chester-Poor (with their names) according as the Almes were appointed for them in the severall Wardes of Chester. 323.

27. Accompt of some family-disbursements, about A. D. 1587. 324. b. et 331.

28. Narration of the Proceedings on both sides, upon the Chester-bakers refusing to comply with the Assize of

Num. 2105.

Bread appointed by Mr. John Webster then Maior, viz. 14 November 1557. with Copies of the said Bakers bill of Complaint to the Council of the Marches of Wales; Mr. Maior's Answer to the same, &c. 326.

29. Orders made by the same Maior, A. D. 1557. about Moneys to be collected for the better setting forwards of the Woorke of the Haven. About the adnuision of For-reigners into the Freedome of the City. For the sale of Malte in the open Market. And how the Joyners or Carvers should buy & sell their Tymber, Bords, Sparres, &c. 332.

30. The Book of Assesment toward the Relief of the Chester-Poor, made A. D. 1574, by Richard Dutton Esq; then Maior, & his brethren, Justices of the Peace. 333.

31. Short Annals of Chester, imperfect at the beginning; whose chief Scope was to give a Succellion or Series of the severall Maiors of Chester. 345.

This Tract now begins with Alexander Hurrell, who was Maior A. D. 1348. and is continued down, to William Bird who was elected A. D. 1580.

32. Entrances of Pleadings in the Courts of Portmot, &c. Thomas Grene being Maior, annis 7 & 8 Regine Elizabethæ. 359.

33. Original Letter of Thomas Lord Viscount Savage, to William Gamull Maior of Chester, 7 Febr. 1620. 363.

Upon occasion of the Suit depending, upon the two Whitbies being turned out of the Office of Clerk of the Pentice: in which Cause, his Lordship was not their Friend.

34. Another, from the same noble Lord, to the same; dat. 9 February 1620. 365.

Shewing that the said Cause was determined in favor of the City; & consequently, that Mr. Brerewood would not keep his Place. That Mr. Whitby & Sir Randle Manwaringe were both angry; although if they would but think of a Starr-chamber Suite, they might thank God on their Knees, they were so well rid of it.

35. Copie of Sir John Bridgeman & Sir Marmaduke Lloyd's Letter to the same Lord Viscount Savage. 367.

Upon Mr. Brerewood's being sequestred from his Office of Towne-Clerke, or Clerke of the Pentice, for some Negligence or Remissenes in his said Office; and desiring, that if he had given any Offence to his Lordship, by any intemperate carriage, or any other meanes; vpon his humble Submission, his Lordship would be a meanes to the Cittie to restore him; for the Reasons they give.

36. Mr. Recorder Whitbies notes, upon certain irregular proceedings of some of the Chester Serjeants at Mace; who arrested divers, & carried them to their own Houses, & not to Prison. 369.

37. Original Opinion of Sir Edward Littleton Recorder of London, upon the Cafe putt to him; how certain Common Cheaters & Cofiners should be tried, who plead not Guilty; but will not putt themselves vpon the Countrey. 371.

38. Original opinion (as it seems) of Mr. Justice Jones, upon the same Cafe. 373.

39. Original Note under the hands of Robert Brooke Maior of Chester, & his brethren Justices of the Peace, dated 24 of February 1588; who imprisoned & fined Roger Hanmer, & others, for making a forcible Entry. 375.

40. The Cafe of Ellice Johnes Citizen of Chester, who was arrested in his own house, for Debt, by virtue of a Warrant from Sir James Croft, directed to the Knight-Marshal, & to his Deputie & Deputies. 376.

41. Copie of the said Warant, dated from the Court at Westminster, the 18 of December 1581, subscribed by many of the Aldermen, & other principal Citizens of Chester, as a true Copie. 377.

42. Rela-

Num. 2105.

42. Relation of the Proceedings of Mr. Richard Bavand then Maior, upon the said Arrest; who finding the said Warant to be insufficient, the Arrest unlawfull, & the manner of the same not to be lett passe without Punishment; in the presence, & by consent of those who subscribed the Copie of the said Warant, committed William Harbard who made the Arrest, to the Northgate Prison. 377. b.

43. Draught of a Bill of Complaint from the Maior & Citizens of Chester, to William Earl of Derby Chamberlayne of the Countie Palatine, against William Hodges of London Merchaut; who importing divers Wares there, agreed to pay them £3 5 6. for the Customes thereof; but having sold the same there, would not fulfil that his Agreement. (Herein, many of their particular Customes, as Tonnage, Poundage, Murage, &c. are specially set forth) 379.

44. Copie of the Letter of K. James I. to the Corporation of Shrewsbury, recommending to their choice for the Reversion of the Office of their Towne-Clerke Thomas Vnton; who had bene for divers Yeares at the Vniversity, where he had taken Degrees of Scholes; and likewise at Innes of Courte; and did then attend about one of his right trusty & wel-beloved Counsaylours. Given A. D. 1604. 384.

45. Copie of the humble Answer of the Bayliffes & Burgesses of the Towne of Shrewsbury, by way of Petition to his Majesties Letter, for the electinge of Thomas Vnton vnto the Office of Towne-Clerke there, after the death of Adam Mitton, who then held the same. (Giving their Reasons why they could not make such Election.) 384. b.

46. Letter from the Lords, &c. of the Privy-Council, to the Earl of Derby, the Bishop of Chester, the two Justices of Assize there, & to the Dean of Chester, dated, 11th of August 1627. 385.

Referring to them, the hearing of the Cause of Robert Brerewood Esq; Towne-Clerke of Chester, who was accused by the Maior & Citizens there, of Misdemeanor & vndue Carriage in that Office: concerning the manner of the said Brerewood's Sequestration, the Causes for which he was sequestred, and his miscarriage since: & to retourne the Examinations of the Witnesses on both sides to the board, with their opinions of the whole.

47. A Minute of the Common Council, held the 15 of March 1580, about certain Plates being redeemed from the City, by Helyn and Rathburne. 387.

48. Draught of an Acquittance from the Corporation of Chester, owning thereby the Receipt of a Silver Cup and Cover, gilt, weighing 80 Unces & upward, with the Case therevnto belonging, bequeathed vnto them by Robert Offley th'elder, late Citizen & Haberdasher of London; to be vsed in Remembrance of him in the Howse comonly called the Pendhows of the said City. dat. the 4 of June, anno 38 Elizabethæ Regine. 389.

49. Mr. Robert Brerewood's Opinion, that the Inrollment of a Statute-Merchant (wherein the Clerk had erroneously entred 50l. instead of 40l. might be amended, & made agreeable to the Statute itself. 390.

50. Three Draughts of a Letter from many of the Aldermen & Common-Council of Chester, to the Lord Keeper, amended, & sent away from Chester, the 8th of February 1601. 392.

This is in arraigning the Proceedings of Mr. John Radcliffe the then Maior, who made Mr. Robert Whitby Clerk of the Pentice, against their Consent. (vid. infra No. 98.)

51. Instructions in my Case, when the same is to be determined in the Assemblée at Chester. 400.

This seems to relate either to Mr. Recorder Whitby, or to his Predecessor Mr. Thomas Gamull; who fell into the Displeasure of some humorous Maior, that alleged he did not rise up to do him Reverence, once when he came into the Church; nor was, at another time, 'present at the bynding of the Ale-howfes: and therefore ought to be putt out of his Place. Mr. Recorder has drawn up this Paper very artfully; and has shewn that he would not be thrust from his Office, upon every vain fancy of a Maior brim full of pride & ill nature.

52. Draught of the bill of Complaint exhibited to William Earle of Derby & James Lord Strange, Chamberlen of Chester, by the Maior & Citizens of the City of Chester, against Euan Jones & Richard Warrnifham. 402.

It seems that when the Accompt of William Fisher late one of the Sheriffes of Chester, was audited, he was found Debtor to the City in the Sum of £4 4 1½. which Sum he promised to pay, but died before he did so; leaving Jane his Wife his Executrix. The Widow likewise promises to pay, but obtains a Term of Forbearance and deceases, leaving the Defendants her Executors. They, at first, faithfully promise to pay; but perceiving that the City had not such precise proof of the particulars of the said Accompt, & other Circumstances which would be necessary to convict them at the Common Law, fly off, and oblige the City to have recourse to Equity.

53. Draught of a bill of Complaint to the same Chamberlayne of Chester (signed by Robert Brerewood Esq; who afterwards succeeded Mr. Whitby in the Recordership of Chester; was knighted, & made a Serjeant at Law) made for Jane Penny, who claimed an House in Chester, as heireesse to her brother Jerome; which he enjoyed as heir to his brother Rauffe, the eldest Son of their Father William, who entred into it, upon the decease of his father, long before. The Bill is against Thomas Eaton & one Welsh; who having gotten the Writings into their hands, entred into the Premises, pretending to have bought the same of the Complainants Fathers sisters. This was A. D. 1634. 405.

54. The Demurrer, Answer, & Aide-praier of Thomas Eaton Defendant, to the Bill of Complaint of Jane Penny Spinster: Sworn to, 23 Febr. 1634. 407.

This is signed by Mr. Recorder Whitby; and alleages matters directly contrary to the former Bill.

55. Original Submission of William Tesh, an Officer in the Court of Yorke, who had reviled Mr. Maior of Chester, Mr. Recorder, &c. and was therefore committed to Ward, A. D. 1637. (vid. infra N°. 86.) 411.

He alleages, that coming (drunk) from some Company along the Rowe, some of the Shuemarks & Card-makers abueffing him, rought suche a Confusyon or Distemperature in his Brayne, that they made him halfe mad (yet more drunk) in soe muche that he was not his owne man.

56. Mr. Recorder Whitbys Draught of a Petition, to the Marquis of Buckingham, in the name of his Father Robert & Brother Thomas, Clerkes of the Pentice, who were accused of some Crimes & Misdemeanors committed in that Office; for which, they were afterward putt out. 413.

Herein it is prayed that they might have an indifferent Trial; that they might have the Liberty of bringing in their Witnesses; & that their Accusers might not be their Judges. Indeed, I find elsewhere, that their Pride, as well as their Extortion, brought a general Odium upon them.

57. Mr. Recorder Whitbys Draught of another Petition, to Prince Charles, as Earle of Chester, in the Names of his said Father & Brother. Praying, that no Commission or Warrant out of his Highnesse Court of Exchequer may be awarded against them: or if that anie be alreadie issued, a Superfedeas may be thereunto granted, & that the Petitioners might quietlie enioye their Office, vntill a legall & due Examination; & Tryall.

58. A rough Draught of the last Petition, corrected by the hand of Mr. Recorder Whitby. 416.

59. Mr. Recorder Whitbys first part of a Petition, in

Num. 2105.

in the Names of his said Father & Brother, to K. James I. 418.

60. Another Draught of the same Petition, amended by Mr. Recorder, &c. 420. et 430.

Praying that his Highnes Attornie & Sollicitor may direct an indifferent Course for triall of their pretended Misdemeanors in any his ordinary Courts of Justice, where none of the Parties are Judges. And that in the meane time, they may enjoye their Office without disturbance.

61. An Original Deed of Gift, whereby Mawde Bannyster Spinster absolutely gives, without possibility of Redemption, to Jane Cotgrave her Aunte, and to Alyce Wyrthen her Sister, her ownely & especiall friends, who do care for her well-doinge: all her Money, Goods, Cattalls, Jewells, Ymplements, and other things whatsoever, bequeathed to her by her Father: and puts them into actuall possession of the same, by the Delyuery of one Shillinge of Syluer. And all this, without any Proviso for her maintenance. dat. the 26 of June, 1583. 422.

The main Motive to this extraordinary Gift is thus expressed, For "that I feele my self somewhat weake of my Senfes, & therefore not fytt to marry, or otherwise to rule & governe my self, and such portion of Goods as my faide late Father hath bequeathed—to me. And rather to them, then to eny others, whoe may or shall hereafter entile, or perswade me to eny Enconvenyence, ether of my self, or my faide goods."

Annexed to this, remains,

62. The Original Letter of Administration, of all & singular the said Goods, granted by Doctor David Yale the Bishop of Chester's Vicar-Generall to William Cotgrave, to the intent that they should be equally divided between Ellen the Daughter of him & Jane his Wife abovementioned: and the said Alyce Wyrthen. dated, after the Decease of the said Mawde, the 17th of September 1589. 421.

This is subscribed by Randle Cotgrave, as Register of the Bishops Court, and the whole seems to have been of his Writing. This Randle I take to be Author of the French & English Dictionary; a book especially useful to him who is desirous of understanding the old French.

63. Another Draught of the Petition above-mentioned at N^o 60. and likewise amended by Mr. Recorder Whitby. 424.

This has an Answer, dated from the Court at Theobalds, 4 Junij 1618. importing, that if they found themselves aggrieved, they might seeke their Remedy by Course of Law in any Judicall Court.

64. Copie of the Sentence promulgated by William Awbrey & William Clerck LL. DD. Judges (Auditors) in the Arch-bishop of Canterburies Court of Audience against Robert Yardeley the surviving Executor of Elizabeth Broughton for detaining from Francis Broughton the Legacy bequeathed to him by the deceased. dat. 20 Nov. 1578. 426.

In these Papers is a Schedule of the Goods so bequeathed to Mr. Broughton, with their Valuations.

65. The abovementioned Whitbys first Petition to the King, upon their being turn'd out from the Clerkship of the Pentice; praying his Majesties gracious Letters for their re-establishment: which, it seems, was granted in part. 432.

This Draught was also amended by Mr. Recorder Whitby.

66. A former rough Draught of the last mentioned Petition; amended likewise by Mr. Recorder. 434.

67. Minute of the Assembly of Chester; shewing, that when they made Mr. Brerewood Clerke of the Pentice, they meant not to prejudice Mr. Recorder Whitby; or to take away any of the Rights & Fees belonging to his Place. 436.

This was upon Complaint that he had received no Fees or Profits (but only the Citie-Fee) since Mr. Brerewood come into his Place.

Num 2105.

68. Copie of an Order of the Lords of the Privy Council; dated the 21 of November 1627. 438. 444.

Upon hearinge the Cause concerninge the Sequestration of Mr. Brerewood from his Place; that the Heads of his Charge be deliuered unto him, and that there be another Hearing, upon the matters laid against him.

69. Narration of the foul & treacherous Practices of the abovementioned Francis Broughton, & Robert Yardley, against Elinor the Relict & Executrix of Edward Broughton, the elder Brother & one of the Executors of Ellis Broughton. 439.

This is imperfect, but opens a Scene of great Villany.

70. Copie of another Order of the Lords of the Privy Council; dated the 5th of December 1627. 442.

Blaming the Proceeding of Mr. Brerewood in getting of Hands to a Paper drawn up against the Assemblies Order for sequestring his Place, & Mr. Gamull for putting his Hand to the same. Both whom having submitted themselves to be order'd by the Lord Savage (who hath the place of an Alderman in Chester) his Lordship was to take Cognizance of the whole matter, & direct what is fitt to be done; especially with regard to one Tarleton, who had cast scandalous Aspersions vpon Mr. Recorder Whitbie, & others who had menaced him with the loss of his Place: and to report his whole Proceedings to the Bord.

71. Copie of Mr. Brerewood's Surrender of his Office of Clerk of the Pentice, into the hands of the Maior & Citizens of Chester. dated, the 9th of December, 1627.

His Pretence for resigning is thus: "Finding my selfe by reason of my other imployments not able to attend my said Office in my owne person, and withall finding by experience the great inconvenience that hath redounded vnto me by my trust heretofore reposed in my servants for the execution of the said place."

72. (Imperfect) Agreement between the Guardians of Raulff Radford & Alderman William Aldersey touching their respective Rights to the possession of Boughton-Chappell with its appurtenances. dated the 25th of August, anno 11 Elizabethhe Regine. 446.

Hereby, they were to putt their Writings into the hands of Edward Halfall Esq; lerned in the Lawes: and after he had considered the same, to stand by what he should award between them.

73. The Charge against Mr. Robert Brerewood; deliuered to the Commissioners the 15th of December, A. D. 1627. laying open his Misdemeanors before his Sequestration, & since. 447.

This is, indeed, very great & heavy; and sufficiently shews him to have been a very wicked officer.

74. Declaration of Margaret Aldersey Executrix of Joan Aldersey, against Hugh Dutton Gent. who having borrowed Ten Pounds of the said Joan, in the 3d Year of Q. Mary, refused to pay the same. 449.

75. Declaration of Ranulph Maynwaringe Esq; &c. Executors of Peter Leicester of Tabley, Esq; against Laurence Leicester Gent. Administrator to William Leicester of Toft, Esq; in an Action of Debt, to Two Thousand Pounds (temp. Elizabethhe Regine) 450.

76. Petition of the City of Chester to the Lords of the Privy Council; 21 August 1627. 451.

Desiring that their Cause might be heard before their Lordships, & not by Commissioners: and that before the Election of a new Maior: because Brerewood & Alderman William Gamull had given out, that if they could passe over this Yeare, they would choose such a Maior, as should restore Brerewood, displace the Recorder, question the now Maior & others for sequestring Brerewood, & complaining to their Honors, &c.

77. Certificate of the said Maior (Nicholas Ince) & Magistrates of Chester, to the Lords of the Privy Council, touching the insolent & tumultuous Behavior of Foulke Salisbury (whom their Lordships had sent for up, by a Pursuivant, for former like Behavior) of Alderman William

Num. 2105.

William Gamull, & others, at an Assembly in behalfe of Brerewood before mentioned. And praying that some Courfe might be taken, to prevent the Disorders they suspected such Carriage might produce. 453.

78. Copie of a Letter from Mr. Ince Maior of Chester, to the Lords of the Privy Council; 14 August 1627. 455.

Certifying, that he had bound over Mr. Brerewood to appear before them; and had sent Mr. Recorder Whitby & Alderman Drinkwater authorized & instructed to attend them, to give Information, & to make Proofs as well of his miscarriage in his Office, before the Sequestration, as of his vndue practices since. Complaining likewise of Alderman William Gamull & others, who spake injuriously of him, for drawing this Business concerning Mr. Brerewood out of the City.

79. Copie of a Petition from the Maior, Aldermen, &c. of Chester, to the Lords of the Privy Council. 457.

Shewing, that when Brerewood was sequestred, the Lord Viscount Savage was present, as Alderman of that City. That Brerewood & his Friends had laboured, indirectly, to procure Voyces & Hands for his restitution; to sett division in the said City, and to worke his restitution by stronge hand. Praying therefore, that their Lordships would take such a Courfe, that the Office of the Pentice or Towne-Clerke, might be rectified; the Justice of the Courts preserved; & Peace in that auntyent City settled.

80. Narratio pro Roberto Conway & Cristofero Conway Administratōribus Bonorum & Catallorum que fuerunt Willelmi Mutton nuper defuncti, querentibus: versus Willelmum Walle Aldermannum Defendentem, in placito Debiti, Librarum 28, et Denariorum octo. 458.

81. Narratio pro Margareta Hower Administratrice Bonorum & Catallorum que fuerunt Johannis Hower defuncti, Querentis: versus Johannem De le hay, in Placito Debiti £4: 9: 8. 459.

82. Copie of a Letter from the abovementioned Maior of Chester & his Brethren, to the Lords of the Privy Council, 14 March 1626. 461.

Upon their sequestering Brerewood, in the presence of the Lord Savage; advertising that the said Brerewood, practicing to come again to his Place by indirect means, and by a stronge hand, hath not only threatened the Maior & others that informed, or voyced against him; but hath cast Aspersions vpon th' Assembly, taxed their proceedings & Judgement; & being confederate with some others, doth labour & vse indirect meanes for packing & procuring of Hands to a Wrytinge or Certificate of his & their drawinge & contrivinge, thereby to worke his Restytution; without cleering himselfe of the Crymes & Misdemeanors, wherewith hee stands charged.

83. Copie of part of a Letter from Mr. Andrew Gamull of Chester, to his brother Mr. Thomas Gamull of London; dat. 17 July 1623. complaining much of Mr. Edwards of Chester, heretofore mentioned in this Catalogue. 463.

84. Mr. Recorder Whitbys Draught of a Letter to the then Maior of Chester; about Mr. Brerewoods detaining his Fees. 464.

85. Narratio Willelmi Boothe, &c. Executorum Testamenti Johannis Boothe Armigeri, Querentium: versus Nicholaum Jeynson, aliàs Thomason, aliàs Thompson, Yoman, in placito Computi. Viz. quod reddat eis rationabilem Computum suum de tempore quo fuit Ballivus ipsius Johannis dum vixit, et Receptor Denariorum ejusdem Johannis, &c. ad damnum Mille Librarum. (This is signed by Worfeley.) 465.

86. Copie of a Letter from Mr. Edwards Maior of Chester, & Mr. Recorder Whitby, to Dr. Will. Eafdall Chancellor of York, & Dr. Hen. Wickham Arch-deacon of York; 21 Sept. anno 13 R. Caroli. 468.

Acquainting them with their proceeding with Tesh (a Messenger of the High Commission-Court at Yorke) CAT. HARL. VOL. II.

before mentioned, viz. at N°. 55. who being got wickedly drunk, reviled them openly, swore & blasphemed horridly, & resisted the Constables & Gaoler: but being cooler the next day, submitted himself; paid for his drunkenness & swearing, and was bound to the good behaviour for one Pomfret his companion, as Pomfret was for him.

87. Original Answer of Mr. Chancellor & Mr. Arch-deacon of Yorke, to Mr. Maior & the Recorder of Chester: dat. 25 September 1637. 470.

Acquiescing in what they had done to Tesh & Pomfret: but advising, that since 'twas not almost possible that the Pursuant beinge constreyned to imploye so many inferior Ministers as he does, but that he should sometimes happen vpon disordered Persons: it would be convenient, that when they should be found faulty, matters may bee so carryed, that the present Service of his Majesty bee not hindred; especially when the Business shall bee of more then ordinary consequence, as theirs was.

88. Original Letter of Administration, granted by Dr. David Yale Official of Chester, to Anne the Relict of John Williams, who died intestate. dat. 5 April 1605. 471.

89. Report of a Trial in the Pentice-Court of Chester 14 Sept. anno 29 R. Eliz. between Will. Bobinton Gent. Administrator to John Aldersey late of Spurlow Gent. and John Cotton of Cotton Elq. 472.

90. Order of the Court of Exchequer of Chester, made 1 Octob. 1634. in the Suit between the City of Chester Plaintiff. & Alderman William Gamull, &c. Defendants. 474.

This was for Recovery of the remaining part of 103 Markes, which the City had lent to Rich. Tayliour the late keeper of the House of Correction there.

91. Original Letter of Mr. Justice Warburton to Mr. Will. Gamull Maior of Chester; 13 Febr. 1620. 476.

That he had, indeed, intention of purchasing some of Mr. Bostock's Lands in Aldited; but that since he had lent Mr. Bostock Money to supply his Occasions withall, he had offered the same to another. That the Lord Cheife Justice & himself had ended the great Business between Mr. Robert Whitby, and the late Maior, &c. and now they trust their will be loving & neighbourly Agreement between all Citizens.

92. Original Letter of the Lord Chancellor Ellesmere to Mr. Peeter Sharpe, Bachellor in Divinitie. dated the 21st of May 1613. 477.

Commending Mr. Robert Whitby then Maior of Chester, for resigning up the Office (as I take it) of Steward of the Dean & Chapters Lands; since he could not houlde it without suspicion on both Sydes: and wishing that the Deane, &c. would make choyce of some well-qualified person to succeed him.

93. Declaration of Peter Rosengrave Plaintiffe, against Maud Cotgreve administratrix to James Cotgreve of Hargreve, in an Action of 4 Pounds. 478.

94. The Accomptes of Hugh Dod of Chester Yeoman, by him made & delivered unto Nicholas Ince Alderman, in July 1629. in respecte the said Dod was admitted by the said Nicholas Ince, in the tyme of his Maiorality, to write in the Office of Pentice, during the Sequestration thereof, in the same yeare; by Order of Assembly, 20 Febr. 1626. 479.

95. Narratio Willelmi Norres Militis Executoris Testamenti Henrici Asbroke, et Margerie Asbroke Coexecutoris ejusdem; Querentium, de Roberto Bower, de placito quod reddat eis 30 Solidos quos eis injuste detinet. 484.

98. Original Letter of many of the Aldermen & Citizens of Chester, to the then Lord Keeper Sir Thomas Egerton: 6th of February, 1601. 488.

Against Mr. Radcliffe their Maior, who made Mr. Robert Whitby Clerk of the Pentice, without their consent. This is that Letter, alluded to above, at § 50.

99. Examination of Anne Hough, taken before the Maior &c. of Chester, 15 August, 1637. 490.

About contemptuous Words spoken by one Warrington a Brewer, against Alderman Francis Gamull.

100. Original Letter of Administration, granted by Mr. Francis Magson Deputy of Dr. Edmund Mainwaring Commissary of Richmund, to John the Father Richard Lewteth dat. 23 November 1632. 491.

This is also signed by the Writer thereof John Dickonson; who appears to have been but a very ignorant Notary-Publick.

101. A Note touching disrespectful Words spoken by George Warrington abovementioned, 29 April 1635. of the then Maior of Chester. 493.

102. Note of some of that Cities Deeds & Charters deliver'd 22 April 1634. to Mr. Recorder Whitby, to be considered. 494.

103. A Note of some others, delivered to Mr. Recorder & Mr. Brerewood to peruse. 496.

104. Minute of an Assembly holden the 30th of April 1581. for electing a new Yoman of the Pentice: and touching their constant Attendance. 497.

105. Original Certificate of many Citizens of Chester, touching the good behaviour of William Taylor who was then in Election for an Officers place to the King's Sheriff within the same Cittie, 14 Marche 1514. 499.

Upon this Certificate he was admitted, & sworne, the same day.

106. Copie of a Letter from K. James 1. given the 22 daie of November, anno regni 3. to the Corporation of the Citie of Chester: recommending to them for their Recorder Hugh Mainwaring of Grayes Inne, an Utter Barrester of good standinge. 501.

107. Copie of a Letter from Robert Cecil Earl of Salisbury to the said Corporation, dat. 2 Febr. 1605. 503.

Acquainting them, that his Majestie having received their humble Petition, imploring his Pardon, & leave to proceed to the Election of a new Recorder, according to the Lymits prescribed vnto them by their Charter: which is to elect some sufficient man of their own Corporation, which Mr. Maynwaring is not: is graciously pleased to forbear to presse them any further in this Sute; and the rather, in that they have so dewtifully & discreetly behaved themselves towards him, in delivering their excuse.

In this Affair, the City of Chester seems to have followed the Precedent sett them by the Town of Shrewsbury (vid. supra, N° 45.)

108. A fairer Copie of the preceding Letter. 505.

109. Attested Copie of a Minute of the Assembly holden the 21 of May anno primo Caroli Regis, touching the repaire of the City-Walls, and levying the Rate of the Assessment, by way of Distresse, upon any Inhabitant that should refuse to pay the same. 507.

This was shewed to the Witneses for the Sherifes of Chester, 16 January 1627, upon occasion of the Suit between the Sherifes, and Sir Walter Pye Master of the Court of Wards; in behalf of Sir William Brereton.

110. Draught of a Letter, by Mr. Robert Brerewood Clerk of the Pentice, to Mr. Brereton a Justice of the Peace, or to the Justices of Peace of the whole County-Palatine. dated October 1621. 509.

Num. 2105.

Charging him or them with infringeing the Privileges of the City, by executing the Office of Justice of the Peace in the Parsonage-house of St. Maryes in Chester, out of an erroneous Conceat that the sayd House is not within the Libertyes of the sayd Cittie; by constituting & authorizinge of a Cunstable within the Libertyes of the Cittye, and indeed, over some parte of the Countye of the said Cittye, where there was never any before, but as appointed by the Cittye; & by claiming a quantity of Ground as belonging to the County-Palatine which was really part of the County of the City of Chester.

111. Original Letter of Mr. Dutton Maior of Chester, & of divers of the Aldermen his Brethren, to Mr. Recorder Whitby, upon occasion of the Writt ad audiend. Judic. issued out of the Courte of Wards, att the Suite of Sr. William Brereton. & served vpon the twoe Constables that made distresse vpon his Goods, for not paying toward their late Affessment for Murage. 511.

Here they desire him to make up the matter with Sir William; but if that could not be effected, to spare no Cofts in defending the City; and what should be disturbed, would be repaid. This seems to have been about the beginning of the year. 1628.

112. Original Opinion of Sir Heneage Finch Recorder of London, that all Inhabitants Resiants in London are liable to the publick Charges; and might be distrained upon in pursuance of the Acts of Common Council. Also that Subsidies are assessed and levied in all Places within the City of London, notwithstanding any Privilege or Exemption from the Jurisdiction of the City. 23 Febr. 1629. 513.

113. Presentment of the Jury of Chester, as to the Misdeameanors of many Persons. 514.

114. Original Petition of the Company of Clothiers of Chester, to Sir Thomas Smith then Maior, &c. 516.

This was against the Company of Shar-men & Cloth-workers who had lately raised their Prizes for working and dressing of their Clothes.

115. Petition of Hughe Dod to the Assembly of Chester; preferred in October, 1624. 518.

Praying, that he might have the present Vie of the Office of a Philözer; or the Clerk-ship of the Pentice, in Reversion; or of Attorney of Record, in Reversion; at the usual Rents.

116. Copie of a Letter from Mr. Thomas Gamull Recorder of Chester, to William Stanley Earl of Derby: dated the 28th of August, 1610. 518. b.

Recommending this Hugh Dod to his Lordship's favor, so as that he might have the place of an Attorney, after the Death of any of the four Serjeants of Chester; whoe have byn vsually appoynted by suche to whom the Custody of the foure Gates of that City by Inheritance did belong; whereof his Lordship was one. Yet, although that noble Lord did allow of this Nomination: poor Hugh was putt by when the next Election came on.

117. Copie of a Letter from K. James 1. to the Assembly of Chester: given the 22 of July, anno regni 14. 519.

Recommending this Hugh Dod vnto them, for his Admittance into suche Place of Preferment, in his Courts there, as to them should be thought good: the said Hugh having, of late, done vnto him acceptable Service in Writeing sondry Instructions, for the ayde of his dearest Daughter the Lady Elizabeth.

Neither had this Letter any good effect, when it was produced.

118. Ameries Case; concerning l'Amendement d'une Common Recoverie, 13 August 1613: sett down by Mr. Recorder Whitby. 520.

119. A Copie of the Writt of Corpus cum Causa; for bringing Will. Sproston out of the Prison of the Northgate before the Judges of Affize at Chester: bearing Teste 18 Octobr. anno. 4 R. Caroli 1. 522.

Num. 2105.

120. Copie of a Letter from the Lords of the Privy Council, to the Maior & Aldermen of Chester: dated from the Court at Oaulds, the 12 of September, 1636.

524.
Written upon occasion of the spreading of the Plague; & directing them (in his Majesties name) to put-off their next Michael-mass-Fayre, giving publique & tymely notice thereof. And to cause all such Londoners & others coming from infected Places, & vending their Wares in the Villages within 5 miles round about Chester, to be shutt up (at their owne Charges) in the howses where in they should abide; and alsoe, the Howses where such their Wares should remayne, as if they were Places infected.

121. Copie of a Letter from the Maior & Alderman of Chester, to Sir Edward Broughton of Iscoyd Knight; dated the 4th of March, 1636.

526.
In answer to an unkind Letter they received from him, who claymed an Interest in the Lands left by Mr. Alderman Valentine Broughton, the Nomination of Tenants, &c. and threatened them with Lawsuits, if they did not comply with him.

122. Original Letter of the Maior, &c. of Chester, to the Earl of Northampton, Lord President of Wales. dated the 21st of December, 1620.

Shewing their willingness to have forwarded the Election of Sir Henry Carye, for their Burgesse (although they feared much opposition in the Commynaltie, by reason he was not enfranchised) but having receyued certeine Intelligence, that Sir Henry was already elected a Knight for Harfordshire, they found themselves to be unworthy of him. (et vid. 535.)

123. Attested Copie of the List of those who voted at the Assembly holden the 5th of October 1629, when the Question was putt, whether Mr. Robert Brerewood should be of the Cities Counsell to assist Mr. Grene, Yea, or No?

529. b.
Then 31 voted for him, & 32 against him.

124. Original Letter of William Earl of Northampton, to the Maior & Aldermen of Chester; dated from Ludlowe-Castle, the 27 of December 1620.

531.
Recommending Sir Henrie Carewe Comptroller of his Majesties Household to be one of their Burgeses; upon the earnest Entreaty of the Prince his Counsell, brought to him in his Highnes name.

125. Draught of a Letter from Mr. William Gamull Maior of Chester, &c. to the Princes Council, A. D. 1620, shewing how ready they were to elect Sir Thomas Edmunds for one of their Burgeses in Parliament; but that Mr. Recorder who seemed to comply therewith, & did give Sir Thomas his Vote, by bringing a multitude of the baser people from the suburbs, such as Laborers & hyred Workmen, common Beggars, Apprentices, & Forreigners, who had no Votes, and others his Tennants & Servants; & by pressing the Statute of 1 Hen. v. for the electing of Citizens enfranchised & reliant, disabled Sir Thomas, & caused himself to be elected, together with Mr. Ratcliffe his adherente, a man never employed in any publique Affaire but euer noted for a countenancer of Factions, and who had ben convented before the ordynary for his Non-Conformity.

533.
126. Draught of another Letter from the Maior & Aldermen of Chester, perhaps to the Earl of Northampton; noted to have been written A. D. 1620.

537.
Shewing their willingness to elect (Sir Henry Carewe) the person recommended by the Princes Council; yet finding him to be vncapable, in regard of the Lawes & Statutes of the Kingdome, the Tenor of the Write of Election, and the vlage of that Cityte; they advertise him thereof, that in case of a disappointment, his Highnesse might not esteeme them either neglectfull, or unwilling to performe his pleasure.

127. Original Letter from Sir Randle Mainwaring to Mr. Gamull Maior of Chester, 23 Jan. 1620.

539.
Letting him know, that notwithstanding the late

Num. 2105, 2106.

Election (if the time had not been overlipped) new Writts might have been procured, according to the Opinions of Sir Robert Heath the Kings Sollicitor, Sir Francis Moore the most antient Star-chamber-man, Sir Thomas Hughes a very antient Council, & Sir Thomas Coventry the Kings Attorney. But now desiring a Certificate from him & his brethren, as to the number of voyces giuen for Sir Thomas Edmonds, or to Mr. Sauvage or Mr. Recorder, or Mr. Ratcliffe, severally, whereby both the number & quality of them so giuen, might have beene seen exactly.

Here is a Postscript written by the Lord Sauvage, by way of Complement to Mrs. Maioreffe.

128. Original Letter from Thomas Lord Viscount Sauvage to the same. dat. 22 Nov. 1620.

541.
Recommending his brother John Sauvage, & Sir John Bingley for Burgeses to the City, at the ensuing Parliament.

129. Copie of a Letter from the City of Chester, to Richard Neyle Arch Bp. of York, 31 Aug. 1633.

543.
In behalf of Mr. Ley a Prebendary there, who having a Benefice near the City, did preach a Weekly Lecture in Chester, but was silenced by his Graces Visitors.

545.
130. Original Letter of Edward Lord Viscount Conway & others of his Majesties Council for Irish Affairs, dated 7 April, 1625.

Desiring the Magistrates of Chester to send up speedily a true & perfect Certificate of the names of all those who were cast away, by the violence of the late great tempest, in their passage towards Ireland; and of whose Companies they were: that ordre might be giuen for leuying other men to supply that losse.

131. Draught of an Act of the Privy Council in Ireland; upon great Complaints made to the Lord Deputy against the vnreasonable & exorbitant By-Lawes used there in severall Citties & other Corporat Townes: and for requiring true & perfect docquets of the same to be brought in from all the Corporate Townes, &c. in the Kingdome, that they might be considered.

546.
132. An original (but ill-worded) Letter from Mr. Mathew Whitehead to the Maior of Chester, dated from London, 18 of January 1624.

549.
About the rent of an house of his, which the City claimed to be theirs.

133. Apographum Cartæ, qua Petrus Dutton Major, & Cives Celtrenses concesserunt Georgio Harebrowne Erudito in Lege Anglie, annualem Redditum 40 solidorum, pro termino Vite sue percipiendum: dat. 18 die Augusti, anno 5 Regis Henrici VIII.

134. Original Presentment of Rich. Greaves, for encroching upon the Escheat-Lands of the City: A. D. 1593.

2106.

An Heraldical Book in folio, written by divers hands; as by those of Mr. Thomas Chaloner, the first Randle Holme, &c. which although it be marked all along as entred into some other book or books, yet it remains legible, and is an Armes-book that may be of good use. I find in it,

1. A Sort of Ordinary of Armes in Blason; whose contriver seems to have affected conciseness a little too much.

1. et 113. et 207.
2. Copies of the old Descents of Wermincham, with their Armes tricked.

78.
3. Armes, in Blason, of several Families in Dublin.

14. Armes, in Blason, of divers of our antient Nobility. 278.

15. Armes, in Blason, of many Kings & Princes, mostly Foreign; some real, others fictitious. 281.

16. Armes of the English Nobility; seeming to have been taken from Cookes Baronage. 292.

This Tract comes down no lower than K. Richard III. 306.

17. Armes, in Blason, of the old Earles of Chester. 313.

18. An Alphabetical Table of Names, & Surnames, directing to the severall Armes, & Crests entred into this Book. 315.

19. The third Randle Holme's Explication of the method used in the abovementioned ordinary. At the end.

2107.

A Book in folio, consisting of many loose Papers bound up together by the third Randle Holme; and by him on the outside, thus entituled "The names of all the Inhabitants within the County of Chester." In describing which, I shall proceed in the usual method; beginning with,

1. A Table directing to the severall Townships, to which the following papers do belong; made by the same Randle Holme. In the first written leaf.

2. A Remonstrance or Declaration of Us, the Inhabitants of the Countie Palatine of Chester, whose names are subscribed; and of many more. 190.

This is for the Inhabitants of Bunbury, whose subscribers were 169 in number. The Remonstrance (which is the same in all places) was made A. D. 1641. under pretence of maintaining his Majesties royal & sacred Person & Prerogative; and the just Privileges of Parliament.

3. Another from some Hamlet, whose name doth not appear; and its subscribers are but 50. 192.

4. Another of these, subscribed by many of the principal Gentry (A. D. 1642) being 48 in number. 194.

5. Another from some other Place, whose Subscribers were in number 133. 196.

6. Another from Torporley; whose Subscribers were 105. 198.

13. An old Pedegree of Fitz-Herbert & Falconer. 63. b.

After the abovementioned Page, the remaining leaves take another Numeration, & begin with fol. 18.

14. Part of a Visitation of Staffordshire, taken narratively; & seeming to be rather older than that of Glover of A. D. 1583. 18.

Whether this be the Original or not, I cannot now determine: but it is all crossed over, as having been enter'd into some other Book, as the old Originals always were.

15. Pedegree of Draycot of Draycot; perhaps, by the hand of Sir Henry St. George. 33.

16. Part of a Visitation of Derby-shire; perhaps that of Will. Flower Noirroy, taken A. D. 1659. 34.

This is likewise done by way of Narration; & is crossed over like that of Staffordshire. Here are also some other Pedegrees added by St. Henry St. George, &c.

17. Armes, in Trick, of the Staffordshire Gentry. but turned up-side down. 57.

18. Short Descents of several Families; seeming to be taken from Inquisitions. 62. b.

What follows, I take to have been collected by an Antiquary much noted in his time, Mr. Laurence Bostock of Cheshire; and to be, for the most part, of his own hand-writing.

19. Some Pedegrees of Cheshire-Families, and of the adjacent Counties. 63.

And here, intermingled, I find,

20. The Epitaph of Sir Nicholas Moseley Kt. a Woollen Draper. 64. b.

2114.

A thin Heraldical book in folio, at one end whereof I find,

1. A generall Cathologue of all the Knights made by King James, gathered into a perfect Alphabett, with the place of their Knighthood, the Yeare of our Lord, and the day of the Moneth; truly maſhalled in their Rancks, from the firſt Yere of his Maſteſties Raigne, vntill this preſent . . . day of March, 1616-17.

By turning the book, & beginning at the other end I find,

2. Part of an original Regiſtre of the Officers of Armes, wherein are entred their Partitions among themſelves of ſeverall Sums of money which came to them by way of Largeſs from Queen Elizabeth, upon uſual days; or as benevolence from noble & worſhipful Perſons, upon their Attendance at the Juſts: or as Fees upon the Creation of new Knights: from Twelfth Day, 1558-9. to Twelfth Day, 1560-1. both included.

Here Mr. Norroy, (whom I take to have been Laurence Dalton) was accuſed of having the foule diſeaſe, and of communicating the ſame to his Wife; and was therefore excluded ſometimes from the whole of his Dividend, ſometimes from part of it; from going to the Court; & appearing at their Chapters. And here are Inſtances of the cutting-off part or the whole ſhares of other Officers, as occaſions happened.

3. At fol. 8. is a Copie of a bill, whereby Raphe Thorowton of Cheſter Tanner acknowledged himſelf Debtor to Thomas Tomlinſon Cowper, in the ſum of ten Pounds, dat. 1 Maie, 1619.

2115.

A Book in folio, written by divers hands, both antient & modern; & conſiſting of ſeveral Tracts & looſe papers now bound up together; being, on the outside thus entituled, "Halton-Priviledges, & ſeveral Inquiries

Num. 2115.

tions, with other Records concerning Cheshire, &c." Of which I shall proceed to give the following brief Account.

1. The third Randle Holme's Catalogue of the things of most note in this book at the beginning.

This is followed by

2. His Fathers Alphabet of the names of Townes or Lands in Com. Cestr. & alibi, as also of other notes mentioned in this book; made in December 1639. And

3. His Alphabet of surnames for this booke; made the same year.

What is said of their making, is to be understood of their being begun; but since that time they have been finished by other hands.

These being dispatched, we come to the Book itself, the first part whereof contains a large & numerous Collection of Writings or Precedents, of different kinds, relating principally to the County-Palatyne of Chester; the most remarkable of which, I take to be these that follow.

4. Inquisitio post mortem Johanne Conwey nuper uxoris Johannis Conwey Armigeri, capta anno 18 R. Henrici VIII. 38. b.

5. A large Presentment of the Millers belonging to Dee-Mylnes for their multifarious Extortions, ann. 10 Rich. II. 48. b.

27. Copie of the Certificate given at Chester by the Commissioners, to those who had paid their Assessment of the second Payment of the second Subsidie, given by Parliament to Qu. Elizabeth, anno Regni 43. ibid.

Then follow, among other matters of less moment,

28. Copia Carte Generalis facte per Dñm Henricum quondam Ducem Lancastrie, Tenentibus suis de Widenesse, translata de Gallico, in Anglicum. 108.

This, the second Randle Holme had of Sir Thomas Aston Baronet, A.D. 1636.

29. Extract from an Exemplification of a Record, copied by the same Mr. Holme, from one of Mr. William Vernon's books: shewing the Estates held by divers Gentlemen of antient Cheshire-Families. 108.

30. Extenta Castri de Halton, cum pertinentijs, facta anno 2do Regis Edwardi III. taken from the Record. 109.

31. The Names of several of the Kinges Tenants in his Lordships of Over-Whitlegh & Cogeshall; with the money they granted to give toward the repaire of the Church of Budworth, 17 Febr. anno 30 R. Henr. VIII. 111.

Copied by the same Mr. Holme, from Sir Thomas Aston's Roll, A.D. 1639.

32. Collections from the Court-Books & Rolls of Halton in Com. Cestr. in the hands of Mr. John Wilson, &c. by the same Mr. Holme, A.D. 1639. 113.

And here I find,

33. Part of a bill of Complaint against Sir Peires Dutton Kt. by William Brereton the Kings Steward of his honor of Halton; anno 23 R. Henrici VIII. ibid.

It seems that one Rich. Penkethman did take one Fish Royal called a Sturgeon in the Lordship of Weston, within the Liberties of the said Honor, which he would have deliver'd up at Halton-Castle, but that Sir Peires (entending to defeave & disinheret the Kinge of the sayd Fish, and also of all other Fishes Royall hereafter to be taken in Weston, (wherein he hath no meddling, nor dowing) in a riotous manner, took the same away.

34. A Petition of Sir Piers Dutton to the Chancellor of the Duchy, against Richard Starkey, whom he accused of embesiling & privately conveying away diuers Records of the Court of Halton, wherein was mentioned such Persons as held Lands of the King by Knights Service, Soccage-Tenure, & Coppie-hould; whereby the Kinge loofeth Gard, Marriage, & Releif, &c. of divers: but also other Roules containing real & personall Actions: with Starkey's Answer. 113.

35. Bill of Complaint of Thomas Aston Esq; the Kings Attorney within the Fee of Halton, to William Fitz Williams Erle of Southampton, & Chancellor of the Duchy; against Sir Peires Dutton Deputy-Steward of Halton, for his many wrongs, & irregular proceedings, (ann. 30 Henr. VIII.) 114.

40. The third Randle Holme's Alphabetical Table to the Armes abovementioned. At the end.

2117.

A Book in small folio, written by divers wands, but mostly by the second Randle Holme & his son; who, on the out-side, has thus entituled it, "York-shire Deedes, &c." which being somewhat too general; I shall describe it a little more particularly, as in the following manner,

1. Index Locorum; or an Alphabetical Table of the Names of Places mentioned in this Book. At the beginning.

2. The Names of the Townes of Yorkshire, with the severall Liberties & Weapontackes wherein they stand. 212.

3. Abbreviationes de Terris in Comitatu Eboracenfi; ex Libro de Domestday in Scaccario. 227.

To this Tract is prefix'd an Original Letter of Dr. Richard Keurden (perhaps, to the second Randle Holme) shewing that he and M^r T. (whom I take to be M^r Towneley) were taking great pains in collecting the Pedegrees of Cheshire-Families, &c. To which end he had perused the Book of Domestday; and hoped likewise to borrow some Volumes of Mr. Dodsworth's Collections of the Lord Fairfax: perhaps, by the meane of M^r Tilleyson, who is here mentioned.

4. Abstracts of Nine Deeds relating to the Priory of Drax, or to the Church of Bingley; made from the Originals in the possession of the third Randle Holme, by himself, A. D. 1667. 266.

5. Abstracts of old Deeds relating to Yorkshire, collected by the second Randle Holme from M^r Roger Dodsworth's Book marked AA. 269.

In this Tract I likewise find,

6. The Names of sundry Fryeries, Guldes, Chantries, in & adjoining to the City of Yorke, in former Ages. 274.

7. Nomina quorundam Abbatum Monasterij S^æ Marie Ebor. 274. b.

Then follow,

8. Like Extracts from old Deeds, entred into Mr. Dodsworth's Book BB. 293.

It seems that these were first collected by St. Lo Kniveton Esq; & then copied by Richard Galcoigne Esq.

Num. 2117, 2118.

Esq; and do concern many other Counties as well as that of Yorkshire; being also taken from Books, and other Records, in part.

9. Collectanea ex Libro composito de Inquisitionibus de Officio captis in Scaccario, ex parte Rememoris Regis. 309.

10. Abstracts of Pleas, out of mss. now in the hands of Mr. Roger Dodsworth, 24 May 1632; being in Paper in folio, with this marke Δ in dorso. 314.

11. Abstracts of Pleas, taken from that book of Mr. Dodsworth's above-mentioned at § 8. 320. b.

Among these Abstracts of Pleas, several might have been particularly noted in this short Catalogue, had not these Abstracts been too concise, or too erroneously written. However, I take leave, by the by, to just mention two or three Trials vizt.

12. That held at the Halymote of Colne, anno 35. R. Henrici vi. before Richard Nevil Earl of Salisbury, then Steward of the Court: where it was pleaded (upon a Claim of an Estate) how Agnes the Widow of John Banastre of York, dicto Johanni viro suo nequiter, perverse, et non feminè disposita, sed calide & subtiliter imaginans qualiter Causam quomodo a Consortio dicti Johannis separari poterit, acquireret: ita quod per legem Ecclesiasticam, a Mensa & Thoro suis divorciari poterit: She imposed upon John Bishop of the Isle, by procuring him to receive & accept of herself a Commater, at his confirming of her Daughter (whereby, she contracted another Relation to her Husband.) 319.

13. That held anno 34 R. Edw. 1. when William the Son of John del Heith lost his Estate to his Unkle, quia convictus est per Affirmationem istam, quod predictus Johannes del Heith nunquam disponavit predictam Katherineam in facie Ecclesie; per quod sequitur, quod predictus Willelmus nihil Juris clamare potest in predictis Tenementis. Yet a sort of Marriage had been celebrated between them, for John being sick, the Vicar of Plumsted advised him, for his Souls health, to marry the said Katherine his Concubine, by whom he had two Daughters: whereupon this John in his own House, coram Vicario, predictam Katherineam spontanea Voluntate sua affidavit, et Annulum digito ipsius Katherine imposuit, et verba consueta ad Matrimonium contrahendum, absq; Missæ celebratione, pronuntiavit; eo quod, propter debilitatem, ad Ecclesiam accedere non potuit; et ipsam ex tunc, ad totam Vitam ipsius Katherine, pro Uxore tenuit; et postea procreavit filium, nomine Willelmum, de ipsa Katherinea. 339.

The last I shall now mention, Is 14. That of John Devereux, who (anno 29 R. Edwardi 1.) would not be compelled by Margery the Daughter of Philip de la Walles, to marry her, against his own Will. 341.

2118.

An Heraldical Book in small folio, written by divers Hands, during the Reign of K. Charles 1. as it seems to me; and by the third Randle Holme, on the back, entitled "Yorkshire-Pedegrees:" wherein I find.

1. A Collection of Pedegrees of Yorkshire-Families, which are ranged together in Alphabetical Order, (as the Heralds & Armes-painters understand it) that is regarding only the first Letter of their Sur-names. 1.

2. A like Collection of Pedegrees of good Families residing within the Bishoprick of Durham. 35. b.

3. Yorkshire Descents, Alphabetically: that is, a larger and different Collection from the former, ranged in the like Order. 48.

It may be observed that the said Randle Holme has made divers Additions & Continuations to each of these Tracts; and has brought down some of the Pedegrees as low as the time of the Restoration, or lower.

CAM. HARL. VOL. II.

Num. 2119.

2119

A Book in small folio, consisting of Papers as well loose, as bound; written by many Hands, and on the outside, by the third Randle Holme, entitled "Cheshire Pedegrees &c. which Title, although it might give a notion of the subject-matter treated of therein, in the general; I shall, nevertheless, endeavour to describe the same some-what more particularly, in the manner that followeth. As,

1. Notes touching the several Heraldical Visitations of Cheshire; when made, & by whom. 1. b. & 6.

2. List of such Gentlemen whose Descents seem to have been registered Gratis, at the Visitation of Shropshire, A. D. 1663. according to my new Numeration with black Lead; as are all that follow. 2.

3. List of some of those Persons names who were concerned with the Lord Cobham against K. James 1. and in the Gun-powder-Treason-plot. 2. b.

4. The Names of such Esquires as entered their Descents & Armes, in the Visitation of Shropshire taken anno 1663 (by William Dugdale Norroy) some of them having that Title, as Justices of Peace. 3.

This is begun by Sir William Dugdale's own hand; and continued by that of another.

5. The Names of such Esquires as did enter their Names and Armes, in the Visitation of Cheshire (made by the same Norroy, & by Mr. Elias Ashmole Windford-Herald, his Son in Law) anno 1663; some of them having that Title as Justices of Peace. 3. b.

This is written & continued by the same Hands as the former.

6. List of some Cheshire-Gentlemens Names; like that above-mentioned at No. 2. & by the same Hand. 4.

7. Alphabetical Table containing the Sur-names of those Families whose Pedegrees were described in certain Rolls belonging to the third Randle Holme of Chester. 8.

8. Pedegrees written within several of the said Mr. Holmes Books of Deeds. 15.

Then follows

9. The main Collection of Cheshire-Pedegrees, begun by the second Randle Holme, and carried on by divers others; with Continuations to late Years by Randle Holme the third. 18.

Among which, I observe,

10. The Names of the Manors, Lordships, Townes, & Lands, which Sir Geoffrey Sonne of Adam de Dutton gave away among his Gentlemen, Yeomen, &c. 19. b.

This was on the back-side of Duttons Pedegree, which the second Randle Holme had of Sir Thomas Aston.

11. A Descent of Dutton, noted to be very false, though it was confirmed by William Flower Norroy, & by Chester Harauld his Marshall. 20. b.

12. Original Letter of Henry Travers to the third Randle Holme, or his Son, dated 16 November 1699. and exhorting him to be just to his young Nephew George. 29.

13. Copie of the said Mr. Holme's Certificate touching the Truth of Alderseys Pedegrees; 11 Jan. 1699. 29. b.

14. Copie of the Patent of Laurence Dalton Norroy, granted to Sir Thomas Venables Knight Baron of Kinder-ton, whereby the Armes (with the Augmentation of a Dragon) and the Crest, being a Demy-Dragon, were confirmed to him & his Family: 2 November, 1560: 36.

Here it is fabled, that "in the time of Thomas Venables of Golborne in the County of Chester Gentleman, hit chancyd a terrible Dragon to remayne & make his abode in the Lordshippe of Moston in the County of Chester; where he devoured all such persons as he layd hold on. Which the said Venables hearinge tell of, consideringe the pittysfull and dayly destruction of the people without without recouery (in following the example of the valiant Romaines, & other worthy men; not regarding his own Life, in comparifon of the Commodity & Safegarde of his Countrey-men) did in his one perfon valiantly & courageously fet-on the faid Dragon. Where firft he fhott him throw with an Arrow, and afterward, with othere Weapons, manfully flew him: at which infant tyme, the faid Dragon was devowring of a Child. For which worthy & valiant Act, was giuen him the Lordfhip of Mofton, by the Auncestors of the Earle of Oxford, Lord of the Fee there. And alfo euer fince, the faid Thomas Venables & his Heires, in remembrance thereof, haue ufed to beare as well in his Armes, & in their Crest, a Dragon."

Upon occafion of this Story, I beg leave to make one Reflection; which is, that fundry Families of great Antiquity & Splendor, & well known to have been in chief rank in their feveral Counties, for many Generations; with which Glory their Pofterity might have been well contented: have, nevertheless, attempted to outfhine their Neighbours, by adding a gliftring & falfe Light to their native Luftre, borrowed from Ignorance & Impofture; and which upon the firft attentive view of any judicious Perfon, not only difappears, but leaves a fort of mifty doubtfulnefs, upon what was before apparent, granted, & refpected: as in the Cafe before us of Venables & his Dragon. Which I fhall endeavour to match by another Dragon-quelling Story, which is too grofs to need any Confutation. I find it in the ms. No. 2118. at fol. 39. and it is in the words following: "Sir Jo. Conyers de Stockburne Knt. whoe flew the monftrous venom'd, & poyfon'd Wiverne, Ask, (Asp?) or Worme, which overthrew & devour'd many People in Fight. For the Scent of the Poyfon was fo ftrong, that noe Perfon was able to abide it. Yet he (by the Providence of God) overthrew it; and lyes buried at Stockburne, before the Conquest. But before he did enterprife it (haueing but one Child) he went to Church in compleate Armour; and offer'd up his Sonne to the Holy Ghost. Which Monument is yet to fee; and the place where the Serpent lay, is called Grayftone."—Thus, in the fame ms. at fol. 34. the Family of Welby is faid to have been derived from "Jo: dñs Cayfton alias Welby, who took part with Iptney Earle de Reilvoir contra Willelmum Conq. anno Domini 1066."—Thus in the Narrative Pedegree of Hamden of Hamden, (to be found in the Vifitation-books of Buckinghamfhire) I find thefe words at the beginning, "hit was foe that there was a Commiffion at Hampden, directed to Hampden as a Commiffioner, to helpe to putt out the Danys"—Thus, the Family of Afburnham derive themfelves from one Bertram de Afburnham, who they pretend to have been King Harold's General of the Horfe, againft William the Conqueror; and caufed a Print, as of his Effigies, to be inferted into Blome's Edition of Gwyllim's Difplay of Heraldry, which came out A. D. 16. . . where this valiant Bertram is represented in Armor, with a Scarf upon it, and a fort of Collar-Band; all as ufually worn in the Reign of K. Charles the Firft. I could mention feveral other Pedegrees remarkable in this way, (without examining into the Roll of Battel-Abbey) but think what is now remarked, may fuffice.

15. Original Letter of George Hyde to the third Randle Holme, concerning his own Family & that of Venables. 36.

16. Some Defcents noted to be falfe, and to have been made by one Sankey a Contriver of Falfe Pedegrees; who, at length, fled into Portugal. 39. 39. b. 43. b.

17. Confirmation of Armes & Crest, to John Hyde of London Gent. by Robert Cooke alias Clarencieux. dated the fecond of April 1571. 52. b.

18. How K. Henry vi. anno Regni 29. by Letters Patents, releafed the Tax laid upon the County of Chelster by the Parliament of England, upon a Representation laid before him. 60.

1. An old Law-Common place-book, in Law-French.
2. The Answer of . . . Relict of Richard Bagnall, to the Exceptions taken against her Husbands Estate. At the end.

A Book in small folio, incorrectly transcribed per Jacobum Miller, A. D. 1607. being a Copie of the Plays or Interludes which were wont to be publicly performed by the Citizens of Chester; of which I have before made some mention in my Description of the ms. 96. A. 1. where the Plays are the same as in this Exemplar (the Prologue or Banes excepted, which are not here) and therefore need not be repeated in this Catalogue; there being likewise a Table referring to them all at the end of the book.

To this book some-body hath prefixed a sort of Title & Tradition (different from that which the second Randle Holme added to the other) which are expreffed in these words: "The Whitfun playes first made by one Don Randle Heggenet a Monke of Chester Abbey who was thrise at Rome before he could obtaine leaue of the Pope to haue them in the English tongue. The Whitfun playes were playd openly in pageants by the Cittizens of Chester in the Whitfun Weeke. Nicholas the fift then was Pope" (in the year of our Lord 1447.) "Sir Henry Francis sometye a Monke of the Monestery of Chester. obtained of Pope Clemens a thousand daies of pardon, and of the Bishop of Chester 40 dayes, for euery perfon that reforted peaceably to see the same playes, and that euery perfon that disturbed the same to be accursed by the said Pope, vntill such tyme as they should be absolved thereof. This seems to have been written Anno, 1628.

A Book in folio written by several hands (but principally by the second and third Randle Holme) and treating almost wholly about the City of Chester & its affairs: wherein, not to insift upon every minute Article, I find,

1. The third Randle Holme's Catalogue of the Things of chieftest Note in this Booke. At the beginning.

This seems to have been taken with a view of using the Book as a Chester Man, who was curious as to the History & Antiquities thereof: which, I not thinking to be so proper to be followed here, shall make only these Observations, in turning over the same.

2. A List of certain learned Men borne in Chester; & of some of our English Historians born in other places. 180. b.

3. Breife Notes of the Antiquitye of the famose Cittie of Chester: with the Succession of Mayors & Sherifffes since Sir Walter Lynett Knighte was first Mayor; with many Additions, and Continuations of Transfactions, by the second Randle Holme, to the 5 of October 1651. 181. (et vid. 258. & 268. et vid. 271. & 346.)

In this Treatise, I likewise observe,

Num. 2125.

4. An Account of the old Earles of Chester. 185. (et vid. 258. b.)
5. A Succession of the Bishops of Chester, down to Dr. John Bridgman. 186. b. (et vid. 263.)
6. A Succession of the Deanes of Chester; continued to Dr. Henry Bridgeman, installed A. D. 1661. 189. & 265.

7. Customes & Prifes which used, of ould tyme, to be taken by the Keeper of the Bridge-Gate for Goods & Commodities brought into the City. 189. b.

8. The joyninge of all the Trades of ould Tyme, as they played the Whitfun-playes, and the Parties they played on Munday, Tufdaye, & Wensdaye in Whitfun-Weeke. 190.

9. The Oathes of the Magestrates & Officers in the Citye of Chester; taken when they enter upon their Offices. 191. et 193.

10. A printed Paper containing the Othe of every Free-man of the Citie of London, temp. R. Eliz. 192.

11. Names of many of the Recorders of Chester. 194. b. et 269.

12. Names of the Common-Council of the City of Chester, 20 January 1628. 195. b.

13. Names of many of the Maiors & Shireves of Chester; and particularly of those whose time of serving is incertain. 195. b. & 195. B. b. et 196. b.

Then follow the Annals of Chester, or Succession of the Maiors & Sherifffes abovementioned at No. 3. and which may be a little faulty, especially at the beginning. It is called Geo. Bellen's Catalogue. 197.

The last Tract is succeded by another containing much-what the same matter with what hath been mentioned before in several Articles, where (to avoid repetition) I have referred to this. Yet I find here, fresh, 14. Some account of the ould Churches in Chester, now ruined. 267.

In another Series of the Maiors & Sherifffes of Chester (beginning at fol. 271.) from A. D. 1257. to A. D. 1705. being continued by the second Randle Holme, his Son, Grandson, &c. with Notes of remarkable Occurrences, like the former, I observe, 15. A Lampon made by Mr. Geo. Bostock, of Churton, upon Mr. Edward Button, who was Maior of Chester, A. D. 1616. between the leaves 305. & 306. loofe.

16. Original Letter of the Lord Viscount Savage to the first Randle Holme then Maior of Chester, dated 9 Aug. 1634. 308.

He writes very kindly; and promises to interpose his good Offices with the Earl Marshall (Thomas Howard) in Case he should have conceived any disagreeable thoughts toward the City in general, or him in particular.

17. Narration of the matter of fact, as it passed, whereby that great Peer thought himself affronted by Mr. Maior above-mentioned (as to which, more may be seen in the Book 96. B. 22. fol. 32. 2.) 309. b.

18. Hasty Sketches of the Fashion of many large Pieces of Plate, given from the City, in tyme of the Wars. A. D. 1643. & 1644. 316.

19. The second Randle Holme Speeches which he spake publicly at his Entrance into the Office of his Maiorality. A. D. 1643. and upon his going out, A. D. 1644. written by himself. 318.

20. His Copy of a Speech he made to Prince Rupert, at his coming to Chester, 11 March 1643. 319.

21. A Diary of the happy Successe obtained by Sir William Brereton, against Sir Thomas Aston of Aston (then Commander of the Kings Army in Cheshire) from his coming from London into Cheshire, 28 January 1642. to 16 July 1646. printed at London the same Year. 321.

22. Articles concluded upon, 1 February, 1645. betweene the Comitioners appoynted on the behalfe of John Lord Byron, Feild Marshall Generall of North Wales,

Num. 2125, 2126.

Wales, & Gouvernor of Chester, on the one Party: & the Comitioners on the behalfe of Sir William Brereton Bart. Commander in Cheife of all the Rebell-Forces of Cheshier, and the Leaguer before Chester, on the other Party; for the Surrender of the City of Chester, with the Castell & Fort thereof. 328.

23. The Boundaries of some Territory; which, perhaps, may be that environing and belonging to the City of Chester, between fol. 332 & fol. 333, loose.

24. The third Randle Holme's Opinion, as to precedence in public Processions; given, as I conceive, upon a Dispute between the Tailors & Weavers of Chester, A. D. 1690, between fol. 343 & 344, loose.

25. Historical Notes relating to Chester, and to its Earles & Justices; but principally, in Order to the fixing a Series of its Maiors & Sheriffs, down to the year 1616. 344.

2126.

A Book in folio, consisting of many single Papers & Tracts, now bound up together; and exhibiting many Accompts, Rentals, Receipts, &c. in several Parts of Cheshire, during the time of the Civil War, or soon after.

1. Moneys disbursed by the Constables of Over, A. D. 1646, with part of an Account of the Rapine committed by some of the Parliament-Souldiers there. 220.

2. Proposition-money advanced to the Rebels in Over, &c. with Accompts of their Rapine, Free-quarterings, Thefts, &c. 222.

4. Rents receiued of the Malignant's Lands, for seven Rent-Stages of the parties hereafter named, being of the Inheritance of John Earl Rivers (A Fragment). 254.

5. Two Copies of a Letter, subscribed George Leicester, Richard Leigh, &c. & sent 27 Jañry 1645, to Mr. Bradshawe, signifying to him, that Christ church College in Oxford having lett the Tithes of Knottesford to one Mr. Wheeler, & he having assigned the same to Mr. Charles Trinder, they desire him to use his Authority with Mr. Trinder to allow them some fitting Stipend (as 30 pounds per ann.) for the continuance of a godly & able Minister in the Chapell of Knottesford; adding, that in case he should refuse so to do, they believed the People would be foe ready to looke after their owne Rights, that Mr. Trinder would scarcely enjoy his Title in those Tythes & Glebe-Lands, with so much advantage to himself, as he might do otherwise. And further beseeching him to moue the Committee for a speciall Order, for a competent allowance to their Parochial Chapell, forth of the College-Rents due within the Parish of Rosthorne; for lesse then 100 pounds per annum, would scarcely engage an able man to any Church, much lesse to theirs. which was a full Congregation. 255.

6. A Ballance of his Majesties Ordinary Receipts & Payments, made by a Medium of 5 Yeares, upon Certificate from the Officers of the Renew, by severall Warrants, anno 1635, to December 1640. 257.

7. A Booke of Receipts & Disbursements, what William Hammond Cla. haue recd, and how he hath disburt the Money hee gathered of 27 Mizes, A. D. 1644. 261.

This Accompt contained 72 pages; of which the first 27 are wanting.

2127.

A thin Book in folio, on the out-side, by the third Randle Holme entituled "Songs & Sonnets." Looking into it, I find such a Collection indeed, written by different Hands (for the most part bad enough) besides which here are Epitaphs, Lampoons, Libells, &c. in Prose, as well as in Verse; particularly, some against the Welsh and Scots; some for King Charles the first, the Bishops, &c. and others against them; yet none, in my poor Opinion, considerable enough to be particularly mentioned here; or to keep me longer from describing the next Book; which is 2128.

A Book in folio, consisting of many particular Papers & Tracts now bound up together; being (for the most part) of a like nature with those in the last Book save one; and further sett forth the Sufferings of the King's loyal Subjects, by those who acted for the Parliament during the late Civil War. In describing them, I shall use the old method, and begin with,

1. The third Randle Holmes Table of the Things of most Account in this Book. Which is followed by

2. Accounts of Proposition-Money lent; & other Costs & Damages sustained by the Inhabitants of the Towneship of Hollingworth, for severall Years. 1.

270. Notes taken in the same Church by the Hand above mentioned at No. 113. 184. b.
 271. Fragment of a Description of the Hundred of Rocheford, taken in the Perambulation of Essex. (vid. supra, No. 124.) 185. b.
 272. Notes taken at Leverpoole-Church, in the Countie of Lancafter. A. D. 1590. 186.
 273. Notes taken at Namtwyche-Churche, by the same Hand. 186. b.
 274. Notes taken in Warrington-Priory-Church; (different from those before mentioned at No. 269.) 188. & 190.
 275. Descent of Bothe. 188. b.
 276. The second Randle Holmes Notes, taken in Farnworth-Church in Com. Canc. 27 Febr. 1635. 189.
 277. More Notes taken in Rydgeley-Church, in Com. Stafford. 190.
 278. Notes taken at Colwyche-Church, in Com. Cestr. ibid.
 279. Notes taken in Lymme-Church, in Com. Cestr. A. D. 1562. ibid.
 280. Notes taken in the Mynster at Lichfield. 190. b.
 One of them shewes a figure of Sir George Stanley, as naked to his Girdle (perhaps, because he might die during the time of Pennance enjoined) but from under his short Garment, proceed his Thighs and Legs armed; Spurs at his Heels, as a Knight, & a Sword by his side.
 Now follows another Heraldical Treatise written by a different Hand, and containing, 281. Armes in Blason borne by divers Noblemen of the Name of Holand. 191.
 282. Sir George Carewes Scroule of Coates; collected from Churches of Devonshire, &c. ibid.
 These are in Blason; and the Crosses before them shew that they have been entred, from hence, into some other book: the hand that wrote it, by fol. 219. b. & 220. seems to be that of Thomas Chaloner.
 283. The Armes & Howses of the Hollands, with their severall Differences, according as they remain at this day, Anno domini, 1588. 119. b.
 This is done by Thomas Chaloner above-mentioned.
 284. Armes, with Quarterings of Henshawe of Henshawe-Hall; & of Smyth of Houghe; both in Cheshire: by the same hand. 220. b.
 285. A Note taken from Cunstun or Cunsdon, within the Bishopricks of Durham; putt down by the third Randle Holme. 221.
 286. His Note taken in Walton-Church, in Com. Leicestr. ibid.
 287. His Notes taken in Benenden in Kent. 221. b.
 288. His Notes taken from Wormesley-Abbey in Com. Hereford. 222.
 289. His Note taken in Frolsworth-Church in Com. Leicestr. 222.
 290. His Notes taken at Holt, or the Town of Lions, in Com. Denbigh. 222. b.
 291. His Note taken at Ashby-Folville in Com. Leicestr. ibid.
 292. His Note taken at Ighfield in Com. Salop. 223.
 293. Epitaph of William Hooks of Conway, Gent. who was the 41st Child of his Father; and was himself the Father of 27 Children, & died the 20th of March 1637. 224.
 294. A Note concerning Jane Price of Dwyrd in Meryonithshire, who deceased 1 August 1694; who had 12 Children, 47 Grand Children, and 13 Great Grand Children. 224.
 This Paper, is now loose, as are some others that follow containing some Epitaphs, &c. which require not to be particularly mentioned.

Num. 2133, 2134.

2133.

A Book in small folio written by divers hands; on whose out-side the third Randle Holme hath written the following Title, "Maiors of Chester, and other Affaires which fell out in their Yeares." But I find therein,

1. His Account of the Thinges of most Note in this Booke; taken, anno 1668. At the beginning.

2. A Collection of the Maiors who haue governed this Cittie of Chester. 471.

It may be observed that the Collector hath prefixed to it, many Notes relating to the Scituation & Description as well of the Shire, as of the Citie; and to the Antiquitie of the Cittie, with the Priveledges & Grauntes to the same, both from the Erles thereof, and allso from the Kinges of this Realme; which he hath borrowed from Speeds Chronicle; the Chronicle of Wales; Stowe's Chronicle; the Collections of the worthie & grave Citizen Mr. William Alderfay the elder, Merchant; and other Authorities.

The Succession of Maiors has a short Preface prefixed by the said Randle Holme; and begins at 487. The Method observed by the Writer all along, is different from that of other Books of this kind. He divides his Work into Eight parts, and puts the same into as many Columns, which are wider or narrower, according as the matter required. Into the first, he puts the Year of our Lord; the second, gives the several Months of the Year; the third, shewes Easter-Day & the Dominicall Letter; the fourth, the Golden Number; the fifth, declares the Day of the Month the Kings Yeare began; the sixth, offers the current Years of the Kings Raigne; the seventh, remembers you of the Number of Years passed, at the Time when these Annals were made; & the eighth furnisheth you with the Names of the Maiors & Sheriffes of Chester, with remarkable Occurrences happening there & elsewhere, from A. D. 1240, to A. D. 1617, inclusive; and so by way of Continuation, by a more unable hand, to A. D. 1635.

3. Part of Mr. Robert Rogers's Collections, concerning the antient State of the Cittie of Chester. 533.

4. The abovementioned Randle Holme's Succession of the Maiors & Sheriffes of Chester from A. D. 1240, to A. D. 1509, inclusive: with References to his Books, for Proofs. 546.

He observes, that from the year last mentioned, most of the like Catalogues agree, and are true.

2134.

A Book in folio, by the third Randle Holme, on its back, thus entitled, "Derbyshire, & other Pedegrees." In turning it over, I find,

1. A Pedegree of Fulnetby. 900.

2. Pedegree of Catherall; dated A. D. 1599. 95.

3. Descent from Bird & Bulkeley, to Catherall. 96.

A thin Book in folio, consisting of a Collection of Papers, as well Originals as Copies, relating principally to the public Affairs of the City of Chester, before, during, & after the Civil Wars; being bound up together (but not in the exactest order) by the third Randle Holme; who, at the beginning, hath

Num. 2135.

perfixed this Title to the whole, "Seuerall Letters from the City of Chester & from the Lords, Gentry, &c. to them during the Warrs betwixt the King & Parliament, 1641. 1642. &c." They are;

1. His Majesties Letter to the Maior & Aldermen of Chester; given, at Oxford, 7 November 1643, being signed by His Majesty, & counter-signed by the Lord George Digby. At the begining without a Number:

Hereby, he gave them, or any foure or more of them (the second Randle Holme then Maior being of the Quorum) full Power & Authority, from time to time to lease & take the Lands & Hereditaments, as also the Goods & Chattells of Sir William Berereton & William Jolly, and all others in actuall Rebellion against him, or adhering or contributing to the Rebels, within the County of the City of Chester. or elsewhere in Cheshire; within Five Miles of the said City; and all Arrearages of Rents due for the same Lands. As alsoe to receive all such Summes of Money as are due to Citizens of London as are Rebels, or to others in Rebellion; or adhering or contributing to the Rebels. All which Moneys they were required to dispose & distribute to & for the maintenance of his Garrison in the City and Castle of Chester; and likewise towards the Entertainment of Sir Abraham Shipman Knight, Commander there.

2. Original Letter of the Lord Digby (as it seemes; for his Name is not subscribed) to the same Mr. Holme; Maior of Chester, dated from Oxford; 9 November 1643.

Shewing that the Kings entrusting them with the whole disposing of the Estates of disaffected Persons; was a thing of so much consequence, that if it were well husbanded, it would very farre exceede the ordinary Pay & Charges of the Garrison. And that His Majesty had said that he (Mr. Holme) who was Treasurer so well for the City last Yeare; must needs be a good Treasurer for him & the City this yeare.

3. Original Letter from His Majesty, & countersigned by Sir Edward Nicholas, to the Maior, Aldermen & Inhabitants of Chester; given at Oxford, the 13th of November 1643.

That, upon the approach of the Rebels, he had giuen Order to Sir Abraham Shipman to command in Chief there. That for their relief, he had designed considerable & present force, which he hoped would be tymly with them from seuerall parts; not doubting but that they would take Course by all waies to defend the City; and that their owne Observation had taught them that it had bin costly & disadvantageous to those Citties, who hauing bin lost, haue (vppon necessity of the Place) bin regained by him.

4. Original Letter of James Butler Earle of Ormonde, & Lord Lieutenant of Ireland: given at the Castle of Dublin, the 3d of February 1643, to the same Maior of Chester.

Recommending a Band of Souldiers sent from Ireland, to his good fauour & care, for their fitting Accommodation, in case the Lord Byron should be (vpon any imployment abroad) absent, at the tyme of their Arrivall.

5. Draught of a Letter from the Kings Commissioners appointed to sell the forfeited Estates of the Rebels in or near Chester; to Sir Thomas Smith, Sir Orlando Bridgman, Sir Robert Brerewood, Kts. & to Colonell Francis Gamull, then with K. Charles I. at Oxford. 2.

Complaining of the heavy Burden lying upon the Citizens by the Free-billeting of 1000 Souldiers upon them. That the Nobility, Gentry, & Clergy, utterly refuse to contribute toward the maintenance of the Garrison; that the Irish Strangers are excused; that the meaner Sort being now grown unable; and the forfeited Estates producing little; the burden lay upon the remaining Citizens, who likewise would be soon undone. That as to the Commissioners, some utterly refused to act; others others were absent: Mr. Maior sick; and the daily Execution of the Commission devolved upon four of them, who therefore were obliged to neglect their own Affairs. For which reason, the Cittizens desired to be eased as to the free Quartering of Souldiers upon them; and that a new Commission might be issued out, and a greater Number of Commissioners appointed.

6. Draught of a Letter from the Maior, Aldermen, & Sherifes of Chester, to Prince Rupert, then at Shrewsbury.

5 b. Upon occasion of his Warrant to the Commissioners of Array, for impressing of 500 Men within the City & County Palatine of Chester, for his Majesties Service, representing, that K. Henry the viii. had, by his Graunt (anno Regni 14.) exempted their City from any such impressing; and that they found, when it was last beleaguer'd, that they wanted Men sufficient for the Defence of the Works; although its Situation was such, as to be the Key of Ireland, & the Bulwark of North-Wales.

7. A printed Representation from the Commissioners of Scotland; dated 24 February 1640.

7. b. Shewing their Detestation of Episcopacy; and that they long to see Justice done upon the Lieutenant of Ireland (the Earl of Strafford) it being better that One perish then Vnity: That is, than their Combination with the Seditious here should cease.

8. Original Letter of Earl of Ormonde, to the second Randle Holme Maior of Chester; dated 15 November 1643.

8. Requiring him to take Care that the Souldiers vnder the Command of Sir Fulke Hunnckes, Sir Michell Ernle, Collonell Gibson, & Collonell Byron (upon their Landing from Ireland) be conveniently quartered, and accommodated with such Necessaries & Provisions as are fitt: whereby they may be better inabled & encouraged to doe His Majestie Service.

9. Original Letter from the same noble Lord, to the same Maior; dated 1 December 1643.

10. Recommending to his Care, another parte of his Majesties Army, vnder the command of Collonell Robert Byron, & Collonell Henry Warren, upon their landing at the Port of Chester.

10. Copie of a Letter from Prince Rupert, to the Bishop of Chester: dated from Leuerpoole, 16 June 1644.

11. Desiring him to promote a Collection throughout his Diocese, for the relief of the Kings Officers & Souldiers wounded in the late Service; and to pay the Moneys so collected, to Sir Francis Gamull Lieutenant-Governor of Chester. And that since the Kings Army was to be withdrawn from those parts, if the Rebels should attempt to take possession of the Countrey, his Clergy should exhort all persons to prepare for their own Defence; and not to adhere to, or partake with the sayd Rebels in their Persons or Estates.

11. Copie of the Kings Letter to the Cittie; given 4 Decr. 1645. (from Oxford.)

12. That he would, with all possible speed send the Lord Ashley or Sir Charles Lucas, or both, with considerable forces, to their Assistance, being besieged. But, it seemes, this was not done.

12. Copie of his Majesties Brief, given at Oxford, 27 May, anno regni, 20.

14. This was for applying all Moneys collected for the Relief of his British Subjects in Ireland and remaining in the Officers hands (by the mean of John Watfon Archdeacon of Leighlin) toward the support of Trinity-College in Dublin, which was then in such a distressed & miserable Condition that without speedie Reliefe, it was like to be dissolved.

13. Attested Copie of King Henry viiits Placard (abovementioned at No. 6.) against the impressing of any of the Inhabitants of the City of West-Chester.

15.

Num. 2135.

14. Original Letter of Thomas Wilbraham, to his Cousin dated 9 October 1642.

17. That upon the quelling of the tumult lately raised at Namptwich, besides the losse & terrour that Towne had sustained by the late devouring Troopes; the King had imposed a Fine of 2000l. upon it, without making any distinction betweene the innocent & the guilty. And that it was thought that at the Assizes, the Towne would be indicted, and severely proceeded against. That his name had been foisted into the Catalogue of the guilty, although he could prove that he & all his Servants were absent at the time of the said tumult. He therefore desires his Cousin to draw up a petition to the King, setting forth his particular Services, to the end that he might be sever'd from the Delinquents, and not pay for their falt.

15. Original Letter of John Lord Byron to the Kings Commissioners & Sequestrators, for the Cittie of Chester. dated at Chester, 29 Aprilis, 1644.

18. Desiring them, from the money remayning in their hands of the Profitts of Delinquents Lands sequestred, to pay 60l. to Sir Abraham Shipman, in part of the moneys due vnto him.

16. Original Warant of Prince Rupert, to the Maior & Sherifes of Chester; dated at Leuerpoole 18 June 1644.

20. This was for making Proclamation of a late Imposition by way of Excise, laid upon Commodities, by the aduice of the Lords & Commons assembled at Oxford, and putting the book of Rates, & the Kings Patent relating thereunto, into execution.

17. Original Letter of Prince Rupert, to the Maior, Sherifes, & Aldermen of Chester, dated at Whitchurch 19 May 1644.

22. Requiring them to receive his Serjeant-Major & General of his Ordnance William Legge, as Governor of their City; and punctually to obserue & follow such Instructions as he should deliver vnto them for the regulating of that Government.

18. Original Warant of Prince Rupert, to the Maior & Aldermen of Chester; given at Liverpoole, 11 June 1644.

23. b. Commanding them to make & settle a Rate & Assessment upon all their Inhabitants, for the maintenaunce & pay of the Souldiers of the Regiment of the said City, & the Officers of the same; as likewise of the Officers & Mynisters of the Garrison; and to pay the moneys to their Governor.

19. Draught of the Kings Commission appointing the Maior of Chester & others to be Sequestrators of the Delinquents Lands & Estates, and the money thence accruing, to be for payment of the Garrison there.

20. Original Letter of Sir? William Legge to the Maior & Aldermen of Chester, dat. 17 April 1644.

27. Acquainting them that Prince Rupert did very well allow of their Exemption from pressing any of the Inhabitants of that City. Only he desired them to take order with such loose persons as were fled thither from other Quarters, & liued out of command, that they should be sent to such Companies as they formerly serued under in his Majesties Service.

21. Original Warant of Prince Rupert, to the Maior & Sherifes of Chester, & to the Constable of the Castle of Chester. Given, at Chester, 13 March 1643.

29. Requiring, that the Prysoners in the Castle of Chester be removed into another Prison. That they should punctually obey all orders they should receiue from John Lord Byron his Feild-Marshal Generall: and to give an Account of all the money raised out of the Delinquents Estates, which was appointed towards the raising & mainteyning the Fortifications of the Cittie, to the said Lord Byron.

22. Original Letter of James Bishopp, & others (signed also by the Bishop of Meath) to the Maior & Aldermen of Chester,

Chester,

Num 2135.

Chester, dated from Trinity College in Dublin, 6 November 1643. 31.

In the behalf of Dr. Robert Maxwell, &c. who endeavouring to collect moneys for the Relief of that then miserably-afflicted College, were traduced as if they acted without the warrant of the said College.

23. A small Tract written by the second Randle Holme, shewing by particular facts, 1. How the City of Chester came to be so greatly impoverished. 2. What great Grievances the Citizens had suffered, 3. Proposals for Redresse of the same. (see more of his Papers relating to the same Affairs, at fol. 46.) 33.

24. Original Letter of Mr. Robert Brerewood Recorder of Chester, to the Maior & Aldermen there, dated at Oxford the 15th of February 1643. 36.

Acquainting them that the King had made him one of his Judges of the Kings Bench, by reason whereof he was to attende in the Lords House of Parliament as an Assistant, and therefore desires them to excuse his Absence as Recorder. That the Kings Proceedings are approved by the greater parte of the Lords and Commons there assembled; soe that that Sclander cast vpon his Majestie, that he proceeded by ill Councillours, is cleerly taken off. That of the House of Commons there were about 140. and at London but 117. whereof 17 were looked vpon as malignant as any at Oxford. That there were 45 of the Lords House; and at London but 18 or thereabouts.

25. Original Letter of Sir Francis Gamul to Randle Holme Maior of Chester. dated at Oxford, 13 February 1643. 38.

Shewing that he had received a faythful assurance of his Majesties Grace & Favour to the City. That his Expressions were full of indulgent Regard to all who have acted their Allegiance there. But if any should draw back from theare Dutye, & suffer a small occasion (i. e. a late defeat by Fairfax) to raise a highe discontent; they might helpe to destroy a good Cause by willfull negligence, or stubborn disobedience. That when Prince Rupert should come to Chester, he would answer just Petitions with wisdom and favour; having nobly promised to respect the City, &c.

26. Original Letter Patent of the above-mentioned Lord Byron, to the Maior & Aldermen Commissioners for the Garrison of Chester: dated the 25 of March 1644. 40.

Requiring them to pay to Sir Abraham Shipman Lieutenant-Governor of Chester, the halfe yeares Rents & Profits of Sir William Brereton's sequestred Lands, lying neare to the Coye.

27. A breviat of Examinations for clearing the Maior, Aldermen, & Citizens of Chester from the Plott, 22 June 1648. 42.

This is signed by Robert Duckenfield. The Plott, it seems, was affirmed to betray the City & Castle; but nothing is fastened upon the Maior or his brethren.

28. Copie of a Letter from K. Charles 1. to Prince Rupert, given at Oxford 13 February 1643. 44.

Recommending Collonell Francis Gamull (who raised a Regiment of Foote for his Service; and with the same had, with much faithfulness and resolution, defended the City of Chester, when it was attempted by the Rebels) to the Princes care and favour: willing that the said Colonell might not suffer any wrong or disadvantage, in his said Regiment during his Absence. And that if the Prince should think fitt to make him Governour of Chester, he would very well approve of the Choice.

29. A Remonstrance or Declaration of vs the Inhabitants of the County Pallattyne of Chester, whose names are subscribed, and of many more. 51.

For the maintenance of his Majesties royall and sacred Person, Honor, & Prerogative; and preservation of the Parliament, & the Priviledges thereof; and of our true & undoubted Religion, Lawes, Properties, & Liberties.

CAT. HARL. VOL. II.

Num. 2135.

30. Copy of the Kings Instructions to Prince Rupert for taking fines of Delinquents, in order to their Pardon: and restitution to their Estates: for sequestrating the Lands of Rebels; for taking Accompts of his anticipated Revenues; for receiving all publicque Moneys remaining in the hands of Collectors, &c. for leaving Monthly Contributions. Given at Oxford the fifth day of February A.D. 1643. 52. b.

31. Copie of the humble Petition of diverse of his Ma^{ties} loyall Subjects within the Cittie of Chester, to the Lords and Gentlemen now in the Commission of Array, to be executed in this Cittie. 55.

Shewing, that they hearing of the said Commission, and conceiving it to be in the Judgement of the Parliament, illegal, contrary to their expresse ordinance and orders: as alsoe of very dangerous consequence: do humbly pray that the Execution thereof may be stayed.

32. A note of the joyfull Assent given by many who putt themselves into a Posture of Armes, at the seditious training at Knutesford, 30 June 1642. for none other end and purpose but for the joynt Defence of his Ma^{ty}. & the Parl^t. together. 55.

33. Original Letter of the Earle of Ormonde, to the second Randle Holme, Maior of Chester, as it seems; dated from Dublin, 2 December 1643. 56.

Recommending another band of Soldiers sent for the Kings Service in England, to his care for good Accommodation; and requiring his Assistance and furtherance toward the revictualling the Fleet that should bring them.

34. Copies of some Letters from & to Sir William Breton, during his seige of Chester, in January 1645, all relating to his summoning, and the surrendring of the same. 57.

35. Original Letter from Sir William Legge the Governor, to Mr. Randle Holme the Maior of Chester; 24 Aug. 1644. 60.

Acquainting him that he had given order to stoppe all Cattle & Prouision from goinge out of Towne; and desiring him to have a speciall eye to the preferuation of the Markett 60.

36. Copie of a Warrant, perhaps of the Governor & Magistrates of Chester; given, 24 June 1644. 62.

Requiring the Inhabitants of all the Townes adjacent to bring in their Provision of Victualls (as Butter, Cheese, Bacon, Muttons, Veales, & Come) for the support of the Garrison, & the Reliefe of them that, by the Enemie shall be enforced to forsake the said Townes.

37. Original Warrant of John Lord Byron to Randle Holme Alderman, & William Williams Muster-master, in Chester. Given, the 19th of November 1645. 63.

Requiring them to seize all Horses vnfit & vnable for the Service or Dutie in that Garrison, and to turne them into the Rood-ee, where they would be able to liue till the Citie be relieved, and preuent the vnneccessarie Destruction of the Provisions.

38. Original Petition of Ralph Wilcoxon, to the second Randle Holme Maior of Chester. 64.

It seems that this fellow had thrown down the Crofs at Chester, or endeavoured so to do; for which he was laid in Gaol; he pretends to have been a sufferer for the Royal Cause; and that being a stranger in Chester, he knew not the situation of the Croffe, and (being in the darke) did not discern any forme of a Croffe, much lesse of any Crowne, or Armes thereon, and how in firme the Croffe was.

39. Attested Copie of an order from the said Lord Byron, Lord Field Marshall-General of his Majesties Forces, that his Majesties printed Protestation, being a Tryall general throughout all his Majesties Armys and Garrisons should be tendred to all the Inhabitants of Chester being men above 16 yeares of Age, and to all Women above fourteen yeares of Age. dat. 23 February 1643. 65.

A Book in folio, written by the hand of the third Randle Holme, and containing more of his Theological Works; as to which I being in much haste, shall say no more at this time, but proceed to.

2140.

A Book in folio, containing one Volume or part of some Cheshire-Lawyers common Place-book upon which I shall not enlarge.

2141.

An Heraldical Book in folio, on whose back the third Randle Holme hath written this Title, "Suffoulk & Norfoulk & other Pedegrees." It is written by several hands, and gives the Descents of divers of the Nobility, & many of the Gentry of other Counties besides those abovementioned; particularly of Herefordshire. Here are also some Church notes, and a few Collections from Deeds, &c. conducing to illustrate the Descent of some. Moreover, I find herein,

At the beginning,

1. The Names of all the Mayours of the Citie of Hereford, from the 7th yere of K. Richard II. to the second of K. Charles I. inclusive.

And, at the end,

2. An Alphabetical Table of the Pedegrees, entred into this book: with another like table to the Coates & Crests.

2142.

An Heraldical Book in folio, written by divers hands; upon which the third Randle Holme had bestowed this Title on the outside, "Olde Cheshire Pedegrees, &c." wherein I find,

1. An Alphabetical Table to the Descents in this Booke. At the beginning.

2. An Alphabet of Townes & Names of Places in this Booke, mentioned by Deedes.

3. The same Randle Holme's Alphabet of the names of Townes & Places mentioned in Descents in this Book; made in 1663.

Then comes,

4. The doughty Deeds that was done at the seige of Troy, within the Twöne & without.

1. An idle fragment, pretending to sett forth some of the Rudiments of Heraldry.

5. The Cheshire-Pedegrees before-mentioned.

6. Narration of the Descendants from Sir Raffe Vernon, who lived 150 years.

7. Order of the Funerall of Mr. William Booth, son & heir to Sir George Booth, who died A. D. 1636.

128. This is sett down by the second Randle Holme, who hath taken much pains in making Additions, & Continuations, &c.

8. The first Randle Holme's List of those Persons who were publickly disclaymed, at the high Crosse in Chester, by Proclamation, after sound of trumpet; att the Visitation of that County-Palatine, A. D. 1613. by Sir Richard St. George Norroy.

264. 9. A printed Precept under the Hande & Seale of Office of William Dugdale Norroy, directed to the highe Shireve of the County Palatine of Chester; & given the 6th of July, anno 16 R. Caroli II.

265. Requiring him to forbear, in any Writing or otherwise to attribute unto all such as unlawfully, and without just Authority, Vocation, or due calling, do or have done, or shall usurp, or take upon him or them any Name or title of honour or dignity, as Esquire, or Gentleman, or other: until the said Persons so assuming those Titles, shall stand to & justify the same by the Law of Armes of this his Majesties Realm.

10. List of many persons Names inhabiting within the City & County Palatine of Chester.

26. b. Some part of this seems to have been written by Sir William Dugdale before-mentioned.

After some blank Paper, and somewhat before the end, remain

11. The Antiquity of the family of Constable, taking their sur-name from the Office of Constable of Chester, called in Latin Conestabilis & Constabularius, sive Magister Militum.

The second Randle Holme for this, cites Hen. Peachams compleat Gentleman, as also Speed, Stow, Fabian, &c. 188.

2143.

A Book in folio, written by several Hands, wherein I find,

1. Abstracts or brief Reports of Trials in the High Court of Star-Chamber, in the several Reigns, to that of K. James 1. with the Orders made, or Sentences passed thereupon.

1. Then follow,

2. A note of Fees to be taken by the Judges & their Clerkes in the tyme of their Circuytes, in Ireland. 72.

This was signed by the Lord Chancellor & Judges of Ireland, 1 July 1616.

2147.

A Book in folio; seeming, in the time of Queen Elizabeth, to have been the Debt-Book of Laurence Walden a Corn-Mercht. at Kings Lynne in Norfolk; after whose death probably, it came into the hands of Jacob Chaloner, & so to the second Randle Holme, and afterward to his Son; who has on the out-side thus entituled it, "Descents & Coates of divers Shires." These three persons last mentioned have written much on the vacant places of the said Book, and also pasted upon, or otherwise added many Pedegrees, Descents, & Fragments, written by themselves & many others, among which I can perceive some of them to be of the hands of Augustin Vincent, Sampson Lennard, Richard Mundy &c. So that the whole may be called,

1. A Rhapsodical Collection of Descents, & Armes, English, Welsh, & Irish: with some other Notes miscellaneous.

At the beginning, is

Num. 2147—2149.

2. An Alphabetical Table of the Pedegrees mentioned; and

At the end

3. A like Table of the Names of the Families owning the Coates of Armes extant in this Booke: made, A. D. 1659.

Codex tenuis membranaceus in fol. minori, diversis manibus exaratus; quo continentur.

1. Apographa Litterarum atque Brevium, una cum Regesto Placitorum Forensium ad amplissimam Abbatiam S. Werburgæ Cestrensis, varijs temporibus, spectantium.

Notandum verò, hoc in optimæ notæ Codice, plurima folia jam nunc desiderari.

Præmittitur.

2. Ranulfi Holmesij tertij Index Virorum, i. e. hoc in Codice memoratorum; incipiendo tamen a folio. 53. Agmen etiam cogit,

3. Ejusdem Index Locorum, à folio 53. pariter incipiens.

2149.

A Book in folio, written chiefly by the second Randle Holme, and finished by his Son, or by his direction; who also hath on the out side given it the Title following, "Aunciant Evidence, and other Writtings concerning severall Cheshire Familyes, &c." all which I shall briefly account for under these heads.

1. The third Randle Holme's Table of those Gentlemens Names whose Evidences are here abbreviated.

At the beginning,

2. His Table of other Remarkables to be found in this Book. ibid.

Then follows, the

3. Index Locorum; begun by his Son, or Apprentice, as it should seem; & finished by himself. Now comes the Work itself, which seems to have been begun by the second Randle Holme, A. D. 1636.

Herein I observe,

4. Some Texts of Scripture alledged by him to evince the Lawfulness of Pedegrees & Armes; the Right of Inheritance; that Townes & Villages took Names from the Possessor: Examples of Burialls & Monuments: with two Notes, one from Mr. Lambard against them that take away Coat-Armors, or Grave-stones from Churches: the other from the Proclamation of 5 Hen. v. against Usurpers of Armes.

5. The second Randle Holmes Descent of divers Honorable Families who have shared in the Barony of Wich-Malbank (i. e. Nantwich) by reason of the Division of the same; as he made it for Robert Viscount Cholmondeley, A. D. 1632. 2. b.

6. Pedegree of the Family of Dutton, down to A. D. 1658. taken, by the same, from a larger, as it seems. 4. b.

Here are other Papers about that shew; with some Originals about the Giants, &c.

47. Original Letter of John Williams to the third Randle Holme, dated 28 June 1703. desiring him to marke out vpon a peice of Paper Sir Paul Pyndars Fathers & Mothers Armes: which he did accordingly. 387.

2151.

An Heraldical Book in folio, almost wholly written & tricked by the third Randle Holme, who on the back hath entituled it "Cheshire Monuments." Indeed here is a large Collection of Armes, Epitaphs, and other Inscriptions found in Cheshire, many of which may now be lost & perished. Part of these Mr. Holme copied from the Books of Mr. Sampson Erdeswike & others; the rest he added from his own eie-sight, as occasions offered. I shall say no further of it, than that it contains,

1. His Observation or Division of Tombs into sundry Ranks or Claffes; taken from the Cutts of them in printed books, such as Dugdales Warwickshire, & St. Pauls, Thoroton's Nottinghamshire, Wright's Rutlandshire, &c. within the first Cover.

2. His Table or List of the severall Churches, which have afforded notes to this Collection. At the beginning.

3. Names of the Halls & Houfes, wherein he took other notes: On the next Page.

4. The Collection of Church-notes, beginning with that of Aghton alias Afton, 21 April, 1596. 1.

2152.

An Heraldical Book in folio, written by divers hands, and (by the third Randle Holme) on the back entituled, "Pedegrees:" wherein I find,

1. An Alphabetical Table to the Pedegrees entred within this book; made anno 1669. At the beginning.

This Alphabet would have been better, if it had taken in all the Surnames of Families mentioned herein; thus, in fol. 410. b. I find mention of Sir Robert de Harley, anno 17 Edw. iii. and of Malculin de Harley, anno 29 of the same Reign, both being witnesses; yet the name of this noble Family is not in the Table abovementioned.

Then follows,

2. The

Num. 2152—2154.

2. The Names of the Heads of many Welsh Families, with their Armes in blasou; with a shorr account of their Descendants, and where they have settled; as in other Books of this sort. 260.

Intermingled with these, and also succeeding them, I find,

3. The Collection of Pedegrees mentioned before, being of Families both Welsh & English, though seeming to have been written by a Welsh-man. As to those of English Families, they are principally of Herefordshire & Shropshire; with a sprinkling of others in Worcestershire, Cheshire, & Staffordshire all jumbled together. 260. b.

Among these are some Church-notes; and a few Copies or Extracts from old Deeds.

4. Among these Pedegrees, namely at fol. 340. I find a note relating to natural History, & not to Heraldry. It is a short Account of a Tree that grew in Ashperton-Parke in the County of Hereford; which was 60 foot before it had any Bough. Then one Bough grew out so longe that a man that stood vpon the Ground might touch the end of it with his hande. Then it was fiftene Foot & halfe before it had any more Boughes. The body was 3 Fadomes in compais, and it grew very upright, &c.

The Pedegrees are succeeded by

5. The said Randle Holme's Alphabetical Table to the Coates of the cheife Houfes in Wales, as contained in this Booke; which he made anno 1669. 413. b.

6. Another Table directing to the Coates & Crests. At the end.

2153.

An Heraldical Book in folio, written (for the far greater part) by the second Randle Holme; and by his son, on the out-side thus entituled, "Pedegrees of seuerall Places." Herein I find,

1. The third Randle Holme's Alphabetical Table directing to the said Pedegrees. At the beginning.

2. The Collection itself, which is large & numerous, and both adorned & justified with tricks of Armes & Seals many Extracts from old Deeds & other Writings, and some Church notes. Moreover, it may be observed, that the third Randle hath enriched the same with many Additions, Emendations, & Continuations; in some places, down to the year 1703. 13.

In this Collection of Pedegrees, which although it be mixed, yet chiefly relates to Cheshire-Families, I take notice of

3. Confirmation of Coate & Crest to William Allen of Brudley in Com. Cestr. by Rich. St. George Norroy, dat. the 22 day of August 1613. 26.

4. Original Letter of Thom. Heape an Armes-painter, to the third Randle Holme as Deputy to Norroy, dat. 15 Oct. 1660. 49. A.

Offering his Service, to act under him within the Hundreds of Salford, Derby, & Blakeburne in Lancashire.

5. A Descent of Broster, sett down by Sir William Dugdale, A.D. 1663. 55. c.

6. Grant of a Crest to Sir George Beverley Kt. by Daniel Molyneux Ulster Kinge of Armes of Ireland. dat. 20 of January, anno 2 R. Jacobi 1. 83. b.

Here is a pretty distinct Trick of Ulster's Seal of Office.

7. Grant of a Crest to John Cranach Gent. by Rich. St. George Elq; Norroy. dat 22 August 1606. 124. b.

8. The third Randle Holmes Alphabetical Table of the Names of Places mentioned in the preceding Collection. At the end.

2154.

A Book in folio, written by different hands, upon the outside of which, the third Randle Holme hath put this erroneous Title: "Creation of Nobility; Robert Cooke, Glover Somerlett, & Jacob Chaloner Authors," &c. In it find,

Num. 2054.

1. A Coppey of Robert Cooke al's Clarencyeux Roy de Armes his Booke. 1.

This is that which is called Cookes Baronage. The present Copie is but indifferently written, & the Armes as indifferently painted; but yet, over & above, emblazoned. The second Randle Holme hath corrected or noted it in many places; and perhaps the whole Tract may have been written by him when he was a lad or youth.

Then follow,

2. Creations of Dukes from temp. R. Edwardi III. and of Marquises from Rich. II. Earls from the time of William the Conqueror; Viscounts a tempore Regis Johannis; and Barons from the time of the said Conqueror; with their Armes in Blason. 59.

This Tract may be of the hand-writing of Thomas Chaloner, who was Ulster King of Armes.

3. His Notes about K. William the Conqueror; Sir Geoffroy Charney & Sir Amerye de Pavie; with the Armes in Blason of the Douglas of Scotland. 116.

4. His breeffe Noats out of Polichronicon, touching our Nobility. 117.

5. His Succession of English Earls, according to their Counties, partly in alphabetical Order; written A. D. 1585. 127.

The second Randle Holme hath put this Note upon it, "This is to be incerted with Jacob Chaloner's Notes in Confutation of Yorke."

6. His Notes concerning the Children of our Kinge. 179.

This Tract is crossed almost all along, as having been trancribed, perhaps of the said Mr. Holme's long Roule of Kings.

7. Descents of some Kings & Queens of France, in French; by the same hand. 193.

8. Armes in Blason of the Lords Barons of England sithence the Conquest; by the same hand. 195.

9. Part of a Descent of Talbot Earl of Shrewsbury; by the same hand. 209.

10. Lift of the Knights of the Garter, in some time of Qu. Elizabeth's Reign. 210.

11. Episcopal Sees in England (These two last by the same hand as before.) ibid.

12. Orders & Degrees of Nobility in England. 211.

13. Proceffion of the Nobility, &c. to the Parliament, A. D. 1578. 213.

14. Abstract of the last Will & Testament of K. Henry VIII. 215.

Then follows another Copie of Cookes Baronage, or Treatise.

15. Of the Creation of all the Nobilitye of Englande, sithence the Conquest, vntyll this Yeare of our Lorde God, 1586, wrytten by Thomas Chaloner of Chester, in October. 235.

This seems to be of the hand so often mentioned before; & by the crosses, seemes to have been transcribed; or at least, a great part of it. The Armes are only in Blason; and here & there the second Randle Holme has been noting & amending.

16. Manner of the Creation of Edward Seymor Duke of Somerset. 308.

17. Of the Cloathe of Estate & other Ceremonies of Honour for Noble Personages, according to the auncient vsages. 308.

18. The Order of going to the Parliament, 309.

19. The Order of Batteile. 312.

20. The Affise of Armes. ibid.

21. The Order of the Obsequie of Sir William Garrett Kt. late Lord Maior of London. 313.

Most of these little Heraldical tracts above described, may have been taken from Mr. Robert Glovers Books. Lastly comes.

22. An Alphabetical Table to the whole Book. At the end.

Num. 2155:

2155:

- A Book in folio, almost wholly written by the third Randle Holme: who hath, on the back, given it this Title, "Barons of Cheshire; & Chester-Siege." It does indeed seem to consist of two Parts, and much of the first is a sort of Skeleton towards an History of Chester, consisting partly of these unfinish'd Heads,
1. His Defence of Bruite; i. e. that there was such a man as Brutus, who conquer'd this Land. But his Arguments are not convincing.
 2. Succession of the British Kings from Brute to Caffibelan.
 3. Honest Randle says that he wrote this A. D. 1693. from a MS. of Dr. Williamfon.
 4. AEs of the British Kings ruling in Brittain during the Roman Conquest.
 5. List of those Emperors of Rome, to whom the Brittaines were tributary.
 6. A Catalogue of the Roman Lieutenants in this Land, during the Britains Subjection to the Roman Government.
 7. British Kings after the Romans Departure out of Brittain.
 8. Of the Division of Brittain or Engand into 7 Kingdomes, called the Heptarchy.
 9. Of the Kings of Mercia, or Merce-land.
 10. Of the Monarchy of England.
 11. Of Hugh Lupus Earl of Chester, & his Authority.
 12. Some short Notes concerning Battles fought in our late Civil War.
 13. How K. William the Conqueror gave the Earldome of Chester to Hugh Lupus.
 14. Brief Notes concerning the Families of Dutton & Harecourt, &c.
 15. Of the Earles of Chester before the Conquest.
 16. References to the second Randle Holmes Deeds & Books, touching the old Earles of Chester; & sundry old Cheshire Families.
 17. Acts of the old Earls of Chester, from A. D. 1140. to John le Scot.
 18. Of the Barons of Cheshire.
 19. Historical Notes relating to the old Earls of Chester; by another hand.
 20. Some others collected by Sir William Dugdale from two MSS. in the Bodleian Library.
 21. The Office of Justice of Chester.
 22. Short Description of Wirrhall-Hundred.
 23. ————— Broxton-Hundred.
 24. ————— Edebury-Hundred.
 25. ————— Bucklow-Hundred.
- Most of the matter from No. 17. above, the third Randle Holme collected from the Writings of Mr. John Leigh of Ridge.
25. The Chamberlaines Office.
 26. The Sherifes Office.
 27. The Office of the Grand Serjeant.
 28. Office of the Constable of Chester-Castle.
 29. The Judicatores or Judges Office.
 30. The Chief Ranger of the Forests Office.
 31. Historical Notes relating to the Bishops and Diocese or Bishoprick of Chester.
- This Tract relates likewise to that of Coventre & Lichfeld; of which that of Chester formerly was but a part.
32. Of the Roman Votive Altar found at Chester; a Trick of it: & an Explication of the Inscription. If I remember rightly (after above 20 years) the Stone was given to the University of Oxford, and placed in the Theatre-yard among the other Inscriptions there.
 33. The third Randle Holme's Narration of the Siege
- CAT. HARL. VOL. II.

Num. 2155; 2156.

of Chester by the Forces under the command of Sir William Brereton, and of the Remarkables in that place preceding the same, from February 1641. 57.

- Lastly comes, a printed Paper entituled,
24. The Royal Martyrs: or, a List of the Lords, Knights, Commanders, & Gentlemen, that were slain in the late Wars, in defence of their King & Country. As also of those executed by High Courts of Justice or Law-Martial. London, printed by Thom. Newcomb, 1666.
 - To this Book the said Randle Holme did prefix
 35. His Table of the principal Matters contained therein.

2156.

A Book in folio, like that inscribed No. 2147, seeming to have been another of Laurence Walden's Debt-books, and after his death to have come into the hands of Jacob Chaloner, and so to the second & third Randle Holme, who have replenished it with Pedegrees of our Noble & Worshipful Families, mix'd: so that the last hath entituled it, on the back thus, "Pedegrees & Coates of severall places." Of which I shall say no more than that it contains

1. An Alphabetical Table of the Matches, inserted into this Book; made (as I take it) by the three Randle Holmes. At the beginning. Then follows,
2. An Alphabetical Table to the Pedegrees. Then comes,
3. The Collection of Pedegrees abovementioned,
4. The Genealogy of the Right Honourable Thomas Lord Fairfax of Denton: Baron of Cameron, Lord of Man, and the Isles. This is a printed Paper.
5. Descent of Margaret the Wife of William White of Bramble in Hampshire; and of her two Sisters, from Margaret the Sister & Heire of Michael Poynant; with their Descendants, and Mr. Whites Counsell to Wife & Children, and his Epitaph.

This is also a printed paper.

6. Pedegree of Thomas Burgoyne of Long Stanton Esq; as attested by Robert Cooke Norroy, A. D. 1575.
7. A Pedegree made by the second Randle Holme for Mary Jobson the Wife of John Savage Alderman of Chester; whereby he pretended to evince that the might, from K. Edward IV. & Arthur Viscount Lisle his base Son, quarter 180 Coats.
8. Jo. Davies Notes concerning the Pudsey's Family.
9. Descent of the Lord of Ogheltree al's Wghiltree, as attested for Sir Gilbert Houghton of Houghton, by Sir William Segar Garter, 19 June 1618.
10. The Pedegree & Descent of the Family of Chetwood; faithfully deduced out of the Records of the Realme, and other authentical Prooves, added all along.

The second Randle Holme finds fault with the Pedegree, and likewise more with the Armes; although both were attested by the three Kings of Armes, Dethick Garter, Camden Clarencieux, & St. George Norroy. The Pedegree itself is continued by the third Randle Holme to A. D. 1680.

11. The Pedegree of John Pultney Esq; with the Matches, Issues, & Cote-Armors; extracted & drawne A. D. 1632.

12. The Lyne & Succession of the Kings of Scotland to K. James VI. drawn by the second Randle Holme out of the breefe Chronicle of Scotland, printed A. D. 1623.

This is continued to K. Charles II. as then in exile.

13. Pedegree of Sam. Tirrick of London Merchant; as examined by Henry Lily Rouge Rose.

Here is the Trick of a Shield of Armes, taken from a Spanish Commander in bordinge a Ship in Cadiz.

Num. 2156—2159.

Voyage, A. D. 1596. by John Terricke of Clayton-Griffeth Gent. and allowed to be borne by that Family, as tricked in the same page.

14. Pedegree of the Family of Mack-Williams, with their feveral Branches & Matches; & Armes: collected & sett downe in the yeare 1599. 301.

This Collection of Pedegrees is succeeded by 15. The third Randle Holme's Table of the Names of Coates in this Booke, made A. D. 1659. At the end.

2157.

An Heraldical Book in thin folio, all tricked by the third Randle Holme; and containing

1. The Armes of many Families, mostly of Cheshire; taken (perhaps from Funeral) Escutcheons, as putt up together in Bundles, and marked with the feveral Letters of the Alphabet. These Armes want all the Names of their Owners.

2. His Table of the Impalements & Quarterings of feveral Famileys, as extant in the said Bundles. At the End.

2158.

A Book in folio confisting of feveral Tracts, bound up together (with some loofe Papers) and by the third Randle Holme on the out-side thus entituled, "The Accountes of the Murrangers & Treasurers of the City of Chester." More particularly, I find therein,

1. The second Randle Holmes "Notes out of the Murrangers booke of Customes for Murage of Wares & Marchandizes, and other Incidents due to the Citty, by Sea: beginninge in December 1617." 133.

These Notes proceed to A. D. 1654.

2. Accompt of Moneys received from many of the Cities Tenants for several Years. 173.

3. The said second Randle Holmes Notes out of the Treasurers Accounts & Citty Rentalls. 192.

They are of the Reigns of K. Henry vi. & Edw. iv.

4. The Accounts of Randle Holme & Thomas Aldersey Aldermen & Treasurers; for one year, ending A. D. 1633. 304.

5. An Accompt between Peter Drinkwater, & Randle Holme Sen. Octob. 1610. 318.

6. The Accounts of Rich. Leicester & Randle Holme Jun. Aldermen & Treasurers; for one year, ending A. D. 1643. 320.

2159.

A Book in folio, to which the third Randle Holme hath, on the out-side, put the following Title, "The Earles, Bishops, Abbots, & Priuiledges of feveral places in, and about Chester," &c. which I shall thus describe:

1. A Discourse or Relation of the ancient & moderne Estate of the Principalltie of Wales. 1.

2. Another concerning the Dutchie of Cornewall. 20.

3. A Discourse or Relation of the ancient & moderne Estate of the Erlome of Chester. 31.

I take these three to be those written by Judge Dodderidge.

4. Descriptio Genealogiæ Comitum Cestriæ; et qua de causa Comitatus Cestriæ devenit ad manus primogenitorum Regum Angliæ. 37.

5. Fragmentum Annalium, ut videtur Cestrienfium; de annis scilicet posterioribus R. Richardi ii. nec non de prioribus Regni R. Henrici iv. 43.

6. The Succession of the Erles of Chester, collected out of sundry Authors by that reverend Divine Mr. Robert Rogers sometime Arch-Deacon of Chester. 49.

To this Tract, the third Randle Holme hath made great Additions from Sir Simonds D'ewes, & others.

7. How Chester was governed before it had a Maior; by the same Mr. Holme. 64.

8. The Succession of the Bishops of Chester as collected by the said Mr. Rogers. 67.

This, Randle Holme continued down to the late pious Bishop Stratford, A. D. 1690.

1*

Num. 2159.

9. Of the first building of Churches, & the Erection of a Monasterie in the Cite of Chester; and a Succession of Abbots and Deanes in the same Monasterie: gathered by Mr. Robert Rogers. 74.

In this Tract are comprehended,

10. Statuta Ecclesiæ Cathedralis Christi et B. Mariæ Virginis Cestr. edita per serenissimum ac potentissimum Principem Henricum Octavum, Angliæ, &c. Regem, ejusdem Ecclesiæ Fundatorem. 78.

The same Randle Holme hath continued the Succession of the Deans of Chester, to Dr. Fogg, A. D. 1692. 91.

11. His Succession of the Chancellours of the Spirituall Court of Chester, to Dr. Tho. Wainwright. 92.

12. A Copie of an Awarde betweene John Abbot of Chester, & the Maior & Cittizens there, made anno 1 Hen. viii. 95.

This Awarde was made by Sir Charles Booth, Sir William Uvedall Kts. George Bromley Esq; Anthony Fitz-herbert Serjant at Lawe, & William Rudell the Queenes Attorney; upon the greate Debate longe tyme dependinge between the said parties by reason of St. Warburge-Fayre, & Fayre-Courts; and for divers other Liberties, Franchises, and Heriditaments, in controverfie.

13. Fees due to the Vicar of St. Oswalds, for Mariages, Burialls, Christianings, & Easter Roll. 100.

These are sett down according as they were agreed unto by L. Fogg then Vicar; 23 January 1676.

14. A Copie of the Couenants betweene the Abbot & the Parishners of St. Oswalds in Chester concerninge the Parish-Church. Yeoven, A. D. 1481. 100. b.

Hereby the said Parishioners were to allow 40 Marks toward the new Roof, &c. of the said Church.

15. The Copie of the Obligation vnder the Citty Seale for the performance of that Covenant. 101.

16. Verba Foundationis Cathedralis Ecclesiæ fundatæ per bonæ Memoræ inclitissimum Principem Henricum viii. ibid.

17. A Copie of an Inquisition concerninge the Hospitall of St. John Baptist in Chester, ann. 15 Edw. iii. 104.

Certifying the Revenues of the said Hospitall, & the Disposition of the same.

18. A Copie of a Letter sent from the Maior of Chester to Mr. Robert Johnes Master of the said Hospitall. 105. b.

Requiring him to maintain 3 Chaplens & 13 Bedefmen (chosen from the Cittizens) there; the Revenues of that Hospitall amounting yearely to 32 pounds, and aboue.

19. His Answer: importing that that Hospitall was not able to maintain so many as they required; and that he found as many as ever were found or maintained there. And if the Foundation were soe, the poor Men there should be of Chester. 106.

20. A Charter granted to the Master Bretheren & Sisters of St. John Baptists Hall in Chester by K. Henry the Fifth, anno regni 2. 106. b.

21. A Writt of Quo Warranto directed to Thom. Crewe Master of St. John Baptists Hospitall in Chester, temp. R. Henrici viii. Englisht. (containing also the Answer occasioned thereby.) 107. b.

22. Couenants betweene the Abbot & Convent of Chester, & the Deane & Chapter of St Johns there, vpon th'one part; and the Bretheren of the Hospitall of St. John there, englisht, in part. 109.

23. Rents gathered by the Heire of Captain Thomas Bavand. 109. c.

This is written by the third Randle Holme upon a loofe piece of Parchment.

24. A Rental of the Possessions of St. Georges Gild or Hospitall in Chester, as due 25 March 1622. 110.

25. A Rental of Lands belonging to the Colledge 25. A Rental of St John's in Chester, as parcell of the possessions thereof. 111.

Num. 2159—2161.

26. A Rental of the Hospitall or Fraternity of St. Anne in Chester. 112.

These Rentals are of the same Mr. Randle Holmes hand-writing.

27. A Copie of the Exemplification of an Order betweene the Chamberleine of Chester; and the Maior & Sherifffes of the Cittie of Chester. Teste Edwardo Saunders Milite, 14 Junij, anno 5 Eliz. 118.

28. A Copie of the Exemplification of the Opinion of the Judges concerninge the Liberties of the Countie Pallatine of Chester. Teste, &c. 22 die Martij, anno 11 Elizabethæ Regine. 121.

29. Certaine Collections by the worthie & grave Citizen Mr. William Alderfay Senr. Marchant; of severall Priveledges, Liberties, Jurifdictions, & Franchises, &c. given & graunted by Charter, vnto the Maior & Citizens of Chester. 124.

Among these is,

30. A Translation of the Charter granted to them by Q. Elizabeth, & bearing Teste, 13 June, anno regni 16. 127.

31. A Note touching an Indenture between the Citie, & the Executors of Rauph Worlesley, about the delivery of 200 Marke by him bequeathed for setting poore people to worke in Chester.

32. The third Randle Holmes Table of the Things of most Note in this Booke; made A. D. 1669. fol. antepenult.

2160.

A thin Book in small folio, wherein are contained,

1. The Arraignement of the Earles of Essex & Southampton, in Westm-hall, 19 February 1600. 1.

2. Speeches of my Lord of Essex, the Night before his Execution, out of his Chamber-window, to the Garde; and from his Chamber to the place of Execution. 10. b.

3. His Behavior, & Prayer, &c. at his Execution, 25 of February 1600. 11.

2161.

An Heraldical Book in folio, mostly done by the hand of the second Randle Holme; whose Son hath much enlarged it by his own & others Performances, and (upon the cover) entituled it "Descents & Coates of diuerse Shires, &c."

In it, I find,

1. The third Randle Holme's Alphabetical Table to the Pedegrees contained in this Book. At the beginning.

2. His Table to the Coates of Armes given here, following the former; and is succeeded by

3. The mixed Collection of Descents & Pedegrees abovementioned, adorned with many Tricks of Armes & Seales, extracts from old Deeds & other Instruments, together with many Additions & Continuations, even down to the year 1699. 175.

Among these I shall also particularly mention,

4. An Original Letter of Mr. John Downes to the third Randle Holme, dat. 16 October 1663. 175. C.

Shewing his concern that Mr. Dugdale, Norroy, would not allow him to be of kin to the chief branch of the Family of Downes; nor to bear their Armes with a Difference. Intreating him therefore to sett the matter right, & to satisfie Mr. Norroy; and he would give him 40 Shillings, or more if required.

5. A Trace with black Lead, in Order for a painted Atchievement of the Armes of Peter Warburton Esq; Alderman of Chester. 236.

This belongs to that imperfect Tract in the MS. No. 2163. which beginneth at fol. 71. (in the Catalogue § 8.) This Mr. Warburton was afterward knighted, made a Sergeant at Law, and came to be a Judge in Westminster-hall.

Num. 2161—2163.

6. Original Letter of Thomas Hulfe of Clive Esq; to the third Randle Holme. dat. 29 July 1692. 240. c.

Concerning the Quarterings he pretended to, but could not well make out.

7. Original Letter of Tho. Wood, to the third Randle Holme, dat. 9 August 1669. 243. b.

Shewing that honest Randle had not made good his Agreement with Mr. Dugdale Norroy, & was in some tribulation therefore.

8. Original Letter of Sir Henry St. George Garter, to the second Randall Holme, dat. 9 April 1641. 244. b.

About the Fees due to him, as then Norroy; and requesting his Assistance, touching the Families of Povey, & Orpe or Orve.

9. Original Letter of Tho. Meare to the third Randle Holme, dat. 3 November 1698. 248. A.

Desiring him to rectifie some mistake in his Pedegree.

10. Original Letter of George Tiler to the same; desiring him to make Escocheons, &c. for the Funeral of Madam Hill, late Wife of Thomas Hill of Soultan Esq; dat. 2 October 1632. 253. A.

11. Grant of a Crest to John Hartley of Manchester Gent. by Will. Seager Garter, dat. 2 October 1632. 283. b.

12. The third Randle Holmes Alphabetical Table to the Names of Places mentioned in this Book. At the end.

2162.

A Book in folio, written (almost wholly) by the hand of the second Randle Holme; whose Son, upon binding of it up, on the back, gave it this Title, "Pentice, Port-mote-Courts Pleas." I shall say no further of it, (although it be worthy the perusal of a Cheshire Antiquary) than that I find therein,

1. The third Randle Holmes Table of the Things of most Note in the same. At the beginning.

2. Abstracts out of the Records in the Threasury of the City of Chester, according to their Presses; i. e. Collections from the Rolls of the Courts of the Pentice & Portmote, from anno 53 Hen. III. to ann. 18 Edw. II.

2163.

An Heraldical Book in folio done by several hands; and by the third Randle Holme, on the back, entituled Coates & Pedegrees; wherein I find,

1. Armes of Welsh Princes, Nobles, & Gentry, rudely tricked.

These are all crossed out; which shewes that they have from hence, been entered into some other Book.

2. Descents of Welsh Families; some in Welsh, others in English (vid. ante. 1.) 10. b. 47. b.

Most of these are also dashed out for the name reason as the former.

3. Armes of some of the Irish Nobility, rudely tricked 12. b. et, 13. b.

These are likewise dashed out, for the same Reason.

4. Atchievement of William Warner of Marston-hall in Com. Warwick, a Major of Horse for K. Charles I. 14. c.

5. Some Pedegrees of English Families intermingled with the Welsh abovementioned. 15. b. 19. b.

These are also crossed out.

6. Copie of an auncient Record founde in the Church of Buldewas in Shropshire. 17. b.

This relates to the noble Family of Burnell; and is crossed out as the former.

7. Pedegrees of Shropshire taken narratively. 19. b.

This is all crossed out as the former; and seems to be an original Visitation-book of that County taken A.D. 1591. by Thomas Chaloner; who at the end thereof hath hath putt down some Notes relating to Cheshire-Families.

Num. 2163—2165.

Then follows.

8. Fragment of the Original Visitation-book of the Cittye of Chester, taken A. D. 1591, by Thomas Chaloner for the Office of Armes; and seeming never to have been finished. 71.

Fragments of this very Book appear in divers others. See N^o. 2161. fol. 236. and in the present MS. 14. c.

The Pedegrees in this Tract are taken narratively; and some of the Magistrates who gave the Information touching their respective Families, have subscribed their Names to the same.

9. The third Randle Holme's Alphabetical Table to the Coates, Crests, & Pedegrees in this Book. 99.

10. His Alphabetical Table of the Names of those Families, whose Armes are rudely tricked, in the 2 first Leaves, and in the 8 last Leaves of this Book. 102. b.

11. List of the Aldermen of Chester, in anno 1590; with the Names of 5 others who succeeded. 104. b.

2164.

An Heraldical Book in folio, wherein are contained,

1. An Alphabetical Table to all the Pedegrees in this Booke. At the beginning.

2. An interleaved Copie of Raphe Brooke's Catalogue of the English Dukes, Marquisses, Earles, & Viscounts, printed at London, A. D. 1622. from pag. 47. with the Armes colored by Jacob Chaloner, & the Errata of the Prefs amended.

The same Jacob Challoner hath added many other Corrections, Explanations, New Titles, Pedegrees, & Armes; so that the Book may be said to be improved & carried on to the Year 1628. After which, there are yet some more by the same hand. When this Book, so augmented, came into the possession of the second Randle Holme, he enriched it further with more Notes & Defects in very many places; which notwithstanding, did not hinder his Son from adding some more.

Toward the end, comes

3. The third Randle Holme's Table of the severall Catalogues in this booke. 409.

Which is followed finally, by

4. His Alphabet of all the Titles of Honor, whether Dukes, Marquises, Earles, Viscounts, or Barons; together with all the Surnames in this Booke: made A. D. 1670.

2165.

An Heraldical Book in small folio, consisting chiefly of loose Leaves, or smaller pieces of Paper, (replenished with Heraldical Notes, useful in a Collection) pasted in an old Accompt-Book; which I shall but briefly describe.

1. At the beginning is a Table of the Names of the Coates, Crests, or Quarterings in this Book; made by the second Randle Holme, A. D. 1634.

2. Badges attributed to Brute, Cadwalyder, St. Edmond, St. Edward, Englands, Wallis, Irland, Marche, Vlster, and Chester. 1.

3. Badges, or Supporters of the Kings of England, from K. Edward III. to Queen Elizabeth, inclusive 1. b.

4. A large Collection of Armes both in Trick & Blason, sometimes with & sometimes without Quarterings; with many bare Lists of the Names of Families whose Armes were Quartered by the first Names of those Lists, &c. 2.

Among these I take some Notice of

5. The Armes and Crest of Pierpoint coloured. 3.

6. The Armes & Crest of the Lord Scrope of Bolton, painted by the same hand; i. e. by Jacob Chaloner. 4. b.

10*

Num. 2165—2167.

7. Trick of the Atchievement of Albrecht Lord of Puegheim & Horn, A. D. 1558. 11.

8. Armes in Blason, of the Heads of many Welsh Families. 14. & 15. b.

9. An Engraven Print of the Lord Mordant's Atchievement. 17. b.

10. Armes in Blason, borne by different Families of the Name of Wood, Woodward, Irby, & Ayleff. 20. b.

11. Again, as to Jackson, Gibson, & Gybes. 21.

12. Impressions of Wax from the Seales of Smyth. 25.

13. Armes in Blason of the Knights of the Bath, made at the Coronation of K. James I, A. D. 1603. 28.

2166.

A Book in folio, upon whose out-side the third Randle Holme hath written the following Title,

"Nampwich-Hundred. The Sequestration book of Delinquents Estates, for being true for the King of happy Memory Charles I. within these Townes, Nampwich, Wiltaston, Woulston-Wood, Alveston & Leighton, A. D. 1644. 1645. 1646."

At the beginning is,

The said Mr. Holmes Table of the Things of most Note in this Book, which was delivered in upon Oath, 24 Febr. 1647.

2167.

An Heraldical Book in folio, consisting of divers Tracts & particular Papers bound up together, & by the third Randle Holme entituled on the back, "Coates & Quarterings, &c." as containing,

1. A large Collection of Armes borne by Families both Welsh & English. 1.

Among which, in turning the Book over, I also observe,

2. A Trick of the Armes of the Knights of the Holy Sepulchre in Jerusalem. 99.

3. An old Table to part of this Book. 128. b.

4. Armes of the old Earles, Barons, & Gentry of Cheshire. 150.

5. The Armes of the Worshipfull Companies of the Honorable Cittie of Londone. 168.

6. Armes of many English Earles & Barons. 170. b.

7. Armes of our English Bishopricks. 173.

10. Other Armes of divers of our English Nobility. 176.

11. Armes of English Knights. 180.

12. Armes of the Cheshire-Gentry, disposed in way of Alphabet. 192.

13. A true Coppey of Robert Glover Somerslet's Book. 207.

This is of the Armes, perhaps taken from his Visitation-book of Cheshire, of 1580. to which the then young Copist Jacob Chaloner, seems to have added the Armes of foreign Kingdomes.

This Tract was done A. D. 1603.

14. The Armes of all the Companys of Chester. 230.

These are begun by the third Randle Holme, but not finished.

15. Armes of the City of London, & of the several Companies thereof: engraven. 234. b.

16. A Table of the Coates, Crestes, and Quarterings of this booke; collected by Randle Holme jun. A. D. 1646. At the end.

Note that very many Armes, &c. have been inserted by the third Randle also, even so lately as A. D. 1703.

Num. 2167—2173.

1703. & since; which are likewise added to this Table.

2168.

A Book in small folio, wherein are contained,

1. A Collection of Precedents according to the Practice of the Prerogative-Court, &c. in the times of Whitgift and Bancroft Arch-bishops of Canterbury; with some few other Instruments. By these, one may see & observe not only the Forms which then obtained; but may also pick up some particulars of Family-History.

2. An Alphabetical Index to the said Collection. At the end.

An old Heraldical Book in small folio done in the time of King Henry VI. wherein is contained,

1. A large Collection of Armes, of foreign Kings, Saints, Nobles, &c. some of which are fabulous: as also, of our English Nobility & Gentry; all mixed together: which, notwithstanding that some be erroneous, and others want the Names of the Persons to which they did belong, are nevertheless of some Use; and have from hence been entered into some other Book.

2. Two Medicines against the Sciatica. 69. b.

3. A Table to the Armes abovementioned, begun by Jacob Chaloner, and finished by the second Randle Holme: At the end.

2170.

A Book in folio, wherein is contained,
Part of a Law-Common-place-book, written in the Law-French.

2171.

A Book in folio, wherein is also contained,
Another part of the same Law-Common-place-book; by the same hand.

2172.

A Book in small folio, written by severall hands, but principally by the second Randle Holme; whose Son hath on the out-side given it the following Title,
"Deeds, Leases for Lives, & Fee farme-Leases, made by the Maior & Counsell of such Lands as belonged to Chester."

In it I find,

1. The third Randle Holmes Table of the Things of most Note in that Book. At the beginning.

2. His Table to the Lands belonging to the City, set in Fee-farme, and paying small Rents: In the next Leaf.

Then follows

3. The Collection of Deeds & Leases abovementioned, which are only Abstracts, & not Transcripts; and since they relate wholly to the business of that City, I judge it not material to say more of it here, but rather refer the reader to the book itself.

2173.

A Book in small folio, written by the second Randle Holme & others; on the Cover of which, the third Randle Holme hath written the following Title,
"What Writtings & Deeds are in the Maiors, Treasurers, & severall other Chefts & Desks, in the Pentice of the City of Chester. Some of these seeming to be more remarkable than those in the last Book. I shall (notwithstanding my intended Brevity) make particular mention of some of them in these Articles following:

1. The third Randle Holme's Table to the Things of most Note in this Booke, made A. D. 1669. At the beginning.

Then follows

2. The Collection itself; wherein I observe,

24. Letter of Mr. Peter Sharpe Sub-deane of Chester, to the Maior, dat. 16 January 1606. 13.

Explaining himself about his puttinge downe the Maiors sword in the Cathedrall ; professinge that he only reverently layd his hand vpon the sword, without either holdinge or gripinge the same : so that, if the sword was bare, it was the gladinesse of the Scaberd, not the violence of his hand, that caused it. For he thrust it not downe, but touching it reverently, said only these words, I pray you forbear in this place.

25. Order of the Bishop of Chester & others, the Kings Commissioners, 11 Febr. 1606. 13. b.

That Mr. Sharpe should declare himself sorry for this Act ; & Mr. Maior to repair to the Cathedral, with his sword, as formerly ; and no door to be shutt against him. This to endure untill further order shall be taken.

26. Judge Warburton's Letter to the Maior, dat. 3 March 1606. 14. b.

About a Reconciliation between the City & the Prebendaries of Chester.

27. Mr. Hugh Glaseours Letter to the Maior, dat. at London, 20 March 1606. ibid.

That Judge Warburton was of opinion, that the City should be contented with the Order lately made ; and so was the Lord Chancellor at first ; untill Mr. Glaseour shewed him some Remarks he had made upon it. Then he said that he would write to the Justices of Assize to take the hearing of the Cause, and to sentence the right on both sides.

28. Original Letter of Jo. Young to the Maior, dated the last of October 1633. 15.

That the Cause between Sir William Brereton & the City, about the Privileges of the Nuns of Chester, had been solemnly heard. And altho' he shewed far more ancient Charters then were produced for the City ; some of them without date, some from Hugh Lupus, & others of newer tymes ; yet the possession of the Toll being proved by the taking thereof, for the vse of the City, for many yeares, gave such satisfaction to the Court, that Sir William fell far short of his Expectation.

Num. 2173.

29. The Kings Letter to the Lord Maior of Yorke. Given, 2 July 1637. 16.

Commanding him to frequent the Cathedral Church there vpon Sundays & Holydays, without vsing the Ensignes of his Authority therein. This Letter was sent by the Bishop of Chester, to provoke the Maior & his brethren to come to the choir in Chester ; but reasons satisfactory were giuen, that the Maior of Chester is not so tyed, &c.

30. Letter of the Chester Magistrates, to the High Commissioners at Yorke, A. D. 1631. 16. b.

Shewing that their Pourfuivants, by wronge Information, did from day to day apprehend, vnder pretence of Delinquency, such who had no private Conference with Will. Prynne, when he was at Chester (who was justly censured for a schismatical person) but saw him only to observe the person of him ; and others who saw him not at all ; to the great disquiet and expence of many, and to the subversion & vndoing of others.

31. Order of the King & Council, made the 6th of June 1636. ibid.

Commanding the Lord Maior & Citizens of Yorke to surrender up their new Charter ; by pretence whereof they excluded the Deane & Chapter there from many antient privileges, and prejudiced many of his Majesties tenants in order to the passing of another Charter to them, whereby what might be fitt should be granted to them.

32. Another, made 13 March 1636. 17.

Upon hearing the Cause between the City of Winchester, & the Dean & Chapter there, it was resolved by his Majesty, that the Cathedral Church, the Bishops Palace at Wolvesey, the Church-yard, and the Close of the said Church, are & ought to be exempted from all Jurisdiction, Power, & Authority of the said City : and the Maior to be restrayned from carrying up his Regalia in the Choir or any other part of the Cathedral Church ; but to have leave to beare those Ensignes of Authority in any part of the Precinctes or Liberties thereof.

Randle Holme observes thus, 'This was sent for the Maior of Chester to peruse & follow ; but to no purpose : for our privileges are far beyond theirs. For we do, as of old, assests the Clergy ; and haue power to come with our sword vpright before the Maior in any part of the Church.'

33. Another, made 25 January 1634. 18.

Upon the Dean & Chapter of Canterburies Remonstrance, that the Magistrates there had assested the Clergy & all other the Inhabitants within the Precincts of the sayd Church, toward the Shipping-money : that the Clergie there should assests themselves & Inhabitants, as they haue formerly done.

Hereupon Randle Holme observes that this was sent to the Maior of Chester, to induce him to yield to the like Privilege ; but it did no good ; for the Bishop & Clergy were assested by the City the same year.

34. Letter from Alderman Robert Sproston & Mr. Litler, to the Maior of Chester ; dat. 27 May 1638. 30.

Upon the full hearing which their Causes had before the King & Council, where they found so many & great Enemies, that had not his Majesties most gracious Favour been toward the City, and the Lord Keeper & Privie Seale proved its nolle & fast-Friends, all had been lost. That the matter of the Bishop & Deane & Chapter of Chester, whether they should be assested as belonging to the County-Palatine, or to the County of the City, is to be referred to the hearing of the Earle of Derby and two Judges. That the Cause touching the Gloverstone is lost ; it now being to be noe parte of the County of the Cittie. But that Sir Thomas Aston, the onely Engenere & cause of the Cities troubles, is ordered to paye his Shipmoney in the Cittie, and neuer further to trouble the boarde in that particuler.

Here are divers other material Letters & Papers about these matters, but the purport of them being (from other other books) already specified in this Volume of Catalogue; I chuse here to omitt them.

Num. 2173.

35. The Cities Breefe concerninge the Gloverston, shewing their opinion, that all Inhabitants of the City, should pay all Taxes, Layes, &c. with the City. Confirmed by the Judges & other great Lords Opinions, and by the Custome of the Citie of London. Read at an assembly A. D. 1638. 34.

36. Letter of the Privy Council to the Maior of Chester & others the Commissioners there, for the Contribution toward the Repayre of St. Pauls Church in London, dat. 15 July 1634. 40. b.

That his Majesty taking a gracious Contentment in the good Progress of the same, finding the charge of repaire & beautifying that great worke to rise higher then at the first was conceived: is pleas'd out of his Princely Zeale towards the perfecting thereof (tending so much to the honour of himselfe & his Government) to vndergo the entire Charge of buildinge vp the whole West end of that Fabrick.

Upon their Claim of Liberties within the Compass of the River Dee: and willing them to make known to the Judge of the Admiraltie, their Tytle to the same: and whatsoever the Judge should determin, he would allow.

47. A Warrant from the Court of Admiralty to the Constables of Chester, requiring them to warne all Saylor to appear before the Judge of that Court. Geoven 1 of October 1635. ibid.

Randle Holme observes that it was not obeyed, because the Maior is Master of the Sea within the Liberties: so the Judges Power was soon quashed, & he stirred no further therein. vid. fol. 113. b.

Num. 2173.

48. Letter of the City to the Lord Lea, Lord High Threasure of England. 74.

Shewing that the Sum of £330. charged upon several Citizens there by Privy Seals, was too much, after such Services as they had done, and especially considering the late great decay of their Trade: They desire therefore, that the said Privy Seales may be recalled, and only one to be directed to the Maior & Citizens for £100. and they would readily lend it.

49. An Order of the King & Council, dated 6 June 1635. 34. b.

Upon some Difference between the Deane & Chapter of Chichester, & the Maior & Citizens there; the Corporation were to surrender their Charter of the 19 Jacobi, and a new one to be passed to them, with all Privileges, &c. contained in the former, save that the Church & Close of Chichester should not be included as part of that City, but to be left as part of the County, as aunciently they were. Moreover, that the City should bee engaged not to disturbe or affront the Deane or his Deputie, or their Successors in the Church or Close, for matter of Precedencie; nor to have the Mace borne before him in the Quire.

50. Another, dated 17 January 1635. 75.

Upon the said Cities Assesing the said Dean & Chapter, & other Inhabitants in the Close, toward the Ship-money, & levying part of it from them, whenas they were likewise assesed by the Shireve of the County: that the Maior should pay back the Money, & the Shireve only to asses them for the future.

2180.

A Book in small folio, being all upon the Subject of Heraldry, as containing,

1. A large Collection of Funeral-Certificates, being an original Book, begun by the first Randle Holme in the Year 1616. and carried on (but not without several Interruptions) by his Son and Grandson to A. D. 1680. The Intent of the Certificates was to preserve the Memory of the Name & Family of every Person who bore Armes within the Limits of their Deputation, viz. Cheshire, Lancashire, & North-Wales; the time of their Decease, their Matches, Posterity, &c. A matter of very good Use; undertaken by direction from the Office of Armes, and fit to be for ever continued. But how it happened I know not, (perhaps by the unwillingness of people to pay a small Fee, when their own Business is transacting, or by negligence, or both) very many of the Armes are not painted with Colors, but only tricked with the Pen, others only traced with Lead, and many wholly omitted. In many Certificates, likewise, the Original Hands of those Relations who gave the Information touching their respective Families, have not been putt; and several others are plainly Copies: yet this Collection is valuable, and fitt to be consulted, upon occasion. 1.

Herein I find.

2. The Order of Mr. Hugh Leighs Funerall; by the second Randle Holme. 125. b.

3. The Order of the Funerall of Humphrey Chetam of Cleyton, Esq; by the same. 126.

This Collection of Certificates is succeeded by some Papers mostly written upon certain squabbles happening between some Chester-Gentry, or their haughty Wives, about taking place one of another; being

4. The Answer of Sir William Segar Garter to a Question propounded touching the point of Precedency between an Alderman of Chester, in Chester, and a private Gentleman A. D. 1619. 137.

Here Mr. Garter gives his Opinion for the Aldermen, but not for their Wives.

Num. 2180.

5. Opinion of Sir Richard St. George Norroy, in the same Affair; dated 18 July 1619. 137. b.

That Mr. Roger Hurleston had been too forward in affronting Alderman William Gamull.

6. His Opinion about their Wives taking place dated the 21 of February 1619. 138.

Clearly for Mrs. Hurleston in respect of her Husband's Gentility.

7. An Order of both the Kings abovementioned: given the 29th of May 1620. 138. b.

That Mr. Hurleston & all Gentlemen of his Rank should, within the City, give place to an Alderman: and that Mr. Gamull having proved his Pedegree for thirteen Descents, and shewed a Deed of the time of K. Edward II. sealed by his Auncester with a Scale of Armes of the same Coate, which now he beareth; and his Brother and himself enjoying the same Lands which their paternal Ancestors enjoyed in the tyme of K. Henry III. Mr. Hurleston should produce his Pedegree and Prooves, or they would give Mr. Gamull precedence of Gentry before him.

8. The said Norroy's Order to Mr. Hurleston, to make no further Question or Contestation in that matter; he having omitted the making proof of his Pedegree, dated the 21 of August 1620. 139.

9. Original Note of one Honnyng to Mr. Penson the Herald, desiring a president of a Knight & Baronet's resigning his Knighthood to another. 141.

10. Precept of Thomas Howard Earl of Arundel & Surrey, & Earl-Mareschal, for summoning Thomas Griffith of Pantyllongdy in Com. Flynt, Esq; to appear in the painted Chamber at Westminster, to answer for his not giving in a Certificate to the Office of Armes after the Decease of his Predecessor. dat. 30 June 1638, 142.

11. Letter of Griffith Hughes Deputy to the Office of Armes, to the said Mr. Griffith, dated at Llanverres in Yale, 4. Aug. 1638. 142. b.

About serving him & others with Monitions from the Earl Marshalls Court for not making the Certificate abovesaid.

Here is also a printed Black Ticket, issued upon such Occasions.

12. Original Letter of Sir Richard St. George Norroy, to the first Randle Holme, dated the 31 July 1619. 143.

Importing, that he had received Mr. Gamulls kind token, without half a hundredth Waight of Cheshire Chefses. That as to the Question between him & Mr. Hurleston, he had given his Opinion, under his hand to Sir Thomas Savage. But concerning Aldermen & Justice of Peaces Wives, he could say no more but that Offices & Places of Majestray can give no place to their Wives. And that the Chese of 16 Pounds which Mr. Holme had promised to send his son Henry St. George was not com up.

13. More Notes about the same weighty Affair of Precedency. 144. b. et vid. supra. 141. b. et 149.

14. Original Letter of Mr. Sampson Lennard Bluemantel, to the first Randle Holme: 26 Nov. 1627. 145.

In Answer to a Case put, as to the Case of Precedency of Barons eldest Sons, their Wives & Children. It seems to have been for the satisfaction of Sir Anthony St. John (who was a Peers Son) or of his Children. vid. fol. 139. b.

15. Original Letter of Sir Richard St. George Norroy, to the same Mr. Holme: dat. 26 February 1620. 146.

About granting a Crest to Bridgman, whose Armes he was loth to confirm until he had seen the Grant of them. And about the Case of Sir Anthony St. Johns Children.

16. The Duty of a Serjeant at Armes; in French. 147.

17. Original

Num. 2180—2185.

17. Original Answer of Sir John Borough Garter, William le Neve Clarencieux, and Henry St. George Norroy, dated, the 21 June 1638. to the Question about Precedency between Edward Whitby Recorder of Chester & Robert Brerewood a puisne Justice in the Counties of Caernarvon, Anglesey, & Merioneth; in favour of the former. 150.

18. Reference of the Case & Answer above, with Mr. Brerewood's Petition, to Sir Ralfe Whitfield his Majesties Serjeant at Law, Sir John Bankes Attorney Generall, & Sir Edward Littleton Sollicitor Generall, by the said Earl of Arundell & Surrey Earl-Marshall, 21 June 1638. 150. b.

This is the Original signed by his own hand.

19. Draught of their Summons to Mr. Recorder Whitby to attend at a certain time, when they would hear what could be alledged by both parties. ibid.

2185.

A Book in folio, formerly much thicker than it now is, as having contained 322 pages, at the least: whereas at present it goes no further than the 92 page. It treated of several Parliaments holden by Qu. Elizabeth. including that of the 29th of her Reign. To all which a Table of principal Matters hath been made, & is placed at the beginning.

As to what remains, I find here,

1. An Oration made the 23 of January, primo Eliz. by Sr. Nicholas Bacon Knt. Lord Keeper of the Great Seale of England, to the Nobles & Commons, in the presence of her Majesty, in the beginning of the Parlyament then holden, in Anno Dni 1558. 1.

2. My Lord Keeper Bacons Answer to the Oration of St. Thomas Gargraue, chosen to be Speaker of the Parlyament, disabling himself thereunto; yet admitted. 8.

3. The Lord Keeper Bacons Answer to Sir. Thomas Gargraue Speaker of this present Parliament, his Oration made after his Admission. 10.

4. The Lord Keeper Sir Nicholas Bacon's Oration, made the 8th of May, in the Parlyament-House, before the Queene, the Parlyament then ending, Anno 1559. 12.

5. The Titles of such Bills as were rejected in the Upper Howse; as also of such as passed the House, some Members of the said House dissenting therefrom: in this first Session of the first Parlyament of Qu. Elizabeth, which beganne upon the 25th day of January, anno 1. Eliz. And some other Memorialls. 21.

Num. 2184, 2186.

6. A Journall of the Commons House, anno 1 Elizabethæ R^{ne}. 25.

7. The Oration of Dr. (Cuthbert) Scott Bishop of Chester, made in Parlyament-House; anno, 1559. 27.

8. The Oration of Dr. John Fecknam (Feckenham) Abbot of Westminster, in Parlyament-Howse; anno 1559. 36.

9. Queen Elizabeth's Patent to the City of Bristol, granting a Privilege as to the time of lading & unlading of Goods. It bears Teste the 12 April, anno regni 1. 42.

10. Articles for an Act of Parliament touching Improprations. 44.

11. Qu. Elizabeth's Commission of Inquiry after restored Abbey-Lands in Nottinghamshire, &c. bearing Teste the 4th of March, anno regni, 2. 49.

12. Articles to be enquired of, and to be accomplished, upon the Commission directed forth, upon the new Statute of Dissolution of the Religious Houses within the County of Nott. 51.

13. The Lord Keepers Speech to both Houses, at the opening of the Parlyament, anno 5 Eliz. the 5th of June (12 of January) 1562. Her Majesty being present. 55.

14. Speech of Mr. Williams at his being presented by the Commons as their Speaker, 15 Januarie 1562. 58.

15. The Lord Keepers Answer to that Speech. 59.

16. The Speakers Reply to the Lord Keeper. 60.

17. A Note of the several Prorogations of this Parlyament. 66.

18. A short Journal of that Parlyament. 67.

22. A Speech delivered by her Majesty unto the Lord Keeper Sir Nicholas Bacon, in presence of the Upper House of Parlyament, A. D. 1563. 77.

23. The Petition of the Parlyament, for the Queene of England to marry, A. D. 1563. 78.

24. An humble suit & Petition made by all the Lords, both Spirituall & Temporall, unto the Queenes most excellent Majesty, A. D. 1563. 83.

This was deliver'd in a Speech by the Lord Keeper (who in the name of the Peers) besought her to marry, & to settle the Succession.

25. A short Journal of the upper House. during this Parlyament. 89.

26. Form of a Petition, which seems to assert a Right in the House of Commons to be Judges, with the Peers, as to Writs of Error. 89.

27. An Answer to the same; shewing how the Commons parted with that branch of their Authority. 90.

28. Part of a Relation of what happened in Parlyament upon the Decease of Thomas Williams Speaker of the House of Commons; and how a new Speaker was to be chosen. ann. 8 Eliz, ibid.

2186.

A Book in folio, for the most part copied by Will. Smith Rouge-Dragon, A. D. 1612. It contains,

The Visitation of Dorsetshire, as taken A. D. 1562, with some Additions & Continuations.

I know not of any Visitation that was made of that County, this Year. It is said that it was visited A. D. 1565. by William Hervey Clarencieux: perhaps this may be a Copie of that, only here the Genealogies are putt down by way of Scheme, & not Narratively.

Num. 2186—2188.

2187.

An Heraldical Book in folio, written and tricked by several Hands; wherein is contained,

1. An Alphabet in Blazon, of the Armes born by the Cheshire Nobility & Gentry. 1.
2. Cheshire-Pedegrees & Notes, for the greatest part, taken from the Visitations of A. D. 1580. & 1612. but enriched with many Continuations and Additions by Jacob Chaloner, the third Randle Holme, & others. 6.

Among these, I also find

3. Some Notes extracted from a Booke of Edward the Blacke Prince, called the Register. 6. b.
4. The Descent of Basslet, by Sir Simonds D'Ewes, with his Proofs, 150.

This was to establish the legitimacy of Geva daughter of Hugh Lupus, from whom Sir Simonds pretended that his Children by his first Lady were descended, one of whom (who died in her Childhood) he caused to be baptised by the Name of Geva.

An Heraldical Book in folio, written by the hand of Mr. Hugh Cotgrave Richmond-Herald, for the far greater part; as was affirmed by Sir Henry St. George Garter King of Armes, to whom I caused the Book
CAT. HARL. VOL. II.

Num. 2189—2192.

to be shewn; and, who knew the hands of the antient Officers of Armes better than any man now living does. In it, are contained,

1. An Alphabetical Table directing to the several Pedegrees & Matches here exhibited. 1.
2. Hugh Cotgraves Collection of the Descents of Devonshire-Nobility & Gentry, with many Continuations & Additions by Ralf Broke York-Herald, & the late Mr. Simon Segar; as by their several hands in many places intersperfed, doth appear. 15. & 22.

2190.

An Heraldical Book in folio, at the beginning whereof I find a Frontispiece hastily drawn with this Title,

"The Genealogies & Descents of all the Kings of England, since it was named England (to say) from King Egbert the first Monarch thereof, vntill our Sovereigne Lady Q. Elizabeth.

Of this work, nothing remains here; unless their Armes, or the Armes ascribed to those before the Conquest at fol. 2. be looked upon as part of it. But in the next page, is another Title, viz.

1. The Armes & Descents of all the Dukes, Marquises, Earles, Viscounts, & Lords, that have been created in England since the tyme of William Conqueror; until this present day. 2. b.

That is, this is either the Original Book, or a good Copy of COOKE'S BARONAGE, ending with the Lord Norris. The Armes are all tricked in the Margins; and with the Armes of each King from Edward III. their several Badges are putt down.

2. Armes of some Princes of our Bloud Royal; shewing their Differences from the Kings Armes. 2. b.

2191.

An Heraldical Book in folio; wherein I find,

1. Armes of some few of our Nobility created by King Henry VIII. only begun to be traced with black Lead, without any Notice taken of their Owners, excepting only the Lord Russell. 1.

2. Unfinished Armes of Nobility created by K. Edward VI. with the Names of four of them. 4.

3. Armes in Colors, of Nobility created by Qu. Mary; but unfinished, & without their Names. 9.

4. Armes in Colors, but unfinished, of many Nobles either created or summoned to Parliament by Queen Elizabeth; with their Names, & Notes of the same. 12.

5. Among these, is a Relation made of the Petition of Sir Thomas West Lord La Ware. anno 39 Eliz. for an higher place in Parliament, and of what ensued thereon. 15. b.

6. Armes of Nobility, either created or summoned to Parliament by K. James I. with their Names, &c. 18.

Of these, some are finished, others unfinished, and the rest only begun to be traced out; or not so much as that.

7. The like for many of the Nobility created, or summoned to Parliament by K. Charles I. 38.

2192.

A Book in folio, wherein are contained;

1. A Survey of all the Customary Lands & Tenements in the Mannour of Imberhorne, in the Parrishes of Est Grinted & West Hoadly in the County of Suffex: 1.

11. A Liste of the Light Horfe within the Lath of St. Auguftines & Cittie of Canterbuiry; vnder the Command of Sir Thomas Palmer Bar. A. D. 1638. 35.
12. An Alphabetical Table of proper Names, relating to Warwick-shire, Leicester-shire, &c. 37.
13. Knights of Warwick-shire, about the tyme of K. Edward 1. 40.
14. Warwick-shire Nobility & Gentry, as they are in the Gallery at Theobalds. 41.
15. Warwickshire Justices of the Peace; out of a Book at Theobalds. 42.

In these 3 last Articles, here are Shields traced out for the Armes; but none of them are supplied.

An Heraldical Book in folio, consisting of Leaves regularly printed from a wooden Form, serving for a Page, wherein an Escoccheon, with a Gentlemans Helmet & Mantle are cutt, to save the Labor & Trouble of drawing the same by hand: Nine of these, with their proper Spaces filling a Page. Above half of these Escoccheons are filled up, & the Crests supplied by some Painter-Stainer, who had a pretty good hand; and the Names of the respective Persons written down (fady enough, God knows) by his Son or Apprentice, as I suppose. The whole Collection is MIXED, as not relating to any particular Countrey, County, Age, or Order of Men; and yet may prove to be of good Use, upon fundry Occasions.

2194.

A Book in folio, much damnified by Moisture; and treating of the Lords High Stewards of England, from the tyme of K. William the Conqueror, to that of K. 2199.

A thin Book in folio, at the beginning whereof, I read this following Title. "The maner and method to true Mortification: by the godly Father Henry Harp; as F. William Peryn Bachelour in Divinity sayeth in his Spirituall Exercises & Ghostly Meditations."

I am affraid that Father Peryn is somewhat out in his conjecture: 1. Because Mr. Wharton (in Append. ad Cavæi Hist. Litt. pag. 149.) shews that Henry Harph the Franciscan (born at Herp or Erp in Brabant) died A. D. 1478. without mentioning this Treatise among his other Works. 2. The Preface alludes to Queen Elizabeth more than once, especially in pag. 2, where are these Words,—“I doubt nothing her departure; but I doubt that God will not lett England have her so long as she is worthy to raigne. And yett this farr I dare say, that she

Num. 2199—2202.

she hath no farther Charter of her Life then had her noble Father, her noble Brother, her noble Sister."——
 3. This Author was no Roman Catholic; for he impugnes the Doctrines of that Church in several places of his Work; one of which I find at 42. a. toward the bottom of which page, & in the next, I observe these Words,—“ Infomoché, that som thincke to be browghte to the perfyghte medytacyon & memoryalle of Chryst by having hym pictoured, graven, or paynted with the most bewtyfulle phisnomye that kan be devyfed. Sum thincke ytt avauncethe moche ther Contemplacyone to have Chryst pictured or paynted in the most pituos faschyon that kan be. Som agayne thincke ytt reysithe vp ther mynds more depely in knowlage of God, to have the Trinitie pictured or paynted with 3 faces in oon. An Heraldical Book in thin folio; wherein I find,

1. A Collection of fabulous or fanciful Armes, ascribed to the Nine Worthies; the Kings of Cullen; and many Kings & Princes (some of whom never existed) putt down in a sort of Alphabet in blason.
 2. Armes in blason of the Archiepiscopal & Episcopal Sees of England & Wales.
 3. Fragment of a large Alphabet in blason of the Armes of English Families.
- This ends in the middle of the letter C.

Codex chartaceus in fol. continetur,

Registrum Cartarum, five Evidenciarum, de Terris Edmundi Bohun de Trefyngfelde in Com. Suffolciae; qui quidem Edmundus in vivis fuit, anno 22 R. Edwardi IV.

2202.

A Book in folio, consisting of divers Miscellaneous Tracts & Fragments, written by different hands, now bound up together. They are,

1. The Case of Anthony Ashley Cowper Earl of Shaftesbury, argued on both sides; with his Lordships own Speech, in Banco Regis, Term. Trin, anno 29 Caroli II. upon the Illegality of the Return of a Warrant from the House of Peers; by virtue of which, he was imprisoned in the Tower of London: with the Opinion of the Court thereupon; whereby he was re-manded to his Prison.
 2. Expressions collected from Greek & Roman Authors, &c. chiefly relating to Great Britain & its Inhabitants. They seem to be of the hand-writing of the learned Mr. William Camden, in order to be inserted into his Britannia.
 3. An imperfect Copie of Cookes Baronage; with the Armes only blason'd in the margin.
 4. Certaine breiffe Instructions of an Attorney in the Common Place, or Court of Common Pleys: written in the time of Qu. Elizabeth; & torn in the beginning.
 5. Copie of a Letter from Mr. Francis Knowlles to his General, who (perhaps) was Sir Francis Drake then on a Voyage to the Indies. The writer, being in custody, desires a trial: & dates his Letter aboard the Lettice Leicester, the 6 of January.
 6. Part of a Journal kept by a Servant to Captain Knowles on board the Lettice Leicester.
- 'Tis great pity that this Journal should be so mangled as it is; in it was a particular detail of the said Captains & others Sufferings, because they declined to take certain Oaths which the General would impose upon them and all others under his command. Here was likewise interwoven Relations of the Actions at the Canary Islands, St. Jago, St. Domingo, Carthagená, &c. during this Voyage.

7. Fragment of a Theological Poem, in old English.
8. Copie of the Will of Jamys Scrobye of London Gentleman; dated, 27 Sept. ann. 24 R. Eliz.
9. Part of a Chymical Tract; which might have been of good use, if complete.

2203.

A thin Heraldical Book in folio; wherein are not unhandfomely tricked.

1. The Armes & Seals, of Staffordshire Families, &c. from the Visitation-book of that County made A.D. 1583.
2. An Alphabetical Table at the end.

2204.

A Book in folio, written by divers hands, & containing the several Tracts following; vizt.

1. “The Tree of Common-Wealth; made by Edmund Dudley Esquire, late Councillor to K. Henry the seventh; the same Edmond, at the compiling hereof, being prisoner in the Tower, in the first year of K. Henry the Eighth.
2. A discourse of Trade, compiled for the Kings most excellent Majestie; & dated 3^o Septemb. 1622.
3. An excellent Treatise of a State-Merchant, or merchandising State; consisting of Commerce, Trade, & Traffique; the sundry Defects & Abuses therein, & absolute Remedies for the same. Presented to the Kings most excellent Majestie that now is (perhaps K. Charles I.) (The Author calls himself William Sanderfon Gent.)
4. A Treatise of Piracie; discoveringe in what Ports, Havens, & Creeks, all alonge the Turkishe & Spanishe Coasts, Pirates maie sell their Goods safelie; have Victuals, good Refreshinge & Wateringe; and, in what, not. With the manner of their saylinge, & vfuall Places of aboad at all Seasons of the Yeaere; and advise how to prevent & surpriise them. Written by Sir Henrie Mainwaringe Kt. & by him presented vnto King James.
5. A Discourse concerning the Money & Trade of England; by Philo-patris; dated A. D. 1649.

A thin Heraldical Book in folio, wherein are contained what the Students of Heraldry call Church-notes; here being an account of

1. The Armes, Monuments, & Inscriptions found in the Cathedral Church of Worcester & its Cloysters; said to be taken from a more particular Description of it.
 2. Description of the Armes & Monuments found in the Church of Great Malverne in Worcestershire.
 3. Littell Malvernes Churches Armes & Monuments.
- I have heard my noble Lord the late Earl of Oxford say that his Ancestors were Benefactors to one of these Malverne-Priories (I think, to the lesser Malverne) & had an Anniversary observed there.
4. Armes & Monuments found in the Church of All Sayntes in Evesham.
 5. Others observed in St. Lawrences Church in Evesham.

2206.

A book in folio, containing Arguments about the Charter of the City of London; made A. D. 1683. vizt.

1. The Argument of Mr. Solicitor General, in Banco Regis, in Termino Hill. A. D. 1683. upon the quo Warranto brought by the King against the City of London.
2. Mr.

Num. 2206, 2207.

2. Mr. Recorder of London's Argument in behalf of the City. 51.
3. Mr. Attorney General's Argument for the King, pleaded, 30 April, A. D. 1683. 213.
4. Mr. Pollensens Argument in the Cities Defence, 1 May 1683. 487.

2207.

A Book in folio, consisting of certain Tracts now bound together, viz.

A Collection of several Speeches & Treatises of the late Lord Treasurer Cecil; and of severall Observations of the Lords of the Council, given to K. James concerning his Estate & Revenue: in the yeares 1608. 1609. & 1610.

These are,

1. A Letter written by some of the Lords of the Council to the King, A. D. 1608. touching meanes to advance the Kings revenues by vnusuall meanes; so as the King would take the Act vpon himselfe, & be their protection. 2.

This looking somewhat extraordinary, I soon run this Letter over, & perceive that these noble Lords acting by speciall Commission from his Majesty (who by his continual & excessive Bounties to every begging Courtier, had run himself into great Debts & Want) had looked into every Branch of his Revenue that yet remained; & deliberated upon means of improving the same, so that his Dignity & Family might be kept & maintained in their due splendor. Yet, in the mean time, they insinuate their Advise, that he would hold his too bounteous hand for the present.

2. A Collection of such things as Robert Cecil late Earle of Salisbury thought fit to offer to His Majesty, vpon the necessity of calling a Parliament, A. D. 1609. 12.

3. His Lordships first Speech deliuered to the Lower House of Parliament. 15.

This was at Whitehall, the King and Peers being present; and in many Words setteth forth the Kings wants, and the Causes of them, with the necessity of fresh Supplies.

4. A Letter from G. D. to his Friend A. W. at Middleburgh, aduertising him of the Occurrences in the Parliament; and withall, sending him a Copie of the late Lord Treasurer Cecil's Speech. 46. b.

5. Curia Cancellaria Prærogativa et summa Autoritas. 52.

6. The Fines of all manner of Writts & Patents. 85.

7. Of the severall Sorts of Courts. 87. b.

8. An Argument exhibited by the Lord Keeper in Parliament proving that Noble mens persons be attachable for Contempts committed by them in the Queenes Majesties Court of Chancery, in disobeyinge the Decrees made there, in matters examineable in the same Courte. 94.

9. Of the High Courts of Justice in England; & especially of the Chancery-Courte, & of the Lord Chancellour that judgeth there. 95.

10. Ordinances made by the Lord Keeper Coventry, with the aying & assistance of Sir Julius Cæsar Master of the Rolls, anno 11 Caroli 1. for the Redresse of sundry Errours, Defaults, & Abuses in the High Court of Chancery. 114.

11. The Abuses (and Remedyes) of the High Court of Chancery; presented vnto the Lord Keeper, by George Norbury. 119.

12. The Cause betweene the Master of the Rolls, & the Six Clerks. 157.

It appears, that the 3 of December 1637. the Master of the Rolls (then Sir Dudley Digges) did, by Petition, complain to the King of great Incroachments & Usurpations made by the Six Clerkes, upon the Rights & Profits of his & other subordinate Officers Places; besides other Things practised by them to the Subjects general Grievance: for which they were found faultie by the Commissioners, & complained of in Statre-Chamber. This Petition being referred to the Judges, the severall Complaints of the Master of the Rolls, & severall other Officers in Chancery were pleaded by Council, & largely answered by the said Six Clerks.

13. Petition of the Under-Clerks of the Six Clerkes Office in Chancery, to the Lord Keeper Coventry, against the said Six Clerks, their Masters. 197.

2208.

A Book in folio, consisting of divers miscellaneous Tracts, now bound-up together. They are,

1. Count Arundells Apologie: as beinge restrayned for acceptinge the Honor of Comes Imperij, without the Queens Leave, in reward of his noble Service done, in ayde of the Emperor against the Turke. Wherein are expressed the cheife Priviledges belonginge vnto the same Honor; and his Reasons for acceptinge the same. 1.

2. A Booke of Instructions for Mr. Henry Anderson Alderman of London, Sheriue of the Poultry-Compter, in 43 & 44th yeares of Qu. Elizabeth, A. D. 1601. 9.

3. A Breife of what was delivered by Don Francesco de Castro Extraordinary Embassador of the Catholicke Kinge; in the first Audience he had from the Doge of Venice. 17.

4. The Answere of the Duke of Venice, to the Embassage of D. Francesco di Castro. 18.

5. A Letter written by Cardinal Peron 1 April 1697. to the Kinge of France; wherein he doth recount all the Occurrences of Cardinal Gioiosa, concerninge the Agreements betweene Pope Paulus v. & the State of Venis. 2. b.

6. A Comparifon of the Answares made by the Kinges of France & Spaine to the Pope, upon the Advertisment of his excommunicating the Venetians. 33.

7. A Discourse vpon the forcible Reasons which might incite the Catholicke Kinge rather to the Enterprife of Englande, then that of Flanders. 37.

These 5 last Tracts were translated out of Italian by John P. Bowyer esq.

8. The Fourme & manner of Keeping the Parliament in England. (Is this Hookers?) 58.

Then follow the Arguments upon the Arguments of Term. Mich. 3 Caroli, at the Kings Bench-Barre concerning the Lands . . . & Liberties of the Subject. 64. vizt.

9. Sir Dudley Digges his Introduction. 65.

10. Mr. Selden his Arguments; which, by Command of the House of Commons, was made (at their first Conference with the Lords) touching the Libertie of the Person of every Free-man: out of Presidents of Records, & Resolutions of Judges in former tymes. 68.

11. Mr. Littletons Speech. 94.

12. The Objections of the Kings Counsell (i. e. Robert Heath, then Attorney General, &c.) with the Answere thereunto, at the two Conferences, touching the same matter. 109.

13. Sir Edward Cooke his Speech; reported by the Bishop of Lincolne, 9 Aprilis. 116. b.

14. The Substance of Mr. Attorney Generalls Objections, made before a Committee of both Houses, at the Argument that was made by the House of Commons, at the first Conference with the Lords; out of the Presidents of Records, & Resolutions of Judges in former tymes; touching the Libertie of the Petion of every Freeman; and the Answares & Replies then presently made by the House of Commons to those Objections. 128. b.

15. The Protestation of the Commons assembled in Parliament, anno 1 Jacobi 1. die Mercurij 20 Junij 1604. in an humble Address to his Majesty touching their Rights & Priviledges. 156.

This

Num. 2208—2210.

This Copie seems more to be regarded than some others that I have seen; not only for its correctness; but for its large Initial Letter, a Text M. which (I suppose) was cut in Wood & stamped upon the paper, purposely to distinguish such Copies as might be deemed authentic, from others transcribed by ignorants or enemies.

16. An English Treatise De Sepultura. 167.

17. Instructions to be kept by the Land-Captaynes, as by the Captaynes that have Charge of Shipping: by Don Martin de Padilla, Captayn General of the Gallies of Spaigne, & of the Navy Royall, and of the Catholique Kings Armie, in this Expedition, dated, in the Groyn, 1 October 1597. 185.

18. A Recital of the Cælestiall Apparitions of this present Trigon, now in being: vizt. A. D. 1619. 192.

Here the Author seems to be a German Calvinist, describes, Astronomically, the Appearance of the new Star, A. D. 1604. together with the several Comets which appeared afterward, to that great one in A. D. 1618. The Signification of all which he largely describes as an Astrologer; and venting his Notions & Wishes as Certainties and Prophecies from God: he stands guilty of many falsities; and these his idle Dreams are now worthy of no more regard than to be heeded as Land-marks, & cautions to deterre others from attempting to sett themselves up as privy to the secret Councils of the most High.

19. A Relation of the carriage of the Marryages that should have been made, between the Prince of England & Anna the Infanta Major of Spayne; and alsoe after, with the younger Infanta; by Sir Charles Cornewallis. 211.

The Prince of England here mentioned, was Prince Henry; and the Time when these matters were on foot, was in, and about, the Year 1611.

20. A Discourse of Mr. John Selden, to the Lord Keeper Sr. Francis Bacon, of the auncient mention, Conjunction, or Division of the two greate Offices of Chancellour, & Keeper of the Greate Seale of England, written in anno 1617. 228.

Codex chartaceus in folio, quo continentur, festinante calamo scriptæ

Notulæ de quibusdam antiquis Nominibus & Familijs, seriatim collectæ ex Recordis Scaccarij Dñi Regis ex parte Rememoratoris Regis remanentibus; incipiendo cum Henrico tertio, et sic ordinatim procedendo, per totum fere Regnum R. Edwardi 1.

2210.

A Book in folio, consisting of several Tracts, mostly Heraldical, written by different hands, & now bound together; being,

1. The Appointment of Attendants & Horses for the King (Henry VIII.) & the Queene (Katherine of Spain) to Canterbury, & so to Callais & Guisnes; to the meeting of the French King. 1.

2. Ordinances for all Officers of the Household of K. Henry VII. as it seemes. 5.

3. A Calendar of the Rowle of the Barons; as it was delivered my Lord Stafford, by Mr. Swallow of the Exchequer. 23.

This is of the hand of Thomas Knight Chester-Herald, & seemes to relate to their Lands, which had reverted to the Crown.

4. List of the several Honors in England; as they appeare in the Booke of Offices, down to ann. 14 Rich. II. copied by the same Thomas Knight. 25.

5. The Names of Barronyes, & of their Owners, from the Reign of K. Henry III. to that of K. Richard II both inclusive. 26.

This is also written by the same Thomas Knight.

Num. 2210, 2211.

6. Imperfect Catalogue of our English Earles, and of the Times of their Creation: sett down (perhaps, from Cookes Baronage) according to their Titles, successively. 30.

7. Escocheons for the Armes of the English Nobility, temp. R. Eliz. divided according to their several Quarterings, & filled-up by William Smith Rouge Dragon, with the Names of those Families whose Armes each of them quartered; the Armes themselves being omitted. 57.

8. A Table of the English Nobility; wherein (by several Columns) are shewn, their Titles or Dignities; their Sur-names & Times of Creation; their Vicounties or Baronies; Armes; Crests; Supporters; & Mottoes. 66.

The last of the Barons, is the Lord Cottington, created, 7 July 1631.

9. Armes of many old English Knights, hastily tricked (perhaps by Robert Glover Somerset-Herald.) 73.

10. Armes of King Edward I. of his Nobility, & Knights; hastily tricked by Tho. Knight, Chester. 81.

Many of these follow one another in the same Order, as in the last Article.

11. Armes of old English Knights hastily tricked from the Booke of Mr. Doctor Carew, by the same Tho. Knight. 85.

12. Armes of the Knights of every Shire in England; in the tyme of K. Edward the first; hastily tricked by Thom. Knight. 87.

13. Armes with, and without Crests, of English Gentry, mixed; tricked within printed Escocheons, sixteen in a Page: as also, Crests without Armes, tricked upon like Escocheons; by some Painter. 110.

14. Atchievements of some few English Nobility, hastily tricked by Jacob Chaloner. 141.

15. An Imperfect Treatise of the Institution & Rudiments of Armory. 148.

It seems, the Author designed this for the Prels.

16. Armes in Blason of Cokesey, & Huddington, with their Quarterings. 191.

17. Stemma Comitum, ac Ducum Geldriæ. 191. b.

18. An Hereldical Fragment entituled Napolemachia, seeming to have been written by the Hand of Sir Richard St. George Garter. It shews the Descent of the Kings of Naples & Sicily. 192.

19. Armes of West Lord I a Ware; Descent & Armes of Tanner of Cornwall; Descendants from John Jesson of Daventre, in Com. Northampt. Armes of Kemp. with Quarterings & Crest. Armes of Spyer of Huntercombe in Oxfordshire, & his Matches. 194. b.

2211.

A thin Book in fol. relating to the Free-Schole at Harrow on the Hill, and to the Hospital of St. Katherine near the Tower: as containing,

1. A Receipt given for two Deeds delivered to Audrey Linsey, Executrix to her brother Mr. Will. Greenhill, 31 May 1680. 2.

2. Petition of Leonard Stockdale to the Parliament, (in the rebellious times, I suppose :) praying, that the Governors of the Lands belonging to the Free-Schoole at Harrow on the Hill, founded by John Lyon deceased, might be called to an Accompt, as to their Administration. 4.

3. Litteræ Patentis Elizabethæ Reginae, quibus Licentiam concedit Johanni Lyon de Preston infra Parochiam de Harrowe super Montem in Com. Midd. Yeoman, quandam Scholam Grammaticalem de uno Pædagogo & Sub-Pædagogo, infra Villam de Harrowe, de novo erigendi, pro perpetua Educatione Puerorum & Juvenum prædictæ Parochiæ; ac duos Scholares infra Universitatem Cantabr. nec non duos Scholares infra Universitatem Oxon. liberaliter dotandi et manutenendi; certasq; Vias

Vias communes tam inter Edgeware & London, quam in alijs locis, reparandi et emendandi, &c. Teste, &c. 19 die Februarij, anno regni 14. 6.

This is also translated into English.

4. Orders & Rules made the 18th of January, ann. 33 Eliz. by the above-mentioned John Lyon, to be observed by the Governors of his Lands, &c. given in Charity. 15.

5. Decree of the Lord Chancellor Ellesmere, upon a Bill of Complaint exhibited by Sir Henry Hobart Attorney General, against the Governors of the Lands & Possessions of John Lion: whereby the said Governors were ordered & adjudged to repair the High-Ways between Edgeware & London, & Harrow on the Hill & London; made, 23 April ann. 9 R. Jacobi 1. 23.

In the said Bill was likewise a Complaint against all Souls College Lord of the Manor of Kingsbury in Com. Midd. or some other who occupied there a Close called Cogdale-Close left by William Mulberry, towards mending the High Way from Bushye-Heath in Com. Midd. to London: but no further mention is made of it in this Decree.

6. A Rental of the Lands belonging to the Free Schole at Harrowe. 33.

7. Form of the Commission given by the Governors of John Lyons Lands, to William Grey Merchant-Taylor and John Lyon of London, Gent. whom they appointed Surveyors of the same. dat. 21 April 1659. 33. b.

8. A Catalogue of the Books (with their Valuation) belonging to somebody in whose hands this was, the 18th of November A. D. 1657. 34.

Then follows,

9. Letters Patents of Queen Elizabeth; wherein, by Impeximus, are recited those of K. Henry vi. concerning the Liberties & Privileges which he granted to the Hospital or Free-Chapell of St. Katherine near the Tower of London, at the Instance of the then Warden or Master Thomas Bekynton Doctor of Laws, & his Secretary; as afterward, Bishop of Bath & Wells: it being founded by K. Henry iii. & Eleanor his Queen. 35.

It ends abruptly; I suppose through the Transcribers laziness; or because his wretched Ignorance was discovered.

2212.

An Heraldical Book in folio, wherein is contained, one Volume of an Ordinary of Armes tricked within printed Escucheons, 20 in a Page.

Note, the greatest part of the Names of those Persons or Families who bore these Armes not being sett down, this Collection is not of that use that it might have been.

2213.

A thin Heraldical Book in folio, which seems to have been copied by Sir William Dethick Garter; & contains, the following Collections of antient English Armes; all blasoned in French; & tricked or intended to be tricked in the margins.

1. Armes of K. Edward 1. his Nobility, & of the Bannerets, as marked with black Lead. 1.

2. Armes of English Knights, according to the several Counties wherein they resided, in his Time. 3. b.

3. Ces font les Nomes & les Armes abatues des grants Seigneurs. 22.

4. Armes des Seigneurs & Chevaliers à la Tournay aupres la Ville de Dunstaple, l'an 16 du Roy Edward 11. 24.

7. Armes of many old English Knights found in a piece of an old Rolle, sette in the old Book of Armes. 29. b.

8. Tables to the Armes abovementioned. 31.

2214.

An Heraldical Book in folio; written & tricked by several hands: wherein I find,

1. A Collection of English Armes, mixed; four in a page. 1.

2. Another Collection of Armes, mixed; nine in a page. 187.

As to these Armes, I know not well what to say. Some of them seem to have been taken from Visitation-books of Counties, & others from Grants of the Kings of Armes, but here they are; and, some of them such as, perhaps, may not easily be found elsewhere.

3. Part of an Alphabetical Table to these Armes; ending after the Letter E. 255. b.

This Table should be completed; & others made or finished, for other good Heraldical MSS. in this noble Library; but then by reason of the barbarous spelling used by Apprentices & other ignorant Persons, who have been sett upon works of this kind, which require much Experience, Care, & Accuracy: they ought all, (beforehand) to be over-looked, & corrected with Judgement.

4. Some few Medicines; as for the Cure of Weakness in the back; to keep the Conduit safe, &c. at the beginning: which I think scarcely worthy of mention.

2215.

A thin Heraldical Book in folio; wherein I find,

1. An Alphabetical Table to the following Tract.

2. Armes of the Kentish Gentry hastily tricked; perhaps most of them at the Visitation of this County, A. D. 1619. &c. by the Crosses made at very many of the Escucheons, with Red or Black Chalk; it may seem that they have, from hence, been entred into some other Book.

2216.

A Book in folio, written (as I suppose) by some young Practitioner in Doctors Commons; & giving

1. Formes of many Instruments made, upon emergent Occasions; chiefly in the Courts of Dr. Gilbert Sheldon Archbishop of Canterbury, & of Henry Compton late Bishop of London.

It would not have been troublesome for me to have putt down some of the more remarkable Cafes at sufficient length: but when I considered that the Collector, who amassed these Proceedings together, looked not upon them as an Historian, but intended only to make use of them occasionally as Precedents; & hath therefore, almost wholly omitted the Names of Persons & Places; or only mentioned them by their initial Letters: I thought it better to omit them; especially since there is

2. A Table of the Contents of this Book; at the end.

2217.

A Book in folio, consisting of many Tracts & single Papers now bound up together. They all relate to Parliamentary affairs; particularly to those transacted in the years 1627 & 1628. and are,

1. The Kings Speech the first day of the Parliament, A. D. 1627. 1.

2. The Lord Keepers Speech for explanation of the Kings Speech, the first day of the Parliament; vizt. 19 Martij, A. D. 1627-8. 2.

A Book in folio, written by divers hands; that is, either by the command, or by the hand of John Roberts Earl of Radnor, Lord Privy Seal, &c. wherein are contained, Transcripts or Extracts of the most material or curious Passages entred into the Journal of the House of Lords, sitting at London during the Civil War; from the 9th of December 1643. to the 22d of February, 1645. both inclusive: ending abruptly in the Treaty of Uxbridge.

These Materials are not taken just as they lay in the Journal, but are putt somewhat regularly together; and his Lordship hath often added his own Notes or Observations; which, perhaps, may be met with no where else.

That this Collection was not made by his Lordships Father Richard Roberts Baron of Truro, who sided with the Parliament (& from whom to them is a Letter, at fol. 66. b.) appears by the Lord Privy Seals hand (which is well known in this Library) appearing in many places of this Book: but that it was done after the Restauration,

Num. 2224—2227.

is manifest from what follows, which I read in fol. 32. "Earl Northumberland, who was the great Instrument of the New Modell, & compli'd wholly with the Independent party, about this Time: and who, very honorably, after the said House of Peers was shutt-up with a Padlock, by the Republicans; & when the Lord Roberts was sent for out of Cornwall, by Messengers from them, and by that Power was confined to the County of Essex: the said Earl of Northumberland did (in open terms) at the Chancery-bar, voluntarily come & take the Commonwealth-Engagement, in the Sight of all the People, vizt. 'I will be true & faithfull to the Commonwealth of England, without a King & House of Lords.' Yet, upon the Restitution of his Majesty, this Earle was made a Privy Councellour, & Lord Lieutenant of the Countys of Suffex & Northumberland; wheiber for those honorable Atchievements, or for what other Cause, men may inquire."

A Book in folio, being an antient Copy of a Treatise thus entituled,

"The Monarchie of Man: a Treatise Philosophicall & Morall; wherein some Questions of the Politicks are obviously discuft: by Sir John Elliot K^t. Prisoner in the Tower."

This Gentleman not having his ambitious Demands gratified to the full, turned to be a most bitter & implacable Enemy to his Sovereign K. Charles 1. against whom this work seems to be most especially written. Thus, in his Paragraph (pag. 31.) "Whether Lawes have an Influence upon Princes?" he says it is a "Question involved in Difficulties, as lying within that Misterie, the Prerogative of Kings: Which is a Point so tender, as it will hardly bear a mention. We may not therefore handle it with any roughnesse, least it reflect some new Beame of Terrour on our Selves, but with what Caution we may, yet without prejudice to Truth—safely render the Opinion which we have, without Suspect of Flattery." And in the next Page, thus: "For these Lawes & Priviledges (which wee shall joine together, making but one joynt subject of this question) the Discussion will be easier, if we turn our Disquisition, & thus state it; What Power the King has upon them? Wherein there is such a Confluence of Flatterie, conducing to our Prejudice; such Labour to make a Monarchie vnlimited, an Absoluteness of Government without Rule; soe much Affection, or Corruption rather, specified; such Distorsion & Perversion of Authorities to that end; Learning made prostitute to Fallacie; Religion turn'd to Pollicie; Heaven brought down to Earth; Light transform'd to darkness; as to attempt against it is now to row against the Tide, against the Strèame and Current of these Tymes to secke a Passage vnto Truth." I omitt what is written further, in pag. 38. &c.

This Sir John Elliot, as I have heard, in Confederacy with Sir Henry Vane, Mr. Hamden, Mr. Pym, & another; out of private Malice & Reuenge, did contrive the Civil War before the calling of that Long Parliament; and by the Concurrence of Men as desperately wicked as themselves, gained their point.

An Heraldical Book in folio, written & tricked by some old Painter-Stainer, in the Reign of K. James 1. wherein is contained,

1. A numerous Collection of Armes (with many of their Crests) borne by our Nobles & Gentry of England & Wales, putt down promiscuously.

It may be noted, that although the Collectors design was to amass together a great Number of Armes, as he could come by them, without any Order: yet he that will look into this Book will easily find some of them disposed together according to their Charges, as by way of Ordinary, others putt together whose Owners Names begin with the same Letter, as an Alphabet; Others, borne by persons of the same, or a like Name; & others borne by those who lived together in the same Community. Of this last kind, an Instance may be seen in fol. 35. where you have the Armes of Mr. Camden, Ralf Broke or Brokesmouth, & of several other Officers then living.

5

Num. 2229, 2230.

2. At the beginning & end is an Alphabetical Table to the Armes abovementioned, but imperfect; for the first Letter A is wanting.

2230.

An Heraldical Book in folio, consisting of many little Tracts now bound together in the following Order.

1. Armes of Buckinghamshire Families, taken out of an old Visitation. 1.

2. Armes, with some Descents; taken from the Visitation of this County. A. D. 1634. 2.

3. Armes, with some Descents, taken from the Visitation of Cambridgeshire. A. D. 1619. 10.

4. Armes of Cheshire-Families etched in Copper Plates; perhaps by Daniel King. 18.

Note, the first Leaf being wanting, those Armes are supplied by Pen & Ink.

5. Many Cheshire-Armes, with some Descents, from the Visitation of A. D. 1580. 28.

6. Armes of the Cornish Families. 36.

7. Armes of Derbyshire Families taken from the Visitations of A. D. 1569, & 1663. 46.

8. Armes, with some Descents, of Devonshire Families, taken from the Visitation of A. D. 1564. 54. & 65.

9. More Devonshire-Armes & Descents; taken from another Book. 59.

10. Armes of Dorsetshire Families, with some Descents, taken (as this Collector, Mr. Kimbell the Armes Painter, or whosoever he was, says) from the Visitation of this County, made by Robert Treswell Blew Mantell: He should have said by Henry St. George Richmond, & Sampson Lennard Blue-mantell: i. e. A. D. 1623. 70.

11. Armes, with some Descents entred Narratively (as all those above-mentioned are) of the Gentry inhabiting within the County of Durham, as they were registered at the Visitation thereof, taken A. D. 1615. 79.

Herein I find,

12. A Note of such Persons (i. e. a List of their Names) as were Disclaymed at that Visitation. 88.

13. Armes of Ralph Carr Gent. as they were entred at New-castle upon Tyne, 25 August, 1666. in the Visitation of the County of Northumberland, by William Dugdale Norroy. 91.

14. Armes of Gloucestershire Families (with some Descents) as they were entred at the Visitation of this County, taken A. D. 1569. 92.

15. Armes, with some Descents, of Hampshire Families, as they were registered at the Visitation of this County, taken A. D. 1575. 103.

16. Armes, with some Descents, of Herefordshire-Families; seeming to have been extracted from the Visitation-book of this County, as the same was taken A. D. 1634. 110.

17. Armes & Descents of Kentish Families, seeming to be chiefly taken from the Visitation of A. D. 1619. yet some are continued to A. D. 1663. when another Visitation was begun by Sir Edw. Byshe. Clarenc^r. 122.

18. Fragment of an Alphabet of Kentish Armes in Trick. 139. b.

19. Fragment of an Alphabet of Kentish Armes in Blason; by another hand. 140.

20. Armes, with some Descents, extracted from a Visitation of London; perhaps that of A. D. 1633. 146.

21. Armes, with Descents of Norfolk Families said to be extracted from a Visitation of this County taken A. D. 1594. when Dr. Parkhurst was (as the Writer thought) Bishop of Norwich. 154.

This is but random talk. I do not find that there was any Visitation of this County, in A. D. 1594. As for Bp. Parkhurst, he died long before; namely in A. D. 1575; but was Bishop of that Diocese, when Clarencieux Hervey visited this County. Probably therefore the Visitation meant, might be that taken in or about the Year 1589. by Robert Cooke Clarencieux.

15. His Majesties Answere: 13 Novemb. 1623. ibid.
16. Part of a Private Letter from Mr. Secretarye to my Lord of Bristol; dat. 13 Novemb. 1623. 20.
17. Heads of the last Answere from Spayne: dat. 5 Jan 1623. ibid.

Then follows,

18. A Conference betweene the higher & lower House of Parliament; 2 Martij, at Whitehall. 20. b.

Here, the Speakers were the Lord Keeper, the Lord Cooke, & the Arch Bishop of Canterburie.

19. The Advice of both Houses of Parliament, deliver'd to the King by the Arch-bishop of Canterburie, at Theobalds, 5 Marcij 1623. 23.

That the Treaties both for the Marriage with Spain, & the Palatinate, may not any longer be continued with Honour to his Majesty, the Safety of Religion, the Peace & Welfare of his Children & Posterity, and the Assurance of his auncient Allyes & Confederates.

20. His Majesties Speech to the Parliament, 8 Marcij 1623. 23. b.

21. The Prince his Speech in Parliament, 11 Marcij 1623. 26.

To know how far they would inable the King, in case of a War with Spain, &c.

22. The Address of both Houses, presented by the Arch-bishop of Canterbury, 14 Marcij, 1623. 27.

Promising in that case to assist him in a Parliamentary way.

23. The Kings Answere. 27. b.

Granting their late Petition against the Growth of Popery, &c.

28. The Effect of his Majesties Speech, made in the Banqueting-house at White-hall, to the Lords of the upper house of Parliament. 35.

This was in the behalf of Lionell Cranfield Earl of Midelfex, then Lord Treasurer; who was impeached by the Commons for Bribery, Extortion, cheating his Majesty, &c. The King after many kind Expressions concerning him, says, "But if by Deceit or Cosenage, to help himselfe, he hath hindred my Estate, he is worfe then a Devill;" and concludes, thus, "If an Angell become a Devill, begge I will not for him; I will never meyntheyne a man in a badd Cause."

29. Considerations touching a Warre with Spaine; This Treatise is in print, but without the Authors name, as

Num. 2232, 2233.

as may be seen in Dr. Hydes Catal. Libb. Bibl. Bodl. under the Title HISPANIA. Mine old Acquaintance Mr. Anthony a' Wood hath not ascribed it to Sir Henry, yet owns that Sir Henry wrote more things than he accounts for. My notion of Sir Henrys being the Author, proceeds from the similitude of a few Circumstances, as of his long Experience in State Affairs, & by comparing some Expressions of the 2d Paragraph in pag. 38. with his Letter at the beginning of the book.

Was this Treatise composed by Sir Henry Wotton? to Charles Prince of Wales. 38.

30. A Letter to K. James from Francis Phelipps Esq; suing for his Brothers (Sir Robert Phelipps) Libertie out of the Tower. 69.

In this long Letter it is alledged, that Sir Robert, for "retiring himselfe to his poor home in the Countrey, vpon the last recess of Parliament, was arrested by a Serj' at Armes; brought up; & by the Lords of the Privy Councill was committed a close Prisoner to the Tower." But it appears also, that Sir Robert & this Writer had spoken words against his Majesty; & that their father died in the Kings displeasure.

31. An Essay, or Character, of a King. 73.
(This is imperfect)

2233.

A Book in folio, relating to that noble Peer Thomas Wentworth Earl of Strafford, who lost his life the 12th of May, A. D. 1641; wherein I find,

1. An attested Copie of the further Impeachment of Thomas Earle of Strafforde, by the Commons assembled in Parliament. 1.

This being, all along, written but on the one half of each Page, his Lordship hath often, with his own hand, sett down his own Remarks & Observations on the other.

2. This noble Lords Notes taken from the Speech made against him by Mr. Solicitor Generall (Oliver St. John) for the House of Commons. 40.

2234.

A Book in folio, consisting of sundry Treatises relating to Parliamentary Affairs, now bound up together, in the following order.

1. A Treatise entituled "Notes of the Orders, Proceedings, Punishments, & Priviledges of the Lower-House of Parliament." 1.

As to the Author, I cannot find him out for certain, although I have taken some pains to inform myself concerning him; who makes no further discovery of himself, than in fol. 7. where I read these words, "Three of the Privie Councell (whereof Sir Edward Rogers the Comptroller was one) deliuered to the howse her Majesties express Commandement, that they should proceed noe farther with their Suite; which was (in a sorte) moved to be reiterated, by a Speech of this Writer W. L. —"

Might

Num. 2234.

Might not this W. L. be William Lambard Recorder of London? The freshest Instance or Precedent given by this Writer, is anno 29 Eliz. when (if I remember rightly) Mr. Lambard was alive.

2. Advice to the Members of the Lower House of Parliament; directed to the Authors noble Friends of that House: probably that which sat in 1628. 18.

As to the Author of this Tract, he seemeth in several points to blame the Administration both of King Charles, & of his father, in several points; and is a professed Enemy to the then Duke of Buckingham; he saith at the beginning, that he had missed of his Election to that Parliament, although he had served in sundry other Parliaments; that he was no military man. fol. 32. b. complains, fol. 43. amongst other things, of Judges being removed; and is resolved to distress the Court, as far as in him lies. Qu. whether this Tract may be attributed to Sir Edward Coke?

3. A true Relation of everie Daies Proceedings in the Parliament, since the beginning thereof, beeing the 20th of January 1628. 47.

Herein is also contained, a Supplication of the Lords Spiritual & Temporal to his Majestie, upon this point, that divers of the naturall borne Subjects of this Kingdom, where both themselves & their Families do reside; have of late beene created, some Barons, some Viscounts & some Earles, within his Kingdoms of Scotland & Ireland; & doe, by reason thereof, clame as of Right, to take place & have Precedencie of the Peeres & Nobilitie of England, & their Children, within this Realme. 105.

4. Sir Dudley Diggs his Introduction to the Conference between both Houses upon the point of the Liberty of the person of the Subject. 131.

5. The Speech and Argument of Mr. John Selden, before a Committee of both Houses, at the first conference with the Lords, out of Presidents of Records, & Resolutions of Judges, in former tymes; touching the Libertie of the Person of euerie Freeman. 133. b.

6. The Substance of the Objections made by Mr. Attorney General, before a Committee of both Houses, to that Argument; and the Answeres & Replies then presently made by the House of Commons to those Objections. 159.

7. The whole Copies of the Presidents of Records mentioned in one of the Arguments, (Mr. Seldens?) made at the first Conference with the Lords, touching the Liberties of the Person. 182. b.

8. The second Booke of Records alledged upon that occasion. 195.

9. The third Booke of like Records. 200.

10. Mr. Littleton his Argument, before the Lords. 209.

11. The Objections of the Kings Counsell against the Declaration of the Commons; and the Answer thereunto, by Mr. Littleton, the 16th of May 1628. 222.

12. My Lord Cooke (Sir Edward Coke's) Speech or Argument, 30 Aprilis, 4to Caroli Regis. 259.

13. The Information of Sir Robert Heath Attorney General, against Sir John Elliot, Mr. Denfill Hollis, & others.

14. Concio, 29 Maij 1629. 5to Caroli Regis. 255. b.

This is an Order of the two Chief Justices for Mr. Attorneys Amendment of his Information, by adding a short Clause unto it; communicating the same to the Council of the Defendants; and about their Lordships declaring their Opinion upon the whole matter.

15. The Plea & Demurrer of John Selden Esq; one of the Defendants, to the Information of Sir Robert Heath Knight, his Majesties Attorney General. 257. b.

16. The Addition of John Selden, Esq; one of the Defendants to the said Information; as to the said Information altered or amended by the said Attorney General, accordinge to an Order of the Courte the 29th May, 5to Caroli Regis. 274.

17. The Petition, to the Kinges Majestie, of Sir John Elliot Kt. Prisoner, &c. concerninge the Loane which is said to have been deliuered . . . 1628. but not answered. 279.

18. Sir Thomas Darnells Case; Mich. 3^o Caroli R. 282.

19. The Case of Sir John Corbett Bart. Sir Walter Earle, Sir John Heminge, & Sir Edward Hamden Knights, 22 Novr. anno 3^o Caroli I. 287.

This Tract gives the Plea of Mr. Keeling against the Return of a Writ by the Warden of the Fleet; but seems to end abruptly.

A Book in folio, consisting mostly of blank Paper; but wherein are contained,

1. A Letter from K. Charles II. to the then Duke of York his brother: dat. 28 Febr. 1678-9. 1.

Desiring him to absent himself for some tyme beyond Sea.

2. A Journal of the Cominons House of Parliament, or an Abstract from it, from its meeting the 7th of March, A. D. 1678-9. to the Prorogation thereof on the 27th of May 1679. 2.

I suppose this to have been written only for private Use.

2237.

A Book in folio, hastily written in a bad hand; wherein are contained,

Extracts from the Journals of the House of Peers, from the second of May 1648. to the sixth of February 1648-9.

Whether the original Journal be yet remaining, I know not; but I perceive that herein is an account of the Treaty made with the King at Newport in the Isle of Wight, which I believe had never yet been published; besides many other remarkable matters.

This book seems to have been written for the use of John Robarts Earl of Radnor, & Lord Privy Seal to K. Charles II, which Noble Lord hath putt down certain Notes therein, especially at the end, with his own hand.

A Book in folio, for the greatest part, written by him who wrote most of that last described; & containing,

Extracts from the Journal of the Lords House of Parliament from the 10th of July 1646. to the 25th (or 28th) of April, A. D. 1648. both inclusive. This book likewise belonged to the above-mentioned Earl of Radnor, Lord Privy Seal; and gives sundry private Remarks & Observations; especially, those relating to, & in vindication of his Father the Lord Robarts, written & inserted by several hands: some of them (as it seems to me) by the Father, as others by the Son.

Codex chartaceus in folio, diversis manibus scriptus; in quo continentur, Irrotulationes Actorum in Visibus Franci Plegij & Curiae Baronis apud Ely Barton, à sexto die Aprilis, A. D. 1619 usque ad secundum diem Octobris, A. D. 1627. nempe temporibus Nicolai Felton, Johannis Buckridge, & Francisci White Episcoporum Eliensium.

2240.

A thin Book in folio; wherein I find,

1. The Names of Noble-men, having Estates within the County of Essex. 1. b.

2. Nomina Justiciariorum Pacis in Comitatu Essexie, circa A. D. 1633. 2.

3. Nomina Ballivorum Hundredorum & Libertatum infra Comitatum prædictum. 3.

4. Nomina Hundredorum infra Comitatum prædictum. 5.

5. The Names of the Free-holders, at that time, within the several Towns, Villages, & Hamlets belonging to the said Hundreds; upon whose Lands Issues might be levied. 6.

This is the original Book: & hath received the proper Alterations & Amendments.

Num. 2241, 2242.

2241.

Another thin Book in folio; wherein are contained,

1. An account of the Induction of Peregrin Bartye Lord Willoughby of Eresbye, for the taking of his Place in the Upper House of Parliament, the 16th daye of Januarye, A. D. 1580. 1.

2. The Title of Richard Bartye Esq; (Father to the Lord Peregrin above-mentioned) to the Stile of Lord Willoughby of Willughbye and of Eresbye, in the right of the Lady Katherin Duchets of Suffolk, his wife; debated before the Commissioners by her Majestie appointed to hear the same. 1. b.

Then follows, there is alsoe, in the end, added a Resolution of certain Questions; although none of them were objected before the Commissioners.

Alsoe, it is not to be conceived that every thing was so amply recited as here sett downe; but onely the most material Arguments. (fol. 22. b.) being Answeres to the Lord Latimers Reasons.

It is not to be wondered at that Mr. Bartie was so modest as not to make the most of his Cause, if what I find fol. 22. b. was true; vizt.—"for the Cause why, he desired an hearing of his Right & Interest was specially, to deliuer her Majestie from Error, that shee (by wrong Information had conceived) that there was noe such Right: and partly to conferue the Right to his Sonne (whom he opposed) and to averre the Clayme, though he vied not the Stile of Dignitie."

However he concludes thus,—"there is therefore nothing left to impugne it, but Wilfulness, Malice or Ignorance; and to them, (because, in their nature, they are all infamous) I take Excepton, and soe this may suffice for this matter."

2242.

A Book in folio written by the hand of Mr. John Bowyer the elder; and containing the following Pieces translated by himself: vizt.

1. The Historie of the unhappie Successe of Philippa a Woman of Catanea, cheife Governesse of Naples; translated (as it seems) from the French Edition of P. Matthieu: And corrected by another hand. 1.

This Matthieu owns that the Story is taken from the end of Boccas de Casibus Virorum illustrium, who received the former part of it from two credible persons, & was himself a witness of the Catastrophe of her Tragedy.

Matthieu further intimate, that he had seen an old French Manuscript of this part of Boccas Works. On this occasion, I take leave to add that in this noble Library, the said Work appears not only in Latin, (which hath been printed several times) but also in old French; as likewise in old English, being translated from the French, by Dan John Lidgate Monk of Bury-St. Edmund, by the command of Humfrey Duke of Gloucester, into old English Verse, which Translation I do not remember that I have hitherto seen in Print. Lidgate calls this wretched Woman Phylipote. This Story, as related by P. Matthieu, has lost nothing by him, being vastly longer than it is in Boccace; and enlarged from other Books, besides his own Notes.

2. The Catholike Statfman; or else, a Political Discourse of the Confederacies of the moste Christian Kinge, against the forged accusations of the enemies to his State. Dedicated to the Kinge by the Lords of Ferrier. In Paris. 27.

3. A Treatise of the Ufurpation of the King of Spaine ouer the Crowne of France, since the Raigne of King Charles the 8th. With a Discourse of the beginning, continuing, declyninge, & lessning of the Monarchie of France; the Reasons & Pretences the Christian King hath to the Right of the Emper: by Christopher Balthard. 1605. 100.

Much blank Paper remains at the end.

2243.

A Book in folio, loofely written by the Direction or Influence, or by the hand of John Robarts Earl of Radnor, sometime Lord Privy Seal; seeming to contain many of his Notes & Observations upon the Rules, Usages & Customes of our English Parliaments; among which, I shall briefly mention these which follow.

1. Of the Original of Parliaments. 1.
2. The Number of the Temporal Peers. 2.
3. That the Commons did not antiently sitt together with the Lords. 2. b.
4. That the Commons antiently had a Speaker. 3.
5. The Numbers of the Lords Spiritual & Temporal, summoned to Parliament, from ann. 49 Hen. tertij, to ann. 22 Edw. tertij. 6.
6. Precedent of a Free Conference demanded by the Commons without any praevious Conference. 10.
7. About application to the Crown by the Lords, Whether certain Bills (wherein the Prerogative was concerned) should be read. 11.
8. That the Speaker of the Commons, for Sicknes, hath been removed. 12.
9. Of making of Lawes in Parliament. 13.
10. Whether the Kings Assent be necessary to all capital Judgements given in Parliament by the Lords, either before the Judgement be given, or after? 16.
11. Concerning Freedome of Speech. 18. & 21.
12. Of going away from the Parliament, without leave. 20. b.
13. The Difference betweene an Ordinance of Parle-ment, & a Statute. 22.
14. Concerning Adjournment of the House. 25.
15. Of the Lords receiving a Message from the Commons. 26.
16. That Matters of Parlement ought to be discussed by the Law & Course of Parlement. 27.
17. Touching Procuratores Cleri. 29.
18. Whither the King bee an Estate, or Heade of the 3 Estates, without being an Estate? 30.
19. That Peers of the Upper House, are not bound to answer in the Commons House of Parliament. 32.
20. Of the Arraignment & Condemnation of George Duke of Clarence, in full Parliament; anno 18 Regis Edwardi iv. of which, noe Memoriall is to be found, in the Records of Parliament. 36.

It is added, But this way of Proceedinge, it seems displeased the Commons, in that the King should enforce either Article or Testimony against the Delinquent, in a capitall Cause.

21. Whether the Lords in Parliament, can giue power to any Committee or Referees, to examine Witneses upon Oath? 37.

22. For what Causes a Peere of this Realme may be imprisoned, dureing the Sittinge of Parliament. 39.

This Article containeth the whole Proceedings in the House of Peers, with relation to Thomas Howard Earl of Arundell & Surrey, who was imprisoned by the King for a personal Misdemeanor.

23. Whether, upon an Impeachment of the House of Commons, of Treason in generall, without alleadging any particular Treason: a Peer so impeached, ought to be committed? 56.

This is considered upon the Lord Chancellor Clarendon's Case, who was accused by the Commons 11 November 1667. of High Treason & High Crimes & Misdemeanors, in generall: and here, likewise, most of the Proceedings in the Lords House against his Lordship, are particularly related.

24. Whether an Attachment out of the Courte of Chancery, can regularly issue against a Peere of this Realme, for not appearing in Chancery, or for not performing a Decree made there? 70.

This Question is not discussed; but only Paper left Blank, whereupon the Consideration of it was to be entered.

25. An Order of the House of Peers, made the 19th of June 1628, obliging the Muscovia Company to pay-off their Creditors; and regulating certain of their Affairs, in Order thereunto. 71.

This was occasioned by a generall Protection granted from the King & Council to that Company, in respect of their being decayed by greate Losses, &c.

2244.

A very thin Book in small folio, containing only one Tract, which is entituled.

Severall Greivances, concerninge Trade, presented to King James by Sir Robert Heath then Sollicitor General, vpon Friday the 28th of May 1624. in the name of the Lower House of Parliament, in the Banqueting House at White Hall.

2245.

A Book in small folio, written by different hands; wherein are contained,

1. A Shorte Viewe of Henry the third his Life. 1.
The Author was Sir Robert Cotton; & this Copie all along gives his Citations in the margin.
2. A Letter written by a Mr. of Arte of Cambridge, to his friende in London, &c. 9.
This is the Libell called Leicesters Commonwealth, commonly ascribed to Rob. Persons the Jesuit.
3. Pia et utilis Meditatio, desumpta ex libro Jobi, Cap. 20. 60.
4. The same in English.

2246.

A Book in small folio, containing a Treatise about Money Matters, which bears no Authors name, nor hath any Preface. Whether it be in print, or whether it may be ascribed to Gerard Malines, in this my absence from my Lords noble Library of printed Books now at Wimpole, I cannot say. In order therefore, to apprise his Lordship of the Design of this Treatise, I shall subjoin the Contents of its several Chapters; not taken from those two Leaves at the beginning, which are added to the Treatise, but from the Work itself.

1. Of the first Invention, & Use of Money. 1.
2. Of the Matter of Money. 3.
3. Of the Formes of Money; auncientlie, & now in Use. 7. b.
4. Of

Num. 2246, 2247.

4. Of the Proportions held betwene Gold & Silver, auncient & moderne. 12.
5. Of the raising of the Price & Money, both of Siluer & Gold. 19. b.
6. Of base Money. 28.
7. Of the Inconveniences in generall, growne in the matter of Money. 36.
8. Of the low Price of our Siluer. 44.
9. Of the prohibition of forraigne Moneys, especially Spanish. 51.
10. Of the vnequall Coynage of our Moneys. 57.
11. Of the great increase of the Proportion betwene Gold & Siluer, and the things valued by them : by which there is growne a greater wante of Money in England then was in auncient times : and of the Causes thereof; and of the Reamidies which may be applied. 63. b.
12. Of the raising of the prises of Money by our Neighbours, & the defecte of our not raising of our Moneys accordingly. 87.
13. Of the benefitts which do growe vnto the State by the raising of Moneys; and the prejudices which doe grow by not raising of it. 89. b.
14. The benefitts which doe growe to the State by the not raising of Moneys; and the prejudice which doe growe by the raising of it. 93. b.
15. Examinations of the reasons for the raising of Money. 99. b.
16. Examination of the Reasons for the not raising of Money. 106.

20. Of reducing Moneys to the lowness of auncient Values. 129. b.
21. Of raising of our Moneys according to the raising of our Neighbours. 129. b.
22. Of introducing two different Species of Money. 133. b.
23. Of Coyning of Moneys without distinction of Weight. 138. b.

This Author seems to have flourished in the Reign of K. Charles I. for in foll. 13. b. & 54. he speaks of the year 1622. as of time perfectly passed: and this Treatise is but the former part of his intended Work, as may appear in fol. 147. where I find the following Words, about raising the Value of Money; "and for this purpose I intend to sett downe the History of the most memorable raisings that haue bine in this kind, both in our age, and heretofore, of what Nature they were; and how those States did draw their benefit & subsistence out of them. Secondly what Extremities & Confusions those raisings did drawe vpon the said States & the people thereof. Thirdly, what readymie those Estates haue applied to reduce & settle those Extremities & Confusions whereunto they were fallen. In which Historie, I shall come to touch some Examples very moderne"—& concludes the present Treatise thus,—"all which will require a longe & curious Discursion; but I doe leaue it vnto a seacond Breathing."

2247.

A Book in folio, written partly upon parchment, & partly upon paper; the number of whose Leaves is all along noted at the bottom, by the hand of Dr. John Covell late Master of Christs College, all whose Manuscripts, not of his own hand-writing, my noble Lord now living, bought of him many years agoe. Herein is contained a Collection of Homilies or Postills, tam de tempore quam de Sanctis, for the whole year; which, because they are in English, and seem to have been compiled by or for some Secular Priest, and shew somewhat of the State of Religion here, CAT. 59. In Concepcione Beate Marie.

137.

Beginn. "Such a day N. holy Chirche make the mencione of þe Concepcione of oure Ladi Seint Mari, for 3 specialle Causes."

Here is another legendary Story, how this Feast of the Conception was first instituted upon a report made by Ægelsin Abbat of Ramsey, as if the Blessed Virgin had saved him & his Ship, in his return from Denmark, in pursuance of a bargain stricken between an Angel & the Abbat for that purpose: This Story would have been no less current, if the Author had made Lanfrancus Archbishop of Canterbury during the Reign of K. William the Conqueror, instead of his Anselmus.

60. De Sæ Thoma Apostolo, qui dicitur Didimus.

139. b.

Beginn. "This holi Fest of Seint Thomas of Ynde, þat holy Apostle, shalle specially be hade in Reuerence & Worship, for 3 Causes."

 fulle Modir of Gode."
80. Sancti Bartholomæi Apostoli. 184.
 Beginn. "Worshipfulle frendes, Ye shalle vndir-stonde þat þis worde Bartholomeus ys as myche to sey as Filius suspendentis aquas, Sone of Watres holding vp."
 Though our Author was not the most learned Dector of the Age wherein he lived, nor always happy in his Etymologies: yet as to this he may be excused, because it is none of his own; but taken from the Interpretation of the Scriptural proper Names (commonly ascribed to Remigius) which is generally added to the Vulgar Latin Bibles, especially to those written about 500 years agoe, or later.
81. Natiuitas beate Marie. 186.
 Beginn. "How this holy Feste of þe Natiuite, þat is 92. In die Sepulture, seu Tringiali. 209.

Beginn. "Righte worshipfulle Frendes, It is a grette werke of Pytee & Mercy to helpe & comforte þeme þat be bounde in bodely Presone, or temperalle Seruage: myche more it is merytory & medefulle to helpe, focour, & releue þoo Soules þat be bounde & peynede in þe presone of Purgatory; for þei may righte noughte help þeme selves."

2248.

A parchment-Book in small folio; wherein is contained,

The Chronicle of Brute, whose Prologue beginneth with these Words, "In the noble Land of Surrye ther was a noble Kyng & mighty, and a man of gret renom that men called Dioclycian." But the work it self gives the following Exordium, "In the noble Cite of gret Troye, ther was a noble Knyght & myghty, & a man of gret power, that Men called Eneas." This Chronicle ends in the sixth year of our King Henry vi. upon his taking the City of Roan.

In this Exemplar, the last Quaternio, save one, is wanting; which may easily be supplied from other Copies here & elsewhere. It may be noted, that if any hereafter shall endeavour to publish an accurate Edition of this Chronicle, or of the later part of it; he would do well to collate as many Copies as he can any where find, because of the great Differences between them, which will be soon perceived.

2249.

A vellum-Book in folio, well written, & containing,

Part of the Old Testament in English; being of one of those Translations commonly ascribed to John Wycliffe: This beginneth in the 19. Chapter of Joshua, & ends in the 144th Psalm, according to the Vulgar Latin Bible.

2250.

A paper Book in folio, consisting of divers Tracts bound-up together in the Order following.

The first is, an imperfect Theological Poem in old Northern English, written upon various subjects, vizt.

1. De Circumfione Domini; which wants the beginning; a bit whereof the negligent Book-binder hath inserted between the Leaves 44. & 45. 1.

2. De Epiphania Domini. 1. b.

3. De Purificatione Beate Marie Virginis. 5.

4. De Innocentibus, et Herode Escalanita. (l. Ascalonita) 10.

5. De Septuagesima. 12. b.

6. De Sexagesima. 13. b.

7. De Quinquagesima. 14. b.

8. De Quadragesima. 15. b.

9. De Jejuniis quatuor Temporum. 17.

10. De diversis Datis (i. e. of things that were done at particular times or Dates) fol. 19. b. col. 1. lin. 19.

11. De Passione Domini. 20. b.

12. De Pilato. 25. b.

13. De Juda Proditor. 27.

14. De Resurrectione Domini. 28.

CAT. HARL. VOL. II.

Num. 2250.

15. De Letania Majore. 33. b.

16. De Letania Minore. 34. b.

17. De Ascensione Domini. 36.

18. De Emissione Spiritus Sancti. 40. b.

This seems to end abruptly. Then follows by another hand, and in another sort of Verse.

19. De Scto Martino; or a Legend of his Life: 48.

Init. Saynt Martyne was borne in the Londe of Savarie.

20. Speculum Xpiani; partly in Latin, partly in English.

This is but an Abridgement of the Treatise bearing that Title, whose Authors Name is not mentioned by Ieland, Pitts, or Dr. Cave; but by the help of MSS. in the Library of Corpus Christi-College in Oxford (no. 155.) appears to be John Wattone. When this Man flourished is, as yet, to me incertain; but a Date at the end of this Tract shews it to have been written A. D. 1477. which might, probably, be in or about his own time.

21. Themata Dominicalia. 64. b.

22. Divisio Membrorum Capituli primi Diete prime. 68.

These two last Articles seem to have been extracted from Bonaventures Dieta Salutis.

Then follow in English;

23. De Erkenwaldo. 72. b.

This is a Legendary Poem concerning him, written by the Hand that wrote the Legend of St. Martin before mentioned, at No. 19: This begins thus, "At London in Englonde nozt fulle longe sythen."

24. De Scto Johanne Baptista. 75. b.

Init. "Saynt John þe beste barne, þe holy Baptiste."

25. De Scto Albano. 77.

Init. "Saynt Albane þe holy mon roos here of Englonde."

26. De Scto Juliano Confessore. 77. b.

Init. "Saint Juliane þe Confessour borne was in Rome."

27. De Scto Juliano Hospite. ibid.

Init. "Saint Juliane þe noble Herbageour of noble kynne he come."

28. De Cruce. 79.

Init. "The holy Rode, þat fwete Tre, gode is to haue in mynde."

29. Inuencio Sancte Crucis. 80. b.

Init. "Qwene Elene come to Jerusaleme, seche a rede ho nome."

30. Saynt Quiriak. 81.

Init. "Saynt Quiriak þe Bishop prechid Goddes lawe."

31. Saynt Elene. 81. b.

Init. "Saynt Elene was in Bretayne borne, & come ene of heghe Lyniage."

32. Exaltacio Scte Crucis. 83.

Init. "The holy Rode þat was foundene, as ze weten, in May."

Then follow, in Prose.

33. A Note, shewing the Distance from Erthe to Hevyne, according to Raby Moyfes. 83. b.

34. A Medicine for þe Axys. ibid.

35. A Sermon for Corpus-Christi-Day. 84.

Init. "Gode Men & Wommen, ze shalle know well þat this is ane heghe Fest of Crists Body."

36. Answers for unlearned Priests, to certain Questions, which were wont to be propounded by the Layety. 85.

37. De Festo Apostolorum Philippi & Jacobi, Sermo brevis. 85. b.

Init. "Gode Men & Wemen, suche a day ze schal haue a heghe feste in holy Churche."

38. Narracio de miraculo Scti Andree; quomodo Diabolus apparuit Scto Cuthberto in specie Mulieris. 86. b.

7 H

39. Another

Num. 2250, 2251.

39. Another legendary Story, upon the benefit of Schrift, or Confession. 86. b.

The Scene of this horrible Story lies in Norwich.

40. Another, about the Conversion of the Jews at Berytus. ibid.

41. Another, about the vain Attempts of the Jews to rebuild their Temple at Jerusalem. 87.

42. Another, about a Jew that was robbed in his Joureny between Bristowe & Wiltone; who was relieved & converted by the Virgin Mary. ibid.

43. A Theological Tract, de x Mandatis, de Vitijs & Virtutibus, &c. 88.

Init. "For als mykelle as ilke Man whils he lifs here in his worlde, & is a Pilgreme ilke day of hys lif."

After only six Leaves of this Tract were written, three Leaves were left blank (for inserting, I suppose, what was wanting in the Exemplar;) & then the same goes on regularly, to the end. But, in the last of the laid three Leaves, another hand hath written.

44. Constitucio Dni Roberti Wynchelese de Juramento ac Obediencia Recltoribus five Vicarijs, de illis Capellanus qui in eorum Ecclesijs five Parochijs celebrant, inpendendis. 94.

A Paper-book in small folio, bought (many years agoe) of Mr. Richard Jones since deceased. It seems to have been written by the hand of one Shirley, and afterwards to have come into the possession of Mr. John Stowe the Historian, & is now imperfect, and otherwise damaged. However, it yet contains a great Collection of Ditties (as they were then called) Ballads, & other Poems of John Lidgate the famous Monk of Bury St. Edmund, and of some few other Authors, in the following Order.

1. A Prayer to our blessed Lord & Saviour. 1.

Beginn. "O Jhu Crist, kepe our Lyppes from pollucione."

2. A Prayer, or Application to the blessed Virgin. 1. b.

Beginn. "Al hayle Mary, ful of Grace!"

3. A short Poem upon the Lives of our Kings, from William the Conqueror, to Edward iv. both inclusive. I perceive that Pitts will have Lidgate to have died A. D. 1440; and indeed, the Stanza relating to K. Henry vi. looks as if it were written in that Kings prosperity; but then, here is another Stanza added to it, in favour of K. Edward iv. by the same hand; and Pitts owns that he did receive Information that our Author died A. D. 1482; i. e. a little sooner then the King last mentioned.

Beginn. "This myghti William Duke of Normandy." 2. b.

4. Medicinal, Prudential, & Theological Advices 4. b.

Beginn. "For Helthe of Body, & for Colda thyn Hede."

5. Littera Dompni Johannis Lydgate Monachi Monasterij Sti. Edmundi de Bury. missa ad Ducem Gloucestrie in tempore transacionis libri Bochasij, pro oportunitate Pecunie. 6.

Beginn. "Right myghty Prince, and be it youre wille."

The burden of this Ditty, is like this "Only for lake of Plate, & of Coyngange."

6. Epitaphium ejusdem Ducis Gloucestrie. 7.

Beginn. "Souerayne, Immortal, Everlastyng Gode"

7. A short Poem, whose Subject may be easily discerned by the beginning of it. vizt.

"Ye devoute peple, whiche kepe one obseruaunce Mekely in Chirche, to kysse Stone or Tree, Erthe or Iren: hathe in remembraunce What they dothe meane, and take the Moralitye."

8. Another, upon Stella Celi extirpavit. 9. b.

Beginn. "Thow heuenly Quene of Grace, oure Lode-Sterre."

Num. 2251.

9. Another, upon "Ab inimicis nostris defende nos Criste." 10. b.

Beginn. "Most Souerayne Lorde, O blesful Criste Jhesu."

Herein the King (i. e. Edward iv.) his Quene, & his Modir are particularly remembred.

10. Another, upon this Lemina,

"Concilio quisquis eris, qui pacis fidem queris.

Consonus esto Lupis, cum quibus esse cupis." 11. b.

Beginn. "In Councelle whatsoeuer thow be."

11. Another, upon Women; whose burden is like this, "Beaute wil shewe, thow Hornes were away." 13. b.

Beginn. "Off Gode, & Kynde proceedith al Beaute."

12. Another, in the dispraise of one called Jake Hare, whose Burden is like this, "Whiche of a Bolle (i. e. a Bowl or Pitcher) can pluke out the lynenge." 14.

Beginn. "A frowarde Knave, plainly to discryve."

13. A Poem upon the Imperfection of Mans Life; whose Burden is like this, "Al Stant on Chaunge, like a Mydsomer Rose." 15.

Beginn. "Late no man bolle of Konnyng nor Vertu."

14. A Ditty seeming to be taken from the Canticles; being written partly in Latin, & partly in English. Its Burden is like this, "Sonet vox tua in auribus." 17.

Beginn. "Rex Salomon summus of Sapience."

15. Another, applied to the blessed Virgin; whose Burden seems to have been (for the end is wanting) "Veni coronaberis." 18.

Beginn. "Surge mea Sponsa so swete in Sighte."

16. The end of a Dite (whose beginning is wanting, by reason of the loss of a Leaf) seeming to have been a Satire upon the manners of the Times then present; whose burden is, "Conueyede by Lyne, righte as a Rammeshorn." 20.

17. Upon Humane Nature, that affecteth what is agreeable to itself with a Burden like to this, "Thus euery thyng drawithe to his semblable." 20. b.

Beginn. "Trete euery Man like as he is disposede."

18. Again upon the mutable State of Mans Nature; with a Burden like this, "How shulde he thanne be Stable in lvyng." 23. b.

Beginn. "The Worlde so wyde; the Ayre so removable."

19. Upon the inconsistency of many Mens Actions; with this Burden, "It may wele Ryme, but it accordithe noughte." 26.

Beginn. "Alle thyng in kynde desirethe thyng ilike." ibid.

20. Against unseasonable Hast; with a Burden like this, "He hastithe wele that wisely can abyde" 27. b.

Beginn. "The hasty Man failithe neuer Woo."

21. Upon Moderation with a Burden like this "If it in Mesure be." 28. b.

Beginn. "By Witte of Man al thyng that is conceyde."

22. How unable Mans understanding is to comprehend the Works of Divine Providence; with this Burden, "Hoc factum est a Domino." 30.

Beginn. "O Man, thou marreste in thy mynde."

23. A Ditty to the blessed Virgin; with this kind of Burden, "Haile, Flos campi! O Ave, Jesse virgula!" 31. b.

Beginn. "Haile, bliffede Lady, the Modir of Criste Jhesu."

24. Upon her Assumption; with this Burden, "Maria Virgo assumpta est." 34.

Beginn. "Regina Celi, Qwene of the Sowth."

25. A short Salutation to the blessed Virgin, with this Burden, "Ave Regina Celorum." 35. b.

Beginn. "Haile Luminary and benyng Lanterne."

26. An Invocation of the same. 36. b.

Beginn.

Num. 2251.

Beginn. "O thou ioieful Lighte, eternal ye shyne."

27. A Ditty, wherein the Author feigns how dyuerſe Fowles praised Gode in al his Werkes ful reuerently. withe an hevenly Ympne. 37. b.

Beginn. "As I me lenyed vnto a joyful place."

28. Another, wherein many Contraries are brought together & propoſed ænigmatically; with a Burden, at the firſt like this, "Is this Fortune, or is it Infortune; Thoughe I go looſe, I tyed am withe a Lyne." 38. b.

Beginn. "The more I go, the further I am behynde." It is, upon the Inſtability of ſublunary Affairs.

29. Another, Satirically deſcribing the wrong actions & practices of many ſorts of people with this Burden, "So as the Crabbe gothe forward." 40.

Beginn. "This World is ful of Stabilneſſe."

30. Another, wherein our bleſſed Savior is repreſented, as rehearſing the particulars of his bitter Paſſion, the Merits thereof, & his unparalleled Love to Mankind. The Burden is, moſtly, "Was like a Lambe, offrede in Sacrifice." 41.

Beginn. "Beholde! O Man! liſte-yp thy Eye ande ſe."

31. Verba Magiſtri Johannis Lydgate, contra Honores Mundi: in one Stanza. 43.

Beginn. "Worldly Worſhip is Joye tranſitorye."

32. The Plaint of the bleſſed Virgin, upon our Saviors Crucifixion; with this Burden, for the greater part, "Thus raylede to a Tre." 43. b.

Beginn. "Who ſhal gyve vnto my hede a Welle of bitter Teeris, my Sorw to compleyne:" according to its Lemma "Quis dabit Capiti meo fontem lacrimarum:" taken from Jeremiah ix. 1.

33. Le Pleyntefe cowntre Fortune, with her Anſwers. 46.

Beginn. "This wrechid Worldis tranſmutacioune."

This ſeems to have been tranſlated out of French: and in the Lenvoye our Author complains of his Loſs of Memory by reaſon of old Age; and of the difficulty it then was to compoſe in Engliſh, ſo curiouſly, as they did in France.

34. "A Demawnde by Lydgate — Whiche of the two, by juſt Compariſoune, Love or Money in valew dothe excede?"

Here the Poet ſhews that Mankind generally gives the preference to the latter; but concludes with exhorting all to the Love of God. It begins thus, "Eche man folwithe his own fantaſye." 47. b.

35. A Poem of three Stanzas only, recommending the Love of Vertu. 49. b.

Beginn. "The firſt Stoke was fader of Gentilnes" (This is printed as Chaucers, in the laſt Edition of his Works, pag. 551.)

36. A Prayer to the bleſſed Virgin, conſiſting of 24 Stanzas, each of them beginning with a Letter according to the order of the Engliſh Alphabet. 50.

Beginn. "I myghti, and al merſiable Owere."

This is not Lidgates, but was made by Geoffrey Chaucer; and is printed in the laſt Edition of his Works, at page 588 being there intimated to have been made at the requeſt of Blanch Duchefs of Lancaſter: which Edition thereof, may be amended in divers places, from this Copie.

37. A ballad upon the craſte of Lovyers. 53.

Beginn. "To moralite a Symilitude, who liſte theſe Balletts fewe."

This is alſo aſcribed to Geoffrey Chaucer, and hath found a place in the laſt Edition of his Works, namely, at page 52. where in the laſt Stanza (to bring it back to Chaucers twentyeth year) the date is ſett-down thus.

"In the yere of our Lorde a M. by reckoning, cccxl. and vii. yere following."

whereas, in the preſent MS, it ſtands thus,

"In the yere of God a M. by rekenynge Four hundred fifty, and ix. yere folwynge."

Num. 2251.

Here is a difference of 112 yeares, the laſt of which falls in Lidgates time; to whom alſo the Language ſeems more ſuitable. I need not omitt, that at the end of this Copy is a Lenvoy of three Stanzas, which are not in the printed Edition abovementioned.

38. Fabula duorum Mercatorum, de & ſuper geſtis Romanorum. 56.

Beginn. "In Egipt whilom, as I rede & fynde."

This Poem is upon the faſt Friendſhip that was eſta- bliſhed between theſe two Merchants, as was between thoſe memorable Friends of Antiquity, Pylades & Or- reſtes, or Damon & Pythias. The Fable is plainly taken from the anonymous Monkiſh Tract called Geſta Roma- norum; of which, ſeveral written Copies are extant in this noble Library; where the two Friends paſs all along as Knights and not as Merchants.

39. A Ditty or ballad upon Dan Joos a Monk who had long continued to practice particular Devotions toward the Virgin Mary; particularly in reciting certain Pfalms or Hymns remarkable for her name. Whereupon when this Monk died ſuddenly, he was found with a fine red Roſe ſpringing out of his mouth, two others from his Eies, & two more from his Ears: with the name "MARIA ful fayre i-graven" vpon them, "in lettris of bourne de Golde." 71. b.

Beginn. "O Welle of Swetnes, replete in euery Veyne."

The Author affirms that he took this Legend from the "Speculum Hiſtoriale of Vincentius" Belvacenſis.

40. A Legendary tale of a young Boy who ſang forth to the praife of the Virgin Mary, after he was murder'd by a Jew who had cutt his throat. 73. b.

Beginn. "O Lorde, oure Lorde, thyn name how marvelous."

This is the Prioreſſes Prologue & Tale in Chau- cer; and in our preſent MS. the laſt Stanza is purpoſely omitted.

41. Two Stanzas exciting to the Love of St. Anne mother to the bleſſed Virgin. 77. b.

Beginn. "He that intendithe in his Herte to ſeke."

The Author promiſeth "a devoute Oreyſon in honour of hir oonly;" but it is omitted.

42. One Stanza upon this Diſtich,

"Vinum Lacte lava; oleum liquore Fabarum; En- cauſtum Vino: cætera mundat aqua." ibid.

43. How a man of Paris who uſed to pray for the ſouls in Purgatory, being purſued into his Church-yard by Enemies, was preſently delivered by the Dead there "who aroſe out of their Graves."

"Somme apperede with Gleyves, and ſomme withe Staves." 78.

Beginn. "Remembryd by Scriptures we fynde & rede."

44. Of Wulfryke a Wiltſhire-Priſte, who uſed to fyng or ſay a Maſſe of requiem for alle Criſten Soules; and therefore, when he was dying, his Companion a neighbouring Priſte, ſaw in the Church-yard many ariſe from the Graves, appeareng as Children in white Array, who having prayed for the moribund, tourned againe into theyr Graves. 78. b.

Beginn. "In Wiltſhire ofe Ynglonde two Priſtes pere were."

45. A Ditty of three Stanzas, in the name of our bleſſed Savior. 79.

Beginn. "My fader above, beholdynge thy meke- neſſe." This ſeems to be imperfect.

46. Three Stanzas againſt immoderate Care & Pains in amaſſing of Riches. 79. b.

Beginn. "Longe will be Water, in a Welle to keche."

47. Of the ſeveral Complexions of Men, a Ballad in 3 Stanzas. ibid.

Beginn. "The Sangwyne man, of Bloode hath hardynes."

48. Anothe

Num. 2251.

48. Another of four Stanzas, upon the same Subject. 80.
 Beginn. "Off Yiftes large, in Love hath grete delite."
 49. The beginning of a Poem, perhaps designed for an Explication of the Decalogue. 80. b.
 Beginn. "The highe aſtri-potent auctor of alle."
 50. An obſervation, in one ſtanza, upon wife, ſtronge falſe & meke men. 81. b.
 Beginn. "There is non ſo wife a man."
 51. The Tragedye of Adam. 82.
 Beginn. "Sodeyne departynge from this Felicitye."
 52. An Exemplaire for Princes to love Vertu, & to leve Pryde; in the Tragedye of Nemprothe. 84. b.
 Beginn. "Ye folkes alle that this Tragedye reede."

 61. The Tragedye of Jeroboam. 93. b.
 Beginn. "This Tragedye, the States and thev Degres."
 62. Lenvoy of Dydo Quene of Cartage. 94.
 Beginn. "O layre Dydo, moſt noble in Conſtaunce."
 I ſuppoſe Ildgate did not write her Story, or Legend, becauſe Chaucer had done it before; as he alſo wrote that of Lucretia (ſee above, at No. 60.) both which are printed with his other works.
 63. A Poem concerning Vice & Vertu; that is, for vertuous Laboure, & againſt Slouth & Negligence. 95.
 Beginn. "Two maner of Folkes to put in remembrance."
 Herein, the Author treates of "Thubal & Pictagoras founders of Muſyke; the children of Sethe, who fonde firſt the heavenly Mocyouns; quod Ennoke primo inuenerit literas Ebraycas, que confeſte fuerant durante Diluvio, in Columpna lapidea.  Beginn. "Lo here of Cyrus the woful aventure."
 68. Lenvoye vpon the Tragedye of Amylius (l. Amulius) & Minutor (l. Numitor) brethren of Albanye. 102. b.
 Beginn. "But whanne Prynces ben feythful ofe Entente."
 Here (viz. in fol. 103. b.) Shirley, who was the Copiſte, or tranſcriber of this Exemplar, has clapped-in a marginal note of "Fallere fallentem non eſt fraus:" which, if allowed, gives an in-lett to all the Villany & Wickedneſs that one man can do to another; either as aggreſſor, or by way of Revenge.
 69. A Lenvoy made of the Tragedyes of Princes for þe Synne of Lechery. 104.
 Beginn. "This Tragedye gyvethe vs grete warnynge."
 70. Lenvoye vpon the Princes thate ben lecherous: or the Tragedye of Melchides. 105. b.

 92. The Tragedy (or tragical Story) of Jason & Medea. 122.
 Beginn. "Whanne Johan Bochas was moste indigent."
 This Poem is imperfect, at the end; as, what follows is at the beginning: being, as I think,
 93. The Poem or Tragedy of King Arthur. 128.
 94. The Tragedy of Andronicus. 128. b.
 Beginn. "In this Tragedye ageyne Andronicus."
 95. The Tragedy of Philpot. 129.
 Beginn. "This Tragedye afori reherfith here."
 96. Of Candalus the Kyng of Lyde disceyved be his Wyfe. 130.
 Beginn. "But whan that Bochas caste his Booke aside."
 97. Of Midas the riche King of Frigie, this being tacked to the former Story. 131. lin. penult.
 Beginn. "There cam a Frigie, Midas the riche Kyng."
 98. Of Balthazar the grete Kyng of Babiloyne. 132. b.
 Beginn. "Thanne nexte to Bochas, or thate he was ware."
 99. Of the Qwene Althea daughter of Theftys Kyng of Calcidoyne. 133. b.
 Beginn. "Whanne thate Bochas had shewed his Sentence."
 100. A Poem, containing divers moral Observations drawn from the preceding Story. 138. b.
 Beginn. "Thus Dethe devowrithe withe his bitter Galle."
 Herein, is the Story of Nisus of Magarence & Scilla his Daughter.
 101. Of myghti Sampson. 147.
 Beginn. "This Tragedye gyvithe an Evidence."
 102. A Ditty in praise of Poverty. 148.
 Beginn. "O thou Pouerty, meke, humble & debonayre."
 103. Another, containing the Author's advices for the attainment of Virtue. 151.
 Beginn. "As out of Hony Men gete ofte Sweetnes."
 104. Advices to Children or Youth, for regulating their behaviour. 153.
 Beginn. "Be symple of Chere; caste nate thyn Ye aside."
 In the Lenvoye, our Author Lydegate names himself.
 105. Cautions for Youth to beware of deceitful Women. 154. b.
 Beginn. "Loke wele aboute, ye that Lovers be."
 At the end of this Poem, the Copiste mentioneth Dane Johan Lydegate as the Author: yet this is printed as Chaucer's, in the last Edition at pag. 558.
 106. A Ballad of good Counsell, 156.
 Beginn. "Confidre wele withe every Circumstaunce."
 This is printed (with Lidgates name as the Author) in the fore-mentioned Edition of Chaucers Works, at pag. 549. and furnisheth us with a Stanza more than is here printed.
 107. A Translation of four Latin Distichs, setting forth the general Degeneracy of Mankind, and Diffolution of Manners. 158.
 Beginn. "Yifte is made Domes man."
 108. Querela Senis, (Ascribed to Henry Scogan, in the last Edition of Chaucer, at pag. 546.) 158. b.
 CAT. HARL. VOL. II.

Num. 2251.

- Beginn. "My noble Soncs and eke my Lordis dere."
 Here the Author inciteth them to the practice of Virtue in their Youth; and quoteth Chaucer more than once.
 109. A Ditty translated from the French of John . . . by our John Lidgate (vid. fol. 172.) and inscribed to Margaret Queen of K. Henry vi. as it seems. It is grounded upon many Latin scriptural and other Sentences. 161. b.
 Beginn. "The tyme approchede, ofe Necessite."
 110. A Ditty upon Prudence, Justice, Temperance, &c. 173.
 Beginn. "By Sapience tempre thy Corage."
 111. A short Ditty entituled Cato in minori; written for one of our Translators Scholars. 174.
 Beginn. "Whanne I aduerte to my Remembraunce."
 112. A larger, entituled, Liber magni Catonis. 175.
 Beginn. "For thate God is, inwardly the Wite."
 Perhaps this may have been translated for the use of the same Person.
 113. Another, consisting of prudential Maxims & other Sentences, conceived in Latin, & translated into English Verse, for the same young noble Youths use as I conceive. 179.
 Beginn. "Yffe thou list, my childe, to fete thy hertly Delite."
 114. The second & third Stanzas of the Querela Senis (vid. supra, n. 108.) here written superfluously. 183. b.
 115. The two first Stanzas of a moral Poem translated from Latin, as those above. ibid.
 Beginn. "No (leg. Lo.) whate Wighte thate listithe hym for to rede."
 Now after a great Chasm; follow,
 116. A Poem explaining the Office of the Maf; which Pitseus entituleth De audienda Missa. 204.
 Beginn. "Ye thate bethe ofe goode Deuocyoune."
 At the end is this shorte Note, "Explicit quod Lidgate; Amen."
 117. The Treatise De Regimine Principum, or Secretum Secretorum, commonly ascribed to Aristotle. 214. b.
 Beginn. "God almyghti save & conferme oure Kyng."
 This Work was of mighty repute in days of yore; and is pretended to have been translated out of Greek into Arabic or Chaldee, by one John a Spaniard; & from thence into Latin, by Philipp a Frenchman; & so into English Verse (with many Interpolations & Omissions) by Lidgate, at the Request of K. Edward iv. as it may seem; because Dan John lived not to finish his Task. This appears by a Marginal Note which I find at fol. 236. in the Words following, "Here deyde the Translatour, a noble Poete Dane Johne Lydegate; and his followere gan his Prologe in this wise; per Benedictum Burghe. This Prologue to the Continuation do's thus"
 Beginn. "Where Flowre ofe Knyghthode the Batel dothe refuse."
 Pitseus maketh no mention of this Continuator; but (according to his Custom) splitteth this Treatise into two.
 118. Proceffionne of Corpus Cristy, by Lydegate. 250. b.
 Beginn. "This highe Feste for to magnifye."
 This ending abruptly, the Transcriber added the following Note to it, "Shirley kowde fynde no more for this Copey."
 119. Examples of Kings and Princes unfortunate. 254.
 Beginn. "Beholde this grete Prynce Edward the Secunde."
 This seems to be unfinished.
 120. A Sayenge of the Nyghtyngale. (This Title is plainly

Num. 2251.

plainly of the hand-writing of Mr. John Stow the Antiquary 255.

Beginn. "In June when Titan was in Crabbes hede."

This is also imperfect, as appeareth by the Transcribers Note, "Of this Balade, Dan Johan Lydgate made no more."

121. A Ditty to the blessed Virgin. 260. b.

Beginn. "Be gladde Mayde, Moder of Jhesu."

122. Another, to our Lord Jhesu 261. b.

Beginn. "Criste, that arte bothe Day & Lighte."

123. Another, to the Authors Soul. 262. b.

Beginn. "O thowe, my Soule, gyfe Lawde vnto the Lorde."

124. Gloriosa dicta sunt de te, &c. said to be translated by Lidgate Dan Johan the Monke of Bury, at the Instance of the Bisshoppe of Excestre, in Balade-wise.

265.
Beginn. "In holy Hilles whiche bien of grete Renoune."

125. A Ballad in praise of Queen Catherine, Mother to K. Henry vi. 268. b.

Beginn. "Seynte Valentyne, ofe Custom, yeere by yeere."

126. A Ballad, or Fable, of two Beasts called Bycorne & Chichevache; whereof, that was monstrously fat, as eating up all Husbands who were tractable & complacent to their Wives: & this was poor and lean, being assigned to live upon nothing but patient and obedient Wives; of which sort, but one had been found in many year's time.

270. b.
Beginn. "O prudente folkes, takithe Heede."

127. A Ditty upon the unhappyness & instability of all worldly affairs. 272. b.

Beginn. "Lyfte vp the ieen ofe your aduertence."

The Author (who seems to be Lidgate) mentions the unfortunate ends of our King Henry v. & other English: and faith that he took his Refreyde, or Burden from his Mayster Chaucier, "who wrote ful yore ago;" which Burden is, "How this World is a Thurgh-fare ful of Woo."

128. A Ballad accompanying an Eagle presented to our King Henry v. & his Queen, on the Day of their Espousals. 275. b.

Beginn. "This hardy Fowle, this Bridde victorious."

129. Complaint of a Lady who had settled her inviolable Affection upon a noble Knight, with whom she had been bred-up; but he knew not of it. 276. b.

Beginn. "Allas! I woful Creature."

130. Advise to the then young King Henry vi. and among many other Things, particularly to imitate the singular Virtues of his Royal Parents. 277. b.

Beginn. "Most noble Prince, of Cristen Princes alle."

131. A Ditty upon the Loves, & expected Marriage of Jaques Duchefs of Holland (Hainault) with the English Prince Humfrey Duke of Gloucester. Upon both whom, our Author bestoweth the greatest Praises.

279. b.
Beginn. "Thurghe gladde Aspects, of the gode Cupide."

132. A Paraphrastical Translation of Seaven of Iopes Fabules. 283.

Beginn. "Wyfdom is more of pris than Golde in Coffres."

That this is Dan John's Work, is plain from the last Verse save one in this page, where he faith "I was born in Lydegate." It may be also noted, that fol. 287 being wanting, Mr. John Stowe abovementioned, hath added the first five Verses that were therein to the bottom of fol. 286. b. and omitted in the rest; unless they were inserted in a loose Paper now lost.

133. A Complaint to an empty Purse. 298.

Num. 2251, 2252.

Beginn. "To yow, my Purse, and to non other Wighte."

The three first Stanzas of this Poem are ascribed to Chaucer (I believe rightly) and, as his, are printed in pag. 549. of the last Edition of his Works. But in the present MS. here are no less than 20 Stanzas more, upon another and greater subject of Complaint; in my poor Opinion, much more suitable to Chaucer's circumstances in the latter time of his Life than those of Lydgate. For here the Poet complains of the mutability of Fortune; the Loss of his Wealth; his being kept poor in Prison upon false Accusations; the baseness of his pretended Friends, not one of whom now gave him the least Relief, in his Distress, or had made him any Visit, though they all adored him in his Prosperity, while he could do them good Turns; with his want of prospect of ever getting out: He therefore prepares himself to die, and implores the Aid of Jhesu Christ and his Mother.

134. For this reason I account this as a fresh Poem of that great Man Geoffrey Chaucer; and as thus, 298.

Beginning,

"Allas! Fortune, alas! whate have I gilte,

"In Prison thus to lye hcre defolate."

135. A Ballad, wherein the Author enumerateth many Sorts of Fools; and feigneth a Convent or Fraternity of 63 such. 303.

Beginn. "The Order of Foles, ful yore ago bigonne."

136. The Fable of the Horse, Goose, & Sheep, pleading their respective deserts before the Lion & the Eagle, who fate as Judges. 306.

Beginn. "Contrauerfies, Plees, and al Discorde."

137. The Moralite of the Horse, the Goose, & the Sheepe; translated bi Dan Johan Lidgate. 314. b.

Beginn. "Of this Fable conteynethe this Sentence."

138. An Allegorical Poem, chiefly upon the Fall of Adam (imperfect at the end) 316. b.

Beginn. "Alle busy swymmynge in the stormy Floode."

Here seems to be some notable Confusion; for at fol. 318. &c. the first four Stanzas of Chaucers Ballad beginning with "O Merciful, & oo merciable," are inserted properly, as part of the Poem; which may be Chaucers for ought I now know to the contrary. Whereas what follows in the said Ballad, printed in the last Edition of Chaucer, at pag. 556. is a mere Love-Song, foreign to the preceding matter, and beginning thus, "The Cause, "at this time, of my Writing."

2252.

A paper Book in small folio, written by several Hands, and containing the Collections, Observations, & Memorandums of John Colyn Citizen and Mercer of London; who flourished in the Reign of K. Henry viii. living in the Parish of St. Mary Wolnoth: which Collections, &c. are in Verse as well as in Prose, and sett down upon various Occasions, as they occurred; as will easily appear by the following List of the chiefest of them.

This was granted, by an Act of Court made for that purpose.

20. A Petition exhibited to K. Henry VIII. & his Parliament, in the Name of all English Mercers, Grocers, Drapers, Gold-smithes, Skynners, Haberdassers, Taylers, Ledyr-sellers, Purfers, Poynt-makers, Glovers, Powche-makers, Sadlers, Cutlers, Pewterers, Cowpers, Gyrdlers, Founders, Cordeners, Vyntners, Sporyars, Yoyners, &c. against a grete Multytude of nedy pepylle Estrangers; as Frenshe-mene, Galy-mene, Pycards, Flemynge, Ketyrycks, Spaynyars, Scotts, Lumbards, &c. who, by their unlawfull dealing by Retail, and continual hawking throughout the whole Kingdome, ruined our Natives. 15.

25. A Legendary Story of a Pope, who in his last Sicknes, desired his Chaplain to say three Paternosters for him when he should perceive him to be dying; which it is said had so good an Effect, as to begett a Custome of doing the same for others also. 22.

26. A Poetical Paraphrase upon Psalm 130. De profundis clamavi, &c. as also upon the Kyrie eleison, & Inclina aures: for the Souls in Purgatory. 23.

Beginn. "O mortal Man! call to remembraunce."

27. A Poem entituled a sorrowfulle Complaynte for the Ruine of a Realme: 25.

Beginn. "Sythe profounde Sorow, my harte ys fore grevyde."

The Realm meant by the Author, is England; whose decay he ascribes to the Pride, Covetousness, and other Vices of the Prelats, & principal Clergy.

28. The Namys of the Knyghts, Cetezens, Barons of the v Ports, and Burgeses, comynge to the Parlemeñte summonde at Westmynstre one Monday the 17th day of Octobre, the 7th yere of the Reygne of Kyng Henry the viith. 28.

The Number of the Commons sitting in Parliament at that time amounted to 296.

29. Indictment (in Case of Praemunire, upon the Statute of 17 Rich. II. Cap. 5.) of one Edmonde Grey Clerke, Person of the Parishe-Chyrche of Saynte Benet Grafe-churche of Londone, for purchasynge & impetrating of Pope Nicholas v. a certayne Bulle, conteynynge terabyll Cawces, and publyshynge the same agaynste hys Paryshens. 32. b.

30. The Complaynte of Northe to the Cardnall Wolfey. 33. b.

Beginn. "Nowe beyng in Presone, am I not abyll."

Here is one Poem splitt into two; whose author owns that the Cause of his Imprisonment was his writing a book against the Cardinal, whose Pity he now supplicates in the most humble manner: and in the latter part of it (consisting of Praises of, and Praises for the Cardinal) he hooks-in Anagramatically, his Name and Titles THOMAS LORD LEGATE AND CARDINAL. An imperfect Copy of this Book (whose Author calls himself N. O.) my noble Lord was pleased to shew me very lately; and 'tis one of the most virulent Libels that I ever saw written by any Lollard.

31. Notes of the several Acts of Parlement passyde in Furer and Merche, ann. 25 Henr. VIII. 34. b.

32. Petition to the King, by one of the Menesters of his moste honourabylle Chapelle, for his gracious Letter offe Presentacyone of the Personage of B. 36.

33. John Trevelyones Petition to the Kyng, for his gracious Letter of Pardon: he having been drevyne by Chaunce Medle, for Save-garde of hys Lyfe, to gyve a Strype to one Wylliam Hyller; of whych he dyed. ibid.

34. A brefe Cronekell of the Turkes, from Ottoman to Solemane. 36. b.

This is said to be taken from the Account prynted by Tomas Gybfone.

35. The Progeny or Descent of the Erles of Arundelle. 38.

36. A Letter sende by Kyng Jamus IV. of Scotlande, to Kyng Henry the viiith, at suche tyme as he laye at the Sege of Turwyne in Fraunce, by Ilaye the Scottyshe Heralde of Armus. 39.

Expostulating, in bitter Terms, the pretended Injuries he had received from our King, whose Countrey he was resolved to invade, unless he would desist from all further Attempts against France.

37. The Mesage that was done by Ilay (or Lyoun) Scottishe Heralde to Kyng Henry the viiith, when he lay at the Sege of Turwyne, anno 1513. 41.

Somoning

Num. 2252.

Somoning him to return to his Realm of England. Her is also our King's resolute Answer, not to break up the Siege; that he had provided against any Attempts from Scotland; whose King (he said) was anointed with Crownes of the Sun; and whom he more especially blamed for myse-entretynge his Syfter.

38. The answer to the Kyng of Scotts Letter, sent by Lyone the Scottyshe Herawide, from Kyng Henry the viiith.

Shewing that proper Answers had before been given as to the Injuries he pretended to have received; setting forth his foul dealing, in threatening to invade England contrary to his solemn promise, for which, he and all his Posterity ought to be excluded from the possession of its Crown; & shewing his firm Resolution to prosecute the War with France.

39. A Ditty entituled The Lamentacione of the Kyng of Scotts.

43. b. Beginn. "As Y lay mufynge, my self alone."

This is upon the Scotts King James iv. who invading England, was vanquished & slain at the Battel of Bramstone or Floddon, A. D. 1513.

40. Bellum de Bramptone, per Frauncis Dyngley de Manitone.

45. This is a Ballad upon the great Battle of Floddon-field, wherein the chief Commanders of the English Army are particularly remembered. It begins thus, "O Rex, Regum, in thy Realme celestiale:" and the Burden is, "By the helpe of Saynte George our Ladyes Knyght."

41. The Composyfyone of alle Offryngs withyn the Cete of Londone, & Subarbz of the same.

48. b. This Agreement was made by chosen Arbitrators, 17 December, A. D. 1457.

42. A grete Myracle of a Knyghte callyde Syr Roger Wallysborow.

50. b. This Knight being in the Holy Land, had a mind to bring-off, privately, a piece of the Holy Crofs; accordingly, his Thigh open'd miraculously, & received it. Miraculously he returned to Cornwall his Countrey; & miraculously his Thigh opened again and lett it out. A bitt of it he gave to that parish-Church where this happened, thence forward called Crosse-Paryshe; the Resydew he gave to St. Buryan's College.

43. Of the Right of the Houfe of England to the Crownys of Fraunce, Castyle & of Legyons; & vnto the Dowchye of Normandy. Imperfect.

51. b. Then follows by another Hand,

44. A long Poem entituled The Lyfe of Ipomydone Son to Ermones King of Poyle (or Apulia)

54. Beginn. "Mekely, Lordyngis, gentylle and fre."

This seems to have been taken from some old Romance, where the great Valor of Ipomydone the Hero thereof, is sufficiently celebrated; particularly the great (but un-necessary) Acts he did, whereby he gained the fair Heirefs of Calabria.

45. A short Song upon an inconstant Mistrefs.

84. b. 46. Another, upon those who putt off their Marriage, in hopes of increasing their wealth in the mean Time, untill their Youth be spent.

ibid. 47. A Story relating to the Answer given by an English Merchant to a foreign Lord, who asked Why English people not only eat more, but entertain with greater Varieties, than those of other Nations.

ibid. 48. Another, concerning a Testament made by a Lord's Sage Fole.

85. Now comes, written with different Ink.

49. A large Poem, at the end, entituled Le mont Arthure.

86. Beginn. "Lordingis that are leffe and dere."

This I take to be translated from the French *

* Francis de la Croix-du Maine, in his Bibliothèque of French Writers, saith that Chrestien de Troye, a Poet, born at Troye in Champagne, & who flourished A. D. 1168, composed divers Romances in French verse, as, The Knight of the Sword; Ierusal; The Romance of the Charette, which mentions Lancelot, and was finished by Geoffrey de Ligny, who flourished A. D. 1209; Lancelot du Lac; The Graal; & The Knight of the Lion.

Num. 2252.

Romance of K. Arthur, which seemeth to have been invented by the Armorian Britans: and this is to be taken from only one part of that large Work. At the beginning, it is proposed to treat of the great Adventures of K. Arthur, his Knights of the Round Table, the Sangrayle, &c. but the Work itself does not answer thereunto. Here, Sir Launcelot du Lake King of Benwike is the principal Hero, & his Intrigues with Q. Gaynoure, K. Arthur's Wife, his refusal of the Earl of Ascalots fair Daughter, who died for his Love, & others of his Adventures, are fully related. But toward the end, mention is made of the War which broke-out between Mor dreite the Usurper & K. Arthur, who slew each other; and partly concludes with the Repentance of Q. Gaynoure & Sir Lancelot, who having taken upon themselves the Habit of Religion, ended their Lives in pious manner.

I know not who this Poet was, but guess that he lived about the time of K. Henry vii. and that he might have been a Northern man. He useth many Saxon or obsolete Words; and very often delighted himself (as did the Author of Piers Plowman) in the Chime of words beginning with the same Letter, as (that I may give one example) "For welles the wiste withouten were." fol. 117. b. I suppose he enlarged upon the Story (which was too large before) in that he mentioneth the Tower of London, Syr Lucan de Botellere, &c.

50. An Ænigma, seeming to describe mans proneness to Sin & Evil, notwithstanding all his Resolutions against it.

133. c. Beginn. "Thowghe I be bonde, yette ame I free."

Now follow many Poems composed by John Skelton Poet Lanreat to K. Henry viii. vizt.

51. Parot.

134. Beginn. "My name ys Parott a Byrde of Paradyse."

Here are many Songs wherein Skeltons Parrot is concerned, who often purposely nips at Cardinal Wolsey.

52. The former part of a Song upon the Inconstancy of his Mistrefs: it begins "Mornynge, Mornynge."

140. 53. A Poem containing Prognostications for the whole ensuing Year, according to the Day of the Week wherein the Calends of January do happen to fall; taken from a book falsely ascribed to Ezechyel the Prophet.

141. Beginn. "Ye Men that Wyldome wylle lerne."

54. The Crafte of Lymnyng, i. e. of illuminating Books.

142. 55. Quis refurgat ad Malyngnantes? aut quis stabit mecum adversus operantes Iniquitatem? Nemo Domine: being an Invektive against the Clergy of all sorts and degrees; with some Strokes, as I take it, against Cardinal Wolsey in particular.

147. Beginn. "Whate can hyt awayle."

The Author of this Libell, several times calleth himself Colyne Clowte: and at the end, I find the following Note, which, I suppose, was meant for Witt. "Quod Collyne Clowte in opere imperfecto; in opere semper perfecto, et in opere plusquam perfecto." But, a little lower, the true name is set down; Quod Sceltonyus Lawreatus, this by John Colyns who made the Collection.

56. Some Latin Verses of this Skeltons, inaccurately transcribed.

153. b. Beginn. "Colinus Cloutus quanquam mori carmina multis."

57. Prognostication of what shall follow, if Christ-mas be on a Monday.

ibid. Beginn. "Yfe Crystmase day on the Mondaye, Medlyde with A trobolt Wynter Water stronge. ye shall see"

Num. 2252, 2253.

58. Prognostications from Christmase; as it fell upon any day of the Week. 154.

Beginn. "Lordyngs, I warne yow al beforne."

59. Conclusion of a Relation of the dying Speeches of certain who were executed in the time of K. Henry VIII. the preceding Leaf being purposely torne-out. 155.

60. A Ditty setting-forth the Inconstancy of Fortune, from a Fable of a Falcon who flew from the other Birds, to the top of a Mountain adorned with a fine Rose-tree, where a loving Lion chose her a Nest. ibid.

Beginn. "In a freshe mornynge, amonge the Flowrys."

By the Falcon, is meant Queen Anne Boleyn, it being her Device; by the Mountain, England; and by the Lion, K. Henry VIII. to be sure.

61. A Poem of the Cardinale Wolfe. 156.

Beginn. "God save Kynge Herry owr nobulle Kynge."

This I take to be one of Skelton's scurrilous Libells.

62. A Poem, not finished, whose Author gives good Advices. sed vide infra No. 66. 157.

Beginn. "O Mortal Man, by grete Exaltacione."

63. Another of Skelton's Libells against Cardinal Wolfe. 158.

64. Prognostications from the Primes falling upon any Day of the Week. 159. b.

65. Observations as to the changing of the Moon, according as the Prime falleth upon any Dominical Letter. ibid.

66. The Ditty "O Mortal Man," much longer than that above at No. 62.

67. A place of some Alchymistical Author, which promising a great deal too much, is (as I suppose) worth little. 161. b.

68. Orders made by ten clefted Parishioners of Wolchyrche-hawe (whereof our John Colyns was one) 26 Novembyr 1520. touching payment for knolling of Bells, & Burialls within that Church. 163.

69. An Order made A. D. 1526. by 8 chosen Parishioners, whereof the same John Colyns was one; touching payment of the Priest celebrating certain Masses, & singing Anthems on some particular days. 165.

70. A Note out of a Booke callyd Vitas Patrum, endeavoring to evince, that for Fallenes & Perjury, this Land spewed-out its Inhabitants 3 tymus, namely the Bretons, Saxsons, & Danys: and that now, in our dayes (i. e. after the long War between the two Roses) by schedynge of Blodde, it ys so febylled, that we be not of power to withstonde our Enemyse, without Myracle. ibid.

71. A precyows Restoratyfe for a Man that ys weke, & lacks Nature. 165. b.

72. A Note shewing the number of Miles making the Diameter of this Terrestrial Globe. 166.

73. Short Theological Advices. ibid.

74. Brief Description of the Lotte of St. Thomas of Caunterbery, ibid.

This was an old Game upon the Tables.

75. The number of all the Kings, from Brutus to K. Henry VIII. ibid.

2253.

A parchment Book in small folio, written by several hands, upon several Subjects; partly in old French, partly in Latin, and partly in old English; partly in Verse, & partly in Prose; and of whose several Tracts, I shall give this following Account.

1. Vitas Patrum. 1.

This is an old French Poem, taken from the Legendary Book so called; as that was chiefly collected from St. Hierome & Joannes Cassianus. This without declaring its Authors name, doth thus Beginn. "En l'onur de damue de le omnipotent,

E de Marie sa dulce mere ensement,
CAT. HARL. VOL. II.

Num. 2253.

E de tuz Seinz & Seintes communement,
Dirrai vus sermun ke ci trois en present
Co est de Vitas Patrum, come ie l'entent."

2. Another, entituled "La Passioun nostre Seignour." 23.

Beginn. "Mult fud grant icele Eleccion,
Dunt ma doleine recut symund veir pardun,
Celui eslit per qui uait tut le mund."

3. A Tract in Prose, with this Title, "De la passioun Jhesu." 33. b.

Beginn. "Coe avint al quinzime an qe Tiberie Cesar aveit este Emperur de Rome, e al disnefime an qui Herodes le fiz Herode aveit este Rei de Galilee, e en l'utifime kalende d'Averil, ki est el vint & neofime ior de Mars, & al quart an del Cunte Rufin, e Leun, en l'an quant furent Evelfques Joseph e Cayphas, el quint an a proef la passioun nostre Seignur: Nichodemus eicrist ceste Hystorie en Ebreu e en Latin."

This is conformable to the Treatise commonly called "Pseudo-Evangelium Nichodemi;" which in days of yore obtained much; and was translated into divers Languages.

4. De S. Johan le Ewangel. 41. b.

Beginn. "Le secunt travaux as Cristiens apröf Neron l'Emperur, fud Domicien l'Emperur, qui apres lui regna. E il fist amener Sain Johan le Evaungeliste devant sei: si li demanda, parki conge il feseit edifier les Eglises de Effesie & aillurs, e en qui nun?"

5. De S. Johan le Baptiste. 43. b.

Beginn. "Al tens Herode Rei de Judee, eit prouere per nun Zacharie del Lignage Abie. Si out une fenie del lignage Aaron, e ele aveit a nun Elizabet."

6. De S. Bartholomeu. 45. b.

Beginn. "Coe quientent? cels qui se veut deüier les parties del monde que treis Indes sunt; la pramiere, est cele ke s'estent vers Etyope; la secund, ki s'estent vers Mede; la tierce, qui est fin de tutes teres: kar de l'une part a tuchiele regne des tenebres, u unkes iur nen est; del altre part fine al grant mer de Occian, utre la quel nient de tere nen ad."

7. Passioun Saint Piere. 47. b.

Beginn. "Apres Neron Cesar esteient a Rome les dous fidels maistres as Cristiens, Sein Pere e Sant Pol les Apostres; par les queles la sei nostre Seignur Jhu Crist fut eshalcie en Rome."

Hitherto, all is written in a round Text Hand; perhaps by some religious Person; what follows is in an English Law hand as old as the Reign of K. Edward II. or of his Father.

8. A Song in Praise of Women. 49.

Beginn. "Quy a la Dame de Parays deyvent foy e leaute,
Ore entendent a mes Dis
e ie lur dirroy Verite,
Si nul y soit qe eit mespris vers Femme par man(u)este.
De corteysie soit for-banys ou hastivement soit redresse.
Quar il pert sa noretüre certes que femme deceit."

a dreyt.

It goes on in this kind of Stanza; including also, as many beginning Alphabetically, as then made out the French Alphabet.

9. A Poem, upon the Contention between the Somer & the Winter. 51.

Beginn. "Un graunt Estrif oy Vantrer
Entre Este, e Sire Yver,
Ly queux auerit la Seignurie."

Then follow certain Receipts in old English; being,

10. Vor te make Cynople. 52. b.

11. Vor te tempren Afure. ibid.

12. Vor te make Gras-grene. ibid.

13. Vor te maken anopur manur Grene. ibid.

7 K 14. Zet

Num. 2253.

14. Zet for Gaude-grene. 52 b.
 15. Vor te couche Seluer-foyl. (as also, as to Gold-ibid.)
 16. Vor te maken Iren as hart as Stel. ibid.
 17. Vor te maken Blauk-plum (i. e. Ceruse). ibid.
 After this, two Leaves have been cutt-out; wherein, probably, other like Receipts were written.
 18. Vita Scti Ethelberti II. Est-Anglorum Regis atq; Martyris; an non a Giraldo Cambrensi? (vid Pittæum,
 pag. 279.) 53.
 Init. "Gloriosus ac summo Regi acceptus. Rex Ethelbertus."

19. Infusa precatiuncula, quæ ab his verbis incipit,
 "Anima Xpi, sanctifica me | Corpus Xpi, salva me | Sanguis Xpi, inebria me;" cum hac notula, "Qui hanc Orationem devote dixerit, ter milles dies Venie possidebit."

20. A Poem, written in the form of Prose; wherein the Author (who loved good eating) names many Dishes, proper to particular Times & Seasons, which he found most agreeable to his own Palate. 55.

Beginn. "Quant voy la revenue Dynere, si me argue que ly temps se remue, lors aym Buche fendue :
 Charboun clykant, Tyfoun flambaunt, Feu de Souche, meisme de joie. Chaunt quar ie l'eym, tant tot le Cors me tressue."

21. An old English Poem, upon our Saviors descent into Hell; and his Discourses there with Sathanas, the Janitor, Adam, Eva, Habraham, David, Johan Baptift & Moyfes. 55. b.

Beginn. "Alle kerkenep to me nou,
 A Strif wolle Y tellen ou,
 Of Jhesu ant of Sathan,
 po Jhesu was to Helle y gan."

I fancy this might have been made for some Interlude; to be acted by Friars or other religious Persons.

22. A Poem containing a Dialogue between the Soul
 & the Body; setting-forth the certainty of Death &
 Judgment, with Cautions against Pride, Injustice, &c.

57.
 Beginn. "In a pestri stude y stod a lutel strif to here,
 Of a Body pat was un-god, per hit lay on a Bere.
 po spekes pe Gost wyf drery mod, ant
 myd forful chere,
 Wo wiht by Fleythe pi foule Blod, whi lyff pou nou here."

23. A Ballad or Song, made by one of the adherents to Simon de Montfort Earl of Leicester, soon after the Battel of Lewis; which was fought A. D. 1264. 58. b.

Beginn. "Sitteþ alle stille, & herkneþ to me,
 pe Kyng of Ale- ant so he dude more maigne bi mi Richard, pat pou be leaute, ever trichard, brittþousentpound trichthen that thou askede he, never more.
 For te make pe
 pees in pe Coun-tre."

Herein, the Poet (besides this Prince, who was brother to K. Henry III. & Earl of Cornwall) reflects upon John Earl of Waren & Surrey, Hugh le Bigot, & Prince Edward (afterward K. Edward I.) by name.

24. Another in French, made perhaps by the same Poet after the Battle of Evesham, which was stricken
 A. D. 1265, when Simon de Montfort was slain, and the rebellious Barons were utterly discomfited. 59.

Beginn. "Chaunter mestoit | mon euer le voit | en un duré langage,
 Tut en ploraunt | fust fet le chaunt | de nostre duz Baronage,

Num. 2253:

Qe pur la pees | si loynz après | se lesterent de trere,
 Lur cors trencher | e demembrer | pur
 falver Engleterre.
 Ore est ocys | la flur de pris | qe
 taunt favoit de guere,
 Ly queus Mountfort | sa dure mort | molt en plorra la terre."

The Poet looks upon him as a Martyr; and regrets the loss of Henry his Son, Hugh le Dispenser Justice of England, & others who then lost their Lives; & concludes with a Stanza in English.

25. A long ballad against the Scotts, many of whom are here mentioned by name, as also many of the English besides the King & Prince. But particularly, of William Walleys taken at the Battle of Dunbar, A. D. 1305. of Simon Frisell, taken at the Battle of Kyrkenclif, A. D.
 1306. both whom were punished as Traitors to our King Edward the First, & their Heads sett (among others of their Countrey-men) upon London bridge: and of the Coronation of Robert de Brus, and his lurking afterward. 59. b.

Beginn. "Lyfneþ, Lordynges, a newe Song
 Ich ulle bigyn-
 ne,
 Of þe Traytours of Scotland, pat take beþ wyf gine. } Ich understonde :
 Mon þat loveþ talfnesse, & nule never blynnne,
 Sore may him
 drede, þe lyf þat
 he is ynne,

Selde wes he glad | þat never nes
 a-sad | of nyþe ant of onde."

26. A French Song giving Precepts for consolidating of Friendship, between persons of the same Sex. 61. b.

Beginn. "Cyl qe vodra oyr mes Chauns en foun cuer se remyre, Si il en fet, ou en semblauns
 rien touche a la matire.
 De un Chauncon en Romauns ou la en orrez d'escrire,
 Le lessoun a leals amantz vous y comencez a lyre."

27. A godly song, chiming often upon the same Letter, as practised afterwards in other Poems. 62. b.

Beginn. "Middel-erd for mon was mad un-mihti aren is meste mede pis hedy hap on honde y-had pat hevne hem is heste to hede
 Ich erde a bliffe budel us } pah he ben bad derne done;
 pe dreri Domes-dai to drede,
 Of sinful fauhing sone be sad pat derne dop pis derne dede, pis wrakeful werkes under wede
 in Soule fotelep sone."

28. An Ænigma, ginging again upon Letters. 63.

Beginn. "Ic hot a Burde in a bour, ase Beryl so bryght;
 Ase Saphyr in Selver, semly on syht :
 Ase Jape þe gentil, pat lemep wyf lyht;
 Ase Gernet in Golde, & Ruby wel ryht;
 Ase Onycle he ys on y-holden on hyht;
 Ase

Num. 2253.

Ase Damaund þe dere, in day when he is dyht;
He is Coral, y-cud wip Cayser, ant
Knyght;
Ase Emeraude a morewen þis may haveþ myht."

Whether the Poet meant his Mistres or not, I have not time to examine; yet I observe the Lines following,

"From Weye he is wifst in to Wyrhale;
Hire nome is in a note of þe Nyhtegale;
In an Note is hire nome, nempneþ hit non;

Who-se ryht redeþ, ronne to Johon."

29. A Song in praise of the authors Mistres, whose name was Alyfoun. 63. b.

Beginn. "Bytwene Mershe & Averil | when spray biginneþ to springe
þe lutel foul haþ hire wyl | on hire lud to fyngre,
Ich libbem lonclonginge | for semlokeft of alle þynge."

30. Another Love-song, written as Prose. ibid.

Beginn. "Wip longynge y am lad | on molde y
waxe mad | a Maide marreþ me,
Y grede, y grone vn glad | for selden y
am fad | þat femly for te fee.
Levedi þou rewe me | to roupe thou haveft me rad | be bote of þat ybad |
my lyf is long on þe."

31. A Ditty complaining of the badness of the Time, and the great Taxes & Fees levied & extorted by the Kings Officers. 64.

Beginn. "Ich herde men vpö mold make muche mon
hou he be bep i-tened of here tilynge, Gode zeres & corn boþe bep a-gon ne kepeþ here no Sawe, ne no Songe
fyngre.
Nou we mote worthe nis þer non oper won mai ich no lengore lyue wip mi le-finge,
Zet þer is a bitterore bid to þe bon for euer þe furþe Peni mot to þe Kyng."

32. The Legend of Saint Marine Virgin. 64. b.

Beginn. "Herkeþ hideward, & beoþ stille,
Y preie ou zef hit be or wille,
& ze shule here of one Virgine, þat wes y-cleped Sainte Maryne."

33. A chiming Ditty upon the fair Sex, with whom
(it seems) one Richard had much credit. 66.

Beginn. "Weeping haueþ myn wonges wet for wilked werk ant wone of wyt, Vn-blipe y be til y ha bet bruches broken ase bok byt,
Of Leuedis love þat y ha let þat lemep al wip luefly lyt, Ofte in Song y haue hem set þat is vn-femly þer hit fyt, Hit fyt & femep noht þer hit ys feid in Song
þat y haue of hem wroht
y wis hit is al wrong."

34. An ingenious Description of the Authors Mistres; written as Prose. 66. b.

"Most i ryden by Rybbefdale | wilde wymmen for te wale | ant welde wuch ich wolde:
Founde were þe feireft on | þat euer wes mad of
blod ant bon | in boure best with bolde."

35. Another Love-song which thus 66. b.

beginns. "In a fryht as y con fare fremede
y founde a wel feyr fenge to fere, Heo glyftneþ ase gold when hit glemede nes ner gome so gladly on gere,

Num. 2253.

Y wolde wyte in world who hire kenede þis Burde bryht, zef hire wil were,
Heome bed go my gates, left hire gremede
ne keppe heo non henyngre here."

36. Another, whose Author complains of his Mis-trellies Cruelty (written as Prose.) 67.

Beginn. "A wayle whyt ase Whalles bon | a greit
in golde þat godly shon | a tortle þat
min herte is on | in tonnes trewe |
Hire gladshiþe nes neuer gon | whil y may glewe."

37. A French Poem, but probably made by an Englishman, anno 29 R. Edwardi 1. relating the Arguments used by Gilote a debauched young Creature, to make her acquaintance Johane as bad as her self: and how they corrupted the Morals of many Women, at Winchester, Pontefract, & other places, both in England & Ireland. 67. b.

Beginn. "En May, per vne matyne s'en ala juer,
En vn vert bois rame vn jeune Chivaler,
Si oyd deus Femmes entre medler,

69. A Ditty to the blessed Lady, upon our Saviors Passion: partly in English, & partly in French. 83.

Beginn. "Mayden, Moder milde, oiez cel orcyfoun,

From Shome þou me shilde, e de ly mal feloun.

For Love of thine Childe, me meuez de trefoun,

Ich wes wod & wilde, ore fu en pri-foun."

70. þe Geste of Kynge Horn (this Title in a newer Hand). 83.

Beginn. "Alle heo ben blyþe | þat to my Songe ylyþe,

A Songe ych ulle ou finge | of Allof þe gode Kynge.

Kynge he wes by Weste | þe whiles hit y leste,

Ant Godylt his gode Quene | no feyrre myhte bene.

Ant huere Some hihte Horn | feyrre child ne myhte be born."

This is a Romance; rude enough, as the Age then was. It feigns how Murry King of Saracens or Pagans, landed suddenly in the Kingdome of Suddene, where he slew King Allof; and Queen Godylt having escaped, he putt her Son Horn, (who, afterward, proved the most handsome and most valiant Knight in the world) into a Galley, with two of his play-fellows; which being driven into the Kingdom of Westnesse, he was found by K. Aylmar, brought to Court, & deliver'd to Athelbrus his Steward to be educated. Here the Princess Rymenild fell in Love with him, declares her Passion, and is betrothed. Horn, hereupon, leaves her for Seaven years, in order by seeking & ending great Adventures, to demonstrate that he deserved her; at the end whereof, he having before killed K. Murry, recovered his own Countrey, & done many other great Exploits; regains his Rymenild from the Hands of his treacherous Knight Fykenyld, leads her home, & lives long with her in great Joy & Prosperity.

75. A French Poem, wherein the Author feigneth that a Minstrel, or Jugler, travelling from London clad in a fine Tabard, on Horleback, met the King and his Train. The King asking him divers Questions, as to whom he belonged belonged &c. and about his Horse, & the price of him, &c. this fellow answers preposterously; evading all questions with the greatest Impudence: and, at last, presumes to give his Majesty Advice. 107. b.

Num. 2253.

Beginn. "Seygnours escotes vn petit,
Si orrez vn tres bon desduit."

As to the meaning of the Words Trouverres, Chanterres, Counteours, Jugleours, or Juglours; see the Book of Claude Fauchet, as also of Menestriers, or Minstrells.

76. Another in praise of the fair Sex. 110. b.

Beginn. "Seigniours e Dames, ore escotez,
Ce qe vous dirroi, l'entendez."

77. Another, in their Dispraise. 111.

Beginn. "Quy Femme prent a Compagnie,

78. Another, upon the same ungrateful Subject; containing divers English Words sprinkled about it. 112.

Beginn. "Femmes a la pye,
Portent Campaignie,
En maners, e en mours.
Escotes que vous dye,
E quele assocye
Yl tienent en Amours."

79. Another, containing many Moral, Civil, & Pious Advices & Instructions, given by one Urban to his Son. 112.

Beginn. "Vn sage houte de grant Valour,
Qe longement vesqui en Honour,

80. Another, being a sort of Libel upon the Commission of Traile-baſton issued by our King Edward 1. near the end of his Reign; that is, about A. D. 1306. 113. b.

Beginn. "Talent me prent de Rymer, e de Geste
fere,
D'une Purveaunce qe purveu est en la
Terre.
Mieux valsit vncore que la chose fust a
fere,
Si Dieu ne pregne garde, je quy qe four-dra guere."

Herein, the Author says, that he served his Lord the King both in Peace & War, in Flanders, Scotland & Gascoign; but wanted to return into his own Countrey. He names some of the Commissioners or Judges (who are not so particularly mentioned in every Chronicle) in the following Verses or Rymes,

"Ly Martyn, & ly Knoville sunt gent de piete,
E prient pur les povres, qu'il eyent fau-vete.
Spigurnel, e Belfour, sunt gent de cruelte."

The last Stanza shewes the privacy wherein it was written; in these Words,

"Cest Rym fust fet al Bois, desouz vn Lorer;
La chaunte Merle, Ruffinole, a eyre l'Esperver.
Escrit estoit en perchemyn per mout re-menbrer;
E gitte en haut Chemyn, qe um le dust trover."

81. A Song upon the Man in the Moon, so still termed by the Vulgar: and represented as carrying a Bundle of Thorns on his Back; and also fitted with a Twy-byl. 114. b.

Beginn. "Mon in pe Mone, stond & strit

Num. 2253.

82. A Ballad upon an intrigue between a Lady (who was no better than she should be) whom her Husband kept enclosed in a strong Castle; and a neighbouring Knight, her Lover. 115. b.

Beginn. "Pur ce que plusours ount merveille
De le Chvaler e la Corbaylle;
Ore le vus vueil ie counter,
Si vus plest a escoter."

83. A Satire against the fair Sex. 117.

Beginn. "Benefoit Dieu omnipotent, Qe delivre d'encombrement."

Here, the Author who called himself Gawein, or Gaweyn (as, I think he did once before) feigns, that he being, by the persuasions of his married Friends) likely to be drawn into the matrimonial Noose, with a very lovely Girl to whom he bare the greatest Affection, was delivered by the Interposition of three Angels (I suppose Authors) named Pieres de Corbloi, Laurence, & Johan En la bouche d'Or.

84. A smutty Ballad of a Squire & a Ladies Woman. 118.

Beginn. "Vne Fable vueil comencer, Qe je oy l'antrer counter."

85. An English Poem upon the Interpretation of Dreams; pretended to have been found by David a Prophete of grete pris, in a Cyte of Babyloyn. 119.

Beginn. "Her commensez a boke of Swevenynge, pat men metep in slepyng."

86. A French Poem in Commendation of a new Religious Order called "Le Ordre de bel Eyse." 121.

Beginn. "Qui vodra a moi entendre,
Oyr purra e aprendre
L'Estoyre de vn Ordre novel
Qe mout est delitous e bel."

Here the Poet feigns his new Order to consist of the greatest People of both Sexes, who lived in Houses promiscuously; none being excluded but those of low Degree. That they were bound to lead their Lives in all manner of Excess & Luxury; fetching several Points or Articles of their Practice from the Monasteries of Sympringham in Lincolnshire, Beverley in Yorkshire; from the Knights Hospitalers, and most of the other Religious Orders then settled in England; whose Lives thereby are plainly carped at.

87. Another, all of Ribaldry; upon the Adventures of a poor Knight, & Huet his Squire. 122. b.

Beginn. "Aventures e Enseignement
Fount Solas molt sovent;
E Solas fet Releggement,
Ce dit Gwaryn qe ne ment."

This, perhaps, may be but an Epitome; and Claude Fauchet in his Account of this Gwaryn (or Garin as he calls him) gives a different Exordium to this non-sensical Performance; whose twelfth Line, according to him, varies not much from the fourth of the present Copie, being "Ce dit Garin qui pas ne ment." Claude gives this Character of it, "Cest un Conte de lourd Mensonge, & dont je fay mention seulement pour Monstrer a quoy de ce temps-la on prenoit; et quelles inventions estoient estimees, & plus agreables."

88. An English Song upon the Knaveries used by many sorts of inferior people. 124. b.

Beginn. "Of Rybaudz y ryme, and rede o my Rolle;
Of Gedelynges, Gromes, of Colyn &
of Colle;
Harlots Hors-knaves, by Pate & by Polle;
To Devel ich hem to lyvre ant take to tolle."

89. Another English Poem containing many of the wise sayings of Hendynge. 125.

Beginn. "Mon pat wol of Wyfdam haren,
At wyfe Hendynge he may lernen,"

Num. 2253.

pat wes Marcolves fone:
Gode þonkes & monie bewes,
For te teche fele Shrewes,
For pat wes, ever is wone.

In the Sequel, the Poet addeth another Line to the Stanza, being in the nature of an explanatory Proverb; concluding with this Burden, "quop Hendynge."

90. An English Poem, with this French Title prefixed, "La Countesse de Donbar demanda a Thomas de Effedoune, quant la Guere d'Escoce prendret fyn." 127.

Beginn. "When Man as mad a Kinge of a capped man

When Mon is levere oper mones þynge þen his owen."

91. An Article in French Prose, entituled "La Distinction de la Estature Jhesu Crist nostre Seigneur: taken from the fictitious Epistle of Lentulus to Tiberius, as I remember. 127. b.

92. A pious Ditty upon the Love of our blessed Saviour, in suffering the Death of the Crofs for lost Mankind. 128.

Beginn. "Lutel wot hit any mon hou Love hym havetþ y-bounde, pat for vs o þe Rode ron ant bohte vs wiþ is Wounde.
þe Love of him us haveþ y-maked founde,
Ant y-cast þe grimly goft to grounde."

2. Another, imperfect at the beginning, with a like Title after its Conclusion. 2.

I have not now Conveniences by me for examining this matter, whether both these, or which of them be the Translation of Bonaventure's "Stimulus divini Amoris;" or to whom else one of them may belong to.

Within the first spare Lease, at the beginning, are the following Notes, "Thys boyk longyth to Dame Alys Braintwath the worchypfulle Pricas of Dartforde (in Kent) Jhesu mercy."

Orate pro anima Dominae Elizabeth Rede, hujus loci ——— Orate pro anima Johanne Newmarche.

Num. 2254, 2255.

At the bottom of folio 1. are the Armes of Shirley & Briwes (or Brewes) quartered.

2255.

A Velum Book in finall folio, plainly written & illuminated; containing many Poems of Dan John Lidgate the famous Monk of Bury St. Edmund; and, perhaps, of others, sett down in the following Order.

1. A Ditty, to which, this Rubric is prefixed,
"Confulo quisquis eris, qui pacis federa queris, Confonus esto Lupis, cum quibus esse cupis."
Beginn. "I conseyl what so evyr thou be."

The Advice is pestilent enough; but at the 8th Stanza it is quite contradicted, and there beginn the "Verba Translator," which make 8 Stanzas more; so that the former part only seems to have been taken from the Latin.

2. Another upon the mutability of human Affairs. 3. b.
Beginn. "Lat no man booste ofe konnyng nor vertu."

3. Another, against the forked Coiffures or Head-dresses, which the Ladies ware in the time of King Henry vi. 6.

Beginn. "Off God & Kynde proceidith all bewte."
The Burden is like this.

"Bewte wyl shewe, though Hornes were away."

The Lenvoy begins thus,

"Noble Prynceffys, this litel shoort Ditce
Rewdly comiled; lat it be noon offence
To your womanly merciful pitee
Thoughe it be rad in your audience, &c."

4. Another, against Self-Love and its Off-spring. 7. b.
Beginn. "Toward the Ende ofe froolyt Januarye."
The Burden is like this,

"Look, in thy Merour, and deme noon other Wiht."

In the Lenvoye the author declareth his name, thus,

"Go liel Bille, with oute Title or Date.
And, of hool herte, recomaund me
Which that am called Johan Lydgate, &c."

5. Another, containing Moral & other wholfome Advices. 12.

Beginn. "As of Hony Men Gadren-out Swetnesse."
The Burden is like this,
"Sewe afir Vertue, and Vertu thu shalt leere."

6. Another upon the Imbecility of Human Nature. 14.
Beginn. "The World so wyd, the Hair (i. e. Air) so remevable."

The Burden is like this,

"How shuld Man than be stedfast ofe Livynge?"

At the end is this marginal Note, "Explicit, Joh. Lydgate."

7. Another upon Misericordias Domini in eternum cantabo. 17.

Beginn. "Alle goostly Songis & Ympnes that be songe."

The Burden is like,

"Eternally thy Mercies I shall syng."

At the end is this Marginal Note, "Explicit, quod Lidgate."

8. Another, in the the praise of Peace; written after the Death of our King Henry v. 21.

Beginn. "Mercy and Trouthe mette on an hihe Mounteyn."

Here, every Stanza concludeth with the word Pecs: and, at the End is the same note, "Explicit quod Lydgate."

9. Another, enforcing the Duty of Paying of Tythes to the Church: wherein, the legendary Story of the English Apostle St. Austyn saying Mass at Compton, and how the old British Lord of that Town, who had been accursed by his Priest for with-holding his Tithes, arose from his Grave; and having received the Discipline from the said Priest (who also arose out of his Grave at St. Austyn's Call) is much enforced. 24. c.

Num. 2255.

Beginn. "Lyk as the Bible makith mencion."

At the end is the Marginal Note, "Explicit quod Lidgate."

10. Another, upon the Pater-noster; made by the Author when he was grown old. 33.

Beginn. "A-twixe Dreed and tremblyng Reverence."

At the end, is this amrginal Note, "Explicit, quod Joh. Lydgate."

11. Another, upon the Psalm De profundis clamavi ad te, Domine: Domine, exaudi vocem meam. 40.

Beginn. "Havyng a Conceyt in my symple Wit."

Here, the last Stanza is termed Conclusio finalis, wherein the Author says, he was

"Late charchyd in myn oold dayes

By William Curtys, (i. e. Abbas de Bury) which gafe Comaundement

That I shulde graunte myn assent

Ofe that Kynrede make a Memorial

With De Profundis, whan so that it be sent."

At his Chirche to hang it on the Wal."

And here, is the usual marginal Note "Explicit, quod Lydgate." William Curteys above-mentioned, according to Mr. Willis, was made Abbat of Bury A. D. 1428; who also finds that his Succesor Babington occurs Abbat A. D. 1441. But the late Reverend & Learned Dr. Matthew Hutton, in his more accurate Tables, now preserved in this Library, shewes that Abbat Curteys was not so untill A. D. 1429; and that he died not until A. D. 1445, when he was succeeded by Abbat Babington afore said.

12. A Sort of Paraphrase upon the Hymn or Song of St. Ambrose & St. Augustin. 43. b.

Beginn. "Te Deum laudamus to the Lord Sovereigne."

The Burden is, "Te laudat omnis Spiritus."

Here the Author uses many lofty words, & much of the Latin Original; as fuitable to the Majesty of the subject.

13. The Poet's Complaint upon the Emptiness of his Furle. 45. b.

Beginn. "Rihte mihty Prynce, and be it your wille."
The Burden is like this.

"Oonly for lak of Plate, and ofe Coignage."

At the end, is the usual marginal Note, "Explicit quod Lydgate:" thereby assuring us of the Author's Name.

14. Testamentum Johannis Lidgate nobilis Poete 47.

Beginn. "O how holfom and glad is the Memorye."

This Poem, which consisteth of several Dittys, was made by Dan John when he was well advanced into years, as he confesseth in fol. 51. stanza 2. fol. 51. b. ft. 2. & fol. 52. ft. 2. and having attained the grace and blessing of Contrition, he bitterly laments the Follies & Wickedness of his Childhood and Youth, seeming to have taken-up in his Man-hood. He makes mention of this his Testament in his Paraphrase upon the Lord's Prayer (above taken Notice of at No. 10.) at fol. 39. b. in the following words.

"Fond ther no Clausis, but Scrowys al to-rent,
Nothing enlumyned with Gold, Asure, nor Red,
Whiche shall be joyned with my Testament,
Leyd on my Brest, hour whan I shall be ded."

15. The Blessed Virgin's Complaint, upon our Lord's Crucifixion; with this Lemma, "Quis dabit Capiti meo fontem lachrymarum," Jerem. ix. 1. 66.

Beginn. "Who shall give vnto myn heed a Welle."

16. A Poem in praise of some particular Saints. 70.

Beginn. "Blissyd Denys of Athenys, cheef Sonne."

These Saints names, in the Margin against the several Stanzas appropriated to them are Dionisius, Georgius, Xpoforus, Blasius, Egidius, Katerina, Margareta, Xpina, & Barbara: among whom, the Author biddeth our St. George.

"Of

Num. 2255.

- "Of Ynglonde callid Protectour and Patrour,
Pray for Sixt Herry, and al this Regioun,
Of our Ennyes, by Grace, to han Victorie."
17. A Poem upon the two Merchants Friends; taken from the Monkish Book called Gesta Romanorum. 72.
Beginn. "In Egipt whilom, as I reed and fynde."
At the end, is the marginal Note "Explicit, quod Lidgate."
18. Another upon the 15 Gladnessys, & 15 Hevy-nessys of the Virgin Mary. 88.
Beginn. "A-tween myd-night and the fresh morwe gray."
This hath a large Prologue & Lenvoy; with the marginal Note "Explicit quod Lidgate."
19. A Ditty against Ingratitude; upon the Occasion of Tullies being murdered by Pompilius Lœnas. 93. b.
Beginn. "Myn auſour now Bochas, writ no lenger proceſſe."
20. The Legend of St. Giles, paraphraſed from the Latin. 95. b.
Beginn. "Off Agamœnouvndir the large Empire."
The Poet concludes with a Prayer to him,
"O gracious Gile, ofe poore folke cheſee patrour;"
at the Concluſion whereof is the uſual Note in the Margin, "Explicit, quod Lidgate."
21. Stella Celi extirpavit: or a prayer to the Virgin
Mary, for Aid, in time of Peſtilence. 103.
Beginn. "Thu heavenly Queen, ofe Grace our Lood-ſterre."
22. A Paraphraſe upon the 15 Oes; being ſo many prayers to our bleſſed Savior, upon the Subject of his Paſſion, all beginning with the Letter O; as may be frequently ſeen in the old Primers either written or printed. 104.
Beginn. "O Blyſſid Lord, my Lord, O Criſt Jheſu."
At the end is the uſual marginal Note; "Explicit quod Lydgate."
23. A Ditty repreſenting our bleſſed Lord as hanging upon the Croſs, and calling upon impenitent Sinners to accept of his Mercy, &c. 111.
Beginn. "Upon a Croſs, nayled I was for the."
24. De Sancta Maria; i. e. a Ditty upon our Ladies five Joys; as to which, ſee her Hours. 111. b.
Beginn. "O Queen of Hevene, of Helle eek Empereſſe."
After the Concluſion, is the Note "Explicit, quod Lidgate"
25. De Ofculo facto ad Verbum Caro factum eſt.
Beginn. "Ye devout peepſe, which keepe an Ob-ſervance,"
Meekely, in Chirche, to kiſſe Stoon or Tre,
Erth or Iren; hath in remembraunce
What they meene; tak the Moraliſe."
26. A Prayer to St. Leonard. 114.
Beginn. "Reſte and Refuge to folk diſconſolate."
Perhaps, the Author might have made this upon a journey to his Hoſpital at York; for, in the laſt Stanza ſave one he thus proceeds
"O glorious Leonard, pray Jheſu on thy kne,
For thy Servauntis reſortyng to this place," &c.
27. De tribus Virginibus, Katerina, Margareta, &
Magdalena. 115.
The Rubrick I take not to be the Author's, becauſe he expreſſly diſtinguiſheth the laſt from the two former.
Beginn. "Katerine with glorious Margarete."
The end is followed by the uſual Note, "Explicit, quod Lidgate."
28. A Ditty upon St. Urfula, & her Eleaven Thouſand Virgins. 116.
Beginn. "Ye Britoun Martirs, famous in par-fiteneſſe."
29. De Sancta Oſitha. 116. b.
Beginn. "Heyl, hooly Sitha, maide of gret Vertu."
CAT. HARL. VOL. II.

Num. 2255.

30. The fifteen Tokyns a-form the Doom. 117.
Beginn. "As the Doctour Sanctus Jeronimus,
Which that knew by Inſpiracioun."
Theſe 15 Signs or Tokyns ſeem rather to be taken from the "Prognosticon futuri Seculi," written by Julianus Pomerius Arch-biſhop of Toledo, who died A. D. 690.
31. A Ditty ſhewing that vicious people do not long endure in this World. 118. b.
Beginn. "This wyde Woorlde is ſo large ofe Spate."
32. Another, upon Letabundus, or a Sequence formerly uſed in the Public ſervice, upon the feſtivals of the Virgin Mary, and upon New Years day 120
Beginn. "Grounde take in Vertu by Patriarkys olde."
After the end, is the uſual Note written in the Margin, "Explicit, quod Lidgate."
33. Another upon flytting Fortune. 126. b.
Beginn. "Toward Aurora, in the monyth ofe Decembre."
The Burden is "Experience ſheweth, The world is varyable."
After the end, is the uſual Note, "Explicit, quod Lydgate."
34. Another, vpon wourldly Mutabilite. 128. b.
Beginn. "So as I lay this othir Nyght."
The Burden is, "Timor Mortis conturbat me."
35. Advices for people to keep a guard over their Tongues. 131. b.
Beginn. "Svm man goth ſtille, of Wyſdam & Reſoun."
The Burden is odd enough,
"Alle goo we ſtille, the Cock hath lowe Shoon."
At the end is the uſual marginal Note, "Explicit, quod Lydgate."
36. A Ditty upon the bleſſed Virgin; wherein, Compariſons taken from the heavenly Jeruſalem, and from its Twelve Gems, are applied to her. 135.
Beginn. "On hooly Hillys, moot famous of Renoun."
The Burden is, "Glorious thynges be ſeid and ſonge of the."
At the end, is the uſual marginal Note, "Explicit, quod Lydgate."
37. Another, to her Praise, applying the ſuppoſed Virtues of Gems unto her; and thrice anagrammatizing upon her Name MARIA. 140.
Beginn. "Heyl vertuous Jaſpe moſt ſtedfaſt, and our Feith."
The Burden is "Ave Jeſſe virgula."
At the end, is the uſual marginal Note, "Explicit, quod Lydgate."
38. Another upon Benedictus Deus in donis ſuis. 142.
Beginn. "God departith his Gyftis dyverſly."
The Burden for the moſt part, is
In al his Gyftys Lord bleſſyd muſt he be.
And here, at the end, is the uſual marginal Note,
"Explicit quod Lydgate."
39. Another, upon Meaſure; in reſpect both of Mediocrity, and of Juſtice. 143. b.
Beginn. "Men wryte of oold, how Meſour is Trefour."
At the end, the uſual Note, "Explicit, quad Lydgate," is ſeen in the Margin.
40. A Paraphraſe upon the Pfalm Deus in nomine tuo (i. e. Pfalm 53 of the Vulgate;) & upon the Gloria Patri. 146. b.
Beginn. "God, in thy name thou make me ſauſſe & ſounde."
At the end comes the old Note, "Explicit quod Lydgate."
41. A Ditty upon almighty God's merciful and al-ſufficient help. 148.
Beginn.

Num 2255—2257.

Beginn. "God is myn Helpere, and ay shal be."
Here our Author shews that he had been a Travellor (I suppose upon the affairs of his Monastery) in this Stanza,

"I have been ofte in dyvers Londys,
And in many dyvers Regiouns;
Have eskapyd fro my Foois hondys
In Citees, Castellys and in Touns,
Among Folk ofe fundry Naciouns
Wente aye forthe, and took noon hede:
I askyd no manere Protecciouns;
God was myn Helpe, ageyn al Drede."

And at the end, is his Name in this marginal Note,
"Explicit, quod Lydgate."

42. Another, upon his feigned Vision of the ever-blessed Trinity, &c. 150. b.

Beginn. "Undir a Park full prudently pyght;" here the subject being grand, several words do often beginn with the same Letter; and the Burden is "Benedicta sit sancta Trinitas."

A Leaf being torn out, the end of this, and the beginning of the next Ditty, are wanting. However, without the help of a Note at the Conclusion, I believe that this also was of Dan John's Composition.

43. The next (as I observe just now) is imperfect; but is plainly a Prayer to St. Edmund II. King of the East Angles & Martyr, the tutelar Saint of his Monastery & Ban-leuca (or Franchise) at Bury; the place where our pious Author was professed and resided. 152.

The first Stanza which now remains, beginneth thus, "Our Helpe our Socour, our Mediatour, most cheefe."

And at the end is the usual Note in the Margin "Explicit, quod Lydgate."

44. The Poets Satirical description of his Mistress's Person. 153. b.

Beginn. "My fayr Lady so freshe. ofe hew."

At the end is the usual Note, "Explicit, quod Lydgate."

45. The Conclusion of some Ditty (not now easily to be found out) in three Stanzas. 157.

Beginn. "Put out his Hed lyst nat for to dare."

These Stanzas plainly set forth the Punishment inflicted upon thievish Millers & Bakers; by putting them not only into the Tumbrell, as of old; but into Wooden Bastile, as Hudibras says; by which, in this place, is not to be understood the Stocks; but a Superior & more Conspicuous Machine, Called the Pillory.

Our Author concludes—

"They may cleme, be just auctorite,

Upon that Bastile to make an Ende.

"Explicit quod Lydgate"

2256.

A Book in small folio, written partly upon Paper, and partly upon Parchment (that is, every Quarternio is guarded by Parchment Leaves) wherein is contained,

The old Chronicle commonly called Brute; beginning thus, "In the Nobul Londe of Surre."

It endeth in the 8th Year of K. Henry VI. upon the taking of Johan d'Arc, otherwise called La pucelle d'Orleans.

2257.

An imperfect Book (for it wants eight Leaves at the beginning, & one at the end;) in large 4to. upon both Paper and Parchment; four Leaves being included in, or guarded by two of Parchment. It contains,

The far greatest part of an old Latin Dictionary, many of whose words are also explained in English. In the inside of its present Cover, the learned Mr. Samuel Knot (who sometimes wrote himself Canutus) hath putt down this Note, "Iste Liber videtur esse Medulla Grammaticæ Galfridi, sed auctior; et quædam verba omittun-

Num. 2257—2259.

tur invicem: but whether it may not better agree with the "Ortus vocabulorum," printed by Wynkynde Worde, I cannot now say, having not the Book at hand to peruse.

2258.

A Book in small folio, written upon Paper, & chiefly relating to our English History; wherein I find,

1. An Alphabetical Table directing to the principal Matters rehearsed in the ensuing Work. 1.

2. The Epistle of Pilate to Liberty th'Emperour, concerning our Saviour Jesus Christ; from the Speculum Historiale of Vincentius Belvacensis: likewise, at the end, Ricardus de Sto. Victore is named, perhaps by Vincentius. 31.

3. A Narration concerning St. Patricke, & his Purgatory: from the same Vincentius. 31. b.

4. Of our Lady Sent Mare Virgynes goynge to Egipte: from the feide Vyncent. 32.

5. The Genealogy from Adam to Ciprus, & so to the Trojans, &c. 33. b. & 34.

6. The Genology of Se it Kateryne Virgine & Martir. 33. b.

7. Notes from John Hardyng touching the origin of the Scotts, & their Subjection to England. ibid.

8. The Pistelle of Corneli, that he wrote out of Greke ynto Latyne, vnto Crispum Salust, of t'History ofe Troy wretyne by Dare Friges. 35.

Now follows the main work entituled,

9. A Brevyat ofe the Cronacles of the Ile or Realme ofe Gret Bretayne, nowe callyde Ynglande: translatyde out of Latyne ynto Inglyshe, out of the Historyens bokes, St. Gildas the Abbot; Geoffrey Monmouth; Rich. Cicestre Monke of Westmynstre; Mathewe Paris, Monke of Sent Albane; & of dyuers other Historiens: as Hughe Jenefes, John Hardyng, &c, i. e. another Chronicle cited fol. 96. b. Colman the Chronicler, cited fol. 103. b. Matthew of Westminster, & Sir John Froissard.

This Work, after a Description of Britain, pretends to commence with the first Inhabitants of it, and ends at the decease of K. Edward III. and is the original of the Author, who lived in the time of K. Henry VIII. altho' some few Notes have been inserted since. The Collector is not free from mistakes; & believed in the legendary Stories then in fashion; but otherwise, collected much good matter. He seemeth not to have had John Hardyng by him when he first began, but to have made supplemental Collections from him afterward. I know not who his Author Hughe Jenefes was; but do perceive that the Annals of Richard of Chichester, as also an Abridgement of the same, are yet remaining in the Library at Corpus Christi-College in Cambridge. The many Vacances left for inserting of fresh matter shew this to be an original book; which yet appears clearer from the following note, written within the first spare Leaf at the beginning. "Raynolde Mohune Owner hereof by the gifte of John Rewys Lawyer, & borne in the Countye of Cornewalle; who drewe & wrate thys Worke wythe hys owne hande, and brevyatyd owte of dyvers antyke Auctors." Whether this Mr. Rewys (or Reeves) drew down his Annals unto his own time, in another Volume, I have not now opportunity to enquire.

10. The Sur-names of the Persons of Reputacione that intride into Ingelande wyth William Couqueror. 125. b.

2259.

An old Heraldical Book in very small folio, written upon paper, whose chief Subject is the Science of Heraldry, as containing,

1. Tabula Expoficionis Armorum; five de Regulis & Differencijs principalibus: that is, a Table of the principal Matters treated of in this Work. 1.

2. Some few Armes promiscuously tricked or colored; rudely, as the performances then were: the Owners names being too too often omitted; which defect renders this

Num. 2259.

this Book much less valuable than otherwise it would have been. 6. b. 7. 10.

3. The namys of the chefe Chevtaynes that cam with William Conqueror in to Inglonde. 7. b.

4. The Armes of Derham, quartering Ryveshall, as I take it, in a large Escoccheon; with the name Thomas Derham, written in a Scroll above it, by the first hand. 10. b.

I do not hence conjecture that Derham made these Collections; but that rather that he might have been the owner of them; nor do I, at present, find his name as an Officer of Armes.

Now comes,

5. The main Work, sheweth one main Branch of the Science of Heraldry, touching the art of Blafoning: being written in English, or French or Latin. 11.

Besides this, here are Quotations from the learned Lawyer Bartholus, from Bartholomæus Anglicus, Franciscus, the Arbre des Battailes of Honore Bonet, Jaques de la Mont, &c. but above all, from the Treatise entitled Regula Aurea; which last is cited almost continually, from fol. 69. to fol. 174.

In this Work, I observe as I go along,

6. The Armes of some Communities; as of the Grey Friars, or Friars Minors of London. fol. 13. b. Villæ de Wodeftokke. fol. 14. The trewe Armys, & the olde Armys of the Cyte of London (being, St. Paul holding a naked Sword in his right hand) fol. 62. Of the Synke Ports. fol. 39. And of the University of Oxford (of which this is the oldest Instance that I now remember) at fol. 153.

7. Here are also some Remembrances of Armes antiently sett-up in sacred Buildings; which, possibly may not now be extant; or the notice of them to be met with else-where; as at Bow-Chyrche. fol. 53. Ludgate Chyrche. fol. 75. Godstowe in Oxforthe-shere. fol. 105. Seynte Martine le Graunde. fol. 126. b. Seynt Kateryn at the Tower. fol. 132. Whyte Frers in Flet-strete. fol. 166. Lombard-strete. 70.

8. More might be observed about the Armes of particular Families; but I will only mention these few; at fol. 135. are the Armes of Harley my noble Lord's Family, but without the name. At fol. 24. I find the Armes of the ancient & noble family of Pawlet or Poulet; where the Swords are of a more antique Fashion, than those which I have seen delineated in Q. Elizabeth's time. At fol. 155. are the Armes of Gorges; now, & long since called a Spiral Line; and, as such, delineated by the Herald Painters. Now here, this book sheweth, that theys Armys were made aftyr a Whyrle-pytte of Water, because of bys name, in Latin Gurges. At fol. 122. are the Armes of Noryce appellé, & of Leyaltone appellawnt. The former were borne with a Dyfferens, which is a Crofs Patee Fichée. The Appellant's Armes are quarterly; as to which, please to take this short Account, The Appellaunts Armys were gave hym at o tyme the fyrst of the Kyngs Gyfte, and the secunde of the Duc of Somersete (Edmund Beaufort) quod nota bene, quia raro videtur. These Armys be nat comendyde, because a Grate that ys so comen a thynge, & so fowle, is sette in the Honor, i. e. in the Chief point. So at fol. 81. are these Armes, a Quarter base, Golde; in a feld Sabylle: with this Note, "Theys Armys be nat comendabyll, but yf (i. e. unless) the Metalle stode above."

9. Upon this mention of Metal in Armory, I chuse to bring out these Notes. At fol. 138. is a shield thus blafoned, He berythe Golde. Theys Armys, to bere Golde or Sylver, & no more, may be borne welle; and suche Armys be & have ben, for suche Armys were comyne at the begynninge: and this justifies the Axiom, Arma non possunt esse sine Metallo. fol. 94. b. In which page another may be found, Quilibet potest assumere sibi Signum, sed non Arma which is explained at fol. 110. by an Escoccheon adorned with an odd fort of a Charge, underneath which is this note, "Theys be none Armys, but a marke as Marchawnts vse. For every mane maye take hyme a Marke, but non Armys, withowte an Herowde or Purcyvawnte." I forbear to mention the ludicrous Charge in the Shield, at fol. 139. b. which the Compiler shews to be no Armys, and that they were neuer geuen for Armys but made for a conceyte, to sette abovt a Cresse, to make men muse on hem; and sic de similibus. It is not too late to add the following note relating to the Axiom abovementioned, Arma non possunt esse sine metallo, from fol. 180. "There be some in Inglande bere withowte any Metalle, Herowds say they take heme of their owyne Auterite; & some say, they were gene in olde tyme ex negligencia Heraldry. But, how so ever thy came, at thys day they be callyn none Armez; and also, they be agayne the Lawe of Armes: but ther be 3 or 4 fuche Scochonys in Inglande, of olde Date."

Num. 2259, 2260.

10. Here are many more useful Notes, and Resolves upon Heraldical Questions of Importance, which I pass over, as not needful to be inserted in a short Catalogue: concluding with this Observation about our King Richard the second's Supporters, if it be true, as I find it at fol. 76. Kyng Richard the 11d. forsoke the two Antloppys for hys Bests, & toke two whyt Hertys, beryng vp the Armys with her bakkys.

In this Heraldical Book I likewise find,

11. The Armes ascribed to the World's Nine Worthies, in blafon; with a Ballad in their Praise. 39. b.

12. Lez Armez de Roy & Seignours d'Engleterre plvs aunceyux. 76. b.

13. Lez Armez dez plus noblez Chivalers d'Engleterre. 185. b.

14. At fol. 53. b. is a large Escoccheon of the Armes borne by Sir James Strangwythe Knight, with the blafon of the same, as given (in French) by Garter; which blafon doth also appear at the bottom of the first spare leaf of the book. And, indeed, it seemes to have belonged to that antient & worshipful family, not long after it was compiled; for higher, in the same spare Leaf, I yet read "Iste liber constat Ricardo Strangways."

..... After the Table, at fol. 6. the same name is added; and again, at folio 190. where the work endeth: which Richard Strangways was no Officer of Armes as I can find. But at fol. 121. b. are "Lez Armez le Roy d'Engleterre & Fraunce, & Margarete sa Compayne," with the following Inscription above them, "Iste libellus fuit compilatus A. 32. H. vi." and if we take Garter to be the man, John Smert will be him, for he was Garter anno 32 Hen. vi. and had but one Predecessor, namely Sir William Bruges; whom he seems to mean in the following Inscription, which he hath prefixed to the whole Work at folio 1. "Pensa, Successor, in tui cordis oraculo de primo Predecessore, qui hoc nobile ex pluribus libris aggregatum (si dici possit) non minus Seipso predilexit; itaque et pro ejus Doctore, qui quidem in hac Lege, suis temporibus, floruit sine pare."

A paper Book in smal folio, or else in large 4to. in which is contained,

1. A Table alphabetically drawn up, & referring to the Poly-chronicon; but wants the first Leaf.
2. A Translation of the Poly-chronicon of Ranulf Hygden Monk of Chester; different from that made by John de Trevifa; and continued down to the Year 1401.

2262.

A Book in folio, confisting mostly of original Papers and Letters, now bound up together, with regard to the order of time. They all belonged to the late most noble Prince John Holles Duke of New-castle, &c. as Lord Privy Seal to Queen Anne; and of which I shall give only the following brief Account.

1. Complaint (copied) of Dr. Edward Fowler Bishop of Gloucester, against his predecessor Dr. Robert Frampton's ill usage of him; with his Reasons for with-holding Institution to the Vicarage of Standish in the County of Gloucester, from J. Kimbell. (dat 14 March 1703-4)
2. A short Abstract of that Complaint or Memorial; shewing that his Lordship was much more inclined to have so considerable a living as that of Standish settled in his own family, than upon Mr. Kimbell.

Now followeth a Tract relating to the Company of Weavers of London; comprehending several particular Papers, whose Titles follow in this order,

3. Severall of the Complaints of divers Liverymen of the Weavers Company, against the irregular proceedings of the Bayliffs, Wardens, & Assistants of the said Company, in their Government thereof.

This was presented to a private Court, held 27 November 1704.

4. The Answer of the said Bayliffs, &c. to the said Complaints.

Here, after some Resolutions or Acts of this Company, come

5. Petition of the Ministers and others of the French & Dutch Churches, London; to K. Charles II. presented in June 1669. praying for Protection & Encouragement for their Countrey-men to settle here.

6. The Weavers Answer to that Petition, as it stood referr'd to the Lords Committees for Trade & Plantations.

7. Order of his Majesty in Council made 10 November 1669. for entering a Noli Prosequi against the Weavers prosecuting of certain Foreign Weavers; and for the London-Weavers to present such Propositions as they shall agree upon, for Foreign Weavers to be admitted into their Society.

8. Another Order of His Majesty in Council, made 4 May 1670. approving of divers of the Proposals exhibited by both the Parties; which were afterward reduced into By-Laws of the said Company.

9. Of the like Complaints & Proceedings made in A. D. 1681. touching the Admission of Foreign Weavers.

This Tract being ended, I come to

10. A List of certain Yorkshire Gentlemen; designed, perhaps, for Deputy-Lieutenants, or Justices of the Peace.

11. The Oath of a Lord Privy Seale, taken by his Grace John Duke of New-castle, the 29th of March 1705.

This is attested by one John Roberts, if I mistake not in reading his Name. I have known divers such as could write their Names plainly, affect Intricacy & Obscurity therein, for silly & ridiculous Reasons; chiefly arising from Self conceit & Pride. I think that all these should oblige their Heirs or Successors for ever, to de-cypher their several Marks, Monograms, or Flourishes, to every Legal demandment, without Fee or Reward.

Treason; appointing an Hearing of the Parties concerned at Welbeck, the next 22d day of August. dated the 29th day of July 1706. 224.

194. A Brief, or State of a Case, drawn-up in Answer to the Pretensions of Mr. Johnstowne to Sir Roger Stricklands Estate, being upwards of £800. a year; shewing, among other things, that Mr. Johnstowne, without Merit or Service, procured from K. William a Grant of £300. per ann. out of this Estate; and afterwards, alledging Charges in maintaining his Title, he obtained a further Grant of the whole Estate, without a Fine, to hold for 31 years, at the annual rent of 6s. 8d. After above 13 years, Queen Anne Grants to Lieutenant General Cholmondeley (in consideration of the frequent hazard of his Life, and expence of his fortune in the Service of the Crown) the same Estate, to hold for 18 years, after Mr. Johnstownes Term of 31 years should be expired; the Lieutenant General paying a Fine of £2500. and an annual rent of the Estates real value. Hereupon, Mr. Johnstowne (being loth that his Interest in the same should be determined after 31 years) lodges a Caveat against the Lieutenant General; wherefore the Lord Privy Seal appoints the hearing mentioned in the preceding Section. 225.

195. An Abstract of her Majesties Lease unto George Cholmondeley Esq; of several Manors & Lands in Yorkshire: to commence A.D. 1718. i. e. after the determination of Mr. Johnstownes Grant. (see lower, § 204.) 227.

2263.

A second Volume of Docquets, &c. relating to the Office of the Privy Seal, in the Years 1707. and 1708. being,

1. Docquet of a Grant unto Knightley Chetwood D. D. of the Dignity of Dean of Gloucester. Sealed the 26th of March, 1707. 1.

2. Docquet

Num. 2263.

2. Docquet of a Grant unto Thomas Lord Fairfax of all Goods whatsoever, which before the 25th of January, 1706, have been cast away, wreck'd or lost; or which before the 25 October, 1711. shall be cast away, wreck'd or lost, in any of the Rocks, Shelves, Shoales, Seas, or Banks, in or between the Latitudes of 6 and 36 Degrees of North Latitude in the West Indies; and which before the 25 October, 1711. shall be recover'd by the said Lord Fairfax: one full Eighth Part thereof being reserved to her Majesty. Signed by the Lord Treasurer Godolphin; and sealed the 2d day of April, 1707.

3. A Copy (attested by W. Wenman) of a Report made to the Lord Treasurer Godolphin, by Sir Robert Cotton & Sir Thomas Frankland Post-masters General, upon Mr. Dummers Petition to be releas'd of his Contract about the West India Pacquet Boats. dated the 2d of April, 1707.

4. That Mr. Dummer is Deficient in his Contract with her Majesty to the Sum of £.5,919:6:7. That when he shall have paid in £.855:16::6. received by him for the Freight of Passengers; the Deficiency will be £.5,063:10:1. That if, after his Losses, He shall be rigorously tied up to perform his Contract, it would very much tend to ruin him. Yet, notwithstanding his present Difability, they think it not reasonable that her Majesty should take the risque & hazard of the Loss of the Boats from the Enemy; or pay the prime Valuation of those which have been lost, they having been built of a much greater Burthen; and, consequently, at greater Expence than was contracted for, & with other Views and Designs, &c.

4. Copy of a Report from Sir Edward Northey, Attorney General to her Majesty: dat. 3. Apr. 1707.

6. That he had consider'd the London-Butchers Petition exhibited against the Petition of Charles Hore & Richard Hore, for 3 weekly Markets to be holden, at a place (now newly by them assigned) called Vinegar Ground, for the sale of all Skins of Sheep & Lambs killed within the bills of Mortality: and that the said Markets would not be inconvenient to any; nor had the Butchers any sufficient cause of complaint.

5. Copy of the said Butchers Petition to the Queens Majesty, desiring to be heard, by their Council, against the said Market, before the Grant of it should pass.

6. Copy of the Petition of the abovementioned Charles Hore & Richard Hore, to the Queen; setting forth their Services to the Publick; and, as a recompense, desiring to have the Markets aforesaid, to be holden in St. Johns Street near Hickeys's Hall.

7. Copy of a Report of Sir Simon Harcourt Solicitor General, to the Queen: dat. 8 March, 1706-7.

9. Setting forth that he had considered the several Allegations of the Hore's Petition, & having acknowledged the Public Services done by them, agrees that the Markets by them prayed for, to be held near Hickeys's Hall cannot by Law be granted; because not only that Neighbourhood, but the Sessions of Peace for Midelfex should be granted to the Petitioners for 40 years, to be held in Vinegar Ground, it would be to nobodys Damage. This was done upon her Majesties Reference unto him.

8. Translation of Mr. Hores Patent for such Markets to be held on Vinegar Ground, as drawn by Mr. Jeffop; bearing Teste 7 Aprilis, anno sexto Annæ Reginæ.

9. Another Copy of the same.

A thin Book in Folio, written (I believe, in the reign of Queen Elizabeth) by some Roman Catholic, or Priest; and is altogether superstitious & foolish, as treating upon what in fol. 33. is "called the Arte of secrete Magyke."

Herein I find, after a fanciful Frontispiece,

1. What things are attributed to the Planets. 2.
- This tract, at the end, hath another Title, vizt. "De Characteribus, Sigillis, & Tabulis bonorum & malorum Angelor."
2. To caufe Loue or Hate; that a Thief shall not steale; the Dogge not barke, &c. 11.
3. To make Lamens, or Pentacles, to call goode Spiruts. 11. b.
4. The deuyne Names of God, per Libros manuscriptos. 15. b.
5. The deuyne Names of God, per Cornelium Ag. (i. e. Agrippam) 16.
6. The Consecranging of the Fumigacyons. 19. b.

8. The Consecratyon of the Oyle. 17. b.
9. The Consecratyon of the Fyar. 18. b.
10. Consecratio Gladij. 19.
11. Consecratio Libri, siue Pergameni, Orationes ix. 19. b.

All these last-mentioned things, & divers others, were found in a lone House at Clerken-well about 40 years since; and it was never publicly known who owned them.

12. The Method or Order to worke in this Arte. 26.
13. A goode common Figure for any one Spirute, Baron, or any other. 33. b.
14. The Figure for Sundaye, according to the four Seasons of the year. 34.
15. Others for Munday. 35.
16. Others for Wednesdays. 36.
17. Others for Friday. 37.

This is an old English Poem, composed by a mean Genius; wherein, by Prosopopæia, the blessed Virgin is introduced as Weeping, or as desirous to Weep, upon almost all the Emergencies of our Saviours Life. The conclusion may, perhaps, be wanting; but it begins thus,
“Now late, me-thought, I wolde be-gynne.”

Now follow, in the Way of Physic,

A parchment Book in a long 4to, imperfect at the beginning & elsewhere; which formerly contained the Legends of the Saints, &c. according to the Course of the year, written in very old English Verse. Its Imperfection at the beginning may have deprived us of the Author's name, which after much search I cannot now retrieve; having little reason to believe him to be that John Goldestone mentioned by Pitts pag. 407. who is said to have compiled "Sermones de Sanctis;" & to have flourished A.D. 1320. because it doth not appear that he was poetically given, or that he wrote in the English tongue; & besides, the Hand-writing of this MS. seems to be older than that year. As it is, I shall give a List of the several Poems therein contained, with their several beginnings; to the end that they may be compared with any other Copy of the same Work, when it shall appear.

- Although the Name of our old English Poet may at this time be difficult to find out, yet the thing itself is of considerable value not only upon account of its Rarity;
 I not remembering to have met with any other Exemplar of it: but also for the purity of its Language, its Age considered; and the correctness of Him who wrote it.
 Yet these good Qualifications were not sufficient to keep it from being mangled, & filthily scribbled-upon, by the Children in the Family of Sanford of Comberfery in Somersetshire, during the Reign of Queen Elizabeth.
 These seem, in their petulancy, to have pretended to write in a sort of Cypher. fol. 55. 73. 182. b. 190. 218.

- A. Velum-Book in large 4to, affirmed to have formerly been possessed by K. James the Second; but was affuredly the Book of K. Henry vi. wherein are contained divers of the Poems of Dan John Lidgate Monk of Bury, illustrated by 120 Pictures, some bigger, others leis; besides other embellishments of Illuminated Letters, so as to render this the finest Manuscript of our Language written in that Reign; at least, the finest of all that I have hitherto seen. These Poems are,
1. A Description of one of the Banners feigned by the Poet to have been born by St. Edmund King of the East-Angles, in his War against the Danes: which, the Bard prophecies, would, if used by that unfortunate King
 Henry vi. make him always successful.
2. The Picture representing this Banner gives Adam and Eve about the Tree of Life, as about to eat the forbidden Fruit, reached unto the Woman by the Serpent, who enjoys an human Shape down to the middle.
 Above is the Holy Lamb within a Golden Circle, & a Glory about his Head, with his right Foot bearing up a Golden Crofs florée fichée: the Red Ground within the said Cirtle being powder'd with Crescents, & without with Stars, all of Gold, as is the Tree itself: but the Figures of the Woman, Serpent, & Man, the Apples, & the Lamb, are all of Silver; although the Poet in line 13. calls it "A Lamb of Gold."

2. Another Banner ascribed to St. Edmund (being really the Armes of the great Abbey dedicated to him) of which, our Poet begins to write thus, in fol. 4.

3. A small Service or Office to St. Edmund, consisting only of an Antiphone, Versicle, Response, & Collect, with a Rubric prefixed, in these Lines;

To alle men present, or in absence,
Whiche to Seynt Edmund have devocioun,
With hool herte and dew reuerence
Seyn this Antephne, and this Orison,
Two hundred dayes ys grantid off pardoun,
Write and rgifted afforn his hooly Shryne,
Which for our Feyth suffrede Pássioun,
Blyssyd Edmund Kyng, Martyr, and Virgyne.

Underneath, is the Picture of K. Henry vi. represented as a young Child, kneeling upon a Carpet, and praying before St. Edmunds Shrine, which is here delineated, before the Rules of Perspective were known in England. On one side of this Shrine, stands two Monks; and behind the King stands an Officer holding up the Sword of State, with three Noble-men, all bare-headed.

4. Lidgates Prologue to his Translation of the Life of St. Edmund, which he began at the command of William (Curteis) his Abbat, in that year when the young King Henry vi. kept his Christmase at Burry-Abbey, tarrying there till Easter, when he was made a Brother of their Chapitle at his Departure.

6. Beginn. "The noble Story to putte in remembrance."

Here this young & religious King is represented as sitting on his Throne crowned, and receiving this Book from Abbat Curteis, who presents it kneeling; near whom a Monk holds another great Book. In the presence stand many Monks, Officers, & Nobles, two of whom (perhaps the Kings Unkles) wear Bonets of a foreign make; and an Officer bears up the Sword of State. Within the initial Letter is a Shield of the Royal Armes; as the out-side is adorned with a Panther seiant; which Beast was one of his Supporters.

5. Lidgates Prayer to St. Edmund for his Assistance in making the Translation of his Life.

9. Beginn. "O precious Charboncle of Martirs alle."

Here Dan John is represented as praying before St. Edmund's Shrine; about which several persons are attendant. When ever his Works shall be printed together, this Picture of him may be of use; it being the best I have hitherto seen.

6. Now comes the History itself, illustrated (as I observed before) with very many Pictures, composed after the old manner; that is, representing, Habits, Weapons, Architecture, Utensils, &c. according to the Modes & Fashions then in use, when & where the Illuminator lived. It thus,

10. b. begins. "In Saxonie whilom ther was a Kyng, Callid Alkmond, of excellent nobleffe."

Num. 2278, 2279.

As to the Author of this Legend, I take him to have been Abbo Floriacensis, who coming over from beyond Sea, to see St. Dunstan about 3 years before that Saints death, that is, A. D. 985. received it from him, as he being very young, heard a very old man who had been Sword-bearer to St. Edmund relate it to King Æthelstan, who died A. D. 940. This may be read in my printed Catalogue of Saxon MSS. pag 190. col. 1. where I am describing a Cottonian MS. which formerly belonged to this Abbey, and was not perused by Lidgate. Abbo's Legend seems to have been incorporated in John of Tinmouth's large work, from whence he might easily borrow as many Lives of English Saints as he would have. Lidgate makes his Saint Edmund (fol. 14. b. 15. b. &c.) to have been a most comely man; but Jofcelin de Brakelond a Monk of that Abbey, writes, that when, in the year 1198. Abbat Sampson made a new Shrine for this Saint (I suppose inballed) & had his Head in his hands,—"Et procedens, tetigit Oculos, et Nafum valde grossum & valde eminentem," which intimates that he could not have been handsome, whole Features were irregular & disproportioned.

Next follows, another Work of our Translator Lidgate, written & illuminated by those who did what went before; with this Latin Rubric prefixed.

7. "Incipit Vita Sancti Fremundi, egregij Martiris Edmundi carissimi consanguinei, qui ejusdem Martiris interfectores, Domino invitante prostravit graciose; una cum Miraculis Edmundi Martiris antedicti, prout in post sequentibus clarius elucescit." 69. b.

Beginn. "Who kan remembre the Myracles merucilous, Whiche Crist Jhesu list for his Seyntes shewe."

The main Author of 'St. Fremunds Life might be that Burchard of Dorchester mentioned by Pitts to have been an old Man A. D. 870. This extant in Saxon; in Latin it is taken into John of Tinmouth's large Collection of Saints Lives (and consequently, to be found in Capgrave) and was turned into Hexameter Verse by William of Croyland. To this Life, Lidgate hath made many Additions of his own, besides his Legend of St. Edwards Miracles.

A Book in folio not ill written, wherein are contained,

1. The Journall or Abstract of soe much as passed in the Lower Howse, att the Parliamente houlden the 27th day of October in the 43d yeare of Queene Elizabeth, & of our Lord God 1601, which Parliament ended the 19th day of December following. Collected by Mr. Heyward Townesende, being a Burgesse in the said Parliament for Bythopps-Castle in Shropshire. 1.

It appears that Sir Si-nonds D'ewes made some Use of this Work, in his Journall of the Parliaments held in that Queens Reign.

2. A Catalogue of the Acts read in this Parliament, and vpon what dayes the same were read. 124. b.

3. Part of the Ceremonial of our Kings Coronation, reciting the Questions asked him touching his preserving our Constitution both in Church and State, with his Promises & Oath to maintain the same. 130.

This is said to be found among the Records of the Exchequer; and to have been published in his Majesties Answer to a Remonstrance of the 26th of May 1642.

At the other end of the Book, I find,

4. A Speech deliuered in Parliament by Sir Benjamin Ruddard; in my poor Opinion, as seditious in it self, as this Copy of it is incorrectly written.

2284.

A paper Book in folio, given to my noble Lord divers years since, by Sir Robert Worley Baronet: being, on the out-side, thus entituled, "the booke of Delyuerance and Discharge of the Kings Standynge Warde-robe of his Robes withyn the Towre of Londone; newe made anno Regni Regis Henrici VIII." 8vo. Within, at fol. 1. it is mentioned, that the several Robes and other Stuffe, &c. were deliuerde oute of the said Warde-robe, by the Commaundement of the Kings Grace, at dyuerse tymes, by t'hands of James Worley Yoman of our saide Soueraigne Lords Robes & Keeper of his saide Warde-robe, sithen the 20th day of December the 8th yere of our saide Soueraigne Lords moost noble Reigne: and it takes in all such Deliverances of Robes, &c. that were made by that Mr. Worley, who was Sir Robert's Ancestor or Kinsman, unto the 14th of June, anno 12 ejusdem Regis.

Note, that every Parcel is signed by the Kings own hand, and therefore this is the authentic Book: which is fit to be perused by the inquisitive & curious Antiquary, by reason of many uncommon & useful Notices that may be gathered from it.

The several Things are entred under the following Heads: vizt.

A Book in folio, not negligently written; rather seeming to be prepared for the press; which, at the beginning, is thus entituled, "A breife Relation of certaine Journeys & Voyages into Fraunce, Spain, Turkey, & East India; passed & performed by Peter Mundy."

This Author or Traveller, who was of Penem in Cornwall, first went into France A. D. 1609. & the next year, served in a Merchants Ship as a Cabbin-boy; from which Station, by degrees, he became employed in considerable business. He discovers a good Capacity joyn'd with Veracity; and divides his Narration into seueral Chapters, the Contents of which do follow the Title; of which I shall give the following Abstract, because I remember not that I have seen the Work itself in print.

1. My Passage with my Father to Roan in Normandie Anno 1609. and, at my returne, a Voyage from London to Constantinople. 1.
2. A Journey, over-land, from Constantinople to London; begun the 6th of May Anno 1620. 3.
3. Post in Spaine, and other passages occurring since my arrival from Constantinople, until the Time of my Entertainment for East India. 28.
4. Journal of a Voyage made in the Shipp Expedition, bound for Suratt in East India. 30.
5. My Arrival at Suratt the 30th September, 1628, of my Abyding there twoe Yeares; and Passages until my Departure from Agra, in November, 1630. 37.
6. A Journey from Suratt to Agra; in order to assist Mr. Fremelen residing there, in the East India Companies Affaires. 42.
7. A little Journey from Agra to Coleshawgurre, the River Ganges, &c. beinge dispeeded (dispatched) by Mr. Fremelin, about the Companies Affaires. 55.
8. A Journey from Agra to Puttana, in the borders of Bengala; whither I carried 8 Carts laden with Quick-silver, Vermillion, &c. for the Companies Accompt, to be there sold. As alsoe, to see the State of the Countrey what hopes of benefitt by trading into those Parts. 58.

Here, viz. at fol. 82. our Author shewes, that the sending him to Puttana, with the Companies Goods, may not only proue to theyre Losse, but is alsoe against the Intent and Meaninge of the President and Counsell at Surat.

Num. 2286—2289.

11. A Journey from Agra to Suratt, with a Caphila consisting of 268 Camels, and 109 Carts, with 1439 ffs. of Indico, 12 ffs. of Salt Peter, &c. conducted by me Peter Mundy; hauing with mee 170 Peones or Souldiers. 113.
12. Other Notes of certain passages, which happened in that Journey. 134.
13. The Authors Relation of what happened since his Arrivall in Suratt, to the time he tooke his Passage for England; with Observations touching India in general. 147.

14. A Journall of his Voyage from Surat to England that is, from 14th of February, 1633, to the 21st of September, 1634, when the Ship Royal-Mary anchored in the Downes. 152.

Although this Book be but a Copy, it is nevertheless corrected by the Author's hand.

2287.

A very thin Book imperfect at both ends, and seeming to have been written by Sir William Dethick Garter. It contains,

A very brief Account of Germany, according to its seueral Divisions or Circles, with the Descents of its chiefest Families, collected from Peucerus, Munster, &c.

The Account of the Grifons, and of their Government, is more particular.

2288.

A Book in folio, all written by the hand of the late Mr. Hugh Thomas an Armes-Painter; containing,

A Collection of the Pedegrees of Welsh Families; made, partly from mss. in this noble Library, with the consent of my late noble Lord & Master, and partly from other Authorities. This Book was one of those which the said Hugh bequeathed to that noble Lord by his last Will; and for all which, his Brother was gratified, being very poor. This hath no Table or Index.

2289.

An Heraldical Book in folio, all written by the hand of the late Mr. Hugh Thomas the Armes Painter; wherein are contained,

A Book in folio, now somewhat damaged by Usage; wherein I find,

A Collection of Devonshire Pedegrees, with the Arms in Blason, sett down by the hand of Mr. Thomas Westcote of Raddon in Sherbroke, near Crediton; who was Recorder of Totness, and a good Antiquary.

2298.

A Book in folio, wherein are contained or entered Copies of many Papers or Instruments relating to the Affairs of the Parish of St. Dunstan in the West, London, viz.

1. A Bill of Complaint exhibited by Sir Francis Pemberton, Knt. and others, Inhabitants of the said Parish, to Thomas Earl of Danby Lord Treasurer, &c. 3 Novemb. ann. 28 R. Caroli II. against Nicholas Overbury, Esq. the reputed Rector, & Joseph Thompson Vicar of the same, who (with others) had combined together to oblige the said Inhabitants to pay 2s. 9d. in the Pound at the Rack Rent for all their Houses, Shops, &c. lately built, or improved upon wast Ground, &c.

2. The Answer of Joseph Thompson Clerk, one of the Defendants, to that Bill, 27th Jan. ann. 28 Caroli II.

Denying the Combination charged upon him.

3. The Answer of Nicolas Osburne, one of the Defendants, to the said Bill; 9 Febr. A.D. 1676.

Denying the Combination, and shewing, that Overbury had sued two of the Complainants for the said 2s. 9d. in the Pound, and was resolved to levy the same upon all the improved Ground within his Parish, notwithstanding any Decree that should be made, in the Exchequer, to the contrary.

4. On Order of the Court made 6 Febr. ann. 29 Caroli II. that the said Osburne should bring into the Court, all Books in his custody, relating to the Tithes of St. Dunstons Parish aforesaid.

5. The

Num. 2298.

5. The Answer of Nicholas Overbury Esq. to the Bill above-mentioned. 31.

Setting forth, that he had conveyed his Rectory of St. Dunstan's to one Sarah Jevon, together with all Tithe-books relating to the same. He thinks the Vicars never enjoyed any Glebe there, through any Composition, but only by Lease, upon a Rent reserved. He denies likewise all Combination, making of New Books of Rates, or obliterating the old ones; but saith that he hath none remaining by him, he having delivered them up to Mrs. Jevon.

6. The Answere of Roger Scudamore to the said Bill of Complaint: 20 Nov. ann. 29 Car. 11. 37.

Shewing that Richard Cox the former Impropricator of St. Dunstons, & Mr. Thompson the present Vicar had conveyed the Rectory and Vicarage to him, in Trust, for themselves. And that afterwards, the Vicar had earnestly entreated him to assign over his Interest in the Premises to Himself; and that the Plaintiffs Solicitor had applied to him, that he might draw-up his Answer to the said Bill: both whom he refused.

7. The Answer of Sarah Jevon, to the said Bill of Complaint. 39.

Affirming, that she bought the Rectory by the Advice of Sir Francis Pemberton who was her Counsel; that therefore she conceives that she hath a good Title unto all the Glebe and Tithes of the said Parish; but saith nothing of any Tithe-books, Rentals, or Terriers, &c. ibid.

8. An Order of the Court, that Mr. Scudamores proceedings against the Plaintiffs shall be respited until Mrs. Jevon shall have putt-in a sufficient & perfect Answer to their Bill of Complaint. ibid.

9. The further Answere of Sarah Jevon Widdowe, to the said Bill of Complaint. 40.

Mostly like that of Mr. Overbury; but now she owns that she hath some of the Tithe-books & Rentals, but not all, she not having been able to gett some of them out of his hands. She denies all Combination, obliterating or defacing the old Books, or making of new ones, excepting some to collect by.

10. An Order of the Court, whereby Mrs. Jevon was obliged to deliver in all her Tithe-books, to be perused by the Plaintiffs for one Month; which expired, Mr. Scudamore might proceed.

11. Record of the Oath taken by Mrs. Jevon, 19 Aug. ann. 30 R. Caroli 11. that she had delivered-in all her Rentals, Terrars, and Books of Rates, relating to the Tithes of St. Dunstons Parish, without altering or defacing the same. 46.

12. Memorandums made by Samuel Grant, touching Mrs. Jevon's bringing-in the said Books; and of their being consulted at several times. ibid.

13. The Answer of John Grant, Clerke, to the Bill of Complaint before-mentioned. 48.

This was sworn-to by the said Mr. Grant the new Vicar, the 6th of December, 1678. who chimes-in directly with his Patroness Mrs. Jevon; and charges the Plaintiffs with keeping & concealing several of the Parish Tithe-books from him, who ought to have the Custody of them; and of raising all this Dust with intent, under that pretext, to deteine in their Handes the Rightes and Dewes belonging vnto the said Church, & soe for a Time to suspend, if not absolutely avoid the Payment thereof to either of them.

14. The Replicacon. of Sir Francis Pemberton, &c. Plaintiffs, to the Answer of Sarah Jevon Widdowe, & John Grant Clerke, Defendants. Term. Mich. ann. 30 R. Caroli 11. 57.

Justifying the several Allegations in their Bill of Complaint, against the Defendants Answers; and offering to prove the same.

15. An Order of the Court, made the 26th of November, 1768. for taking the Depositions of the Witnesses on both sides: and for hearing the Causes of the
CAT. HARL. VOL. II.

Num. 2298—2300.

Plaintiffes against the Defendants; and that of Mr. Scudamore against the said Defendants, both together.

16. Interrogatories to be administered to Witnesses, to be produced & examined on the parte & behalfe of Sir Francis Pemberton, &c. Complainants, against Sarah Jevon & John Grant Defits. 58.

17. Names of the Witnesses who were sworne, in January 1678-9. 59.

18. Depositions of the said Witnesses taken before William Mountague, Lord Chief Baron of the Court of Exchequer, in this Cause. 60.

These were on the Side of the Complainants. 61.

19. Interrogatories to be administered to Witnesses to be produced, sworne, & examined, on the parte & behalfe of Sarah Jevon Widdowe, John Grant, Clerke, and Niccolas Overbury Esq. three of the Defendants to the Bill of Complaint of Sir Francis Pemberton & others. 97.

20. Depositions of the Defendants Witnesses. 99.

21. Order of the Court, made the 26th of March, anno 30 Caroli 11. for the Examination of the Witnesses on both Sides, and for hearing this Cause the next Terme. 107.

22. Order of the Court upon a Representation for the Defendants, that they were not ready, because the Complainants did not finish the Examination of their Witnesses soon enough, that the same should be finished within 4 days. dat. 24 Januar. 1678. 108.

23. Order of the Court, appointing a day for the Trial; and that the Defendants should bring in all their Tithe-books; and about the Examination of Mr. Robert Lambert, &c. dat. 27 March 1678. 109.

24. Order of the Court, that these Causes be putt-off untill the Setting-downe of Causes after this Terme, because Mr. Serjt. Maynard and Mr. Attorney Generall, who were of Counsell with the Defendants, could not attend, being concerned in a tryall of the Kings Bench, on his Majesties behalfe. dat. 7 Febr. 1678. 110.

25. Order of the Court appointing another day for the Hearing of these Causes, at Serjeants Inne-Hall. dat. 24 Febr. 1678. 111.

26. Cross-Interrogatories to be administered on the behalfe of the Defendants, vnto Roger Lambert, a Witness for the Plaintiffs in both their Causes. 4 Febr. 1678. 112.

27. Copies of all the Records and Evidences produced by the Defendants in the main Cause. fol. 116. to the end.

A Book in folio, being one of those lately belonging to Hugh Thomas the Armes Painter, and written by several Hands, among which his hand appears to be one. It contains,

1. A large Collection of Welch Pedegrees, especially of North Wales; drawn up chiefly in the Welch Tongue, and in a confused & intricate method; to which some Additions have been made.

Preceding this Collection, I find,

2. An Explication of the Letters or Marks used in this or some other Work.

3. A Table of the proper Names of Persons or Places, I suppose herein mentioned, but not so easy to be found out by it.

2300.

A Book in folio lately belonging to Mr. Hugh Thomas the Armes Painter, written by several Hands, and now damaged by thumbing, spittle, &c. wherein I find,

1. A Collection of Caermarthenshire Pedegrees, improved by many late Additions.

2. Pedegrees of Welch and English Families, mixed; with some Church-Notes & other Observations.

Num. 2301—2305.

2301.

A Book in folio, thus entitled,
Nomenclator Navalis : or, an exact Collection & Exposition of all Words & Termes of Art belonging to the Parts, Qualities, Conditions, Proportions, Rigging, Fitting, Mannageing, & Sayling of Shippes; with other Necessaries to be knowne in the Practique of Navigation.

The Authors name is studiously concealed; and in this Copy (which is pretty fairly written) what is promised in the Title by these words, "Also including so much of the Art of Gunnery, as concerns the Use of Ordnance at Sea;" by which I understand a particular Tract or Discourse upon this Subject, is wholly omitted.

A Book in folio, consisting of two Treatises written by different hands; being,

1. A Replication in further Maintenance of Free Will, to an Answer of a Protestant Devyne to the Treatise in that behalf first made by a Romish Catholick Priest; by one . . . Burne, another Popish Priest.

This Copie is in many Places corrected and enlarged perhaps by its Author.

2. At the beginning, is "a Note of certaine Contents of this Discourse."

Next follows,

3. A Treatise imperfect at both ends, written in Answer to some other Book against the Being or Existence of Witches: perhaps that published by Reginald Scot.

57.

2303.

A Book in folio, fairly enough written, but by several hands; wherein is contained,

A sort of Ecclesiastical History of England, from before the marriage of K. Henry viiith, with Anne Bullen, to the Execution of Mary Queen of Scots; by a zealous Roman Catholick Lawyer, who promised to add another Volume to this Work; which Volume I have not yet seen.

At the end, are the Contents of the 12 Chapters whereof this first part of the Work consists.

At the beginning, is an Epistle Dedicatory to the late King James II. by H. Tichborne who was not the Author.

This Book being bound in blue Turkey, gilded on the Edges, &c. may have been that designed for a Present to the said King.

2304.

A thinnish Book in folio, wherein is contained,
An Extract from, or Part of the Journal of the House of Peers, during the Parliament holden in anno 1 & 2 R. Caroli I. i. e. from the 6th of February 1625-6. to 14th June following.

2305.

A Book in folio, both fairly written & well bound, relating to the Parliament which was holden A.D. 1627. & 1628. but containing also some other Matters not concerning the House; and (like the Book last described, omitting many matters of less moment transacted in the same) I think it necessary to give the following account of it.

1. A colored Print of the Effigies of K. Charles I. as he was about the time abovementioned.

2. A Table of the particulars conteyned in the first parte of this Booke.

3. The Danger of the Kingdome, and the Remedie; by Sir Robert Cotton Kt.

4. The Copie of a Letter written to the lower Howse of Parliament; by way of Advise.

To my noble Friends in the Lower Howse of Parliament.

8.

A Book in 8vo. written by the Hand of a pious Gentlewoman Mrs. Anne Cromwell; who at the beginning hath putt her Name to it, thus, Anna Cromwell 1656; and lower, thus, now Anna Williams 1660.

I making some enquiry after her about 5 years agoe, received the following Account from her Husbands Kinsman Henry Cromwell Esq; who may be still living forought I know. "Ann Cromwell was the Wife of Henry Cromwell Esq; of Ramsy, who was the Son of Coll. Henry Cromwell, the son of Sir Oliuer Cromwell, who were, all three, Royalists. And in the year 60. Henry Cromwell of Ramsy changed his Name to Williams, being a Courtier: and from thence she wrote her Name Ann Williams. They died without Issue; and the Estate of Ramsy was sold to Colonel Titus. Sir Oliuer was the Head of the family: Oliuer the Protector was a Nephew to Sr. Oliuer; Mr. Cromwells father was a Nephew to Sir Oliuer; he (I suppose means himself) has seen this Mrs. Ann Williams; she was an excellent Lady."

In the front she hath prefixed this Title, "A Booke of feuerall Deuotions, collected from good Men, by the worst of Sinners Anna Cromwell 1656. To make prayer sweete unto God, sue things belongeth, Knowledge of him, Zeale towards him, Loue to him, Feare of his wrath, and Hope of his Loue."

This premised; I proceed to give the Contents thereof more particularly, thus,

1. A Prayer to be sayed, as soone as one comes into the Church. 1.

2. A Prayer before one goes to reade. 2.

3. A shorte prayer to be sayed when one awaketh. 2.

 71. The Soules Conflict, from the frightfull Suggestions of foule Thoughts. 334.

Num. 2311—2313.

72. A Lamentation, with Confession & Prayer, vpon the same. 335.

73. The Soules Conflict from some late Relapses into Sin. 342.

Here follow some other Paragraphs, upon several Occasions, seeming to have been collected from Dr. Mossom's Tripartite; as perhaps, some of those above were.

74. Some Meditations gathered out of Dr. Mossom's Tripartite, to be used at the Celebration of the Sacrament. 355.

75. The Prayer of Manasses King of Judah. 360.

76. Prayers & Ejaculations at lying downe to rest; at first awakeing; at rising; at lying downe; at our first awakeing; at our lying downe. 365.

77. Declaration of K. Charles 1. at his receiving the Sacrament, on Whit-sunday A. D. . . . from the hands of the Arch-bishop of Armagh of his Intention to establish the Church of England, without any Connivance to Popery. 368.

78. An Explanation of the Frontispiece, to the Works or Eikōn Basilikē of K. Charles 1. 371.

79. The Explanation of the Embleme, belonging to the same. 373.

80. Against ambitious desires of appearing greater then others; & in praise of Charity; a Note. 374.

81. Of St. Hieroms little book, consisting only of four Leaves, which he constantly carried about him. 376.

82. His Description of St. Paula's Funeral. 380.

83. St. Ambroses Prayer on the day of Judgement. 384.

It seems that this devout & religious Lady, as well as her Husband, was desirous of Issue, as appears in the pages 265. 266. & 207. which God did not grant unto them. Who can say that if they had had Children, they would not have proved rebellious, wicked, & great Afflictions? Note, that all from page 367, seemeth to have been written by some female hand different from Mrs. Cromwells.

2312.

A Book in 8vo. handfomely bound in red Turkey, gilt & adorned with the Armes of Sir Kenelm Digby on the Cover, & with his Cypher on the back: wherein I find,

1. A Prayer for the Church Catholick. 1.

This seems to be written by a female hand; and, as I conjecture from the following Tract, by the Lady Frances Villiers Vice-countess of Purbeck.

2. Sir Kenelm Digbys Treatise upon this Question, What Faith & Religion is the true one, to bring us to eternall Happinesse? 4.

This is the Original of his own Hand-writing, written in 3 days; & dated at Paris, 13 Jan. 1636. for the use, & gaining over to the Church of Rome of the Lady above-mentioned; who was daughter of Sir Edward Coke Lord Chief Justice, & Wife of Sir John Villiers (an elder Brother to George Duke of Buckingham) who was created Viscount of Purbeck A. D. 1618. In prosecuting this Discourse, Sr. Kenelm seems to argue more like a Philosopher than a Divine; nor doth his Work carry such a Conviction with it as he would pretend.

3. A short Tract written also by Sir Kenelm Digby concerning the Operations of the Soule. 94.

4. A Prayer for the King & State. 102.

This seems to have been written by a devout Female, of the Romish Religion, as appeareth by the Conclusion. She, after lamenting the National Crimes, prayeth for the Restauration of K. Charles 11.

the 26th, 27, & 28 of March 1627, as I take it: and then beginning again at 31 August 1627, carried on for a much longer space of time.

2314.

A Book in 8vo. formerly belonging to one Mr. Edward Beaver; who seems, at first, to have been preferred in Cambridge-shire; afterwards, to have been Parson of Wickham in Hamshire; with which Church, he held a Prebend in Chichester; and, keeping both these, became a Steward or Bayly to the Lord Powerscourt. Hereinto, at various times, he entered his Accompts, Receipts, & other Memorandums, confusedly enough; among which, I shall mention only these few particulars that follow: vizt.

1. Notes taken at Mr. Sherwoods Lecture in Westminster-Abbey, against Rebellion. 2. b.
2. Some other short Notes taken at other Sermons. 8.
3. Diagrams of some Constellations, as they stand in the North-Hemisphæer of Heaven. 9. b.
4. Notes taken from the Court-Sermons of the Lent-Preachers, A. D. 1677. 16.
5. Two Epigrams; one against Purgatory, the other against Transubstantiation. 30.
6. Particulars, as to Mr. Beavers Receipts & Disbursements at Wickham, &c. 30. b.

Here are likewise some other Notes taken from Discourse, as well as from Books.

7. His Receipts & Payments in the Lord Powerscourts business, from A. D. 1691. 70. b.
8. At the other end of the book is some Writing; but nothing of moment.

2315.

A Book in 8vo. containing only two short Tracts, written upon 44 leaves: vizt.

1. Short Memorials of some things to be cleared, during my Command in the Army. 1.

This is signed at the Beginning & end with the Monogram F; nevertheless, I cannot from hence affirm that it is the Original, written by Sir Thomas Fairfaxes hand. Herein, he apologizes for his Actions during his Command over the whole Parliament-Army (denying some things done under Color of his Name & Authority) untill his Commission was taken from him.

2. A short Memorial of the Northern Actions, during the Warr there: from the yeare 1642, till 1644. fol. 14. (Written by the same hand) and, at the end subscribed F.

I am apt enough to believe, that in this Relation Sir Thomas Fairfax hath sett-down matters relating to his Father & to Himself, impartially; and the rather, in that he writing how his Lady (in the fight between Bradford & Leeds) was taken by that illustrious Hero William Cavendish then Earl, afterward Duke of Newcastle, hath these words, fol. 33. "And (not many dayes after) the Earle of Newcastle sent my wife back againe, in his Coach, with some Horse to guard her: the which Generosity gained more then any Reputation he would haue gott in detaining a Lady Prisoner vpon such terms."

2317.

A Book in 8vo. seeming to have been written in the time of K. James 1. by some Popish Priest, belonging to some of the noble Family of Talbot; as being with other MSS. bought out of the late Duke of Shrewsburies Library. Herein, I find,
1. Notes of the six Ages of this World. 1.
2. Notes out of the old Bible (i. e. old Testament.
& perhaps, according to the Vulgate, or Doway-Translation.) 2.

Many of these Notes are collected as proofs against the Doctrine of the Church of England: some are collected from St. Augustin, &c. and in fol. 2. b. is an Observation, becoming a Popish Priest, upon the Archbishops of Canterbury; as in fol. 9. b. is such another about the Kings of England.

3. Like Notes out of the New Testament. 19.
Here are more quotations from St. Augustin, Ambrose, Hierom; and fol. 24. b. are the Collectors Notes whereby to know the true Church, i. e. the Church of Rome.
4. A Note of Herreticks, & their severall Herrefies
41.

Among these, are four of modern times; of whom the Collector writeth thus, "Luther, died suddanly after feasting. Swinglius, slaine in the warr against the Catho-liks. Carlostadius, slaine by the Diuell. Caluine, eaten with wormes."

5. Ecclesiastical Ordinances appointed by sundry Popes. 43.

Among these, are mentioned some others by S. Jer-om, St. Ambrose, & St. Bonaventure.

6. Falsifications of Scripture. 45.

Here, the Collector taxeth several Editions or Translations of the English Bible; right, or wrong.

7. That the Tolleration of the Stewes, is an allowance of vnchast Lyfe, or vnlawfull. 47.

This is a Defence of the Popes, in reference to the licensed Bordellos at Rome.

8. Notes of the death and Martyrdome of the Apostles & others. 49.

9. Historical Notes out of Hooker alias Vowell, a Protestant Cronicler. 50.

Then follows in another hand, more incorrect than the former,

10. A Prayer of some young person, or Novice; for Grace to prepare himselfe to receaue the blessed Sacrament worthily.

2318.

A Book in 8vo. whose Cover is adorned with the Badge used by Queen Anne Boleyn; and the Inside written by two hands; where I find,

1. A fruchtfull Exhortation to a sicke Person, to prepare against his End: made by Docter Willet of Barle, and by him sent to Sir Arthure Capell in his long sicknes.
1. b.

2. A Prayer for one that is sick. 8.
3. Some pious Ejaculations & Prayers to God. 11.
4. A Morning-Prayer. 14.
5. A Confession of Sins. 15. b.
6. Devout Meditations. 16. b.
7. A short Catechisme. 18.
8. Other Ejaculations. 22.
9. The Glory of a Christian. 23.

This is a short Passage taken from Boltons Works, about

Num. 2318—2320.

about opposing the Growth of Sin; and is written (like as the ensuing Treatise) in a smaller, but more incorrect hand.

10. The Linckes of breeding Sin: another Paragraph perhaps from the same Author. ibid.

11. A Treatise setting-forth what happened in the Council summoned by K. Philipp III. of Spain, to which Count Gondamar being purposely recalled from England, was to make a Report of his Intrigues here. A. D. 1618. ibid.

I hold this to be a forgery, and to have been written by a Puritanical Workman. I have seen it elsewhere, both in Manuscript, & in Print.

2319.

A thin Book in 8vo. seeming to have been copied, incorrectly enough, by some Lawyers Clerk, toward the end of King Charles the seconds Reign. It is entitled,

"Mrs. Babylons Looking-glass: or a breif description of the doings in Satans Sinagoge, otherwise called the Church of England, which is mounted upon the Beasts, and a-going with speed in the wide way of Destruction: and many clear truths laid together worth your Observation. Written by a Servant of Christ, whose name is written in the Book of Life."

The name of this un-worthy Servant of Christ doth not appear; but his silly performance shews him to have been a Quaker, and dwelling not far from Hitchin & Ecclesford: vid. fol. 38. 39. 43. & 44. The Work, such as it is, is all in doggerel Rhymes, as scandalous as wicked. He endeavours to ridicule the holy Sacrament of Baptism. fol. 32. Episcopal Visitation. fol. 37. Confirmation. fol. 41. Both Universities. fol. 44. and our reverend Bishops & Clergy, almost every where. I could be more particular in describing these scandalous Ballads, but I really think they do not deserve more Time or Pains.

2320.

A parchment Book in 8vo. much damaged, but long since; wherein I find,

1. An imperfect Latin Calendar, beginning in May; but yet damaged by moisture. ibid.

2. An Astrological Tract, fairly written in old English (as the others are which follow) seeming (in fol. 6.) to have been translated from the "Destnary of þe hye sotulle Astronoure Bartholmew." It gives prognostications, of the Personages, Conditions, Fortunes &c. of both Men & Women, according as they happen to be born under the Dominion of any of the 12 Signs of the Zodiac. ibid.

In the principal Letter is the Effigies of the Author or Translator, as praying: and his Invocation begins with these Words, "Fader rizful, enformyng rechelesse, ech in on, nedefully acceptyng."

3. An Astrological Poem, teaching when to buy & sell; to lett Bloud or Surgery; interpretation of Dreams; when to build; go to Sea; Childrens Fortunes, &c. all from the Day of the Moons Age, if the Author or Translator may be believed. ibid.

In the principal Letter, he is represented as sitting at his Study; his Work beginning thus,

"He þat wol herkyn of Wit
þat ys witnest in holy Wryt,
Lyftenyth to me a stonde,
Of a Stori y schal zow telle;
What tyme ys good to byen & to fylle,
In bok as hyt ys y-fownde."

4. Directions for making many Sorts of Laces, which were in Fashion in the tymes of K. Henry VI. and Edward IV. such as Lace Bascon, Lace ended, Lace bordred on bope sydes, yn o syde, pykke Lace bordred, Lace Condtrak, Lace Dawns, Lace Piol, Lace couert, Lace couerte doble, Lace compon couerte, Lace maskel, Lace cheyne brode, Las Cheuron, Lace oundé, Grene dorge, Lace for Hattys, &c. ibid.

CAT. HARL. VOL. II.

Num. 2320, 2321.

In the principal Letter is a damaged figure of a Woman sitting, & making of Lace,

5. Two Medicinal Receipts; but not said what they are good for. ibid.

6. Litera Dominicalis; or, Prognostications from the Dominical Letter. ibid.

7. Two Receipts for the Mother. ibid.

2321.

Codex membranaceus in 8vo. min. partim Latinè, partim Anglice scriptus; quo continentur,

1. Sermo Francisci de Märonis de Indulgencijs: scil. in illud, "Quodcunque ligaveris super Terram, erit ligatum et in Celis; et quodcunque solveris super Terram, erit solutum et in Celis." ibid.

2. Sermo de Indulgencijs, prefertim de Indulgencijs Monasterij de Syon. ibid.

This long Sermon is upon the Text "Tibi dabo claves regni Celorum;" Math. xvi. being part of the Gospel for the festival of St. Peter ad Vincula, commonly called Lam-mas-day. It is written in English, & treateth largely of the Nature of Pardons & Indulgences in general, and of those impetrated at the Court of Rome, for the Brigittin Monastery of Syon in Midelfex, by Father Thomas Fifeheborune (f. leg. Fifehebourne) in particular.

3. Hou the Pardon of Affyse was graunted to S. Fraunceys, by the Pope of Rome Honorius III. ibid.

In the preceding Discourse, frequent mention is made of this Pardon; and the like was procured for Syon for every fourth Sondag of Lentone, or Lent.

4. B. Augustini Sententiæ tres, notatu dignissimæ; aliena, & recentiori manu. ibid.

De Damnatione certa omnium Paganorum, Judæorum, Hæreticorum, atq; Schismaticorum, nec non pravorum Catholicorum.

5. Breviarium totius Veteris et Novi Testamenti, per Menardum Monachum, ap Jacobum de Ylenaco. ibid.

6. Chronicon breve Pontificum Romanorum, a B. Petro, usque ad Constantinum I. ibid.

7. Collectanea brevicula ex Angliæ Chronicis. ibid.

8. Descriptio Urbis Romæ, cum ejusdem mirabilibus, Ecclesijs, Reliquijs, &c. ibid.

Inter alia, hæc de Gregorio I. Papa occurrunt. fol. 101. b. "Et ne Erroris antiqui semen de cetero pullularet in ymaginibus Demonum: idem Gregorius Capita & Membra fecit generaliter amputari; ut, per hec extirpanda radice Vanitatis, palma Ecclesiastice Veritatis plenius exaltaretur." Huic simile quid de eodem Gregorio Papa, e Joanne Sarisburiensi, refert insignis scriptor D. Gulielmus Cave, Hist. Litt. Vol. I. pag. 431. — "non modo Mathefin ab aula recedere jussit, sed (quod major esset S. Scripturæ autoritas, et in ea evolventa diligentia studiosior) intempestivo nimis et planè fragranti zelo, nobilissimæ Bibliothecæ Palatinæ, in cujus Archivis recondebantur tot veneranda Vetustatis monumenta, ignem admoverit, quo incendio perierunt.

Scripta Palatinus quæcunque tenebat Apollo.

9. Iter ab Anglia ad Romam. ibid.

10. Iter aliud ab Anglia ad Romam. ibid.

11. De Escambio, et Pecunia. ibid.

12. De Cura pastoralis. ibid.

13. Sententiæ e Sacra Scriptura collectæ. ibid.

14. De Sanctis, et eorum Reliquijs. ibid.

15. Descriptio corporis D. N. Jesu Xpi. e pseudo-epistola Lentuli. ibid.

16. De genere B. Annæ, et B. V. Mariæ. ibid.

17. Notulæ Geographicæ, &c. ibid.

18. Notulæ de mirabilibus Angliæ; maximam partem falsis. ibid.

19. Notulæ Historicæ, prefertim de rebus Anglicis, nullo Ordine delectæ. ibid.

20. Versus gnomici; fere semper resonantes, ac Alphabetico ordine dispositi. ibid.

21. Exhortatio

Num. 2321—2323.

21. Exhortacio ad Monachos, Versibus Rhythmicis. 169.
Init. "Respice processum Metricum, Reverende sequentem;
Do quia progressum de Religione placentem."
22. Exhortacio bona ad Sacerdotes. 172.
Init. "Viri venerabiles, sacerdotes Dei, Precones altissimi, Lucerne diei."
23. Speculum Monachorum; tractatus ακρίδος, si non omnibus in Codice contentis iste Titulus attribui potest rectius.
In fine, de se & opere suo, sic (more suo) canit auctor.
"Explicit iste liber dictus Speculum Monachorum,
Regula quo morum splendescit, et Ordo bonorum.
Intererant fini Mathei metra Johannis,
Me quater, Domini, ter et x. i dico sub annis;
Que dudum gratis precibus Dompni Nicolai (Nicolai Frome Abbatis Glastonenisis.)

Beginn. "I write þis tretis in fyue schort Chapitris, to hem þat wolen lyve Chast."

At the end, (fol. 152.) þis Tretis is called CounseyLOUR of recchis.

2323.

A thinnish paper Book in 12mo. being (as I take it) a Copy of a thorte Treatise compiled by some Regular or Confessor of the Roman Religion; and by him entitled "Christian Considerations" (i. e. Meditations) for every day of the Month: upon the Subjects, following.

1. Of Faith. 1.
2. Of the end of Man. 3.
3. Of the Contempt of the World. 5.
4. Of Death. 7.

Num. 2323, 2324.

5. Of the last Judgement. 10.
6. Of Hell. 13.
7. Of the everlasting Torments of Hell. 15.
8. Of Paradise. 18.
9. Of the Presence of God. 20.
10. Of the Care of thy Salvation. 22.
11. Of the Detestation of Sinn. 26.
12. Of Pennance. 28.
13. Not to defer our Conuerfion. 30.
14. Of Worldly Reflections. 33.
15. Of Diffidence of ones Selfe. 35.
16. Of the Vse of the Grace of God. 37.
17. Of the Vse of Time. 40.
18. Of the Vse of the Sacraments. 42.
19. Of the Masse. 44.
20. Of Almesdeed. 47.
21. Of Exemple. 49.
22. Of Afflictions. 52.
23. Of our Conformity to the Will of God. 54.
24. Of our Trust in God. 57.
25. Of the Loue of God. 59.
26. Of the Loue of our Lord Jesus Christ. 61.
27. Of the Loue of our Neighbor. 64.
28. Of the Loue of our Enemyes. 65.
29. Of the Imitation of our Lord. 67.
30. Of our Deuotion to our blessed Lady. 70.
31. Of our Deuotion in the Service of God. 72.

Then follows a longer Chapter,

32. Of the modest Behaviour & Sincerity of Life & Manners, required in Christianity. 75.

2324.

A vellum Book in 12mo. containing a Theological Treatise, written in old English, and entitled "A Lanterne of Litz." It is divided into 13 Chapters, which bear the Titles following,

1. The Prolog, or Introduction. 1. b.
2. Of Appeticioun. 4.
3. What is Anti-Crist in general; wip Six Conditouns. 5. b.
4. What is Anti-Crist in special; with hife pre Parties. 13.
5. What is Anti-Crist in special; with fiue Conditouns. 16.
6. What is þe Chirch conli propriid to God? wip hir Names, Lickneffis, and Conditouns. 20. b.
7. What is þe material Chirche, with hir Honourmentis. 33. b.

11. Of Joye in Tribulacioun. 72.
12. Of þe Fendis Cautels, in which he pursueþ in hife Membris þe Kepers of Goddis Heestis. 76.
13. What is þe Fendis Chirche; with hir Propurtees. 119. to the end.

The Author was a Lollard, as plainly appeareth in fol. 10. & 94. b. He complaineth of the taking away of the Books of Scripture, then translated into English, from the Laity, & for punishing those who did read or quote the same. fol. 17. b. & 93. b. He bitterly inveiyeth against the Pope as Anti-Crist; against Bishops, and Clergy both Regular & Secular, and their Officers. As to the Author, from the nature of the Work itself; the way of handling it; the style; & the Authors or Books cited by him; I am of opinion that it might be John Wycliffe: although I have not now Bale at hand to consult; and find that he is omitted (as having been an Heretic, forsooth!) by partial Pitts; that Leland mentions but few of his Writings; and even Mr. Hen. Whartons Account of them is sometimes dubious, and (in the main) imperfect.

A Book

Num. 2325—2327.

2325.

A Book in 12mo. easily known by its remarkably bad Hand, to have been (for the most part) written by John Lord Roberts, afterwards Earl of Radnor & Lord Privy Seal. It contains,

1. Some loose Notes relating to our Parliament, &c. 1. 2. b.
2. Qua ratione Galli amiserunt Libertatem suam, et Bonorum proprietatem. 2.
3. Notes collected from the Journal of the House of Peers, of ann. 3 Caroli I. 4. b. 51. b.
4. Some Notes from the Lords Journal of ann. 1. Caroli I. 6. 11. 13. 40.
5. Turning up the other end of the book; I find,
6. More tumultuary Notes taken by the same Lord from Journals of Parliament. Statutes, & some other Books, for his own use.

2326.

A Book in 12mo. fairly written or transcribed by some Writing-master, as I suppose. It contains,

A Treatise of the Duty of a General or Commander in Chief; compiled by Tristram Tyrwhyt, for the particular Use & Help of Robert Dudley Earl of Leicester, who solicited Qu. Elizabeth for the Command of an Army in the Netherlands. The Authors Dedication is dated the 2d of November 1577, and hath before it a Trick of that Lords Arms. Then follow, the 94th Psalm; the main Treatise; 12.

Generall Rules of Warre, taken out of Vegetius. 38.

Sentences, for his Lordship to read, at his leysure 43.

Toward the Beginning & End, are some other scraps of Authors, scribbled by a Schole-boy.

2327.

A Popish Book in 8vo. wherein I find the following Tracts,

1. The Maner how to make our Confession. 1.

28. A Tract endeavoring to prove against the Protestants, that the Roman is the true Church. 112.
29. The Rule of the Socyetye of the most blessed Vyrgyn Mary. 121.
- This Article contains likewise some other matters relating to the Society of the Rosary.

2328.

A Book in 12mo. seeming to have been written by the hand of some Female. It consists of Scripture-passages ranged under certain Heads; perhaps by Order of some Judge, or other Magistrate; given to his Daughter, in order to keep her, for some time at least, well employed. The said Heads are,

1. Judex. 1.
2. Judicium. 21.
3. Jus. 67.
4. Jus Regium. 75.
5. Jus Gladij. 78.

2329.

A thin Book in 12mo. wherein are contained, many Passages collected out of the printed Works of K. James I. vizt.

1. Out of the Epistle to the Church. 1.
2. Out of a Meditation. 2.
3. Out of the Epistle to his Sonne. 3.
4. Out of the Epistle to the Reader. 4.
5. Out of the Βασιλικὴ Δέσση. 5.

14. Out of his Meditation on the Lords Prayer. 43.
15. Out of the Peace-maker. 51.
16. Out of his last Speech in Parliament. 60.

2330.

A parchment Book in 12mo. written (as I suppose) by one of those people, who were formerly called Lollards. In it are contained the following Tracts,

1. A Tretijs þat Seynt Austin made an Earl clepid Julian, consisting of 17. Chapters. 1.

Beginn. "A! my dere broþir, if þou coueitist to wite (þouz I wite not) how moost parfijt & fullest Riztwifnes is for to love God."

I find not this Treatise in the List of St. Austins works given by Dr. Cave, who indeed mentions that he wrote against Julian the Pelagian, being different from this.

2. þe book of Seynt Austen of Cristin Lijf, to his Sistir a Wydowe. 66. b.

Beginn. "þat I Synner, & þe laste, & vnwisser þan opere, & moore vnlearned þan alle." 66. b.

This Tract is noted in the MSS. to be extant in the ninth Tome of St. Austins Works, at col. 888. of the Basil Edition, as I suppose. But Dr. Cave, seems upon the Authority of Lucas Holstenius, to ascribe it rather to Fastidius a Britan.

3. A Sermoun of Austen; how Man is maad to the Ymage & Likeness of God his maker, of nouzt. 976. Beginn.

Num. 2330—2333.

Beginn. "How greet is þe dignyte of Mannus making!"

This is also noted to be extant in the 9th Tome of St. Augustins Works. at col. 1178.

4. The XII Abusiouns or Mis-usis, as reherfip Seint Austyn. 100. b.

Beginn. "þe firste Abusioun is a Wife Man without gode Werkis."

Some ascribe this Treatise to St. Cyprian, as well as to St. Augustin; and it is printed by Sr. James Ware under the Name of St. Patrick of Ireland.

2331.

A thin Book in 12mo. beginning at either end; wherein are entered, Particular Phrases or Expressions observed in reading the Works of Corn. Tacitus the Roman Historian explained in English.

It is not unlikely but that this Reading of Tacitus might have been made to the great William Cavendish Duke of Newcastle in his younger Years, by some one of his Governors or Tutors.

2332.

A vellum Book in 12mo. by its former Owner the late Dr. John Covell, called an Almanack; and by him thought to have been written in the beginning of King Henry the 17th's Reign. It contains.

1. A Calendar, with a Table for Ecclesiastical Computation throughout the Year; with very rude Pictures shewing the Works or Exercises proper to each Month; the Signs of the Zodiac peculiar to each; with the Festival Days. 1. b.

2. Another Table, wherein the Dominical Letter is expressed by A. 13. b.

3. Tables of the Solar Eclipses, which (I suppose) were to happen; beginning with A. D. 1411. 14. b.

Here the Names of the Months are not written but expressed by rude Symbols.

4. Like Tables of the Lunar Eclipses; beginning with the year 1406. 15. b.

5. Part of an Astronomical Diagram; where the Zodiacal Signs, & Months, are expressed by the Authors, or Workmans rude Symbols. 17. b.

6. A rude Sketch of a naked Man standing, and affected in the proper parts by the several Signs of the Zodiac, expressed by Symbolical figures. 18.

7. Tabula ad sciendum in quo Signo fuerit Luna omni die. 18. b.

This is expressed in like Symbols.

8. Another, perhaps, hinting at the Labors of the Year, & the lucky or unlucky Days for them. 19. b.

9. Rude Heads of our Kings from the Conqueror to Richard II. both included, with the number of years that each of them reigned. 21.

10. A Table, as it seemeth to me, for calculation of the Prices of Bread, or of Bread-Corn. 21. b.

Then followeth, in a newer hand,

11. The Statwete of Wencheſter, touching the Syfe of Bred, of what Grayn of Corne so euer that it be. 22.

Lastly, cometh, by the first hand,

12. A Diagram for calculating the Moons Motion, as I take it. 23. b.

2333.

A paper Book in 12mo. written as I suppose, by one of those Friars who, in times of Popery, used to inveigle people to faunter, & squander away their time & money in unnecessary Voiages to Jerusalem; leaving these Thieves behind with the Government of their Wives, Families, & Estates; to their great Loss, if not Destruction. It contains the following Tracts,

1. Of that most blessed Viage to the hooli Citee of Hierusalem. 1.

Num. 2333, 2334.

2. Peregrinacions of the holi Citee of Hierusalem. 10. b.
3. Peregrinacions of Bethleem. 21. b.
4. Peregrinacions that beth in the Montayns of Jude. 23. b.

5. Peregrinacions of Hume Jordan. 24. b.
6. Other blessed Peregrinagis within the Holi Lande, and there-about. 26. b. & 7. b.

7. Peregrinaciones in Ecclesia S. Marie Bethleem; i. e. Ordo Precum inibi recitandarum. 37. b.

8. Preces, &c. recitandæ in sacratissimo Monte Syon, et in circuitu Hierusalem. 40. b. & 65. b.

9. Processio Pregrinorum in Ecclesia S. Sepulcri Dñi ñri Jesu Cristi, cum precibus. 59.

10. Preces, Hymni, &c. recitandi ad diversas Peregrinationes in Hierosolymis, Palæstina, & Syria. 62. b.

Then follows, in English,

11. Of the Building & Destruction of Jerusalem, the Riches of the first Temple, and Miracles wrought by the Cross of our Savior, brought thither by the Emperor Heraclius. 79.

This is imperfect at the end; but Mr Knott (or Canutus, as he calls himself) writes that it is extant in Parva Sermonum de Sanctis, in festo Exalt. S. Crucis, paucis mutatis.

2334.

A Book in 16to. consisting of Miscellaneous Collections; to which, a Table was prefixed in the year 1662. The Subjects of these Collections may be gathered from the Titles following;

A parchment Book in 16to. from the beginning of the Prologue commonly called "The Poor Caitif," and by Mr. Henry Wharton, under the Title of Pauper Rusticus, is ascribed to John Wycliffe. The Tracts herein contained are not altogether in the same Order with those described in the M. S. No. 2322. which wanteth the Prologue (in like manner as several other Copies do) which in this Manuscript doth thus beginn, "This Tretis compilid of a Pore Caitif, & nedi of goostly Help of all Christen Peple." The Work is here distributed into the following Tracts, vizt.

1. An Explication of the Bileue. i. b.
 Beginn. "The Ground of al Goodnesse is stedfast feip opur Bileue."
2. A Comment on þe ten Hestis. 13. b.
 Beginn. "A man askide of Crist what he shulde do, for to haue þe Lijf þat euere shal laste."
3. Another on þe Pater noster. 50. b.
 Beginn. "Crist feip, who þat loueþ him shal kepe his Commaundementis."
4. The Councel off Crist. 63. b.
 Beginn. "Crist not compellynge, but freli counceylunge ech man to perfit Lijf."
5. Of vertuous Pacience. 66.
 Beginn. "But who þat is verily fed with þat Bred þat cam down fro Heuene."
6. Of Temptacioun. 68.
 Beginn. "Whanne þou art temptid eþer troublid."
7. þe Chartir of Heuene. 69.
 Beginn. "Everi Wife man þat cleymeþ his Eritage."
8. Armer of Heuene. 74.
 Beginn. "Almyzti God feip bi hooli Job."
9. þe Name of Ihesu. 80. b.
 Beginn. "Whofo euere þou be þat araieft þec for to loue God."
10. Off Mekenesse. 87.
 Beginn. "To ony Degree of verri Love of Ihesu, mai no Soule atteyne, but if he be verili Meke."
11. Of Mannes Wil. 89.
 Beginn. "Everi dede perifable eþer repreuable of Mannes Will."
12. Of actijf Lijf. 90. b.
 Beginn. "Crist louede moche Marie & Martha hir Sifter." This treateth also of contemplatif Lijf.
13. Of Chastite. 92. b.
 Beginn Prolog. "I write þis Tretis in fine short Chapitris, to hem þat wolen lyue Chaaft."
 Beginn of the Tract. "This Myrrour of Maidens loke ye þerinne, as follower of the mekeft Maide."
 In this Tract are 3 or 4 Legendary Stories related; the author (as it plainly appeareth) living in a strict Communion with the Roman Church, when he wrote it. This, howevet, did not hinder Mr. Wharton from branding what he meant well, with the following Censure, "Speculum Castitatis; quod putidissimus fabulis repletum, Wicfeso cum primis indignum videtur."

2336.

A parchment Book in 16to. containing another Copie of "The Pore Caitif;" wherein some of the Tracts do not follow in the same Order as in the preceding Copy, and some have not the same Titles. v. gr.

1. The 4th Tract above, hath here the Title off "Perfit Lijf."

CAT. HARL. VOL. II.

Num. 2336—2338.

2. The 5th is here entituled (perhaps erroneously) "Off Temptacioun." 82.
3. The 7th is here called "þe Chartre of oure heuenli Eritage." 86.
4. The 8th is here styled "Off goostli Batel." 93.
5. The 9th is here said "To leue God, or Ihesu." 102. b. and the 10th is as a part of it.
6. The Title of the 12th is only of "Contemplatif Lijf." 116.
7. At the end is a remarkable Note or Inscription, which I shall not grudge to putt down here, although such matters are not the business of this Catalogue: "This book was maad of þe goodis of John Gamalin for a comyn profite; þat þat perfoone þat hap þis book committid to him, of þe perfoone þat hap power to committe it, haue the uis þereof þe terme of his Lijf; preiynge for þe soule of þe same John. And þat he þat hap þis forseid uis of commissioun, whan he occupiþ it not; leene he it for a tyme to sum oþer perfoone. Also þat þat perfoone to whom it was committid for þe teerme of lijf; vndir þe forseid condiciouns deliuere he to anoþer, þe teerme of his lijf. And so be it delyuered & committid fro perfoone to perfoone, man or womman as longe as þe book enduriþ."
8. I must not conceal another Note which I find in a spare Page at the beginning, "Dixit Episcopus Cicefrensis quod Frater Minor compilavit hunc librum in suo Defensorio." I doubt not but that this Bishop of Chichester was Reginald Pecok; who was thought to favor the Lollards, and was openly persecuted & deprived, as guilty of Herefy.

A Book in 20mo. designed for the Pocket; wherein are noted-down,

1. Many excellent Rules & Observations necessary to be put in Practice by him who would endeavour to be come eminent or excellent in the business of a Pourtrait Painter; indigested as to methodical Order, and so incorrectly, as that I doubt whether it were not a Copy too hastily transcribed by some Face-Painter's Apprentice.

Herein, Vandyck, Dobson, Wilton, Watson, Fuller, & the Authors Master are mentioned; & mostly with applause. The Author repeats many of his Masters Lessons; whom also, in some respects, he compares with Titian; and indeed, seems to have taken almost the whole from his Instructions. Among other things, he relates how justly his master found fault with Old Faithorns Print of Mr. Stanley prefixed to his Lives of the Philosophers, which came out (if I mistake not) A. D. 1655. By this and by the Flemish terms of Stett and Stetting, I am apt to conjecture that Sir Peter Lely was the Master, & Mr. Ryley the Disciple; and the Hand-writing, a running Secretary, was in common use in the Reign of K. Charles II.

2. A Medicine to draw Milke out of a Womans Breasts, that is newly brought to Bed.

At the other end, I find

3. Some few Aphorisms, in Morality, & Painting.
4. A Sketch, with a Pen, of a Man's Head; perhaps from that of Sir William Dugdale before his Warwickshire.

2338.

A parchment Book in 16to. rudely illuminated, wherein is contained,

1. An Old English Poem upon our Blessed Saviors celebrating the Paslover with his Disciples, his Passion, Death, Burial, & Resurrection.

Beginn. "Cum esset plenitudo temporis, misit Deus Filium suum factum."

Comyng þe gret tyme of Mercy,
 Whan þe Fadir sent his Sone from on hyz.

2. Prophetia Regis Anglie. pag. ult.

This is filly and imperfect, beginning thus,

"Whanne m.cccccc. togidir be knet

And xxx. & vi. with hem are met,

As Merlyn sayth in þe story of Britayn,

Of Kyng Hary of Ynglond certayn."

At the end of the main Poem, (pag. penult.) is the following Note written by a later hand, "Finis Passionis Christi, auctore Thoma Breus, 1422." which seems to be a mistake, and perhaps a wilful one. For the Name Thomas Breus which appears in the first Page, written in large Text-Letters of Red and Black Ink, is of the very same Inks that the whole book is written with, and that (as we see above) maketh mention of the year 1536: so that 'tis much more likely that this Breus was only the possessor of it.

2339.

A parchment Book in 2omo. not ill written; and consisting altogether of Theological matters, divers whereof are Translations from the Latin. They are here putt-down in the following Order,

1. The later part of a Prayer to our blessed Saviour Jesus Christ.

This wants the first Leaf, which (without doubt) was torne-out for the sake of the Illumination.

2. An Orisoun (or Prayer, from "Oratio") in mynd (i. e. Memory) of Jhesu Cristis Passioun.

3. An Orisoun made by Seynt Austyn þe Doctour, (i. e. Bp. of Hippo.)

Beginn. "Domine Jhu Xpe qui hunc Mundum."

&c.

4. An Orisoun to be seid to oure Ladi, and to Seint Joon þe Euangelist.

Begin. "O intemerata, & in eternum," &c.

5. A precious Orisoun for him þat loveþ þis nam Jhesu.

Beginn. "O bone Jhesu," &c.

6. þe Rule of our Ladies Lijf; according as she reveled it to a devout Woman Seruaunt of God, Seynt Elizabeth, Joon Baptists Modir.

Beginn. "Aboute þe glorious Maiden of whom oure Lord Jhesu Crist took Fleisch & Blood."

7. þe Writynge of Seynt Jerom, about the Life of the blessed Virgin.

Beginn. "Seynt Jerom writip of Hir Lijf on þis wife."

Then follow certain Paragraphs, whose Rubrics are,

8. How euery Man may lerne to make him redy to God euery day.

9. þe Malice of Synners.

10. That we moun lerne how we schulden wake þe Hours of oure Soule fro vndirmynynge of the Feende bi Synne; & to be redi whateuer tyme we ben callid for to anwere for oure good Deedis and yuel.

11. Of Emperour & Kingis Office; and of her Ministis.

12. Of vnjust Sleinge, & vnjust Wrappe.

13. That no Man schulde deme himsilf just.

14. Of just Wedding, & vnjust.

15. How Crist schal appere at Domesday.

16. Hou we schulden go with oure Enemye; and how we schulden zeue & lene (i. e. lend) and how Men moun lawefully be chastifid for Synne.

17. Of vertues (i. e. virtuous) Virginite: and of Yuel.

I am apt to conjecture that these several Paragraphs make but one Tract.

18. A profitable Mirrour for synful Men & Wyomen to biholde ynne.

Beginn. "For þat we ben in þe weye of þis failynge Lijf."

Num. 2339—2341.

At the end, this Tract is called þe Myrrour of Synners; and, perhaps may be that which Dr. Cave (or rather Mr. Wharton) ascribes to John Wycliffe, Hist. Litt. pag. 54. App.

19. A Tretis of þre Arowis pat schulen be schot on Domesday to hem þat þere schulen be dampned.

Beginn. "Whoso wole have in mynde þe dredful Day of Doom."

This Tract is also ascribed to John Wycliffe, in the place above cited.

20. How ech Man & Woman may lerne to love & serve God, ech in his Degree; takyng ensauple bi þe Foulis.

21. þe Swetnes of þe Loue of Jhesu.

Beginn. "Jhesu þi Swetnesse who myzte it fe,

And þereof to haue a cleer knowinge;

At erpeli Loue bitter schulde be,

But þin aloone wipout Lefynge."

22. þe Complaynt of God, of euery synful Man & Woman, in verse likewise.

Beginn. "Oure gracious God, ful of Pite, Whos Myzt & Goodnes neuer bigan."

23. þe þre Argumentis þat þe Deuel wil putte to Man, in his Dijnge.

Beginn. "The first Argument þat he wole make is þis."

24. A litil Tretys azens þe Opynyoun of sum Men, þat feyn þat no man hap power for to chaunge þe Saboth fro þe Saturday to þe Sunday. And here is pleynly proued þe contrarie, by Holli Writt, & Doctouris Sentence accordynge þerwip.

Beginn. "Sum Men douten, siþ no man hap leue for to chaunge the ten Commaundementis of God."

A velum Book of a small but thickish size, being the Manual of Devotions of some English Protestant of Quality, who was cast into Prison wrongfully, according to his own Opinion. It was illuminated by some foreigner, but hath since been abused, & is now imperfect in two places. It contains,

1. A Prayer for Patience in Tribulation, as Christ was patient.

2. A Prayer concerning the Love of my Neighbour.

3. A Prayer for forgiveness of Sins; wherein Gloteny is added to Lechery.

4. A Prayer for our Enemy.

5. For Paciens in Tribulation.

6. For true Wisdom.

7. A Confession of Sins to God; seeming to want the beginning.

Here, among other Sins, the Penitent chargeth himself with Adultery & Theft.

8. A Prayer to our Lorde Jhesu Christ.

Here (fol. 24. b.) he desires Grace patiently to Suffre.

9. The Prayer of quene Ester, for help agaynst her Enymys.

Num. 2342.

10. The Prayer of Sara the daughter of Raguell, when she was flaundred.

11. The Prayer of Judith for the Victorie of Olyfernes.

12. The Prayer of Jessus the sonne of Sirake.

13. The Prayer of the 3 Children that were deluyered from the hote burnyng Fire.

14. The Prayer of Manasseh King of Juda.

15. A Prayer for Grace to believe & trust in Jhesu Christ.

16. A Prayer for Assistance against many of the Authors Infirmities.

Amongst others, he mentions Pollinge of poore people; & Crabbednes agaynst those that were with him in Howseholde.

17. A Prayer to the blessed Trenyte.

18. A Prayer to God for Delyuerance from the power of all his Enemyes, and frome all theym that consented to his Destruction and Pardiçone.

19. A Prayer against the Temptations of the Fleshe, the Worlde, & the Deuylle.

20. A Petycon or Prayer for (i. e. agaynst) all the Evylles of Paynes & Punishments.

Here the Author says, "Kepe vs from thy moste greuous Strokes, the Pestylence, Frenche Pockes, Falling Sikenes, & fuche other Deseases;" for in those days, it was believed that the Pox might be communicated to a man by breathing; as witness, the Articles against Cardinal Wolsey.

21. A deuoute Prayer to Criste the seconde Person in Trynyte, our onely Redemer, God & Man.

Here, at 57. he desires forgiveness for particular Sins.

22. A Peticion & Prayer to oure Lorde.

This is for Delyuerance from his Enemyes.

23. Ejaculations collected from the Psalms, & other Scriptures, beseeching the diuine Assistance, in the Authors extreme Misery.

24. The Songe of Austeyn & Ambrose.

25. Saynt Jeroms Deuocion oute of Dauids Saulter.

Here, some Verses seem to intimate as if the Author had met with the Deliverance he so much prayed for.

26. A Prayer to the Father.

27. A Prayer to the holy Goste.

28. A Prayer to the Trenyte.

29. A Prayer to Jhesu Christe.

30. The Lords Prayer, followed by many holy Ejaculations.

These are suitable to the Condition of a Person in Tribulation: yet some of them do seem to import a Deliverance.

Now follow, by another hand,

31. A Prayer in Trobil.

32. A Prayer for the lyghtenyng of the holye Ghoste.

33. A Prayer in Aduersite & greuous Distresse.

34. A Prayer for strengthe of mynde to beare the Crosse.

Here, the Petitioner seemeth to despair of human Help.

35. A Prayer of the faythful person in Adversite.

I will not affirm that this Manual was written by the Direction of Edward Seymour Duke of Somerset & Protector of England, upon his first Commitment to the Tower of London, and that the last five Prayers were added after his second Commitment, which ended in his Execution. But if this were so, 'tis easy to apprehend how it might come into the hands of that noble but unfortunate Lady, the Lady Jane Grey; whose Marriage with the Lord Guilford Dudley, fourth son to the ambitious Duke of Northumberland cost them all their Lives. But that this Book was in the Lady Janes hands or or possession, and was also looked into by her Husband, appears by the 3 following Notes, written in the lower Margins.

Num. 2342, 2343.

36. "Your louyng and obedyent son wischethe vnto your Grace long lyfe in this world, with as muche joy & comforte, as euer I wyshte to my selfe; and in the world to come joy euerlasting. Your most humble son tel his Dethe G. Duddeley." 59. b.

37. "Forasmuche as you have desired so simple a woman to wrighte in so worthy a booke, gode Mayster Lieutenante, therefore, I shalle, as a frende desyre you, and as a Christian require you, to call vpyon God, to encline youre harte to his lawes, to quicken you in his waye, and not to take the worde of trewethe vtterlye oute of youre mouthe. Lyue styll to dye, that by deathe you may purchase eternall life; and remembre howe the ende of Mathusael, whoe as we reade in the scriptures, was the longeste liuer that was of a manne, died at the laste. For, as the Precher sayethe, there is a tyme to be borne, and a tyme to dye; and the daye of Deathe is better than the daye of oure birthe. Youres as the Lorde knowethe as a frende. Jane Duddeley." 74. b.

The Gentleman this was written for, seems to have been Sir John Gage Lieutenant of the Tower of London, when she was prisoner therein.

38. "The Lorde comforte your Grace, and that in his worde whearein alle creatures onlye are to be comforted. And thoughte it hath pleased God to take awaye 2 of your children: yet thincke not, I most humblye beseeche youre Grace, that you haue losse them; but truste that we by leafige this mortall life, haue wunne an immortal Life. And I, for my parte, as I haue honoured youre Grace in this life, wyll praye for you in another Life. Your Gracys humble daughter Jane Duddeley."

None of these 3 Notes or Epistles are mentioned by any of our Historians, that I now remember.

A parchment Book in 4to. consisting of divers Tracts Medicinal & Chirurgical, with Receipts formerly of great value.

They are,

1. Kalendare Herbarum, vel Simplicium. 1.
 Part of this being industriously destroyed, & most of the rest (as it seems) unfinished, no more of it appears than a few Lines in the 1. 3. & 4th pages.
2. Receipts Medicinal & Chirurgical, in Latine, English, or French; of the goodness of which I pass not my Judgment. ibid. The Writer of this Tract, in fol. 2. b. & elsewhere, uses a Cyfer for Secrecys sake, which he thought no Stranger could find out. His Rule was to put 1. 2. 3. 4. 5. for a e i o u; and now & then a Consonant for the letter placed in the Alphabet next to tt. v. g. bq5e t2 bark55ofe I take to be 'aque vocate
 Barkwore.'
3. Medicine Galieni Regis Medicorum. 15.
 This is written by an English hand, in French or Latin, with a mixture of some English Words.
4. Another Collection of Medicinal & Chirurgical
 Receipts; partly in Latin & partly in English. 27.
 Sequitur manu longe vetustiore, litteris tamen pene fugientibus.
5. Fragmentum Medicum; ubi tractatur de Impe-tigne, Gutta rosea, Morphea, Lepra, Leonina, Tyria, Alopecia, Pustulis in Leprosi, Veneno, Morfu Serpentis, & Morfu Canis. 44.
 Marginibus cernuntur quædam alia medicamenta, manibus recentioribus.
6. Medicine libri Magistri Johannis Lane: unico folio. 52.

7. Quedam Confectionum, Electuariorum, Attra-ctuarum, Syruporum, Collyriorum, Potionum, Clysteriorum. Pillularum, Suppositoriorum, ac aliarum Medicinarum, receptata? secundum Ysaack, & alios hujus Artis doctores & compilatores. 53.
8. Medicinal & Chirurgical Receipts, in Latin or English, seeming to have belonged to No. 2. above mentioned: as also might the Leaf described at No. 6.

And no man knoweth the Vertu of this Orison but only God: For Seynt Peter made this Orison bi teching of the Holi Goste; and he grauntid to eche man that sayth this Orison a zere of Pardon; and he grauntide that he that seith this Orison, he muste sey ferste these Psalmes, Deus in nomine tuo; Deus misereatur nostri; & De profundis. 69.

Init. "Domine Deus Omnipotens."

By the preceding long Rubric, it may be easily seen, that the Secular Clergy also condescended to use little Tricks & petty Rogueries, whereby to milk the well-meaning people of the Laity, of their Money.

10. Oratio pro Muliere in Tribulatione. 71. b.

Init. "Libera me Dñe Ihesu Criste, fili Dei vivi, qui in Cruce pro me Peccatrice suspensus fuisti."

2368.

A thin velum Book in small 4to. fairly written, wherein is contained a Tract thus entituled,

1. Archeion; or, of the high Courtes of Justice in Englande; and especiallie of the Chauncerye-Courte, and of the Lord Chauncelor that judgeth there.

Considering the writing & binding of this Book it seems likely that it was the Authors Present-book. The Authors Name is omitted, but the Person was Mr. William Lambard, some time (as I think, Recorder of London) and Keeper of the Records in the Tower. At the end of the Treatise, is a neat Flourish done by command of Hand, wherein are the Letters P. B. which shews that this Copie was written by the hand of Peter Beales the then famous Writing-Master of London.

2. In the spare Leaves at beginning & end, some paltry Verses are scribled-in, by a later & worse Hand.

 tir. 141. b.
 61. Before the Chirche Holy daye. 141. b.
 'The later part of this is cutt or torn-out, as Popish;
 & the beginning defaced.
 The Writer of this Sett of Homilies wrote good English, considering the time wherein he lived; he quotes Bede several times; and mentions the quondam Vicare of (or befye) Albrigge in Deuenshyre fol. 49. b. as then living; & in several places explains some old Customes of our Ancestors, which have been long since difused.
 Then follows a short Theological Tract, whose beginning (I suppose) went with the end of the last Homily. It contains Advices upon these severall Subjects:

A thin Parchment Book in 4to. imperfect at both ends
 containing,

1. Good Advice to Reclus of either Sex. As to their various Sorts, the Author writes thus in his Preface.
 "Now, wheyr as it ys drawn & gadrid out of the Lyues & Stories of Seyntes, of hem that chesen this Lyfe of Reclus; four-fold may be pe Causes, Motif, &
 Steryng, or Entencione principal:
 The firste, mai be Cause & Entencione of Lyuyng
 at her owen Wyll, withoute Labour.
 The secunde, ys Wil of gret & feruent Repentaunce.
 The thride, ys Purpos to eschewe the oportunitie of Synnyng, in comune Defautes or Blames.
 The ferthe, ys Desyr of on-tendynge the more frely to dvyyn Contemplacion, and only to the Worchip & Preyfyng of oure Lord God."

Num. 2372—2374.

In the spare Leaf at the beginning, I find, written by other hands,

2. A good Medefene for the Gowtte.
 As also the . . . Note following,
 3. "Thys ys a good Boke ffor Holy Men or Wemen;
 the whyche Boke bylongeth to the Alm's-houfe of Wylliam Browne in Stawnforde in the Dyocesse of Lyncolne, by the Gyft of Sir Johne Trus Chapleyne to the feyd Wylliam Browne sum tyme, and Prest in the feyd vere Howfe. Orate, queso, legentes, pro anima dicti Dñi Johannis."

2373.

A parchment Book in 4to. containing divers Theological Tracts, all (as it seemeth to me) written by the same Author. They are,

1. A Pystylle of Discrecion in Stirringes. 1.
 Beginn. "Gostely frend in Crist Ihesu; pat same Grace & Joy pat I wyll to my self, wyll I to pe at Godes wyll."

2. A Pystylle of Discrecion in knowenge of Spirites 5.
 Beginn. "For pi pat par bene dyuerse kyndes of Spirites: parfore is nedefulle to vs discrete knowynge of thaim."

3. A Pystylle of Prayer. 8. b.
 Beginn. "Gostely frende in Cryst Ihesu! As touch-ynge pin askynge of me how pou schalle rewle pin Hyerte in pe tyme of pi Prayer."

4. How Mans Soule is made to pe Ymage & pe
 Lyknes of pe holi Trinite. 12. b.
 This is a sort of Homily upon the Text "Nolite con-formari huic Seculo." Rom. xii.

5. A Tretyse of the studye of Wyfdome, pat men clepen Benjamin. 13. b.

Beginn. "A gret Clerk pat men clepen Richard of Sancte Victor, in a Book pat he makep of pe Study of Wifdome, wytnes & saip, pat two Myztes bene in a mans Soule, zeuene of pe Fadir of Heuene."

Richard de S. Victore wrote two Treatises; one called Benjamin Major, the other Benjamin Minor.

6. Oratio. i. e. a Collect still retained at the beginning of our Communion-Service in the Church. 23.

Beginn. "God, to whome alle Hertes bene opene; & vnto whome alle Wyll spekep; vnto whome no priue þing is hyd." ibid.

7. A Boke of Contemplacion, pe whyche is cleped pe Cloude of Vnknowing. ibid.

In the Appendix to the printed Catalogue of the MSS. in the Oxford-Colleges, pag. 87. col. 1. the now Doctor Thomas Tanner writes that this Treatise is ascribed to William Exmeuse, or to Maurice Chawney.
 Whether thefe, or either of them were Carthusians, as Walter Hilton certainly was, I know not.

8. A Tretyse of priue Counseile. 63.
 Beginn. "Gostely frende in Crist Ihesu; as touch-ynge pin inwarde Occupacione."

Here, in fol. 70. b. where the Author treateth of Mekenes, is this marginal Note: "In veteri Libro hujus Domus, vizt. Montis Gracie; de quatuor gradibus Humi-litatis, nulla fit mentio."

This Mount-Grace was a Carthusian Monastery in Yorkshire.

2374.

A Book in 4to. consistng of divers Medicinal & Chirurgical Tracts and Observations, partly in Latin & partly in English; written by several Persons upon Paper or Parchment; and now bound-up together: vizt.

1. Medicamenta varia; five Fragmentum cujusdam
 Medicinalis secundum praxim. chart. 1.
 2. Herbale; i. e. Nomina Herbarum, Latine & Anglice.
 chart. 5.
 3. Quidam tractatus Medicinarum aggregatus, et per diversos homines in Philosophia expertos in Anglicis verbis

Num. 2374—2376.

verbis approbatus, per naturam & operacionem rerum, chart.

This is a Collection of Receipts in Physic & Chirurgery, in old English, & seems worthy of perusal.

Then follow upon Parchment,

4. A Stanza, seeming to be taken from a Poem made in praise of some Man of merit; written in a more modern hand, by one Fludd.

5. A translation of "Nicholai Antidotarium," or Practica Medicinæ, in very old English; but imperfect at both ends. perg.

6. In the vacant page, 30. b. is a note written (as I suppose) by the Priest of Roderham, touching the Number of Christenings, Weddings, &c. had in his Parish, A. D. 1472; with an account of some of his Expences that year.

2375.

A Medicinal Book in 4to. written upon paper, but not all by the same hand; imperfect at the beginning, and much damaged by Moisture. Herein are contained,

1. A Medicinal Treatise in old English; imperfect, as I said just now.

Here the Author declares the Diseases in pe Ligthys, Lyuer, Splene, Renys & Kydnerys, Bladdere, Modyr, Vryne.

2. In the vacant Pages that follow, are some Medicinal & other Receipts, vizt. 17. b. 34. b. 55. b. 87. b.

3. A fragment giving Receipts to make distilled Waters; mostly in English.

4. Quoddam Compendium de concordia Elementorum, Temporum, Humor, Horarum, Etatum, et Parcium.

5. Virtutes quarundam Herbarum, secundum Macrum; proficé.

6. Quædam de virtutibus aliarum Herbarum; maximam partem, Latinè.

7. Beda? de Stuphis, calidis et humidis.

8. De quinque Clisteribus laxativis.

9. Medicamenta varia.

10. Tabula Salerni.

11. Quare Medicine composite invente erant; 5 versibus.

12. Versus Egidij laudabiles, de Conservatione Medicinarum & Specierum.

13. Some Receipts in the Confectionary-way; old English.

14. Libellus Johannis de Sancto Projecto, de virtute Simplicis Medicine.

15. Ad literas Aureas vel Argenteas scribendas.

16. Collectio Medicamentorum, per quendam Anglum.

17. Tractatus Astronomie sub compendio, de prognosticatione Sanorum & Egrotorum, per Signa Celestia.

fol. 89. usque ad finem Codicis.
Init. "Qui fuerit Medicus & optimus Magister, perfectus Medicus non est qui Astronomiam ignorat."

2376.

A Book in 4to. written upon parchment, wherein is contained, a good Copy of

1. pe boke of Pyris Plowman.

Beginn. "In a Somer seylone, whan softe was pe Sonne."

At the end, is this Note, "Hic explicit Visio Willelmi de Petro Plowman." Now among the several persons to whom the Poems of Piers Plowman have been ascribed, I remember not any William; so that if Geoffrey Chaucer was the man, he disguised his name for fear of the Clergy, who are bitterly inveighed against in these Poems. And to shew that the preceding Note, and another that will soon follow are of some moment, I produce these Verses, extant in fol. 7. b.

CAT. HARL. VOL. II.

"A lovely Lady of lore, in Lynen y cloped,
Come a-don fro þat Castel, & cleped me by Name,

And sayd William, slepes' þu? seyst þu þys Peple," &c.

2. Visio predicti Willelmi de Do wel; passibus 7. 54. Beginn. "Thus robed in Russet, Y romede aboute."

3. Visio ejusdem. de Do bet; passibus 3. 88. b. Beginn. "Here is none fuche y-layede, þat som tyme ne borowep."

4. Visio ejusdem, de Do best; passibus 2. 13. Beginn. "þus Y a-wakede, and wrot what Y had y-dremed."

It concludeth thus, "And sende me happe & hele tyl Y have Peres Plouz-man,

And fypppe he gradade aftere Grace, till Y ganne a-wake."

2377.

A parchment Book in 4to. imperfect at both ends; many also of whose Leaves are transposed through the Ignorance of its former owner. It contained a Theological Poem, divided into Seven parts, the Authors matter being collected from sundry books of Scripture, Fathers, &c. Who he was I know not; but he quotes Bartholomæus de Proprietatibus Rerum, in foll. 1. & 44. which writer flourished, A. D. 1360. that is, not long before this Copie was writt.

What remaineth, begins towards the Conclusion of the

1. Second Part, which treated of the Worlde's Vnstabulnes. &c.

2. pe brydde part of this Boke, þat spekep of Dep. 2. Beginn. "pe Depe is most dredful þing þat es."

3. pe ferpe part, þat spekep alos of Purgatorye. 16. Beginn. "First whan God wolde make alle þinge."

4. pe fyft part; þat is, of pe day of Dome, and of pe Tokenes þat byfore shul come. 34. b.

Beginn. "pe fyft part is of the Day of Dome."

Here, the Leaves being transposed, the Reader must turn-over to fol. 67.

5. pe sexþ part; þat is of pe peynes of Helle. 99. b. Beginn. "Many man here speketh of Helle."

Here, when the Reader is gotten to the end, he must turn back to fol. 35.

6. pe seuenth party of the blys of Heuene. 43. Beginn. "Many men pe blys of Heuene coueytes."

Thus this imperfect Work endeth after fol. 66. and by another imperfect Copy here, as well as by Mr. Wharton's Appendix to Dr. Cave, Pitts, &c. appears to be Richard Hampoles Prikke of Conscience.

2378.

A Pharmaceutical Book in 4to. written by various hands upon parchment; partly in old English, and partly in Latin; of which, since the multitude of Receipts therein is great: I shall give only the following Account,

1. A sort of Table to the ensuing Collection, made by the late Dr. John Covell Master of Christs College (its last owner) who studied Physic, before he entered into Holy Orders. In two paper-leaves, now bound with the rest.

2. His short account of the Contents of this MS. on the first parchment-Leaf.

3. Entrances of the Births of several Persons of the Family of Goodrick, together with the names of the Godfibs who promised at their Baptisms; being, for the most part, of the Suffolk-Gentry. In the next page; & in fol. 1. & 1. b.

I now proceed to the old Work, whereof the first Article is a large Collection of Medicinal & Chirurgical

81

Receipts,

Num. 2378.

Receipts, &c. among which, I shall mention only these that will here-under follow, vizt.

4. A Refeyte for dying of blac Threde; secundum Nicholaum Spaldynge.

5. Unguentum Alabaſttri, Nardi, Pistici preciosi, quod Romani de Ierusalem deportabant, eo tempore quo Dominus Iohannes Xpus crucifixus fuit & victus, &c.

6. The booke of Ypocras. In his book he techyt for to know be Planete, Seknesse, Lyf & Deth, and be times pereof.

7. De Sollequio, et alijs quibusdam herbis.

8. A Note touching the great Plague which almost destroyed Europe A. D. 1348. (or 7) of which Bocaccio hath given a large Account in the Preface or Introduction to his Decameron. This shews how much mistaken Dr. Covell, when he gesſed (perhaps above 40 years agoe) hat this book as it is, written at various times, & by different Hands was then at least 400 years old.

9. For the Fyere of Helle.

This seems to have been some Cutaneous Distemper; perhaps, what is now called St. Anthonies Fire.

10. A good Entret, that is callide Gracia Dei.

11. Unguentum viride.

12. For Man or Womman that is blisted withe wicked Spirits; to do away the Ache, & abate the Swellyng.

13. For the Elf-Cake.

14. For the Fallyng Yucl.

This is an Idle Charme, yet defaced by somebody who thought it might be efficacious through the Devils power. Doctor Covell, in a Note at the top, hath endeavoured to give some Light into it.

15. For to maken a Drynke that men calle Dwale; to make a man slepen whyllis men kerve hym.

16. For a man that spekethe in his Sleepe.

17. Unguentum album.

18. To make Grene Entrete.

19. For man or wommane pat hathe be perilouſe Coughes.

20. For be Coughes pat is called be Kynke.

21. For a Womane pat leſeth hire Barne-tem, for defeate of Man, and t. kethe euele pere-thurghe.

I doubt not but that in this Tract there may be many excellent Recipes which I understand not. At the end is the Authors name specified in the following Note, "Secundum Dompnum Nicholaum de Spaldynge, quod S. D. C."

22. Some other Medicinal Receipts, written in English, or in Latin, by various hands.

23. Antidotarius Nicholaj.

Init. "Ego Nicholaus rogatus a quibusdam in Practica Medicine studere volentibus."

24. Diaſcoridis Quid pro Quo.

Init. "Diaſcoridis noſcitur feciſſe hunc Librum, quem miſit avunculo ſuo."

25. Nomina Herbarum, alphabetico Ordine diſpoſita; Latine & Anglice.

26. Medicinal & Diſtillatory Receipts, written by various Hands, ſome in Latin, others in English.

Among theſe are,

27. Modus conficiendi Aquam Vite perfectiſſimam.

28. Orifon, pur Sanc eſtranger.

29. Pulvis Walteri.

Then follows,

30. A Collection of Medicyns pat good Lechis have made & drawn-out of hir Bokys, Galien, Aſclepius & Ipcras; for al maner Sorys and Woundys, Cancrys, Gowtys, Feſtrys, Felouns, and for ſodeyn Sorys, and al maner Ivelys in the Body, within & withoute.

This Tract seems to want a Leaf or two, at the end; but in ſome vacant ſpaces in pag. 258. &c.

Num. 2379.

ſome other Receipts are inſerted; as alſo the following Notes,

"Qui ſcripſit carmen ſit benedictus: Amen. quod Litlington.

Iſte liber conſtat Nicholao Spaldinge."

31. Receipts to make Sweet-meats, &c. according to the Art of Confectioners, & Apothecaries.

32. Secreta Fratris Alberti de Colonia, Ordinis Fratrum Predicatorum.

33. Experimenta de Corio Serpentis, tranſlata a Johanne Paulino, extracta de libro Alcain, qui Salus Vite vocatur.

34. Ludi Nature Regis Salomonis, quos miſit Regine.

Hic legitur modus conficiendi Pulverem Bombardicum; quem nos Anglice dicimus Gun-powder.

35. Tractatulus de diſtinctione nonnullorum librorum Aſtronomicorum, &c. a Nigromanticis.

2379.

Codex Theologicus in 4to. totus (paucis tantum folijs, finem verſus, exceptis) chartaceus; in quo continentur,

1. Sententia e SS. Patrum Latinorum ſcriptis decerptæ.

2. Explanatio Decalogi.

17. Liber de Spiritu Guidonis.

Scilicet, Narratio Legendaria de confabulatione habita inter Animam prædicti Guidonis Civis de Aleſtey ſeu Ayſtey (quæ diſtat ab Avenion 21 miliarijs) Qui quidem Guido obiit 16 kalendas Decembris A. D. 1323: et Priorem Fratrum Predicatorum in eadem Civitate commorantium.

18. Tractatus qui dicitur Speculum Sacerdotis. 8o. b. Init. "Sanctus Edwardus Rex & Ccnfeſſor in extremitate Vite poſitus."

Hic Tractatus vulgo, ſed perperam, tribuitur eidem Regi.

19. Tractatus ſuper Conſtitutionem Clementis Papæ v. quæ ab his verbis incipit, "Cum Eccleſiæ quibus præficiuntur minis ydonee Perſone Sciencia, Moribus, vel Etate, gravia Detrimenta in temporalibus & ſpiritualibus paciantur."

Then follows in English,

20. A Collection of the Curſes denounced againſt all Men and Women, particularly thoſe within the Province of Canterbury, quiche ben gyly in any of the Artyclyſ pat arne ſolowynge, to be tyme pat thei comyn to Amendement.

Beginn. "Thoroughly be autoryte of oure Lorde God all myzty."

Theſe Articles are chiefly grounded upon the provincial Conſtitutions.

Num. 2379—2382.

21. Adnotationes pauculæ Theologicæ: secundum Henricum de Gandavo, &c. 110. b.
 22. Enucleatio Libri Decretorum. 111.

 24. Ejusdem Tractatus Epitome; five, Tabula prima 201. b.
 25. Tabula in eundem, Alphabetico ordine disposita. 211.

2380.

A Book in 4to. written by various hands; both upon Paper & Parchment; partly in old Northerly English & partly in Latin; wherein I find,

1. A Table of Contents to the ensuing Treatise 1.
 2. A large Collection of Medicinal & Chirurgical Receipts; among which, many ridiculous Charms are intermingled. Imperfect. 1.
- Then follow,
3. Some old Songs, or Ditties, badly enough written, and the Poetry as indifferent; upon pious Subjects. 150.

2381.

A Book in 4to. written in English, for the far greatest part; & by several hands; and besides, by ill usage, not a little damaged; as is that last described: wherein nevertheless, do yet remain,

1. Calendarium; cum notitia dierum quorundam Astronomicorum. 1. b.
 2. Series Annorum, ab A. D. 1463 usque ad A. D. 1569 inclusive; una cum Curia Lune, Bissexto, Termino Paschali, &c. 13. b.
 3. Medicinal & Chirurgical Receipts, not without Charms or other Reliques of Superstition. 15. b. 31.
 4. An Imperfect alphabetical Table to the ensuing Treatise. 17.
 5. A Collection of 89 Medicines. 35. b.
- Of these I find presently but 21; and suppose that the rest may be jumbled & mixed with what follows.
6. The Antidotarie of Surgery of Petij Lanfranke. 40.

This is said to end at fol. 47; but the Leaves are so transposed & confounded, and this not lately; that it will not prove an easy task to put them rightly in Order, even with the help of Lanfrank's own work.

2382.

A paper Book in 4to. wherein are contained several Theological Poems, composed by Dan. John Lydgate Monk of Bury, Geoffrey Chaucer, & others; in the following Order, vizt.

1. Lidgate's life of the blessed virgin Mary, in 4 books, imperfect at the beginning. 1.
- At the end is this Note "Explicit quartus liber de Sancta Maria."
2. De Assumptione Sancte Marie. 75.
- Beginn. "A merry Tale y telle yow may
Of Saint Marie that swete May.
Alle the tale of this Lessone
Ys of here Assumptione."
- At the end is this Note, "Explicit Sextus Liber Sancte Marie": which shews that two other books were added to the Work of Lidgate, which was divided into only four; and written to K. Henry v. all in Stanzas.
3. Oratio ad Sanctam Mariam. 86. b.
- Beginn. "Mary moder, welle thu be;
Mary mayden, thenk on me,
Maiden & Moder was neuer none
Togeder, Lady, saue thou allone."
4. The Testament of Dan Johan Lydgarde (i. e. Lydgate) 87. b. 108. 128. b.
- Beginn. "O how glad & holfom is the memorie
Of Crist ihesu, surmountinge all swetnesse."

Num. 2382, 2383.

5. Fabula Monialis de sancta Maria. 97.
- This is the Prioresse's Tale, in Chaucer.
- Beginn. "Lord, oure Lord ihesu thi Name how meruelous
Is in this large World y-spredd! quod
She."
6. Vita Sancte Cecilie. 101.
- This is the second Nonnes Tale in Chaucer.
- Beginn. "The ministr of the norice vnto Vices;
Which pat men clepeth in Englisch Y-delnes."
7. De Sancto Erasmo Martire. 109.
- Beginn. "Alle Cristen peple, listeneth ye, & here
Of an holi Bisshop & a Martire."
8. Testamentum Cristi. 111. b.
- Beginn. "Who so will ouer rede this boke;
And with gostly Eyen thereon loke;
To other Scole dare he not wende,
To saue his Soule fro þe Fende."
9. The Child of Bristow. 118. b.
- Beginn. "He that made bothe Heuene & Helle Man & Womman in days Six."

This is a legendary Tale of a Squier who had amassed a great deal of Wealth by Oppression and fraudulent dealings; who had but an only Child, whom (at his own request) he putt Apprentice to a Merchant in Bristol. The Squier lying upon his Death-bed, sends for his Son, who conjures him to appear unto him a fourt-night after his Decease, & certifie him of the Condition his Soul would then be in: which proving to be horribly bad, the young Man sells all his Fathers Effects; his own Clothes, even to Nakedness; and his Body to be his masters Bond-man for ever. With the Sums thus raised, he satisfies all whom his Father had injured; and delivers his Soul from the Torments of Purgatory to heavenly Bliss. This being, at length, made known to the Master; he makes the young Man his Partner; and dying, in process of time; left him his whole Estate, which was not only lawfully acquired, but much larger than that so wickedly raked-up by the Squier.

2383.

- A. Book in 4to. consisting of divers theological Fragments now bound-up together. They are, for the greater part, written upon parchment; but by different hands, and at different times, having been much abused by ignorant or prejudiced Persons. They yet contain.
1. John Wyclif's Notes upon the Pater-noster, or Lords Prayer. 1.
- Beginn. "We shal bileue þat þis Pater-noster þat Crist hym-silf techiþ to alle Cristen men, passiþ opere Preyeris in þes þre þingis, in Autorite, & Suilte, & Profit of þe Chirche."
- At the end, this hath the Name Wyclif written by the first Hand.
2. His short Discourse concerning the springing-up of Heresies. 2.
- Beginn. "For false men multiplien Bokis of þe Chirche; now reendynge Bileue, and now cloutyng Heresies."
- Here, the leaf where he impugnes Transubstantiation is almost wholly rent-off: yet his name Wyclif is putt to the end of the Tract.
3. His explication of the Ave Maria. 3.
- Beginn. "Men greten comunely oure Lady Goddis Modir; and we supposen þat þis Greeting saueþ many men."
- This also is subscribed Wyclif.
4. A Discourse upon the Text "Diliges Dominum Deum tuum ex toto corde tuo." 3. b.
- Here the name Wyclif being omitted, at the end, it is written above.
5. A Discourse upon the Text "Cum ergo accepisset Ihesus acetum, dixit consummatum est," &c. 4. b.
- This is imperfect at the end.
6. Fragmentum de Juramentis. 7.

2387.

An illuminated Book in 4to. wherein is contained, þe boke þat is i-clepyde "Scala Perfectionis;" & it hath twey parties.

Beginn. "Gostly broþer in Ihesu Crist, I praye þe þat in þe callinge whiche oure Lorde hath callide þe to his Seruys, þou holde þe payed."

The Author of this Work (whose first part consists of 93 Chapters, as the second does of 46) does appear to be Walter Hilton the devout Canon of Thurgarton in Nottinghamshire; and it hath been divers times printed. Among the MSS. of it (as may easily be perceived in looking into those extant in this noble Library) are vast differences in the Readings, as there is also in the Title; especially if the Scala Perfectionis, Liber Contemplacionis, De Vita Contemplativa, & De Arte bene vivendi, which are all ascribed to this Author, should prove to be the same book. (It is also called the Reforming of Mannys Soule.) vid. 100. C. 27.

2388.

A paper Book in 4to. written by various hands, but wilfully torn and mangled at both ends; wherein, nevertheless, do yet remain, 2392.

A Book in 4to. written partly upon Parchment, but mostly upon Paper; wherein is contained, Geoffrey Chaucers Poem of Troilus & Cressida.

2393.

A paper Book in 4to. consisting of two Treatises only; vizt.

1. A Poem Historical, Political, & Moral; imperfect at the end, as wanting all after the 352 Stanza. Its main subject is the unfortunate Reign of King Edward II. whose Ghost is introduced as relating his Actions & Disasters. It is written to Queen Elizabeth, as plainly appears in several places, particularly by these Stanzas, 9, 242, 243, & 305, where she is named.

The Work seemeth to bear the Title of Edward the Second; and beginneth thus,

"Whie should a wasted Spirit spent in Woe
Discloze the Woundes receyv'd within his Brest?
Is't not ynowgh that Fortune proves his Foe,
In whose sad Frownes is fouldred his Un-rest?
Is't not ynough to knowe himselfe distrest?
Oh noe! furcharged Hartes must needs complayn;
Some Eaz it is, though small, to tell our Payn."

2. The same Poem revised & corrected by many Alterations, Additions, & Omissions; being now fitted-up for the perusal of King James I, as may appear by the Stanzas, 6, 259, 260, 326, &c. and, in the whole, consists of 581 Stanzas, as does another Copie of it in this noble Library, now inscribed 40 D. 8. The Author, at the end, calls himself Infortunio; and, perhaps, might have been Mr. Edmund Spenser, who is said to have lived long, & to have died in very low circumstances. This revised Copie begins,

Num. 2393—2395.

"I singe thy sad Disaster, (fatal King Carnarvan-Edward) second of that Name:
Thy Mynions Pryde; thy States ill manning;
Thie Peeres Revolt; the Sequell of the same.
Thy Life, thy Death, I sing; thy Sinne, thy Shame;
And how thou wert deprived of thy Crowne;
In highest Fortunes cast, by Fortune, downe."

2394.

A paper Book in 4to. (not altogether destitute of parchment-leaves) much corroded at the beginning, by Mice or Rats; wherein is contained,

An old Theological Poem in the Northern English Dialect, divided into 7 parts; imperfect at the beginning; and renewed at the end, by a later & modern hand.

This I take to be Richard Rolle the Hermit of Hampole's "Stimulus Conscientie," or "Prykke of Conscience;" of which there are other Copies, with his Name to them, in the Libraries of both our Universities; not to mention here what is said of it by Mr. Wharton, Pitts, & others.

Toward the end of the Prologue are these Lines,

"It pryks here Consciens within,
And of pat may a Luf begyn."

2395.

An imperfect paper Book in 4to. written by several Hands, as being an Original. It contains part of the Parish-Registre of Steventone; but in what County that Parish is situate, for want of proper helps, I now cannot tell. I believe it is not the Town of that Name in Hampshire. The Method observed in this Registre may be easily seen by the following Account of its Contents, 2396.

A Book of parchment in 4to. whose first Leaf at least seemeth to have been industriously cutt out; perhaps, in Order to conceal the Authors name. It contains certain Postills or Sermons de Tempore, putt-down in the following method.

1. Part of one, as I take it, designed for the Friday after the second Sunday in Advent.

The Conclusion of this, and of all the rest (if I have observed rightly) is in this form of words, God haue mercy on vs. Amen.

2. pe Gospel of Luk, 21 Capitulo.

Beginn. "pis Gospel tellip derkly a Profecye of Crist; hou it schal be in pis Chirche before pe day of Dom.

In this Sermon (fol. 4. b.) the Author writes, and pus sad Bileue in pis bridde Aduent, schulde stire men fro Synne, and drawe hem to Vertues.

Beginn. "pis Gospel tellip of pe God-heede & Man-heede of Crist."

This should haue been inserted after n° 9. according to the old Rubric in 23. b.

As to the Author of this small Collection: his Style; his frequent & bitter inveighing against the whole Clergy then in being, of all forts & conditions, without exception; & his mentioning pe Schole of Oxenforde: iuduce me to believe it might have been John Wycliffe.

2397.

A theological Book in 4to. not ill written upon Velum wherein are contained,

1. Certain fragments of an old liturgical MS. treating De Commendatione Animarum, & de Sepultura Mortuorum. At the beginning, & end.

2. pe secunde part of pe Reformyng of Mannys Soule; drawyn of Maister Watir Hiltone Hermyte. 1.

Beginn. "For as moche as pou coueytist gretly, & askist it for Charite."

This is no other than his Scala Perfectionis (I mean the second part of that work) notwithstanding the difference of the Title. See above, what I have said of 100. C. 17.

3. This Tretis pat fewip was maad by Maister Watir Hiltone; & herinne is tauzt hou men schuld rule hem. It is clepid Medlid Lijf. 73.

Beginn. "Broper & Sustir, bodili & gostli! twey maner Statis per be in holy Cherche, by pe whic Cristene Soulis plesse God, & geten hem the Blisse of Hevene: that oon is bodili, pat oper, is gostli."

This Tract consisteth of ten Chapters.

4. A Comment upon the 91st Psalm, according to the Vulgate: "Bonum est confiteri Domino, et psallere nomini tuo, Altissime. It is good to schryve to pe Lord; & synge to pi name pou alper hiest." 85. b.

Beginn. "No man may leue in pis Lijf, pat he ne schal synne sum tyme: & perfore it is good to ech man to schryve him to our Lord; & synge to his Name."

By a Note in fol. 94. b. it appears that this book belonged to Dame Elyzabethe Horwode Abbäs of the Menoreffes off London, & given by her to pe Syfters of pe fayde Place, upon a certain Condition.

2398.

A parchment Book in 8vo. wherein are contained the Theological Tracts following.

1. Memoriale credencium. 1.

Beginn. "Man, & Woman, pat wylneþ to fle Synne & lede clene Lyf; takeþ hede to pys lytel Tretysse pat ys y-wryte yn Englysche Tunge, for lewede Men pat conneþ nouzt vnderstonde Latyn ne Frensche: and ys y-drawe out of Holy Wryt by techynge of holy Doctours pat haueþ y-ben byfore pis time."

At the end is this Note, "Explicit tractatus vocatus Memoriale Credencium, auro preciosior."

2. The 15 O's (as they are frequently called in the Primers) being so many Prayers to our blessed Savior; which having no Rubric in this Copie, I transcribe one from another here. "Oracio S^{ca}. Brigide de 15 Oracionibus sequentibus; videlicet, inter vnamquamque Oracionem dicitur Oracio Dominica cum Salutatione Angelica; et continet numerum Vulnerum Cristi, per spacium unius anni." To the present Copie, is prefixed a Legendary Story, which thus (at 69. b.)

Beginns. "A Woman Recluse & Solitarye, coucitynge to known pe numbre of pe Woundes of oure Lord Ihesu Crist."

4. Another, at the end, thus entituled. "Bonus Tractus de quinque Sensibus." 106. b.

Beginn. "As it is byfore seyd, so muche Diligence, ne so gret Byfynesse dyde oure Lord God nevere, for no Creature, as for Mannes Soule."

5. A short Tract without a Title, or any Authours Name. 128.

Beginn. "It byhouep specially to euery man þat desyreþ to loue our Lord Ihesu Crist, inwardly in Herte, fyue þynges."

6. Sermo Magistri Thome Wymyldone, apud Crucem in cimiterio Sancti Pauli London. 140.

In illud Lucæ 16mo. "Redde rationem villicacionis tue."

Beginn. "My dere frendes! he schulleþ vnderstonde, þat Crist Ihesu auctor & doctour of Treupe, in his boke of Gospel, lyknyng þe kyngdome of Heuene to an Hous-holder, seyh."

7. þe Expoficioun of þe Pater noster. 153.

Beginn. "Eche Cristen man oweþ to knowe whiche bethe þe seuen Axynge of þe Lordes preyer, þat dop away alle Yueles, & procureþ alle Goedes."

At the End, is this Note, "Here endep þe Expoficioun of þe Pater noster, as Seynt Edmund expounthe in his Speculum."

This was St. Edmund of Pounteney Archbishop of Canterbury; and one of the Tracts called "Speculum Ecclesiæ," is ascribed to him.

8. How men þat bep in hele, scholde visite syke men. 156.

Beginn. "My dere Sone or Douzter, in God! It semep þat þou hyst þe faste in þe weye fro þis Lyf to Godward. þer þou schalt y-see alle þy forun Fadres, Apóstles, Martires, Confessoris, Virgynes, and alle Men & Women þat bep y-fauyd."

At the end, this short Tract is called "Visitacio Infirmorum."

9. Of Wedded men, & Wyues, & here Childrene also. 160. b.

10. A Discourse upon the Lords Prayer. 166. b.

Beginn. "Syppe þe Pater noster is þe beste Prayer þat is."

11. A short Tract, whose Argument is summed-up in these words, "þat weye of Synne, seme it neuer so lusty: zit it is wonder hard & bitter." 174.

Beginn. "As witnessep Holy Writ & holy Doctours þer bep two weyes contrarious, þat ledeþ to two contrarious endes."

12. Sermo in die Pasche, ad Populum. 175. b.
In illud Matthæi ult. " & in Evangelio hodierno, Ihesum queritis Nazarenum crucifixum."

Beginn. "Cristene children in God! as ye wyte wel, on þis day ze bep at þe Feste & þe Maungere of þe Kyng of Heuene, Lord of alle Lordes."

13. A Memorandum of the decease of Thomas Sarjeant 25 August 1558, by John Sarjeant. 185.

Then follow, in the first hand,

14. A short Discourse upon these words, in Matth. vi. "Cum autem oraveris," &c. 186.

Beginn. "Whanne þou schapeþ þe to praye, or to haue eny Deuocione; fonde þe to be in a priuy place, fram at maner Noyse & tyme of Reste, wipoute eny lettyng. Sytte þer, or knele, as is þy most Efe. þanne be þou Lord, be þou Lady," &c.

At the end, this is entituled "Excitatio optima ad Orandum."

15. A schort Reule of Lyfe for everyche Man, in general; and for Prestes, & Lordes, & Laborers in special: how eche schal be saued in his Degre. 188. b.

CAT. HARL. VOL. II.

Beginn. "First, whan þou ryfest, or fully wakest; þenke on þe Goednesse of þy God."

At the end, this small tract is called "Regula Cristiana."

2399.

A miscellaneous Book in 4to. written by different hands, at different times, and upon different subjects; partly in Latin, & partly in English; wherein the following Fragments, now bound-up together, are contained, vizt.

1. Fragmentum Commentariorum Macrobij in Somnium Scipionis: manu satis antiqua membr. 1.

2. Fragmentum (partim membranaceum; partim chartaceum) D. Ambrosij. de bono Mortis. 9.

3. Speculum Regis Edwardi III. compilatum per Symonem Yslep Cantuariensem Archiepiscopum; quorum animabus propicietur Deus. Amen. 13.

Apographum chartaceum, in usum (uti videtur) Wilhelmi Laude Bathoniensis ac Wellensis Episcopi, (cujus Nomen in superiore margine visitur) descriptum. 13.

4. Collectæ nonnullæ de Sanctis Katarina, Margareta, ac Maria Magdalena; unâ cum Antiphona, cujus Exordium est "Ave verum corpus natum." 40.

To this Antiphone is added, "Whosoeuþr at Sacryng tyme sayth this Prayour; hatht 300 dayes of Pardon."

5. Kalendarium; in membran. 40. b.

6. Tho make a Salve to rote & draw. 46. b.

7. Ad Mensium immoderatum profuvium; et sanguinem indebite fluentem sistendum. Anglicè. ibid.

This is followed by another Receipt for Women.

Next follows an imperfect & damaged paper-fragment, wherein I find

8. The conclusion of a dull English Poem to Jesus Christ; with the following Inscription at the End, "Explicit Contemplacionem bonam. Quod Dñs Johannes Arcuarius Canonicus Bodmine. Deo gracias." Mr. Knott was of opinion that the English name of this Arcuarius was Bowyer: yet, if instead of that, he had putt-down Archer, I should not have withstood him. 47.

9. Part of a Runic Alphabet, sett down by some ignorant Person. ibid.

10. De pueritia Domini nostri Ihesu Christi; a Poem in olde English Dogrel. 47. b.

Beginn. "Alle myzthty God yn Trynyte þat bowth Man on Rode dere, He yese ows welle to þe A lytyl wyle þat ye wille me hyre."

Upon the Margin of fol. 48. still remain these Letters, "I. Bow . . scrip . . hoc ue . . rium" (according to his Latin;) and here Mr. Knott calls him Bower or Bowier. But at the end, is this Rubric "Qöd Dñs Johannes Architenens, Canonicus Bodminie, et natus in illa Deo gracias."

In the Margin of fol. 58. are some counterfeit Runic Letters; for the Cornish used them not. In the margins of fol. 58. b. are some Heraldical Marks & Armes: the latter, for want of proper colors, being become as unintelligible as they are rudely delineated.

This idle Poem is merely legendary, and grounded upon the Proto-euangelion falsely ascribed to the Apostle St. James the less.

11. "Videte quomodo homo Sapiens dicit:" an imperfect Poem, wherein a Father is introduced as instilling prudential Maxims into his Son, then about 15 years of Age. 61.

Beginn. "Lordyngs alle, & ze wylle here How a wys man tawgh hys Sone, Takes good hede to þys matere, And fonde to lerne to þat ze cone."

12. Si vis sire de negotio tuo; si expedies, aut non: with other non-sensical Receipts. 64.

13. A ryming Epistle, well meant, from one Brother to another. 64. b.

8 M

14. Aa

Num. 2399—2403.

14. An imperfect parchment Fragment; whose Rubric, in part, is this: "Generales articuli majoris Excommunicationis, in Lingua materna." 65.

Beginn. "Gode Men & Wymmen! hit is ordeyned by the Confeil of alle-holy Chürche, furst of oure holy Father the Pope of Rome, & his Cardinals, & alle his Confeile."

15. Glose Afforismorum Ypocratis; fragmentum unico folio contentum; manuq; veteri Italica descriptum. 72. 69.

16. Sermo in illud Cantici iv. 13. "Emissiones tue paradisi Malorum Punicorum cum Pomorum fructibus." 70.

Hic differitur de vi modis sanandi infirmos.

17. Sententiae e S. Bernardo, et a sacris Scripturis collectae. 71. b.

18. Collectanea Theologica, e diversis Autoribus desumpta. 73. 81. b. 93.

19. Sermo in secunda Dominica Adventus. 79.

In illud, "Quaecunque scripta sunt, ad nostram Doctrinam sunt scripta"

20. Sermo in die Nativitatis Domini 80. b.

21. Thema in Dominica Medie Quadragesime. 91. b.

22. Sermo de Passione Domini. 102.

In illud, "Recordare paupertatis mee, et transgressionis Absinthij & Fellis."

Hoc in Sermone, occurrit Distichon Anglicè scriptum.

2400.

An imperfect and damaged paper Book in 4to wherein I find,

1. A great part of the Psalter; imperfect both at the beginning, & in the middle. 1.

2. The Prayers of the Byble. 30.

These are not the Cantica Sacra which usually follow the Latin Psalters; but another Collection made for the use of those, who afterward were called Puritans. At the end are these words, "Fynys; "God save Kyage Edward vi. so be it."

3. A Treatise of Confymacyon, comenly called Bylshoppyng of Chyldren; made by the godlye learned man John Calvyne; now fyrste translated out of Latyn into Englysh, by Wylliam Boys, Anno Domini 1548. 35. b.

At the end, is this Note, "Imprinted at Ipswyth by me John Oſwen, menſe Julij MDXLVIII, cum privilegio ad imprimendum solum." This Oſwin printed also at Worcester, Shrewsbury, &c.

2401.

Codex membranaceus in 4to. manu Anglica descriptus; quo continentur,

1. Summa Libri Decretorum. 1.

2. Tabula in eadem Decreta; alphabetico Ordine digesta. Imperf. 6.

2402.

A Book in 4to. written upon paper; partly in Latin & partly in old English: wherein is contained,

A Grammatical Treatise, now imperfect, about the various Significations of many Latin words. It seems to have been compiled by some old Scholemaster of experience; and may now be of good Use.

2403.

A parchment Book in 4to. compiled by some secular Priest for the Instruction of his Parishioners, out of the Golden Legend, and other Treatises. He calls it "Liber Festivalis;" although his Collection of Homilies, herein contained, be tam de Tempore quam de Sanctis. These Homilies, of which (I think) here are other Copies in this noble Library, are sett down in the order following,

1. Without a Rubric. 1.

Num. 2403.

Beginn. "Good Men & Women! þis day, as ye knowe welle, is callyd þe furste Sondag in Advent."

2. Sanctus Andreas. 4.

Horæ beatæ Virginis, cum calendario, vigiliis mortuorum, commendationibus animarum, &c. Codex membranaceus in folio minore. xv.
 In the first spare leaf of this Manuscript is the following note, in the hand-writing of Mr. Ashmole to whom it once belonged. "Memorandum. One of the most richly illuminated & adorned I ever saw, with between 30 & 40 pictures, among which are Becket's death & burial."

This however is by no means a proof of the writer's skill in the comparative merit of the paintings in these service books.

The present manuscript is handsomely, and rather splendidly illuminated; but, the paintings, with respect to design, belong to an inferior class. It is rather extraordinary that Mr. Ashmole should not have noticed in fol. 54. the portraits of John Duke of Bedford, to whom the book probably belonged, and his wife, both kneeling before the figure of their patron St. George, who is represented as killing the dragon. The Duke's mantle is surcharged with his crest of an ermined lion. These portraits are certainly executed in a very bad stile, but they sufficiently display the artist's intention.

On fol. 55. is a representation of the Murder of Becket as alluded to by Mr. Ashmole; but as to his burial, the paintings in fol. 128. & 176. are no other than the usual subjects that accompany the service of the dead in most of these hours. With the former of these illuminations is the usual hymn addressed to Becket, beginning,

"Gaude lux Londoniarum,
 Thoma tutor animarum,
 Dei providencia:
 Natus matre martis die,
 Sequens vitam vere vie,
 Speciali gratia."

This, as usual with whatever relates to the Canterbury Saint, is obliterated with a pen & ink.

2952.

An elegant volume in small Quarto, written entirely in the French language during the 15th century, and containing the following pieces.

1. A Prayer to the Trinity.
2. A Calendar.
3. The passion of Christ, divided into matins, prime, tierce, &c.
4. Various Prayers, some of them in verse.
5. Saint Bernard's psalter.
6. Prayers to be said at the elevation of the host.
7. The Prayer of Charlemagne.
8. The 15 joys of our Lady.
9. The Prayer of Saint Gregory.
10. Various prayers.

12. Saint Jerome's psalter.
13. The hours of the blessed Virgin.
14. A prayer to Saint Christopher in verse.
15. The sixth psalm of David in verse.

This manuscript is embellished with many elegant miniatures, partly executed in what is termed the camaieu gris. At the beginning there are two portraits of the person to whom it originally belonged and his wife, kneeling before the Virgin. These portraits, as well as those of the Virgin, Saint Antony, Saint George, and the Emperor Charlemagne, are of a superior kind, and the costume of their habits extremely deserving of an artist's or antiquary's attention.
